Accidents Due to Lack of Pilots.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—The marine committee considered the bill which proposes to exempt Ontario vessels from the payment of pilotage dues at Montreal, thereby removing discrimmestion. Thomas Robb of Montreal, on behalf of the coasting trade, opposed the bill on the ground that exemption of pilotage dues would be a menace to shipping, but A. Gauthier, president of the Montreal Pilots' Corporation, said that accidents on the St. Lawrence were usually due to the failure of Ontario vessels to employ pilots.

Live Stock In the United States.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 26.—The price of horses, according to the Department of Agriculture, rose from an average of $96.84 apiece in 1908 to $103.19 in 1909.

Compared with Jan. 1, 1909, the following changes are indicated: Horses have increased 400,000; mules 70,000; milch cows 81,000; other cattle decreased 2,100,000; sheep increased 1,122,000; swine decreased 6,366,000.

Civil Engineers' Convention.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—The 24th annual meeting of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers opened here yesterday with 200 delegates. President G. A. Mountain is presiding. The financial report shows receipts of $16,567.01, and expenditure $12,431.39. The membership is now 2[illegible]9. The Government has been requested to provide a testing laboratory for all classes of structural materials. The question of making interference with civil engineers in the performance of their duties an indictable offence was left over to [illegible].

EXAMINES SCHOOLS

PARENTS WERE ENQUIRING

Partly as a result of the recent fire in Toronto school the Board of Trade has asked Fire Chief Howard to inspect the Public Schools in regard to the facilities of escape for the pupils in the event of a fire breaking out. Many enquiries have been made by parents as to the protection provided in this respect and the Board's action will be appreciated by them. Mr. L. M. Hayes, chairman of the Board, Mr. John Crane, chairman of the Supervision committee, Inspector Mowat and City Engineer Hay and Chief Howard comprised the committee that visited the majority of the schools yesterday. The work was completed to-day. Chief Howard will prepare a report and present it to the Board at the next regular meeting. The Chief remarked that in most of the city schools outside fire escapes were not necessary owing to the provision made on the inside. There were a few instances where he could recommend outside fire escapes.

Plowing Near Lethbridge

According to Afternoon Despatch —Weather Remarkably Mild and Snow is Disappearing.

ITALIAN PASSES AWAY

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 26.—The throughout the West is remarkably mild, and the snow is rapidly disappearing in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, while in Alberta the snow has entirely gone. Reports from Lethbridge state that farmers are harrowing and discing, and some farmers are actually plowing.

Cobourg, Jan. 26.—Gunflome Guffette, the victim of yesterday's shooting at Grafton, died this morning at Cobourg Hospital. Before he died, he identified George Merento, the prisoner, as the man who shot him. Merento had been taken from the jail to the hospital for identification purposes.

ICE PALACE IN DANGER OF MELTING

Montreal, Jan. 26.—Owing to continued mild weather the ice palace is in danger of melting and floating into the St. Lawrence. Ever since its construction commenced the builders have had to contend against soft weather, and it now looks as if the opponents of the project would win out with the aid of the weather man.

The first storming was to take place on Friday night of this week, but has been postponed until Monday in the hope that a cold spell will save the situation.

CAN'T BLAME 'EM

Even the Tramps Refuse to Visit Lindsay.

Cobourg Post.—Around Lindsay they must be a thrifty lot, or there is no inducemsnt held out by the people to the wandering "Willies" to visit that town. The Chief of Police of Lindsay reports that only 4 vagrants came under his eagle eye last year. Here in Cobourg Chief Ruse claims to have handled between two and three hundred. No doubt Chief Bond, of Port Hope, could say that even a much larger number of these idlers visited that town and were chased away during the past year. Thus it will be seen that both Cobourg and Port Hope have more attractions than Lindsay, even for the poor "Willies."

DESERTED HIS FORMER WIFE, REMARRIED, IS NOW IN TROUBLE

Mrs. Frank M. Rainville Brings Charge of Desertion Against Her Husband, When Alice Rayner Startles Court With Romantic Story of Her Marriage to Him.

Examiner Special.

Montreal, Jan. 26.—The story of Frank Moise Rainville reads like a romance, but is just plain fact, as revealed in the local courts. He is now in jail awaiting his trial on a charge of bigamy.

Eight years ago, Rainville, who was then 28 years old, married Miss Severine Jean in Montreal, and they lived together for eight years. He was working as general agent and was making a very good income, so that his wife and four children were well taken care of until two years ago, when, according to the story told in court yesterday, he went away for a trip in the north. He wrote to his wife during the first month of his absence, but then he stopped writing entirely. His wife made some enquiries about him, went to St. Jerome from where the first letters had been posted but could not find any trace of her missing husband. It seemed as if the earth had swallowed Rainville, and detectives sent after him could find no trace of him.

Met Husband on Street.

Last week Mrs. Rainville met her husband on the street, but she declares he did not recognize her and passed on. She followed him to a house on Planet St. where he was living, as she ascertained from the people near by.

During the long absence of her husband Mrs. Rainville had to work hard to keep her children from starving. It is hard to bring up four children on the salary paid to a woman who relies only on the skill of her hands, and many a time she went without bread.

Last month she was helped by a society, which supplied coal to her as there was none in the house. The children who were in court yesterday, looked as if they had gone hungry to bed quite often.

Mrs. Rainville noticed that her husband was decently and even well dressed, so that she went to the Recorder and related her story. Immediately a warrant was issued against Rainville, who was arrested the next day. His trial came off yesterday on the charge of desertion and vagrancy.

During the progress of the trial a sensation was caused by the appearance in court of Miss Alice Rayner, who claimed Rainville as her lawful husband. The Recorder at once investigated the case and heard the story of wife No. 2.

About a year and a half ago, Miss Rayner told the court, Rainville went to her father's house in Labelle County. He passed himself off as a bachelor and was free with his money. His good manners and his perfect behaviour much impressed her, and she soon fell in love with him.

Miss Rayner's people remonstrated with her, told her that she hardly knew the young man, but despite all protests they were married after a few weeks. They travelled together for a while and then came to Montreal, where Rainville got employment in a wholesale store on St. Paul St. All went well until she heard of his arrest and came to the court to enquire. She then discovered that it was alleged Rainville had a former wife and four children.

On the advice of the Recorder she immediately laid a complaint of bigamy before Judge Lest, and Rainville was sent from the Recorder's Court to the Police Court where he was arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

Starved First Wife.

The strangest part of the story is that Rainville said in court that he starved his first wife on purpose, hoping that she would abandon the children so that he could have them with him. He was remanded for enquete till the 27th, but he will be brought back to the Recorder's Court to-morrow to receive his sentence, as he has been found guilty on the charge of vagrancy and non-support. His counsel implored the clemency of the court but he was told by Recorder Dupuis that no leniency should be expected for a man who deliberately starved his wife and children to marry another woman, whom he also deceived.

Judging Of Draught Horses By Prof. Day Took Place To-day

To-day, being the concluding day of the short judging course, the judging of draught horses took place at Mr. George Fitzgerald's carriage shop this morning. Three hundred and seventy-five men were in attendance. The first judging was that of two grade Percheron geldings, belonging to Mr. R. H. Cox, of North Monaghan. Prof. Day, of Guelph, who was to have been present did not get here until noon, and Mr. H. C. Duff therefore conducted the proceedings. A lively discussion took place and there was such a difference of opinion as to the relative merits and weights of the animals that they were taken to the scales to be weighed.

The second class to be judged, consisted of two three-year-old Clydesdale mares, belonging to Mr. James Baptie, of Springville, and Mr. Thos. Graham, of Centre Smith. Prof. Day arrived on the noon train. He emphasized the good points of the horses and showed how it was quite possible for decisions of judges at fairs might be reversed in the placing of them.

The judging of beef, cattle and swine is going on this afternoon.

Value To Farmer Of Keeping A Record Of His Dairy Cows

One of the newest farm ideas, the registration of the recording of the amount of milk given by each dairy cow in the herd proved its value in a simple way during the stock judging yesterday. Three of Mr. J. K. Moore's cows were judged as examples for the class. When the judges concluded their work they enquired of Mr. Moore if he could verify the statements made. The judging had been carried out from a dairy standpoint and Mr. Moore's figures substantiated the choices made by the judges. The cow selected as the best gave 12,600 lbs. of milk in ten months and 490 lbs. of butter fat; the second gave 9,400 lbs. of milk and 332 lbs. of butter fat, and the third gave 9,100 lbs. of milk and 300 lbs. of butter fat. The judging in this case has been accurate, but more particularly is emphasis placed on the necessity of keeping a record. It is one of the newest methods of safeguarding the dairy qualities of the herd, enabling the owner to cull the cows which are not up to the standard.

SIX MONTHS IN CENTRAL

HAS A BAD RECORD

John Thorpe was given six months in the Central Prison for vagrancy, at the police court this morning. He was arrested last night by P. C. Newhall. He had been begging and selling shoe laces. He said that it was impossible to secure work. He was born and raised, he stated, in Toronto and had come from there to here.

At this juncture Chief Roszel spoke up and said that the prisoner was a dangerous man to have around. Thorpe, the Chief said, has a long record in Toronto, for shop breaking and picking pockets. Three years ago last July, Thorpe entered the store of Mr. T. C. Elliott and was arrested. He robbed the till of nine dollars. He was sentenced by Magistrate Dumble for this offence to three years in the Kingston penitentiary. Chief Roszel also believed the prisoner to be implicated in the robbery a few months ago of Mr. A. Laidlaw's store. Since his release from the penitentiary, he had been back to the city on two or three occasions.

Mr. T. C. Elliott said that the prisoner was in his shop last Saturday He asked for some money. He said too, he was selling boot laces. Witness also saw him three years ago here.

His Worship then sentenced him to six months in Central.

PRESENT STANDING OF THE PARTIES

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

London, Jan. 26.—The parties now stand, Liberals 226, Labourites 37, Nationalists 74, Unionists 253. This morning's reports show the government has won two and the Unionists four seats. There are still eighty seats to hear from.

PRIZES PRESENTED

In Farm and Dairy Special Farms Competition.

A very important feature of the meeting in the Collegiate Institute last night was the presentation of the cups and prizes to the winners in the Peterboorugh County Special Farms Competition. These cups and prizes were donated by Farm and Dairy, assisted by Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., and Ald. Geo. A Gillespie. Farm and Dairy undertook to create a desire for idealizing farms and opened a competition for Eastern and Western Ontario and a special competition for Peterborough county.

The winners of these prizes were:

Mr. G. A. Brethen, Norwood.

Messrs. J. H. Moore & Son, Central Smith

Mr. J. H. Garbutt, Smith.

Mr. Birdsall, Birdsall's.

Mr. Cowan, manager of Farm and Dairy, made the presentation, and each of the winners made a short speech afterward.

A NEW BLACKSMITHING AND WOODWORKING SHOP

Messrs. Walker and Rae, the former for seven years with Yelland's Carriage Factory, and the latter for three years with the same firm, have entered into partnership, and from this date will carry on the business of Metheral Bros., at No. 464 Aylmer street. Both members of the firm are practical men. Mr. Walker will look after the blacksmithing end of the business and Mr. Rae after the woodworking department. They are in a position to do all kinds of repairing, blacksmithing and painting, and each department will receive special attention. Orders for ordered work will receive every care and those requiring new work will do well to place their orders with them at once.

PRESIDENT G. C. CREELMAN
Of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Who Addressed a Large Audience in the Collegiate Institute Last Night.

Only Night Meeting in Connection With Three Days' Course Was a Success—What Has Been Done for Farmers and Advancement of Agriculture—Musical Programme.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE.

A lecture in connection with the three days' judging course which has been in progress in the city since Monday for the benefit of the farmers was given last night to a rather large assembly in the Collegiate Institute. The number included many city people as well as those from the country.

The programme was a very interesting one. His Worship Mayor Morrow occupied the chair, and opened with a few remarks that demonstrated that he had a wider knowledge of farm and farm produce than one might expect from a city bred man.

A number of musical selections were given by Miss Pringle and Miss Welsh, and these were enjoyed by all.

Mr. H. C. Duff of Norwood, district representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture for Peterborough made a very happy address expressing his pleasure in the way the people of this district are taking hold of this work.

Mr. Jas. Thompson, M.P.P., East Peterborough was the next speaker, and he congratulated Mr. Duff and the farmers upon the progress they were making.

Mr. MacRae, representing the dairy department of Ottawa, dealt particularly with the dairy interests. In opening he remarked that in all the five years that he had been travelling the Dominion and attending meetings he never had the pleasure of attending one that created so much interest as the three days' judging classes here had. As to dairy cattle he said that the first and all important feature was the feed. If cows are not fed enough and the proper food they were a losing proposition and the farmer might better get out of business at once. Get the feed right then start raising the standard of the herd and at the same time start culling out the unprofitable animals. Whether a cow is profitable or not is very easily and cheaply ascertained by the cow-testing system which is now being so profitably and generally adopted. He remarked on the progress the Eastern Ontario farmers had been making the past year or two and he looked for great results in the near future.

PRESIDENT CREELMAN

President G. C. Creelman of the Ontario Agricultural College, was the main speaker of the evening, and he delivered an eloquent and inspiring address. No one could listen to him and not feel that there was a great deal in the farm that had never been brought out. He dealt particularly with the work that is being done by the college at Guelph in the way of education and assisting the farmers. Not only the thousand or more students within the college walls, but many thousands of farmers throughout the Province who receive, read and study the bulletins and literature sent out from time to time, and who write for information and for seed grains and who exchange information as to crops. It has gained a wonderful reputation and in the college to-day there are 22 different countries of the world represented among the students. Ontario all over the world is an agricultural Province and this has only been accomplished by delivering the goods.

Through the efforts of Prof. Zavitz the average yield of oats in Ontario has been increased 19 bushels per acre. We hear and read a great deal about the wonderful and all important crops from the western provinces but Ontario farms in 1908, produced in cold cash 60 per cent. more farm produce than all of the Canadian west combined from Manitoba to the Rocky mountains. Ontario is the banner province and there is no getting around that fact.

The department of agriculture in Ontario, has recently made a specialty of drainage and in the last three years they have drained 32,000 acres and to-day the college cannot begin to keep up with the work. As a result of this drainage those 32,000 acres have produced on an average $20 per acre more than formerly.

Mr. Creelman touched on the various departments of the college and gave a small idea of what wonderful results are being achieved every year.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

HE ATE ONLY RAW FOOD FOR 97 DAYS

Lawrence, Kan., Jan. 26.—Eliot Porter, a University of Kansas student in physiology, has been conducting some interesting dietary experiments with raw foods. For ninety-seven days from September to Christmas, he ate nothing that had been cooked. He lived entirely on cereals, vegetables, milk, eggs, nuts and the like, all of them in the natural state.

"I had two objects in trying the 'raw food' idea," Porter said. "I was interested in the claims of the raw food cranks, and I must admit that I was not attracted by the general run of club board that the university student gets at $3.75 a week, so I thought I would try it until I got tired of it. I did and got some interesting results.

"I did not use sugar, because the enthusiasts say it has been assassinated by heat, and I thought I would go the whole route.

"I used green corn in season, prepared with eggs and salt, and liked it very much. Cabbage, with nuts and oil, I liked. Occasionally on Sundays I would fix up an elaborate salad with dressing, nuts and all, out of respect for the custom of a big Sunday dinner. But I only did that when I wanted to put on a little 'dog.' About the only thing I found that was useless was soaked dry peas. They are highly recommended, but they were a fizzle for me."

One of the interesting things was the increase of weight that was found to follow the increase of the amount of proteid food, like milk, eggs and nuts. Porter kept a chart of quantities eaten and variations of body weight daily and found a close relation.

"I found," he said, "that I would gain in weight with ordinary exercise on a diet of a pint of milk and two eggs daily, with a little wheat, nuts and fruit. For two weeks I tried a very heavy proteid diet—three quarts of milk, eggs, oats, wheat, nuts and the like, about 180 grams of proteid a day—and found that I gained weight rapidly, but the diet was too heavy."

IS NOW MANAGER

Mr. Walter J. Hagel, Formerly of Peterborough Bookstore, Meets With Success.

The many friends of Mr. Walter J. Hagel formerly with the Peterborough Bookstore, will be pleased to hear of his appointment as manager for The Thompson Co., manufacturing stationers, Vancouver, of the large retail store in that city, formerly conducted by Norman Caple & Co., but recently purchased by the Thompson Co. Mr. Hagel has been in the West for a period of seven or eight years, and while a young man yet has made good.

TRYING TO GET CHILD

Mother Wants to Get Her Little Daughter From the Grandfather of the Girl—Has Had Her for Three Years.

CASE BEFORE MAGISTRATE

An interesting case came up before Magistrate Edmison, at his office yesterday, in which a mother is endeavouring to secure her six-year-old daughter from the grandfather of the child, who is loth to give her up. The Children's Aid Society, through its solicitor, Mr. E. L. Goodwill and the agent, Mr. Geo. Cochrane, is trying to have the matter amicably settled. It was further reserved, in order that the Society might investigate the mother's means of properly maintaining the child. She came to the city yesterday, from Montreal, and left again last night for Detroit, where she will join her mother. At present, she is not living with the little girl's father.

It seems that owing to the child's father's drunkenness the grandfather, who resides in Bridgenorth, went to Detroit, and brought the child home with him. The woman seems very fond of her little girl and is anxious to get her.

HEATHENS GIVE MONEY TO ENGLAND'S POOR

Bangkok Bible Class Shames the Rich by Sending Gift to the Starving.

London, Jan. 25.—News of the dire poverty of London's lower classes has reached even faraway Siam, whence a donation has been received by the vicar of one of the poorest parishes in Southwark. This probably unique gift, which amounted to about thirty dollars, was sent by a Bible class in Bangkok, Siam, for the relief of the destitute unemployed of the parish.

The vicar distributed it among 150 men, all fathers of families, who were unemployed and practically starving. Rev. Henry Pitt, the vicar, in announcing from the pulpit the receipt of the donation, expressed shame "that money should come from heathen Siam to feed the starving poor of the capital of Christian England."

A GREAT ORANGE SALE

The first special train of Sunkist Oranges is on its way from sunny California, and will reach this market in time for the special sale which takes place next week.

Nearly two and one-half millions Sunkist Oranges will be distributed in this territory and it is expected they will all be disposed of within the next week.

OBITUARY

ROBERT HERON.

Early this morning at 1.30 the death occurred of Mr. Robert Heron at his late residence, 112 Sophia St. About a week ago he contracted pneumonia, which was the cause of his death.

The late Robert Heron was born in Ireland and was 53 years old. He came to Canada in 1908, and occupied several positions since then. In the summer of 1908 he was engineer on the Otonabee and of late worked in the Cereal Co. Previous to coming to Canada he was superintendent of the casual ward in a charitable institution in Essex Co., England. He leaves a widow and a daughter.

The funeral will leave the family residence, 112 Sophia St., on Thursday, at 2 p.m. and proceed to St. Luke's church, thence to Little Lake cemetery.

Sale of Home-made Cakes, Salads, and Sweets at King's Daughters' Tea Room, on Saturday, January 29th, from 9 a.m. to 6 p. m. Special orders may be left previously at the Tea Room. 22-24-26-28

THE ANTI-GAMBLING BILL.

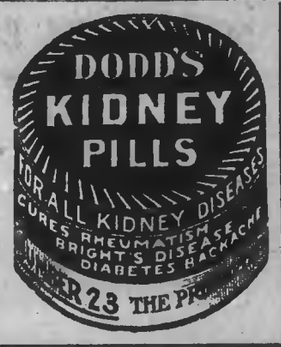
To-day the special committee to which was referred the anti-gambling bill of Mr. Miller is sitting in Ottawa. It seems that an earnest effort is being made to procure all the information to enable the committee to come to an intelligent decision in reporting the bill. Evidence of experts is taken and there is a good deal of testimony offered to attempt to show that without racing meets there can be no successful attempts at the breeding of the best class of horses. There is little doubt that competition developed upon the race track assists horse breeding in the production of the highest type of animal, and that much is learned from the test of the track, as to what system of breding or what strain is the best. It is also claimed that without betting the race meets could not be successfully conducted. So much the worse for the race meets. The moral and material welfare of the public, who patronize race meets is to be considered. We all know that the easiest accomplishment in the world is to back the wrong horse. We all know that persons in positions of responsibility, in the way of employment, "play the ponies" to disastrous effect upon their ready cash. We also know that when this is gone the cash of the bank or office in which the unfortunate is employed, is drawn upon; not dishonestly in intent, but in effect, for the vain hope is entertained that winnings on the track will replace the "borrowed" money. We all know what disaster and ruin have resulted in thousands of cases, not to speak of the possible tens of thousands of cases which do not become public. Confidence is the basis of all successful and sound commercial and financial enterprise; and to the extent that the race track, with indiscriminate betting as a business, undermines this confidence by tempting necessarily trusted employees to breaches of trust, gambling is an evil that demands legislative interference. If racing plus betting is necessary to improve the breed of horses, it becomes the duty of the government to interefere. The provincial governments are charged with responsibility in respect of the promotion of the general interests of agriculture, including, of course, stock breeding and, necessarily, horse breeding. If race meets are necessary to improve the breed of horses, the government should take a greater interest in them. Thousands of dollars are spent by the government in assisting the breeding of cattle. Then why not take some active concern in helping horse breeding? Why not provide that government assistance take the place of the assistance claimed for track gambling. The anti-gambling bill, as we understand it, does not forbid betting in the abstract, but betting, as a business—as represented by the enterprising "bookie," which, as demonstrated by experience, is regarded as "evil, only evil and that continually." It seems probable that the anti-gambling bill will be favourably reported and then turned over to the tender mercies of Parliament, which will open its flood gates of eloquence, and either float it out into the dark shades of Limbo, or furnish a stream to float into the Governor-General's office for the signature of his assent. The fate of the bill to abolish betting is itself a fair subject of betting.

FOOD COMBINES AND FOOD PRICES.

The combine has taken a new form. Heretofore the combinesters were the producers, and the consumer has been the consumed. Now the consumers are combining to limit the purchase of meats and so bring into operation the well known commercial law that prices are regulated by demand and supply. If the demand falls off the supply will be excessive and, to stimulate demand, prices must drop. The exceedingly high prices of meat have resulted in the formation of a popular combination to abstain from the use of meat. This is more a boycott than a combine, but the result is the same, an effect upon prices. In Cleveland thousands of citizens have pledged themselves to abstain from eating meat—to establish a sort of perpetual Lent in order to bring the meat combine to its sense of right and decency. The success of such a scheme will depend upon its extent and the fidelity with which the pledge takers adhere to their vow. This boycott has extended to Canada and the people of Chatham are signing papers pledging themselves to the use of a vegetable diet and total abstinence from meat. This, generally applied, may lead to some result; and, possibly, to a result not anticipated or desired. If the demand for meat ceases, the demand for vegetables will of course increase. What is to prevent those having the control of the potatoes, parsnips, cabbages, etc., of the country, from combining to advance the price of these articles, whose demand will be abnormally increased—in proportion to the completeness and extent of the meat boycott, so that the consumer will "be in the soup"—with neither meat nor vegetables to make soup of. The poor consumer has always been the target "of the slings and arrows" of the producing oppressor. We feel it in the matter of meats, and indeed, of many articles that are offered upon the local market. London, Ontario, is excited over the results of the relations of the meat trust and meat prices. It is pointed out that that city is in the hands of a trust, which manipulates meat prices in its own interest. Many of the city butchers are, it is said, selling large quantities of meat shipped from Hamilton and Toronto, such meat, it is alleged, being procured from animals raised in the vicinity of London bought by these outside firms, taken to Hamilton or Toronto, killed and shipped back at greatly increased prices as must be the case when the cost of two freight shipments are added to the cost of the meat that might be killed as it is bred, at home. There seems to be no way out of the trouble. We abstain from meat to bring the meat combine to time, and we provide the raw material of a vegetable combine and possibly a fish combine. We are, it seems, bound to be impaled upon either one or other horn of the dilemma, and what we have really to decide is whether the horn of a high priced steer is any worse that of high priced vegetables. We have divine assurance that "the poor we shall always have with us" and the combinesters are doing their best to see that the Scripture is fulfilled.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT

To say that the advancement of Mr. A. W. Campbell—"Good Roads Campbell" — to the position of Dominion Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, is a good appointment, is to employ the most modest possible form of commendation. When Mr. Butler resigned his position one was at a loss to think of an adequate successor for Mr. Butler till the name of Mr. Campbell was suggested. Mr. Campbell's election effectively repairs the loss sustained by the Dominion in the advancement of Mr. Butler. The Examiner heartily congratulates Mr. Campbell upon a recognition of his admirable fitness in every way for the position he assumes on Feb. 5th, and at the same time condoles with the Provincial government and the province at large upon the loss of a faithful public servant of Mr. Campbell's exceptional ability, earnestness, enthusiasm, and single minded devotion to duty. It is no mere banality to say that his place will be difficult to fill. Mr. Campbell began the making of a name that will live in the history of the Province, in 1898, when he became Provincial Commissioner of Highways, in which capacity, as well as that of Deputy Minister of Public Works, to which he was appointed in 1902, he richly earned the title of "Good Roads Campbell". This title is well deserved by years of splendid service in the promotion of good roads, which has given him not only a provincial, but a continental reputation. Mr. Campbell has only to continue in his new office the excellent work to gain a similar reputation as Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals. If, as is reasonably certain, he makes as good a railway builder as he has been a builder of highways, the Dominion Government, as well as the country, is to be congratulated upon its good fortune in securing his services.



SICK HEADACHE

Cure the indigestion, and the headache, nausea, heartburn, sour stomach and that "all in" feeling will vanish.

Mi-o-na tablets will cure indigestion or any other stomach trouble. They will relieve almost instantly. Wm. Madill has so much faith in them that he will give you your money back if they don't.

Mi-o-na cures by making the stomach strong enough to produce enough gastric juices to digest all the food you want to eat. It promptly puts new life and energy into the overworked and played-out walls of the stomach.

Use Mi-o-na for a week, and you can eat what you want any time you want it, and take pleasure in doing it.

Your blood will be richer, redder, purer, after taking Mi-o-na, and it only costs 50 cents a large box.

Frank Oke, St. Thomas, Ont., says: "My wife was troubled with indigestion for a number of years. We tried a number of preparations to no effect. Finally she began to use Mi-o-na, and has been entirely relieved of all these troubles. I can confidentally recommend Mi-o-na."

ALD. TURNER'S BIBLE CLASS

Held Annual Meeting at his Residence Last Evening—Encouraging Reports.

The annual meeting of Ald. Turner's Bible Class of St. Luke's church was held last evening at his residence, 491 Water street, when a large number of the members were present, and the affairs of the class were interestingly discussed. Mr. Turner acted as chairman and reports of a very encouraging nature were presented. The officers for the year were elected and it was decided to hold the annual excursion of the class, as usual, on July 1st, to Stony Lake.

Secretary's Report.

Mr. H. Moore, on behalf of the Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Clara Mitchell, who was unable to be present, read the following report, which, on motion, was adopted:

In May, a social evening was held by the class in the school room, for the purpose of becoming more intimate and sociable with the members of the congregation. A programme was rendered and refreshments served, and a very pleasant evening being spent.

In June, the class had a new light placed over the pulpit in the church and the old one removed to the reading desk. This was quite an improvement as the light in the pulpit was not all that was desired.

Our annual excursion, July 1st, was as successful as ever, both socially and financially. The day was beautiful, and all who availed themselves of the opportunity for a day up the lakes thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

The financial report is as follows:

Receipts.

Balance from last year	$11.18
Surplus from B. C. excursion	28.00
Bible Class social	2.80
Collections for year	43.07
	$85.05

Disbursements.

April 1st, Easter offering	$20.00
April 19, Jordan Bros.	1.25
April 19, Review	2.50
June 28, MacGregor & Reid	9.45
Sept. 18, envelopes	45
Oct. 2, church funds	30.00
	$63.65
Cash on hand	$21.40

Officers Elected.

Hon.-Pres.—Rev. Dr. Langfeldt.
President—Ald. J. J. Turner.
Vice-Pres.—Mr Harry Moore
Secretary-Treasurer — Miss Violet Whittaker.
Recording-Secretary — Miss May Moore.
Organist—Miss C. English; assistant—Miss F. Butcher.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. S. W. Whittaker, seconded by Miss F. Butcher, to Mr. Turner for the very efficient manner in which he taught the class. Mr. Whittaker spoke of the great benefit derived from Mr. Turner's teachings and assured him of the members' appreciation of his valuable services.

The class intend fitting the pews in the church with hat racks in the near future. The ladies will be entertained to a social evening by the gentlemen of the class on Tuesday evening next.

At the conclusion of the business last night Mr. and Mrs. Turner entertained the young people very pleasantly and refreshments were served. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the host and hostess for their kind hospitality.

The Ladies are delighted with the New Dyes introduced at Parker's Dye Works. The new process gives results never dreamed of before. Come and inspect the Samples. Parker's Dye Works, 177 Charlotte Sreet. R. M. Beach, Prop. 1m-145

POST CARD COLUMN.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—If the gentlemen who were at an entertainment on Park street had confined themselves to the place they were invited to and not go around to the neighbours and ring door bells, about twelve-thirty this a.m., and especially ringing door bells at a house where there is a case of sickness, it would have been much more to their credit. Meaning those who are guilty.

Yours truly,
W. B. ARMSTRONG,
303 Park street.
Peterborough, Jan. 26, 1910.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

I do not know whether many others, when they peruse their evening Examiner, read, as I do, the "Evening Chit-Chat," by Ruth Cameron, but if they do not they miss something that is usually good. I will go further. The little sketches, though generally on homely topics, are helpful in character, original in ideas, and have a tendency to make a person use the "gray matter," with which everyone of us is blessed to a greater or less extent. Each little article is a sermonette, and without the peculiar features pertaining to many sermons. X.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE LOST PIPE

Upon the joyous New Year's day I threw my briar pipe away. I said, with conscious rectitude: "The smoking habit's base and lewd; it taints the breath and soils the teeth, and often stains the chin beneath; the smoker's tongue is badly seared, and he has clinkers in his beard; of nicotine he is so full no self-respecting cannibull would eat him raw, well done or rare; and e'en his neckties and his hair, his hat, his breath, and trouserloons, suggest plug-cut and cuspitoons. And so I throw my pipe away, upon this gladsome New Year's Day; my friends no more will have to choke and wheeze in my tobacco smoke." Since then the days drag slowly on; it seems as though ten years have gone; I walk the floor the long night through, and, jealous, watch the kitchen flue—for it can smoke and hold carouse, and not bust forty-seven vows; the cookstove makes my vitals gripe, for it can use its rusty pipe. Thus far I've kept the vow I swore, but do not tempt me any more, don't talk of cabbage on the place, or flaunt salsify in my face!

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

LINE-UPS FOR TO-NIGHT'S GAMES IN CITY LEAGUE

All Four Teams Will Have Their Strongest Sevens and all Indications Point to Two Hard Games---Crowds Will be About the Biggest of the Season.

A great sheet of ice is ready for the City League games at Brock Street rink to-night, and with a slippery surface and the teams all in shape the fans should see two lively contests. The indications are that there will be a large crowd present, as the fans are agog over the battle between the West Ends and T. A. S. The improved form showed by the Abstainers in their last game has given the fans a good opinion of the Coldwater brigade and many look to see them lower the colours of the Westerners to-night. However that may be, it is certain that there will be a game that will be well worth seeing. The T. A. S. walloped Keene handily last week, and if they show the same improvement to-morrow night there would seem to be a large-sized bag ahead for the Oldhamites. The latter, however, are not worrying and think that they will dispose of the Abstainers with greater facility than they did the first time the two clubs met. The Abstainer-West End game is the second of the double-header. The first game brings together for the second time the Strathconas and Keene teams, and will be a battle that will be well worth seeing, if one can judge from the first game between the two clubs. Keene will be stronger than last week and expect to give the leaders the hardest battle they have had this season.

Bill Rose will referee the Strathcona-Keene game, and McDougall, of Keene, will handle the bell in the second fixture.

The line-ups are announced as follows:

SPORTING NOTES

The fine victory won by the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. team in Lindsay last week has set the hockey bug buzzing in Peterborough with a vengeance, and there is every reason to expect a record crowd on Friday night, when the Midgets will be here for the second game of the season. They seem confident of turning the tables on the Petes, and will bring down a special train with a couple of hundred rooters to cheer them on to victory. The supporters of the local team cannot see anything but a Peterborough win, but that Lindsay team is dangerous, and will have to be looked after carefully all through the piece. Most of the Peterborough team will be in action to-night in the City League games, and the contests will just about round them into shape for the tussle on Friday. If condition counts for anything the local team should be there or thereabouts at the finish. There will be a big crowd of fans on hand for the game, as a contest with Lind, say always proves a popular drawing card.

AN IMPOSTOR

Rev. Canon Davidson informed the Examiner this afternoon that a man who purports to be collecting subscriptions on behalf of two distressed women, has ben imposing upon a number of citizens. He has a list signed by Rev. Canon Davidson, as authority, and Mr. Davidson says that he signed no such list and that the man is an impostor, collecting on false authority. The public is warned to look out for this man and to inform the police if he approaches them.

ENJOYABLE CONCERT

The Coleman Bros.' Concert Company visited Bensfort Methodist church last evening and gave one of the most enjoyable concerts in the history of the church. There was a large attendance and the audience was most generous in its applause, nearly every number of the programme being encored. Mr. Coleman's singing was one of the big features of the entertainment, while Mr. Waring is also entitled to special mention for his splendid recitations.

The programme was as follows:

Song—Miss Hinchliffe.
Song—Mr. Dudley.
Recitation—Mrs. Oscar Waring.
Song—(The Silent Prayer) Mrs. H. Hinchliffe.
Song—W. C. Coleman.
Duet—(All's Well) Mr. and Mrs. Hinchliffe.
Recitation—Mr. Oscar Waring.
Song—(Ding Dong), Mr. Dudley.

Lindsay Game On Friday Will Be The Event Of Season

Lindsay Post: An O.H.A. intermediate hockey practice will be conducted at the rink this evening and all members are expected out. The ice is in splendid condition and the practice will be held between 7 and 8 o'clock.

The game on Friday night is the talk of the town, as Lindsay will have one of the strongest aggregations possible and will go to Peterborough to win. On the other hand it is rumoured "Rolly" Glover will play for Peterborough on the defence. If so, it means a faster game can be expected. The Quakers are confident they can win on their own ice.

The locals' defence will be very strong this time, while the forward line will be strengthened. A few changes will be made after this evening's practice.

All members and hockey players are expected out.

For the game on Friday evening at Peterborough it is expected a special G.T.R. train will be run.

Lockworks Teams Had Hard Fought Battle Last Night

One of the most exciting games of the season took place at the Brock St. rink last night between 10 and 11 o'clock, when the 'Black Hands' defeated the 'Skull Breakers' by a close score of 5 to 3.

The game was fast and clean, only one man being penalized. A feature of the game was the good tending of 'Handy' Hanrahan for the 'Skull Breakers,' he stopping everything that looked like a score and the five that beat him were while he was out chasing the puck. Eano was the star of the forward line for the Skull Breakers.'

Clancy and Sullivan for the 'Black Hands' were always in the limelight by their rushing and checking back. All the players have received offers to-day from Renfrew and other places, but of course the offers were declined. Line-up:

Black Hands	Skull Breakers
	Goal.
C. Sullivan	E. Hanrahan
	Point.
A. Huffman	J. Fitzpatrick
	Cover-point.
B. McManus.	J. Primeau
	Forwards.
Clancy	Eano
Sullivan	Laplante
Ahern	Whaley
Conlin	Memmo

A silver cup was donated by Ed. Hanrahan. E. Holland was a capable referee.

BUGLERS BEAT THE SERGEANTS

In a very fast and interesting game of ball the Buglers proved too much for the Sergeants, the final score being 31 to 18. Quite a number witnessed the game and were pleased with the showing the boys made. It was good ball all the way.

The boys were pleased to see the ladies turn out in such large numbers. Andy McWilliams and W. Sharp were on the job for the Buglers while Staunton, Biggs, Guerin and Halpin put them over for the Sergeants. The teams were:

Buglers—

Sergeants—

The score by innings—

Buglers . . . . . 4 9 4 5 0 5 1 3 1—31
Sergeants . . . . . 2 0 4 0 2 0 0 6 4—18

Home runs (Buglers), McWilliams, Butcher, Drysdale, (Sergeants) Ringer.

Umpire—S. Sharp. Scorer—W. Edwards.

TO-NIGHT'S REFEREES

"Bill" Rose Will Handle the First Game and Roy McDougall the Second.

Owing to objections raised by the West Ends against "Bill" Rose, the latter will not referee the second game of to-night's double-header between West Ends and T. A. S., although he will look after the first game, as usual. Considerable difficulty was experienced in getting an official for the second game. The T. A. S. and West Ends agreed upon Harry Morgan, but he declined to act. So did Ernie Wasson, when they put the proposition up to him, and George Lynch and Rollie Glover also said "nay." This left the decision up to President Graham, who last night appointed Roy McDougall, cover point of the Keene team, and also of the Peterborough intermediate O. H. A. team. There is much excitement over the second game, which promises to be one of the best exhibitions of the season.

SHOULD A GIRL BE ALLOWED A CERTAIN REGULAR ALLOWANCE?

Why are the wages of a girl living at home so often considered to be entirely the legitimate property of the household in general?

A boy turns in a fair amount as recompense for his board and lodgings, but, no matter how poor the household, he keeps something for himself. With this he does absolutely as he pleases. He may indulge any little foolishness, and so gain valuable 'lessons;' he may be prudent and make profit by his miniature investments; but the exercise of wisdom and folly in the matter of spending are open to him.

His mother never dreams of appealing to him when the drawing-room curtains refuse to bear the burden of existence any longer, or the kitchen hearthrug has been borne away by the dust man. Neither does she expect him to provide all the etceteras of his wardrobe, or to cultivate the pretty habit of pleasing all his relatives by remembering their birthdays.

All these things are expected from a girl, and, as a rule, she gives them as ungrudgingly as in many cases, she gives her leisure hours to making things comfortable at home.

The upholding of a family's social prestige is always laid on its woman members, and a girl is often driven to keeping up an appearance beyond that which her income can comfortably support, while her careless brother reaps the social benefit which arises from her struggling refinements. If the details of her dress are shabby she is condemned as a sloven. He, for the same sins, is sympathized with. "Poor fellow," says gossip, "he's always hard up, and so shabby; his mother and sisters don't seem to look after him at all."

The home economies and scrapings to which almost all womankind is driven are tradionally explained and excused by the theory that on all farings-forth in search of festivity the men do all the paying, but in the modern instance of the household of wage-earning boys and girls the theory has become obsolete.

More and more are girls paying their own way to gaiety. Brothers may manfully hand out the cab fares and tip the waiter, but in how many cases is there not a settling of accounts to follow. Not many, if those cases are excepted where the girls have arranged the finances before the expedition could be undertaken.

Many mothers will protest that their girls are liberally treated in the way of spending money; but its possession is seldom absolute.

"I always give Mary ever so much of her salary back," one was heard to declare. "I always know I can ask for it again if anything happens, and it's simpler than putting it in the bank." "Borrow from the boys? Good Gracious, they've never anything to lend."

WOMAN PREFERS TO WORK FOR MAN RATHER THAN FOR HER OWN SET!

The servant problem is to be accounted for to a large extent by the reluctance of women to work for women. And as it is in domestic service so it is in other spheres of women's work.

The reasons for this feeling are not altogether attributable to a desire for male society. Man's service carries with it certain privileges, a certain freedom, and an undoubted position, which cannot always be said of the other kind.

Fortunately for woman, man's sense of chivalry is not dead, whatever may be said to the contrary; and however much he may regard his stenographer as part of the machinery of the office, in reality he does not forget that she is a woman and in his heart of hearts he is sorry for her. There are few men, really, who like to see a woman working hard, and if by any means they can lighten her load, they do so. The most selfish of employers will do more for a woman employee than for a man, unless, of course, he is a brute and a coward, and takes the opportunity of oppressing one who is weaker than himself—this kind fortunately does not abound.

And sometimes a girl takes advantage of an employer's leniency, but it is a rare occurrence. She knows he is "decent" to her, and she tries to be the same to him. Good qualities, as a rule, beget good qualities.

The woman employer wants the uttermost penny out of her subordinate. You see, she knows exactly how much the woman has to give, and she wants it—because she has paid for it. Man, it must be confessed is more generous, he will not "make work" for the girl. If she does his bit, he does not mind how she occupies herself afterwards. "Hospital nurses are women who do yards and yards of crochet," said one woman employer of professional service. "And why not?" was the man's reply. "She comes to nurse you, doesn't she. If you don't happen to need her for the moment surely she is free to do what she likes." That is just the point.

Woman seems to think she is engaging a woman body and soul when she pays her so much per week; any time she has to herself is a privilege; a gracious concession on the part of the employer. Man, being a worker himself, knows that he is only paying for the work, not for the worker. The girl can still call her soul her own.

Domestic service is a case in point. It is simply because the mistress expects the servant to give up her life to her that the girls will not go to service—they want to be "their own mistress." And small blame to them!"

The woman employer has unconsciously much of the slave-driving element in her. She does not believe in "independency." If a girl has got to earn her own living she must "knuckle under"—as if one should sell one's soul for a mess of pottage!

And in the process of bending to the will of another, woman, in woman's eyes, alas! loses position. The very fact of being subservient stamps her as a class beneath. Man looks upon his workers as his helpers; woman never forgets that they are "dependents."

Woman, in man's employ, to a certain extent makes her own position. If she is a lady, she is treated as such; if she shows herself equal to responsibility she is given it. Far from thinking her socially inferior, man's respect for her gains in proportion to the abilities she exhibits.

The woman employer allows no unconscious ascent. The girl remains what she was engaged to be and will do so until a new position is found for her. She takes her status from her place in the office, the home, or the workroom, as the case may be.

Women prefer to work for men because they are sure of kindly consideration, a fair amount of enjoyment and a chance to rise in life. In woman's employ they may get all three, but—there is a risk, and most girls do not care to take it.

MUCH GOOD SHOULD COME FROM THE JUDGING COURSE

Attendance Has Been Large and There Should be Some Benefits Derived by the Farmers of District.

CLOSES TO-DAY.

That a world of good should result from the Short Course now being held in this city, is the unanimous opinion of all those who have attended the various sessions of the Course. The work this morning was confined to light horses. Mayor Morrow's roadsters and R. H. Leary's Hackneys were the subjects judged; they served as examples to illustrate the points brought out by Mr. MacRae, who was in charge of the session.

It was surprising to note the great interest taken by the crowd that attended. At least 200 attended the session this morning. The Short Course movement is as yet only in its infancy. When such interest is being taken as in this particular event, it would be idle to predict just where the movement will end. From present appearances it may practically be taken for granted that Peterborough next year will be able to hold a five-days' Course, as is now customary at Lindsay. Many of those in attendance are from a distance, several having come over 25 miles and they are staying for two and three days to take advantage of the instruction offered.

Mr. MacRae of the Live Stock Commissioner's staff, Ottawa, amply demonstrated himself to be a master of his subject. Comments to the effect that he knew what he was talking about were common, and this fact contributed not a little to the interest that was taken in what he had to say. At the outset, Mr. MacRae dwelt upon the different breeds of horses. He said that the Hackney was the leading sire of carriage horses, the standard-bred for road horses, and the Thoroughbred for saddlers. The different market classes of horses were then described. The different points and the confirmation looked for in these various classes were outlined, and explained. What types to breed to get these various classes was then taken up, after which the horses, previously mentioned, were placed by those in attendance. Reasons were then given and a general discussion ensued.

While it may well be said that Mr. MacRae is a star of his subject, horses, Prof. C. A. Zavitz, of the Ontario Agricultural College, who had charge of the Seed Judging work this afternoon, may most aptly be termed a past-master of his specialty, seed grain.

The Professor dealt with those crops most important to Peterborough County. The crops most generally grown in this county are oats, peas, barley and winter wheat, their importance being in the order named. Each man in attendance at the session in the market hall was provided with five individual samples of oats of different kinds. These were used to illustrate the importance of variety and to demonstrate the difference in results secured from large, medium, and small seed, both for seed and feed purposes. He dwelt particularly on the per cent of hull, or in other words the quality of oats of the different kinds.

Striking comparisons were made between the Daubeney oats, which have 24 per cent. of hull and the Early Dawson, which possesses 30 per cent. of hull, a difference of 12 pounds of meal in favour of the former oats when the comparison is made on 100 pounds of grain of the two varieties. While this was true of the samples before the students, it was equally true of these varieties as generally grown.

During his remarks, Professor Zavitz brought home clearly the fact that, while oats are the most commonly grown in Peterborough County and throughout Ontario, there is probably no other cereal about which so little is known and regarding which many people judge wrongly. The oat crop, he said, was capable of great improvement in Peterborough county, as well as throughout Ontario.

Particular attention was given to the study of barley. Much emphasis was laid upon the importance of selection, and special mention was made of one variety originated at the Ontario Agricultural College—the O. A. C. No. 21 barley. This variety is considered to be the best barley grown in Ontario at the present time. It is a six-rowed, stiff-strawed, heavy-yielding barley, which is usually quite free from rust and weighs well per measured bushel.

The many who took advantage of this afternoon session on seeds came away more firmly convinced than ever that this Short Course is the best thing that has yet come to this county, in the interests of a better agriculture.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

What did we do before we had the telephone?

You have heard that before, haven't you?

Well, don't get excited. I am not going to answer it. I admit I can possibly tell you what we did before we had the telephone, but I can tell you something I think we didn't do—and that is, break our engagements so lightly.

"Really, if I didn't think Elinor needed me to fill her tables I certainly wouldn't go to the whist in this horrid weather. It seems such an undertaking to me to get dressed for this weather and the fire does look so nice," I heard my next door neighbour say the other day.

"Why don't you telephone Elinor?" promptly suggested another. "Ask her if she can't get someone to take your place."

"It's pretty late—I don't know as I ought to. She might get Annie to go over—" my next door neighbour hesitated, and then, after the manner of those who hesitate, was lost.

"Oh, I guess I'll call her up and see," she capitulated.

To a telephone plea of an incipient cold—my next door neighbour would be highly indignant if anyone hinted she was not strictly truthful, so I suppose she must have begun to feel that cold just as she sat down to the telephone, for she said nothing about it before—and dread of the storm, the unfortunate hostess naturally responded that she would doubtless be able to find somebody to fill in.

And my next door neighbour cheerfully went back to her easy chair before the fire and I came home decided to write this.

"Oh, dear, I promised to go to that church fair committee meeting," says the lady across the street, "but I do want to finish this waist tonight. I've been fussing over it for a week now and Elsie did so want it to wear to-morrow."

"Why don't you telephone the chairman that you can't come?" speaks up her husband.

And in three minutes it is done. "So sorry, but some unexpected work came up. You will forgive me, won't you? My judgment—that's sweet of you, but I don't know as it's worth very much. You'll telephone me what you decide, won't you? Thank you ever so much. Good-bye."

"I promised I'd go to that concert with Edna, but I didn't know I was going to have callers all the afternoon and get so behind in my writing. She's got the tickets and she can probably get some one else to go if I call her up." I caught myself saying the other day.

If there had not been a telephone in the house every one of those three engagements would probably have been kept.

Next time you start to break an engagement via telephone, suppose you stop and ask yourself if you would've managed to keep it if it hadn't been for the tempting convenience of that little black and nickel instrument.

And I will too.

Life Of Millionaire Mill Girl Reads Like A Novel

At Odds With Father Because of Marriage, Yet Gets His Wealth —Has Been Earning $8.25 a Week and Income is Now Over $700 for the Same Time.

NO HAPPINESS IN WEALTH

"When you've been used to getting a pay envelope with $8.25 in it every week, it isn't easy to get accustomed to an income of over $700 every week, and anyone who thinks it is just wants to try it.

"It probaly won't be a bit happier over in that mansion in New York with a million than I have been right here in Riverpoint working in the mill.

"I'm not going to get stuck up because of my good fortune, and I shall always remember that I was once a working girl myself and treat other working girls accordingly.

"If Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and Anne Morgan, who have been rich women all their lives, can sympathize with poor working girls and help them, I, who have been through it all myself, can appreciate their hardships and troubles twice as well."

Providence, Jan. 26.—This is the philosophy of Mrs. Alive May Pickup, the Pawtucket Valley mill girl who has just inherited over a million dollars by the will of her father, Bradford Maloneyson, the New York millionaire automobile manufacturer who died in Sweden last September.

Although Mrs. Pickup is now mistress of a brownstone front near Central Park, in New York City, and an annuol income of some $40,000, she is still living quietly at Mrs Healey's boarding house under the Odd Fellows' Hall in River Point, just outside of this city. A stone's throw away are the gray walls of the Royal Mills, where she worked six days a week from 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 at night, receiving $8.25 at the end of each week.

She declares she is absolutely bewildered by her good fortune and has not even been able to adjust herself to the new and startling condition of affairs.

SURPRISED AT FATHER'S WEALTH

"I always knew that my father was wealthy, but I never dreamed that he was a millionaire, and I never expected to get much of whatever he had," said Mrs. Pickup to the Boston Sunday American, in the modest front parlor of Mrs. Healey's boarding house. "I had a step-mother and was too independent to stay at home, so I always worked. Then my father was opposed to my marrying the man I did, and the relations between us for the last year were more distant than they had ever been.

"To think that he had so much money and made me his sole heiress was such a complete surprise that I don't know what to make of it yet. I honestly haven't thought of anything I'd like to buy with the money yet."

As most people would have already had visions of themselves spinning around in a high power limousine, dressed in fine clothes and rich furs, ordering dinner at Sherry's and winding up with a gay theatre party, these suggestions were made to Mrs. Pickup.

"Oh, I can dress up just as well as anybody, if I have always been a mill girl," she replied.

"But wouldn't you like something very elaborate?"

"Oh, no! I'm not much of a hand to wear loud colors or bright things, and I haven't ever given it a thought."

ROMANCE IN LIFE STORY

Most men would remark right here that Mrs. Alice May Pickup is one woman in a million.

Mrs. Pickup's figo and good fortune make a mighty romantic story.

"My mother died when I was three days old, and I was brought up by relatives in Sweden," she said. "I had never seen my father until I was ten years old, always supposing my grandfather was my father. When I was twelve years old my aunt, Mrs. William Sullivan, brought me to New York City, and for a time I lived with father at the home I have inherited, at No. 966 Columbus avenue. A little later my father married Celia Johnson, a New Orleans woman, worth about a million dollars. I was not happy at home, and went to live in New Bedford with Mrs. Sullivan. My father gave this aunt a monthly allowance for my support, but I was never a lazy girl and went to work in the mill, earning $11 a week as a cadrer.

"I knew John Henry Pickup, a cotton weaver, from the time I was sixteen years old, and married him Feb. 2 last. I will be twenty-five my next birthday and he will be thirty-two. My father disapproved of this match but I was always headstrong and wanted my own way and went ahead. After that my allowance from my father stopped and we had very little more to do with each other.

"I next received a letter from Lawyer John W. Kernall, who had been my father's attorney for the last nineteen years ,and went to New York. The will was read, and when I heard the lawyer say that I was the sole heiress an dthat the estate amounted to $1,050,000, I could scarcely believe my ears. Then they told me that the beautiful home of twenty-three rooms was also mine and gave me the keys.

"Those present when the will was read were the lawyer, my step-mother and an aunt of mine, Mrs. Wilfred Nieman of eNw York.

GIVES UP MILL JOB

"The house is now being cared for by three old servants who have been in my father's employ many years. By the terms of the will the money is notto be paid over to me until November 23, 1910, but am not at all impatient, and I know that everything is being taken care of for me, all right.

"I shall never go back to the mill again, although my husband is still at work."

AN IRISH LETTER

Genuine News From the Old Sod by an Old Farmer in the County of Cork.

A private letter recently received in this city from relatives in Ireland, gives some interesting items regarding the condition of things there. The letter is written from an old and respected homestead, near Fermoy, in the County of Cork, alongside the beautiful Blackwater River, so well known by tourists in Ireland.

To show how things are in this part of Ireland at the present time, and how farmers are situated, the writer says:

"One of our holdings is the Duntaheene Farm, on the Cliffe property, on which we used to pay £105 per year, and rates and taxes for 64 statute acres of land. Now, through agitations and negotiations, between landlord and tenant, for the same holding, we are paying but £55. This will be further reduced when the British treasury unlock their coffers for land purchase.'

"The above statement only applies to one of my holdings, as I have 150 acres more on what is called the Castle Hyde property. The landlord will not, up to the present, sell to his tenants, and things remain the same as they were forty years ago. In fact, as far as I can see, there will be no change with some of the landlords until a bill is passed by Parliament compelling them to sell to their tenants on fair and reasonable terms, which the majority of Irish farmers are willing to pay.

"As to the prices for produce, etc., in this country, there is a great decrease as the years go by. Foreign meats and grains arrive every day, which is ruinous to the Irish farmer. At present there is a good price for prime beef, but mutton is simply a dead loss to the feeder and producer.

"As to the price of labour, it is greatly increased. In fact, to my own knowledge, we are paying one man more than we would pay for two in years gone by."

ANNUAL BANQUET

The fourth annual banquet of the Life Underwriters' Association of Central Ontario will be held at Hooper's on Monday evening, January 31st. Every promise is given of an interesting, pleasant and profitable evening on this occasion for the Life Underwriters of this district. Among the visitors who will likely give brief talks will be E. R. Machum, of St. John's, N.B., President of the Dominion Association; T. B. Parkinson, London, Vice-President, and John A. Tory, of Toronto, Secretary. Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., have been invited and a musical programme will be given. A large attendance is expected.

Strength and Vitality are combined in the invigorating tonic Ferrovim, which consists of fresh lean beef, Citrate of Iron and pure old Spanish Sherry Wine! Nothing could be more beneficial for anaemic women and children, elderly people whose strength is failing and all persons run down and debilitated. $1.00 bottles.

SUPPER AND CONCERT AT BAPTIST CHURCH

A very interesting evening was spent last night at the Park Street Baptist Church, under the auspices of the Helping-Hand Bible Class. About one hundred sat down to supper, which was heartily enjoyed, especially by the little ones, who did justice to the good things spread before them.

After supper the chair was taken by Mr. Jacob Dawson, Vice-President of the class, and the following programme was ably rendered:

Invocation—By the Pastor.
Male quartette—"Johnny Smoker."
Piano duet — Miss Bayens, Harold Foster.
Cow Boy song—Miss Smith.
Recitation—Mr. Williams.
Solo—Mr. R. Thompson.
Instrumental—Mandolin Club.
Recitation—Miss Ethel Hope.
Remarks—Rev. W. C. Biddiford.
Piano solo—Miss Childs.
Trio—Hill family.
Recitation—Miss Maud Smith.
Recitation—Miss Mary Smith.
Closing hymn—"Blest be the Tie that Binds."

NATURAL RESULTS OF OLD AGE

With old age comes feebleness and loss of power. The organs act more slowly and less effectually than in youth. It is hard to get sufficient nourishment from the food to keep strong because the digestion is weak. We want to say to every aged person in this vicinity if they only knew how our cod liver and iron medicine, Vinol, strengthens the organs of digestion and creates strength we would not be able to get it fast enough to supply the demand. — McDermid & Jury, Druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Normal students meet Miss Susie Little and Miss Anderson, National Secretaries, at the Y.W.C.A. Monday evening.

On Monday at the tea hour one hundred Normal girls accepted of the invitation which had been given by the Y.W.C.A. to meet Miss Little and Miss Anderson, travelling secretaries, who were in the city in the interests of the foreign work carried on by the Canadian College and City Associations.

After the tempting supper, with its hour of delightful social intercourse, had been enjoyed, chairs were turned towards the platform. All joined heartily in the singing "All Hail the Power of Jesu's Name." Mrs. Roger, President, led in prayer, when Mrs. Scott introduced Miss Anderson, B. A., who spoke briefly of the work carried on by the Y. W. C. A. in India among both the Eurasian and native young women in business and study.

Miss Little, B.A., then spoke of the Associations' work in Tokio, Japan, where is the largest university in the world.

Here the Canadian Associations have built, equipped and are entirely supporting a large boarding home and Association. Miss Little's address was most interesting and earnest.

At the close the girls sang "Take my life and let it be consecrated, Lord to Thee." Miss Dickson led in prayer, after which over $40 was subscribed by the Normal girls for the work in Japan and India.

Later in the evening St. Andrew's Young People's Society was entertained. After a half hour's devotional meeting a happy social hour was enjoyed.

Next Monday evening at 8 oclock, Mr. A. Mowat will organize a class for the study of Browning. All interested are invited. Dr. McCulloch will meet with his class to-morrow evening—Bandaging.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT ON THE 151st ANNIVERSARY OF BURNS' BIRTH

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church did not let the anniversary of Robert Burns pass without recognition, and under their auspices a delightful concert was given in every respect befitting the occasion. The attendance, while fairly large, should have been more numerous, but if lacking slightly in this respect it fully appreciated the different selections, and gave Miss Blanche Walter and Mr. Donald McGregor a cordial reception. The ladies who had charge of the concert deserve reognition for two features of the affair. In the first place upon the excellence of the numbers, and, secondly, from the fact that the programme was not long drawn out. In ordinary terms it was short and sweet. This may lead to an opinion that the brevity is emphasized, whereas the happy medium was obtained to a nicety. There were eight numbers, each being encored, and deservedly so.

Miss Walter is an elocutionist of more than ordinary ability, as she demonstrated by a versatility that lost none of its effect in the various characters she portrayed. Miss Walter possessed a charming personality and a confidence that appeals to her audience. Combined with these essentials her voice has a delightful tone, and her expression enhances the general effect. Her first number was a selection from Oliver Twist, and enabled her to display her ability in a dual role. "A Bake Day Episode" was also well received, as in fact were her other two numbers and the extras given as encores. Miss Walter should receive a hearty welcome should she return to Peterborough.

Mr. Donald MacGregor was not unknown to the audience, and did not disappoint his admirers. He was in fine voice, and each number was well rendered and with expression. His most pleasing selection was "Mary of Argyle." Mrs. C. S. McClelland accompanied Mr. MacGregor.

TO HAVE A BEAUTIFUL SKIN

About one sixth of all the waste matter discharged from the human body passes through the pores of the skin. If the skin is to be kept beautiful the pores must be kept in healthful condition by bathing and by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment which overcomes all chafing and irritation of the skin and cures pimples, eruptions and the many forms of eczema.

COMMITTEE PAID HOTEL EXPENSES

The visiting horsemen to Peterborough for the ice races met with unusual generosity at the hands of the racing committee when the heavy snowstorm of Friday prevented the holding of the races on that day, the committee decided to pay the expenses in connection with the sojourn here of the horses entered for Friday's events—the 2.20 and free-for-all, and of the managers and attendants also.

The bill totalled $71, and the favour was altogether unexpected by the horsemen. Needless to say, however, it was accepted with due thankfulness.

AMBULANCE SOCIAL

Enjoyable Programme Was Given by the St. John's A. Y. P. A.

The executive of the St. John's A. Y. P. A. are greatly pleased with the excellent attendance at the Ambulance Social last Monday night. The programme was unique and the various parts were accorded a most enthusiastic reception. The President, Mr. R. J. Devey, was in the chair, and, after leading devotional exercises, presented the following programme:

Song—"The Boys in Scarlet and Gold"—Mr. Roberts.

Song—"For All Eternity" — Miss Hinchcliffe.

Demonstrations in First Aid to the injured by the following members of Dr. Cameron's St. John's A. A. classes: Ladies—Misses Whitcroft, Horsfield, Pritchard, and Drury; gentlemen—Messrs. Downs, Cameron, Appleton, Chandler, Roberts and Perkins.

The bandaging of various supposed injuries was well done, and keen interest was shown by the company in each case.

Song—Bedouin Love Song—Mr. Stacey.

A most interesting paper on the life and work of Miss Florence Nightingale was read by Mrs. R. J. Devey.

The Rev. Canon Davidson concluded with prayer, after which tea and cake were served by Coleman Bros., the meeting dispersing about ten o'clock, after a most enjoyable evening.

NECESSARY FOR THE FAMILY

If health is to be maintained there must be at hand in every household a medicine which can be positively relied upon to regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have proven their right to first place in this regard, and already hold a secure position in the great majority of homes.

MR. HASSARD RESIGNS

As Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. To Enter Commercial Life.

Mr. F. C. Hassard, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has tendered his resignation to the Board of Directors, who, at a recent meeting, accepted it. Mr. Hassard received a tempting offer to go into business in Toronto, and for that reason decided to resign.

The resignation is to take effect not later than April 1st, but just as soon before that as another secretary is secured.

Mr. Hassard, it is understood, intends entering commercial life. He has been in the city for about a year and during that time has won many warm friends, while he is respected by all. His departure will be regretted by the citizens as well as by the members and management of the Y.M.C.A. But all will wish him the greatest success.

YOUNGSTERS SHOWED EXCEPTIONAL TALENT

At an entertainment at Knox church on Tuesday evening the little Misses Maud and May Smith contributed a song and recitation. Their numbers were so thoroughly well rendered and so greatly enjoyed that it is only fair that special mention should be made of their work. They are deserving of the heartiest congratulations and are certainly talented children.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.
They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out with Herpicide.
Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's erpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Thomas Hay, C. P. R. Claims' Agent, Dies From Injuries in Webb-wood Wreck.

Special to The Examiner.

North Bay, Jan. 27.—Thomas Hay, Claims Agent, injured in the Webb-wood wreck last Friday, died at 8 o'clock this morning at his home in North Bay, blood poisoning having set in as a result of wounds on his head. Mr. Hay was 66 years old, and had railroaded forty-five years, joining the C. P. R. in 1883. He was born near Kingston and served the Grand Trunk at Brockville for many years.

Condition Under Which City May Purchase Chemical Engine

Meeting of Fire, Water and Light Committee at Fire Hall Last Night—Many Articles on Requisition List Were Granted—Staff Not to be Increased for the Present.

FIREMEN TO BE PAINTERS

The Fire, Water and Light Committee had a busy session last night at the Fire Hall, where they met to consider the requisition list for the year as presented by Chief Howard. The list was a lengthy one and represented an expenditure of about $3,000. The committee was averse to extravagance and for that reason considered every item on the list and whether it was absolutely required or not. The committee at the same time showed a willingness to provide the brigade with equipment which would facilitate its work and enable the men to acquire even greater efficiency than at present.

Another important matter discussed was the purchase of a chemical engine. This has been often brought up but has not been handled with an earnestness that showed that the committee actually felt it should be obtained. While nothing definite has been decided upon, it is understood that the committee would consider the purchase if the small house holder was given a consideration at the hands of the Fire Underwriters proportionate to the mercantile and first and second class houses. The first class house is of solid brick with fire proof roof, and second class house is of brick veneer with fire proof roof, requiring that the shingles be set in mortar or on asbestos. Ald. Morgan is particularly desirous of proportionate treatment being accorded the third class house, which is that occupied by the smaller householder. The reduced big rate does not now apply to third class residences. Hence if the Underwriters will be considerate towards them there is a possibility of a chemical engine being purchased. Chief Howard is of the opinion that the Underwriters will accede to the city's demands if it is made and if the chemical engine is bought.

Larger Staff.

The question of increasing the staff was not taken up to any extent, but it is generally felt that the time is not far distant when the number of firemen will be substantially increased. The articles granted last night by the committee were as follows:

A Detroit door opener, ten rubber coats, seven pair rubber boots, one span of horses, two tarpaulins, one dozen hose couplings, 35 line repeater for electrical switchboard, automatic springs for apparatus, room doors, telephone cabinet, one half dozen lanterns, material for alterations to stable, six mattresses, five pillows, linoleum for recreation room, oil cloth for bath room, $25 for paint, ten comforters for beds, sleigh tracks for apparatus.

In regard to the above, the two tarpaulins are new to the brigade's equipment. The Chief asked for six, pointing out that they were of greatest good in cases where fire breaks out in a private residence, store or any place of this kind. They are each about 20 by 40 feet and can be thrown over goods in order to prevent them being destroyed by water. Some days ago the Chief promised the department that if he was allowed money to purchase paint for the exterior of the hall the men would do the work and it would not interfere with their business as firemen. The idea met with the favour of the committee and in a short time the exterior of the hall will be given a new coat of paint and should look almost like new when the men get through with it.

C. P. R. Officials Have Been Worried By Recent Disaster

Admit That Mistake Was Made in Keeping Newspaper Men From the Wreck, But Say the Head Office Can Not be Blamed—Entitled to Some Sympathy—Cost Will Amount to a Million Dollars.

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT

Toronto, Jan. 27.—Officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway, both in Montreal and Toronto,, are in anything but a pacific mood as a result of the terrible disaster at Spanish River bridge on Friday last. The wreck in itself was sufficient to upset the nerves of all the officials, but their distress is aggravated by statements in newspapers, not only of Toronto, but throughout Canada, to the effect that the railway has from the outset been using every endeavour to cover up the disaster as much as possiblesible. It has been asserted in more papers than one that the company has deliberately given out false information as to the number of killed and wounded, and prevented the public through the press from learning the extent of the calamity.

They admit that, taking it for granted what representatives of some Toronto papers say is true, a mistake was made in keeping the newspaper men away from the wreck, but the head office cannot be blamed for that. It was some one up there who took it upon his own shoulders to assume charge and keep everyone off.

The following was made public yesterday by an official. The man who gave it is not very desirous of having his name appear in public, and requested that it be not used.

"The latest report from the head office at Montreal gives a list of forty dead (two women, one man, and two boys not yet identified. The number of tickets taken up amount to about 78, including passes. The number of injured totals 39, and there does not seem to be much room for any further fatalities.

"The officials of the company, Mr McNicoll, Vice-President; Mr. Leonard, General Manager, Mr. Dunlop, the Claims Adjuster from Montreal; Mr. Gutellius, the General Superintendent at North Bay, and Mr. Oborne, General Superintendent at Toronto, and their staffs are entitled to some sympathy and consideration from the public, considering the heavy strain to which they have been subject since the accident.

"Every effort has been made by the company, and no expense has been spared to recover the remains of those who lost their lives and to notify the relatives of all injured, missing, or dead. This has occupied the time of a number of the leading officials of the company, almost to the exclusion of everything else except the most urgent matters. Some of the officials are even beginning to show signs of undue fatigue. The company has generally given free transportation to the friends of those interested, and has arranged through its representatives at different points to pay the funeral and incidental expenses, endeavouring to show in a practical manner the deep sympathy they feel for the loss sustained."

Vast Amount of Work.

It is estimated that the wreck will cost the railway company somewhere in the neighbourhood of $1,000,000. Such is the figure a Toronto official stated the head office at Montreal estimates the disaster will mean to the C. P. R.

No one outside those actively concerned has any idea just how much extra work such a wreck entails on the legal staff of the railway. The newspaper man was given an inkling when he was shown a pile of correspondence half a foot high which had accumulated since the wreck, and it can be said that it has not begun to come in yet. It is up to the company to do all in its power to satisfy the questions and demands made by the relatives of those in the accident, and what multitude of questions have to be answered can be estimated when it it known that the widow of one poor unfortunate wrote to the company asking it to let her know if at all possible if her husband was seen by a priest before he died. One might think that such a question would be ignored in the press of matters of far greater importance to everyone but the widow, but it is not so. The company is trying to find out the answer to the question, and when it does the widow will be duly notified.

LIBERALS AND THE NAVY.

The matter that will in a few days convulse parliament will be the discussion of the Naval Bill, introduced by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The attitude of the government and the Liberal party to the question involved is well known and the sentiment in connection with it and the policy advocated, are shared by the united party. On the contrary the members of the Conservative opposition in relation to the subject, may, in the phraseology of the gloomy Mr. Venus, be classed as "human warious." Their attitude is not quite as varied as their individuality, but nearly so. At the last session of Parliament a resolution was unanimously passed—nemine contradicente on either side of the House — in favour of Canada undertaking the establishment of a navy for its own defence and for cooperative with the Imperial navy in case of the emergency of war. Since that time the issue as to unanimity has been clouded by the assumption on the part of Conservatives of prominence and of obscurity of an attitude inconsistent with the unanimous resolution of parliament. Perhaps the most interesting feature of recent days has been the position assumed by leading Conservatives and the press behind them on the subject of the proposed navy, the matter of whose creation will in a few days engage the attention of parliament. Either by ignoring the facts or by ignoring their duty as patriotic Canadians, they have developed a very serious misapprehension as to the attitude of the Imeprial authorities with regard to the naval proposals which have been submitted to the House. Objections have been urged against the proposals of the Canadian Government, based upon the assumption that the British Admirality suggested a course of action which has been disregarded by the Canadian Government. In the first place it has been stated in the House by Conservative members and through the country by the Conservative press that the Admirality recommended that Canada establish what is known as a fleet unit, consisting of a "Dreadnought' and auxiliries. On January 18, Mr. Boyce, Conservative of Algoma, said in the House:

"You will see that what the Admirality suggested was a fleet unit from the Colonies.'

A careful perusal of the blue book dealing with the proceedings of the defence conference fails to disclose anything approximating such a view; on the contrary a direct negative to such a proposition is given, accompanied by the reasons therefor—upon page 23 of the report are found these words:

"As regards Canada, it was considered that our double seaboard rendered the provision of a fleet unit of the same kind unsuitable for the present."

The reason for this is obvious. A fleet unit to be effective must remain intact. Therefore such a unit to be effective must be stationed either on the Atlantic or the Pacific side, which would leave either the one or the other unprotected. To separate the unit by dividing it, and placing a portion on each coast, would be to destroy its effectiveness, and make abortive the result sought to be gained. The Admirality appreciated the difficulty and knowing that to create and maintain two units would be too heavy a burden upon Canada's finances at the moment, wisely determined to suggest an alternative course. The Admiralty had contemplated placing a fleet unit on the Pacific for strategical considerations, but for the reasons given the idea was abandoned, and the views o fthe conference on this point may be found on page 26 in the fololwing language:

"While on naval strategical considerations, it was thought that a Fleet Unit on the Pacific, as outlined by the Admirality, might in the future form an acceptable system of naval defence, it was recognized that Canada's double seaboard rendered the provision of such a Fleet Unit unsuitable for the present."

With a complete knowledge of the situation, the Admiralty did not press upon Canada the establishment of a fleet unit, as the Conservatives would have the people believe, but they did make the following proposition, which may be found upon page 22 of the report:

"It was proposed, according to the amount of money that might be available, that Canada should make a start with cruisers of the "Bristol" class and destroyers of an "improved River class, a part to be stationed on the Atlantic seaboard and a part on the Pacific."

Thus it is abundantly clear that the Admirality at no time expressed the wish that Canada establish a fleet unit, including a Dreadnought, and it is also clear that the suggestion which was made has been faithfully concurred in by the Dominion Government, and that the proposals brought down by Sir Wilfrid Laurier are upon the exact lines prescribed by the Admirality. Another point of importance is that the Admirality admitted the principle of "making a start" in the formation of a Canadian navy. In support of this view there follow two quotations from page 24 of the report. The first reads:

"While laying the foundation of further Dominion navies to be maintained in different parts of the Empire, these forces would contribute immediately and materially to the requirements of Imperial defence."

Then again upon the same page is found this declaration:

"A simple contribution of money or material may be to one Dominion the most acceptable form in which to assist in Imperial defence. Another, while ready to provide local naval forces, and to place them at the disposal of the Crown in the event of war, may wish to lay the foundations upon which a future navy of its own could be raised."

No man can read these extracts without being convinced that the Admirality thoroughly endorses the position taken by Canada in making a commencement towards building a navy.

There is another important feature disclosed by,the first of the quotations immediately above which is, that a navy such as Sir Wilfrid contemplates building now, is not regarded as of the "tin pot" variety, but on the contrary it is regarded and recognized by the Imperial authorities as a force which would contribute immediately and materially to the requirements of Imperial defence. The conference appreciated another fact which is ignored by the Conservatives in their discussion of this question, which is, that the Admirality recognized that the various Dominion Governments might participate in different ways in carrying a portion of the burden of Imperial defence, as best suited their political or geographical conditions. Some might find it more convenient or desirable to contribute funds. Some desired to lay the foundations of a navy of their own. Some preferred to pay their proportion of the cost of war vessels which would not be stationed on their coast line. Just here it cannot be overlooked that Canadian history differs from the history of some of the other colonies—Canada fought for her independence in many ways. The full measure of autonomy we have and the responsible government we enjoy were not secured without a struggle. Therefore, Canada is of necessity sensitive with respect to paying any fixed sum of the people's money for any object whatever, when the people have no voice in saying how it should be expended. Taxation, and the money derived from taxation, being paid out without representation takes us back in thought to the days of long ago when this subject was settled for all time. Canada therefore preferred some other method of assisting in Imperial defence, and that method has found expression in the bill now before the House which has received the approval of the Imperial authorities.

The conference laid this down lucidly on page 24, as follows:

"The main duty of the Conference as regards naval defence would be to determine the form in which the various Dominion governments can best participate in the burden of Imperial defence with due regard to varying political and geographical conditions."

In the case of Canada it was determined that the form in which Canada could best assist in Imperial defence, would find expression in building precisely the fleet which Sir Wilfrid intimated to the House Canada would provide.

Another point upon which there has been much discussion is as to the Canadian navy being under local control in time of peace, and under control of the Admirality in time of war. The first reference to this is found on page 24, in which it is stated that the vessels would be at the disposal of the Crown in the event of war, and the second reference is to be found on page 25, where it says:

"It has been recognized that in time of war the local navy forces should come under the general direction of the Admirality."

This contemplates very clearly that the navy should remain under local control in time of peace. This suggests one other criticism on the part of the Opposition, which is, Parliamentary authority to engage in war. Great Britain cannot go to war without the consent of Parliament. Neither can Canada go to war without the consent of the Canadian Parliament, because the power of both in this regard is co-equal. It has been stated by the Prime Minister that when Great Britain is at war, Canada is at war. It follows then as a natural sequence, that in the event of war being declared by Great Britain the Canadian Parliament will give the necessary authority to pass the Canadian navy into the control of the Imperial authorities. War would be an event all would deplore, but the course of procedure would be as outlined here. The whole case may be summed up in this manner.

That the Canadian navy proposals have the approval of the British authorities.

That the bill submitted to the House is framed with a due regard to our constitutional rights and privileges.

That our representatives in Parliament, upon the Liberal side of the House, while indicating their loyalty to the crown ,and devotion to the Empire, are maintaining and protecting the constitution.

Kidney ills seize young and old.
Come quickly with little warning.
Children suffer in their early years,
Can't control the kidney secretions.
Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.

Women worry, can't do daily work.
Men have lame and aching backs.
The cure for man, woman or child.
Is to cure the cause—the kidneys.
Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Mrs. A. Graham, of 547 Water St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "My back was so weak and tender that I could not turn in bed. A heavy dull pain had settled across the small of it and caused me almost constant suffering. I became weak and languid. I was ru down generally and had little ambition to move around. Headaches were frequent and often accompanied by spells of dizziness. Spots would dazzle before my eyes and I would be unable to see. I had tried numerous remedies without getting results. Booth's Kidney Pills were advertised at Wm. Madill's Pharmacy, which I tried and soon found relief. The kidneys were quickly regulated and each symptom of kidney trouble was quickly cured. I am glad to recommend Booth's Kidney Pills as I believe them to be the best and most reliable of all kidney remedies."

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

It was a bent and withered knave who laboured in a frozen grave, with all his grisly tools, and muttered, with his wintry tongue: "They come to me, the old, the young, the children from the schools; THE SEXTON they come to me among the tombs, with sable steeds and nodding plumes, the sightless and the dumb; from lowly huts with crumbling walls, from palaces with sculptured halls, they come to me, they come! They shun me in the light of day, for I with dust of tombs am gray, a thing of fear to men; but when the long night closes in, on pomp, and vanity and sin, they seek the sexton then! In winter's cold and summer's heat, from country lane and city street, from vineyard and from slum, from gay saloon and house of woe, from places high, and places low, they come to me, they come." A stranger stalked among the graves, and called this dreariest of knaves; "my name is Death," said he; "and when I call a soul away, even the sexton must obey—so come, my friend, with me!"

WOMAN LOST NINE DOLLARS YESTERDAY

A woman from the south end of the city called at the police station this morning, enquiring after nine dollars which she lost yesterday. She came out of a store on George street, and, taking a street car, went north. Returning, she again went into a couple of stores, and when she got home she missed her money. The finder will confer a great favour by leaving the money at the police station.

THIS WELL-KNOWN ADVOCATE STATES

His Doctor Advised Him to Take Dodd's Kidney Pills.

And He Found Them to be all They were Advertised—How and Why Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure.

Montreal, Que., Jan. 26.—(Special)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by our family physician, and I must say that they have proved to be what they were advertised."

This statement, made by L. J. R. Hubert, the well-known advocate, of 214 James street, is a double tribute to Dodd's Kidney Pills. It shows that they are recognized by reputable medical men as a peerless remedy for diseases of the Kidneys and also that they are now looked upon as a standard medicine by the best people in Canada.

And the reason of this is that they do just what they are advertised to do. They cure diseased Kidneys and put them in condition to clear all impurities out of the blood. They cure Bright's Disease, Diabetes, and Backache, because these are Kidney diseases. They cure Rheumatism, Lumbago and Heart Disease, because these are caused by impurities in the blood that the Kidneys would strain out of the blood if they were in good working order. If you haven't used them yourself, ask your neighbours about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

MANY CONGRATULATIONS

The partners of A. E. Ames & Co., Limited, Toronto, are getting a good many congratulations as to the way in which the market has received the securities sold by them through public offering, viz.: the common stock of the Duluth-Superior Traction Company and the preferred and common stock of F. N. Burt Company, Limited. Duluth-Superior was sold to the public last July at $81 per share to the amount of $1,500,000. It went to a premium of five points immediately after the allotment, and has had a steady, active market ever since, now ranging around 89, being eight points above the issue price. F. N. Burt Preference stock was offered to the extent of $750,000, and taken last September at par, with a bonus of 20 per cent. in Common stock. The market, since the securities were listed, has been steady and fairly active, prices tending persistently upward. The Common stock has been selling at 60 and over, and the bonus of 20 per cent. would thus take twelve points off the issue price of the Preferred, reducing it to 88. The Preferred has, however, been selling on its own merits at 97, so that the issue is at a premium of nine points. It is understood to be the policy of the Ames firm to make sure that the securities which they advertise for public subscription shall be offered on such a basis as will give the public a good chance for appreciation in values. It will be remembered that Ames & Co. were joined with Mr. Rodolphe Forget, of Montreal, in the offering of Duluth-Superior.

AFTER FOUR YEARS OF MISERY

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Baltimore, Md. — "For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. FORD, 1933 Lansdowne St., Baltimore, Md.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and to-day is more widely and successfully used than any other female remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration after all other means had failed.

If you are suffering from any of these ailments, don't give up hope until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. She has guided thousands to health, free of charge.

AMERICAN FISH PIRATE SHOT IN DUEL WITH CANADIAN OFFICIAL

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 27.—In a shooting affray yesterday afternoon on the upper Niagara River between Ontario Fisheries Inspector Thomas Briggs and three American fish pirates, one man, John Weigand, and of Buffalo, a saloonkeeper, was killed, but who fired the shot that entered his brain is not certain.

Inspector Briggs is confident that it was not a shot from his Winchester which killed him.

The shooting took place between the shipyards station and Black Creek. Fish dynamiters have been busy on the river lately, and yesterday morning Briggs received information that a party were in the river. He set out from Bridgeburg with a liveryman, and sighted three men in a motor boat in the centre of the river near the Canadian shore. The men were dynamiting the waters for fish.

Briggs got out of the rig and called on the men to surrender. The fish pirates shouted defiance, and Briggs fired a warning shot. The pirates returned the shot, and bullets nearly hit Briggs. For safety he took refuge behind a tree and returned the fire, hoping to sink the boat. Briggs says he fired only three shots, and that about a dozen were fired by the others. The tree behind which he stood shows the marks of the bullets.

Briggs declares that after he had fired his last shot, Weigand fired again, and that a few minutes later he fell inert in the boat.

The man who was with Briggs corroborates this story and both think the man was killed by a shot fired by one of his comrades. When he fell, the boat was turned toward the U. S. shore of Grand Island, through his field glass, Briggs followed the progress of the boat and saw one of the men endeavoring to revive his comrade. Briggs saw two men get out and go on shore. A few minutes later four men returned and carried off the body.

Briggs returned to Bridgeburg and reported the affair to the Ontario police.

CRITICIZES THE POLICY

Labor Member Thinks There Wasn't Much In the Speech From the Throne After All, and Too Many Bouquets Were Thrown at Dr. Pyne — Hon. A. G. MacKay Criticizes Power Methods.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—Almost every member of the Legislature was in his seat when at 3.15 T. Herbert Lennox (North York) rose in his seat to move the adoption of the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Mr. Lennox, who was greeted with hearty applause, congratulated the Government on the accession to the Cabinet of Hon. I. B. Lucas and twitted the leader of the Opposition on rumors of his retirement. He hoped they were not true. No man deserved better of the Liberal party than the present leader of the Opposition. (Applause.) It was not unlikely, as history repeats itself, that in a quarter century or so, he might even find himself in the Premier's place.

Albert Grigg (Algoma), who seconded the address, began with a humorous reference to the speaker who preceded him as a navigator who had learned his business navigating the "dangerous and somewhat shallow waters of the Newmarket Canal."

Hon. Dr. Pyne was given high praise for replacing the log schoolhouses of New Ontario with up-to-date buildings.

The enforcement of the liquor act before 1906 was a farce. Under a better regime there was no class of men better satisfied than the hotel men themselves.

Allan Studholme (East Hamilton) was not impressed overmuch by the speech from the throne. There was very little in it.

Dr. Pyne had had many bouquets thrown at him, but Hamilton was still waiting for that technical college.

The Ontario offices in London he thought were misplaced. Farmers were wanted.

Regarding the compensation of workmen, Mr. A. G. MacKay said on rising to speak, the public ought to understand if it was intended to widen the responsibility of the employer so as to make the laborer practically a part of the machinery of the establishment, a broken arm to be replaced like a broken part of a machine.

The weakest part in the educational system was, to his mind, the time when the lad left the school for the workship at 14 or 15. The province was only proceeding spasmodically in the matter of technical education. He would like to see the province say to every town: "We will give you so much for evening schools for technical training."

Another important question was the price of foodstuffs. If there were combines in respect to foodstuffs, it was not fair that the responsibility should be shouldered by the Dominion Government. The Attorney-General should get busy and break down the combines.

Coming to the Hydro-Electric Commission, Mr. MacKay said: "I didn't believe that when the act of last session was passed, and I don't think the Premier believed, that the crown would take the ground that it did. The province has no right to take any man's land or easements of it, without paying for them."

"And never will," interjected Sir James.

"It is not to the credit of this province," Mr. MacKay continued, "to pass legislation such as that and act on it. The strong arm of the law should be behind the carrying out of any great public work, but it seems to me that this act has been worked out in some of its details in such a manner as to produce the maximum amount of friction."

Sir James Whitney, who prefaced his remarks by a brief but feeling reference to the Webbwood tragedy, mentioned the Goain visit.

"All will acknowledge," he said, significantly, "that great good has already arisen, that great good will arise in the future from the exchange of these social amenities."

In regard to the compensation of workmen there was necessity for a complete investigation. The other provinces should deal with the matter in a manner not inconsistent with each other. Otherwise there would be injustice to the manufacturer.

Nothing was further from the minds of the Government than to shift responsibility in the price of foodstuffs. When this was made would be the time to talk of applying a remedy.

When he came to answer Mr. MacKay's taunt on the Hydro-Electric easements, Sir James hit out straight from the shoulder.

"Neither this nor any other Government would ever dare to do that which he thinks this Government is prepared to do.

"The judge says that we have the power to do so. When this case is merely used in illustration, it is the reverse of fair to try to make the public believe that this is what we intend to do. It was never in the mind of a member of this Government; it was never in the mind of a member of this House that we intended to act so.

"So long as this Government is in power, not an atom, not a square inch of land will be taken from anyone without being paid for. Every dollar and every cent to which they are entitled will be paid."

The 39 statute revision acts got their second reading, and will go to committee to-day.

Plowing In Alberta.

Winnipeg, Jan. 27.—The weather throughout the west is remarkably mild, and the snow is rapidly disappearing in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, while in Alberta the snow is entirely gone. Reports from Lethbridge state that the farmers are harrowing and discing, and some farmers are actually plowing.

Never Owned Gun.

New York, Jan. 27.—When Herbert Jerome Dennison was arraigned in the Jefferson market police court yesterday, charged with the murder of the two little boys, Robert Lomas and Arthur Shibley, Inspector McCafferty, of the detective bureau, told the magistrate that he had evidence to indicate that Dennison, who has been in several insane asylums in the last twelve years, was also the man who had shot John Fredericks four times in the back on the Park Avenue bridge over the Harlem River. The aged mother and aunt of the prisoner were in court to testify that Dennison could not have been the slayer of the Lomas and Shibley boys or the assailant of Fredericks. They insist that Dennison has not had a pistol in many years and that he never owned such a weapon as was found near the scene of the high bridge park tragedy. The police say the weapon is like the one used by Dennison as a stage magician.

Sent to Pasteur Institute.

Detroit, Jan. 27.—The three schoolboys of the Valetta School, Tilbury, Ont., who were bitten by a supposed mad dog last Saturday, have been sent to the Pasteur Institute, New York, for treatment, in charge of Rev. Dr. Smith of Comber. After the lads were bitten excitement reigned in the neighborhood and Tilbury East Township Council decided that the safest course was to send the boys directly to New York.

A proclamation has been issued that all dogs in Tilbury East must at once be tied up, muzzled or shot.

The head of a strange dog that was later shot in Merlin is now in Toronto for examination.

Get an Extra Hour's Work.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—During the course of the testimony of Prof. Skelton before the special committee of the House of Commons, which has the eight-hour bill before it, Ralph Smith brought out an interesting point yesterday morning, when he stated that for twenty years past it had been the custom of the coal miners of the north of England to work only seven hours a day, but that since the passage of the eight-hour bill by the British Parliament last year they had been compelled to work eight hours.

NO KIDNEY TROUBLE OR BLADDER MISERY

Just a Few Doses Will Overcome Any Kidney Disorder and End Backache.

The most effective and harmless way to cure backache and regulate out-of-order kidneys, or end bladder trouble, is to take several doses of Pape's Diuretic.

You will distinctly feel that your kidneys and urinary organs are being cleaned, healed and vitalized, and all the miserable symptoms, such as backache, headache, nervousness, rheumatism and darting pains, inflamed or swollen eyelids, irritability, sleeplessness, or suppressed, painful or frequent urination (especially at night) and other distress, leaving after taking the first few doses.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder, or rheumatism, begin taking this harmless preparation as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker, or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Don't be miserable or worried another moment with a lame back or clogged inactive kidneys or bladder misery. All this goes after you start taking Pape's Diuretic, and in a few days you feel and know that your kidneys, liver and urinary system are healthy, clean and normal, and all danger passed.

BLAIRTON MINE SOLD TO SYNDICATE

Hamilton Steel Range Co. Said to be in the Deal.

We have been informed that the Blairton Iron mine, six miles east of Havelock, has sold to a Syndicate composed of the Hamilton Street Range Co., and other interests.

It is stated that the Pearce Company of Marmora, have been paid for the property at a fancy figure, and that development work in stripping the ore beds, building a spur line to Blairton station to connect with the C. P. R., and erecting suitable buildings, will be commenced in the spring.

We have no absolute confirmation of the sale, but have received it from what should be reliable authority. —Havelock Standard.

FIRST BATH IN FIFTEEN YEARS

Swedish Resident of Spokane Makes Desperate Battle.

Spokane, Wash., Jan 26.—Boasting that he had not taken a bath in fifteen years, nor tasted food in nine weeks, J. P. Peterson, a native of Sweden, for three years a lodger in the Big Island House in Spokane, with $4,800 in bank certicates and $80 in gold securely strapped under his left arm, was arrested by order of the city Health Department and bathed in a tank at the County gaol. The bath required the services of four "trusties" and occupied two hours. He was afterward sent to a local hospital where he will have a daily plunge and scrub during his stay.

Peterson weighs 250 pounds, is well proportioned and as strong as an ox. This is evienced by the fact that six husky deputies connected with the Health Department had their hands full in taking him from his room, which by contrast, was as clean as a Dutch housewife's kitchen. He was overpowered after he became exhausted knocking the deputies around like a lot of ten pins in a bowling alley. He appeared to enjoy the scrubbing.

When women have backache they often attribute their suffering to other disorders and do not realize that the kidneys are diseased.

Neglect usually means the development of Bright's disease.

You know how dreadfully painful and fatal that is.

There is quick relief from backache and thorough cure for kidney disease in the use of

Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney & Liver Pills

This medicine has a truly wonderful record of cures and is known in nearly every home as the most effective treatment obtainable for liver complaint, biliousness, constipation, backache and kidney disease.

Presbyterian Churches Of The City Held Their Annual Meetings

Congregations are in Good Condition According to the Reports Presented Last Night---Increased Attendances and Finances are in Flourishing Condition.

ST. ANDREW'S.

Well merited praise was given to the Ladies' Aid Society for the excellent work they had accomplished during the year. The renovation of the manse and the building of the handsome colonial verandah had been their special task. Instead of a dinner at Thanksgiving time the congregation donated to the Society $120.65. The total receipts for the year were $693.80, with expenditure of $693.41. Mrs. F. L. Robinson is the President, and Mrs. Geo. Laing secretary.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society also reported a good year. Emphasis had been laid upon the study of conditions in the Orient, and a new line of work among scattered helpless is being energetically pushed by Mrs. Rankin. Receipts for the year were $180. Total gifts, including clothing, $200.80.

The Young Ladies' Mission Band reported great activity during the year, splendid meetings had been held, and profitable studies had been enjoyed. Total receipts were $64.74.

The Willing Workers had held regular meetings and also studied Foreign Mission conditions. Their gifts amounted to $10.00.

The Sunday School report showed progress. The excellent staff of officers and teachers and great harmony amongst the workers gave hope for further activity. Special thanks are due to Miss King and Mrs. P. A. Kerr for the Christmas treat for the children. The receipts for the year were $294.78, of which $154.70 were given to missions.

The Young Men's Guild reported an active life and continued their interest in all the lines of church help for which they had always been noted. $21.94 had sufficed to carry on the work for the year.

The Young People Society had held meetings every week and took charge of the prayer meeting during the summer. There are 75 on the roll, with an average atendance of 30. Collections, $20 for society expenses.

The choir had had a most enjoyable year. Everything had gone along most harmoniously, and the members had all appreciated the interest in their success, shown by Mrs. McClelland, organist, and Mr. Wright, their leader. Their cash receipts had been $102.75, with a balance of $24.70.

The managers' report was then presented by Mr. A. McFarlane, the chairman of the Board, and showed a most successful year.

There was a balance over expenditures of $223.50, which, together with special gifts for the purpose, had reduced the floating debt from $1,600 to $869.

KNOX CHURCH.

The people of Knox church have every reason to congratulate themselves upon the splendid progress they made last year. The annual meeting last night brought out reports from all the departments showing big advancements. A large number were present and took a keen interest in the proceedings. After devotional exercises, Rev. Mr. Keith was elected to the chair and one of the most important things the congregation did was to increase his salary $100 per year.

Reports were presented by the following organizations:

The three mission circles.

Mission Band, showing receipts of $8.20.

Boys Club, with a membership of

REV. H. J. KEITH,
Pastor of Knox Church.

The Young People's Guild raised $155.02, and have on hand $12.85.

Ladies' Aid raised $235.

The Building committee presented a statement of the finances in connection with the work done on the new church last year.

The Board of Managers showed total receipts of $2.102, and they have a balance on hand of $30.27.

The missionary treasurer showed receipts of $305.48. This sum is distributed among the various societies of the church.

The Board of Managers reported as follows:

This, the third annual report of the Board is one of prosperity, progress and encouragement. The year has been characteristic of activity in connection with the management, twenty-eight meetings being held for various purposes not including those of the Building Department.

The auditor's and treasurer's report show the finances in a satisfactory condition with a surplus balance

The majority of the members and adherents have now adopted the duplex envelopes for contributing and this system has proved very satisfactory. One new manager has been added to the Board during the year namely, Mr. R. F. McWilliams, and one of the managers [illegible] time, namely, Mr. D. Hamilton, Mr. [illegible] Mr. W. Menzies, being eligible for re-election.

The various organizations of the church have been working in harmony throughout the year and the managers wish to express their appreciation and gratitude for their assistance and hearty co-operation.

J. W. Buyers, secretary of the Board of Managers.

The report of the Sunday school was presented as follows:

On behalf of your Sunday school I beg to report that there has been another year of marked success and growth. The attendance is now so large as to crowd the available space and additional accommodation in one way will be necessary before the present year is ended. The number of classes has increased from nineteen to twenty-five and the number on roll is now over three hundred. The average attendance for the respective quarters of 1909 was 210, 174, 141 and 211, while during the last three Sundays it averaged 248. There has also been a marked increase in the givings. During the past year the school has undertaken the maintenance of a scholar at Point aux Trembles school and although this meant an increase of $50.00 it has been successfully met and the year closed without any debt.

A particularly noteworthy feature of the school is the interest and attendance of the teachers, which has averaged eighteen out of nineteen. The year has been marked by the retirement of Sheriff Hall, who has been superintendent from the organization of the school. The Sheriffs resignation was most unwillingly accepted after having been tendered several times, and we desire to put on record our high appreciation of the valuable services which he has rendered to this school. As a mark of our appreciation the teachers and officers have asked him to accept the position of Honorary Superintendent and to retain his association with the school. The vacancy caused by the resignation of Sheriff Hall was filled by the appointment of R. F. McWilliams as superintendent, and Mr. A. S. Sanderson as assistant superintendent.

The report of the Session was presented by Mr. Kennedy and he called attention to the cause for rejoicing in the increased givings to the missions and to the other schemes of the church. The use of the Duplex envelopes for contribution purposes was urged upon the members.

76 additions were made on the roll, 36 by certificate and 40 on profession of faith, thirty four of which are connected with the Sabbath school.

The increase in the attendance at the public services was commented on and the progress of the choir noted. The congregation was urged to be more faithful in attendance at the mid-week services.

Officers.

Managers—B. Hamilton, W. Menzies and K. Denoon.

Chairman and treasurer to be elected by the Board.

Missionary Treasurer—Wm. Watt.

Charity Board—F. D. Armstrong.

Hospital Board—Dr. McCullough.

Auditors—Wm. Watt, W. J. Byers.

ST. PAULS.

The annual busines meeting of St. Paul's church, was held in the lecture hall, Wednesday, Jan. 26, at which there was a full representation of active members. The meeting was most enthusiastic and harmonious. Rev. Mr. Pogue opened the meeting with devotional exercises, after which on motion of Messrs. J. C. Shook and T. A. S. Hay, Mr. R. E Wood was appointed chairman

Mr Wood reviewed briefly the work of the past year, which he pointed out was most satisfactory, from all standpoints, As the work of the pastor had increased so rapidly, he was pleased to state that the Board of Managers had supplied the long felt need of a typewriter and an allowance for the engagement of a stenographer. The chairman then called the secretaries of the session and the Board of Managers to their duties. The minutes of the meeting held January 27th, 1909, were then read and confirmed.

The following reports were then read and adopted:

Report of Session, Board of Managers, Sunday School, Missionary, Womens Foreign Missionary Society, Ladies Aid, Young People's Guild, Fraser Mission Band.

All the reports were most encouraging, showing that exceptional progress had been made in all departments.

St. Andrew's Church and its Pastor,
REV. J. G. POTTER.

It was noteworthy to know that about 60 per cent. of the increase of the membership of the church came from the Sunday school, The untiring efforts of the pastor, superintendent and teachers were well rewarded by this splendid showing.

The Board of Managers, for a considerable time had been discussing the advisability of a lot, on which to erect a manse and by a unanimous vote the Board were instructed to purchase the same. This is only another progressive step of a progressive church.

The retiring members of the Board of Managers, namely: Messrs. A. Hall, W. G. Ferguson, J. H. Connal and T. A. S. Hay, were re-elected

After the Doxology had been sung, the ladies served refreshments, which was a happy closing, of the most interesting annual meeting held in years.

Report Of Managing Board Of County House Of Refuge

Presented to County Council Showing Amount of Produce and Work Done During Past Year—Number of People Admitted, Etc.—Total Number Since House Was Opened.

INTERESTING FIGURES

The fourth annual report of the Board of Management of the House of Refuge was presented to the County Council yesterday afternoon, as follows, and as may be seen, contains many items of interest:

We, your Board of Management for the year 1909 respectfully beg to report as follows:

Up to and including December 31st, 1909, there have been admitted to the House 50 inmates; of these nine have been discharged or absconded, 12 have died, and on Dec. 31st, 29 remained in the House. The 12 that died averaged 80 1-3 years of age.

During the year one inmate was removed to the Provincial Asylum, and we yet have one that is not, properly speaking, a fit subject for a House of Refuge.

Outside the removal by death of several of the old people, there was not the amount of illness, as prevailed during 1908.

Your Board have made requisite number of inspections provided by the rules, and the results of our observations, in the main, have been satisfactory, very little complaint having been made by the old people, and whenever made was generally the examination of eccentricity.

Considerable permanent improvements appeared to be necessary, and according to your provision in Council, your Board have carried into effect that which they deemed necessary, as follows:

Extending of one barn some thirty feet, thereby making more adequate barn room and providing for hogs underneath the extension.

Also the building of a poultry house, which, after considering the capability of the old men to look after fowl, appeared to be and no doubt will be a paying investment. Some other improvements were made, such as necessary grading and placing the electric light poles in back lanes, thereby adding to the appearance of the front by removing them from there.

We also had the outbuildings fitted with electric lighting, deeming it safer than coal oil lanterns, with very little more current expense.

There has, up to Dec. 31st, 1909, been paid for permanent improvements, $788.68, and some accounts are still not presented.

EASE FOR PILES

"I USED TO SUFFER, BUT———"

This is the experience of a lady who used to suffer from this terrible ailment, but found a cure. The writer is Mrs. E. Boxall, of 97 Scott St., St. Thomas. She says: "I consider my duty to write of the benefits derived from using Zam-Buk. For some months I was a constant sufferer from bleeding piles. I used a great many ointments, but got no relief until I tried Zam-Buk. It cured me, and I have had no return of the trouble. Since my cure I have advised several others suffering from piles to use Zam-Buk, and in each instance have had satisfactory results.'

If you suffer from this ailment apply Zam-Buk at night before retiring, and you will be satisfied with the trial! A contributory cause of piles is often constipation, and a mild laxative will greatly aid the operation of Zam-Buk. For fistula, inflamed patches, and sores due to blood poisoning, etc., Zam-Buk is equally effective. It is a soothing, cooling balm, which stimulates the cells beneath the epidermis and epithelium to natural action. It relieves the tension which in the case of piles causes such acute agony, and in all respects will be found eminently satisfactory.

Zam-Buk is also a cure for eczema, ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, rashes, chapped hands, frost bite, cold sores, bad leg, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

BEING DIVORCED BECOMES A HABIT

Four Times in Six Years Wife Wins Uncontested Suit.

Omaha, Jan. 25.—Four marriages and four divorces in less than six years—such is the record established by Le Roy Maltby, a travelling salesman.

Wife No. 1 sued in February, 1904, alleging cruelty and failure to support. In less than a year Maltby married Lillian B. Fogg. She, like wife oN. 1, got a divorce on the ground of cruelty and failure to support. Nine days later Maltby met his first wife and both admitted they had made a mistake in securing the separation, and they were married again. The second time this wife remained married longer than upon the previous occasion, for she did not secure her divorce No. 2 until July 6, 1908—non-support, as usual, being the complaint.

Wife No. 4 appealed to the courts about six months after marriage, giving the same reasons as former wives.

In none of the suits has Maltby made any contest. He takes the position that there is no necessity for fighting divorce proceedings, contending that as wives are so easy to secure there are no good reasons why he should object to any of them obtaining divorce.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Of all the uncivilized customs of this supposedly civilized country, funeral services, such as we now have, seem to me the very worst.

I hope I shall live to see the day when such services are as much things of the past as the funeral wreaths of wax or hair that used to hang on our grandmother's walls, are to-day.

Please do not be so hidebound by what has always been, that you absolutely refuse to think of this as a possibility, or even a suggestion.

Please try to look at it unprejudicedly.

Does a funeral service accomplish any good purpose whatsoever?

It harrows feelings already harrowed beyond endurance.

"Yes, she got through the funeral better than anyone expected. We really didn't think she would be able to stand it," or "You know his wife is quite ill herself. She collapsed entirely at the funeral. Too much for the poor woman."

It imposes on many people who dread the morbid atmosphere, and who far rather honour their friends in some saner, healthier way, the necessity of attending the gathering or being considered lacking in respect.

"Do you think I ought to go to Mr. L's funeral?"

"Yes; if you don't the family will think it's awfully queer."

Did you ever say or hear the prototype of that in your own home? I'll answer for you. Of course you have, if it's an average home.

Don't say in defence of the ceremonial that it honours the dead.

Do you really think that if any one of the dead you are pretending to honour could be present at his own funeral he would be pleased to hear the minister's probably stilted and unmeaning eulogy of himself?

I do not believe it.

And if we must have a funeral service at all I wish that feature of them could be banished. If there is to bea eulogy at all why not have it delivered by a minister of the family or some friend who knew the man intimately instead of by a minister who knew him merely as he knows some hundreds of people?

Oneof the most beautiful things in "The Last of the Mohicans" is the account of the burial of the Indian boy, Uncas. Instead of any set speech, all the young men who knew him stood up and told of some virtue he possessed or some kind deed he did.

If we must have funerals why not something like that?

But must we? Why is not the simple, solemn, commitment service ceremonial enough?

This is what a certain philosopher says on the subject, and I echo it with all my heart:

"When I die, please dispose of my shell quickly and unostentatiously. Please tell my friends to wear red, white and blue, to feast, sing, dance and make merry. They may not feel like it, but if they want to please me, tell them to obey my wishes. There is no use crying over spilt milk, nor in making things more gloomy, when things are already gloomy enough. I want no funeral, no mourning garments, no elaborate coffin, no procession, no weeping. If any love me, let them be glad, not sad; because, if they consider my own happiness better than their own, they should realize that my sould must have gone to a higher and better plane, where it would not be content if it knew that my friends on earth were weeping because of my promotion."

BELMONT CLUB "AT HOME" WAS AN ENJOYABLE SOCIAL FUNCTION

In the opinion of many, the most enjoyable function of the present social season, was the annual "At Home" given at the Conservatory Music Hall last evening under the auspices of the Belmont Club. About one hundred couples were in attendance and everyone had a thoroughly delightful evening. The hall never looked prettier. It was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting and predominating among the decorations were the colours of the Club, purple and mauve. The programme was a varied one and the music furnished by Mr. Strathcee, of Toronto, could not have been excelled. He was most liberal in his encores and by his excellent generosity soon won the favour of the dancers. Supper was served by Messrs. Coleman.

The honorary secretary, Mr. W. B. Belleghem and his able assistants are to be congratulated on the success of the affair. The patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. T. Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Denne, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Roy.

DANISH COUNT WEDS PRETTY STENOGRAPHER

Otto Von Madvig Contracts a Secret Marriage.

San Francisco, Jan. 26.—Count Otto Von Madvig, whose family name links him with the royal house of King Christian of Denmark, has been secretly married to Elizabeth Krieder, a handsome stenoghapher employed by a large banking institution in San Francisco since last June.

While he has not formally relinquished his title, the Danish nobleman is living with the young woman as plain "Mr. Von Madvik" in apartments at Twenty-fifth street and Telegraph avenue, Oakland.

Both Von Madvig an dhis wife admitted the secret marriage and explained the reason that had led the Count to cas taside his title.

The bride of the Count has not yet assumed the title of Countess, but has continued to work as a stenographer in order to assist her titled husband to buy and furnish their own house.

Count Von Madvig is contributing to the realization of this building fund by working as a piano sal sman and selling his services to mercantile houses as an expert on cable codes.

SUGGESTS A CHANGE

B. C. Member of Upper House Urges Action Against Racetrack Evils—Hon. Mackenzie King Brings In Resolution to Have Enquiry Into Hours of Work — Mr. Geo. E. Foster's Accusations.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—The party patronage system provided the text of a discussion raised in the Commons yesterday by Hon. George E. Foster. He dwelt upon the low standard of public morals inculcated by a practise which, in an evil day, had been imported from the United States, and told the Premier that if he would make some move towards clearing it out of Canada he would have the warm support of the Conservative party.

Hon. Mackenzie King moved the resolution to appoint a specialist to enquire into the whole question of the hours of labor on public works.

Hon. George E. Foster said he could not see the necessity for the appointment of a specialist. Any level-headed clerk could do the work. Mr. Blain Peely thought that, as there was a large Labor Bureau under the control of the Government, and as the Minister himself had been studying the question for years, a specialist was unnecessary. At the request of the Premier the resolution was withdrawn meanwhile.

Mr. Armstrong (Lambton) was informed that the taking of the census would begin in June, 1911.

Hon. George E. Foster, in moving his resolution: "That the prevailing system of party constitutes a menace to honest and efficient Government, incites a great waste of resources and extravagance of expenditures, tends inevitably to corrupt and lower the tone of public morals and should forthwith be eliminated from the Federal administration, said that the question was no longer academic in this country; it eminently practical. Eight or ten thousand civil servants were affected by it and though since 1908 measurable advance had been made, it was still true that the vast mass of the civil service was interested in preserving the good-will of the party patron.

Hugh Guthrie (South Wellington) described the resolution as a motive of direct censure on the administration. No self-respecting Government could adopt such a motion. He proposed to justify the prevailing system and mode of appointment. While it was not perfect, not infallible, and open to abuses and irregularities, yet the system to-day was the best that had existed under any Government. He reviewed the patronage system since confederation and declared that Mr. Foster, while a member of the late Conservative administration, had neglected the warnings of the Auditor-General and his own Deputy Minister in regard to the abuses of the patronage system then in vogue.

He quoted letters written in the eighties to J. V. Gregory, purchasing agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, at Quebec, by Mr. Foster, amongst others, giving instructions regarding tenders for supplies, which he said directly contributed to collusion on the part of the tenderers.

Mr. Guthrie admitted that there was still party patronage in connection with the outside service, but he moved, in amendment: "That this House approves of the rapid advance made by the Government towards the elimination of the system of party patronage, which had been in operation under every administration since Confederation, and views with satisfaction the system now in force of making all important purchases by public competition and tender."

Martin Burrill, who moved the adjournment of the debate, denied that there had been any lessening of the patronage evil, and quoted from the report of the Cassels' commission.

In the public accounts committee yesterday morning, respecting the dredging done at Gaspereaux, New Brunswick, Chief Engineer Lafleur said that the engineer's estimate of the cost of dredging on the Gaspereaux River, where this contract was let, was twenty cents per cubic foot but the contract at ninety cents had been certified to as fair and reasonable.

In the Senate yesterday a large number of petitions were presented by a number of Senators from people in various parts of Canada asking for amendments to the criminal code to forbid racetrack betting. Senator Macdonald of British Columbia said that while it was not necessary to speak in presenting a petition, he desired to call the attention of the Government to the demand by the people that their many petitions on this subject should not be filed away and forgotten, but that they should be respected and a law made in accordance with their request.

The demand in British Columbia was particularly strong. Last summer a hundred horses were brought up from California to Victoria, with a gang of thieves and gamblers following them, and for two months the people were robbed of their money by being induced to bet on races.

Troubled

Every Winter With Severe Colds.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Cured Her.

Mrs. W. J. Hammond, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I beg to say that I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for my youngest girl who was troubled every winter with bronchitis and very severe colds. At night she would keep us all awake with her coughing until I tried your Syrup, which gave her instant relief. After the first bottle was finished I got more, and always kept a bottle in her room at night. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is certainly a wonderful thing in a case like the above mentioned and no one can praise it too highly. I have taken every opportunity to recommend it to all my friends and relatives."

There is nothing to equal "Dr. Wood's" for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

It prevents Pneumonia and Consumption.

DAMAGE IS ENORMOUS

Situation Is Improving In the Provinces, But Paris' Art Treasures Are Endangered by the Unprecedented Rise In the Level of the Seine —Thousands Are Homeless and Starving Throughout Country

Paris, Jan. 27.—At one o'clock this morning the water was rising rapidly and had reached to within a few inches of the parapet of the quay at the Louvre. The flood threatened momentarily to inundate the Sculpture Gallery where are kept the Venus of Milo and other priceless art treasures.

The danger to the Louvre is increased by the presence at this point of a big sewer, which it is feared will burst. A gang of masons was hurriedly assembled, and is working under high pressure, in the glare of flaring gas lamps, building a concrete wall to keep out the water.

Late despatches from the provinces bring a ray of hope. These indicate that the situation there has improved and that the floods have at length reached their crest. The affluents of the Seine are even beginning to show a tendency to drop. The Rhone and Saone Rivers, however, are still rising.

Reports of villages submerged and people absolutely without food are reaching Paris constantly.

With the failure of the gas and electric lighting plants Paris is confronted with an oil famine. Scores of oil barges from Rouen are tied up in the Seine and the great depots of distribution in the outskirts of Paris are flooded.

Already the damage is officially estimated at $200,000,000 and every hour adds millions more. The death roll also is growing at a frightful rate, and when the epidemic, which now appears inevitable, breaks out, it will run into thousands. Already scarlet fever has appeared among the refugees at Ivry.

Among the superstitious there is talk of the destruction of Paris as a result of the appearance of Halley's comet.

The public subscriptions opened by the newspapers have reached nearly $100,000.

First Boat In Port.

Owen Sound, Jan. 27.—Is Captain John Rutherford, of the tug Maitland, entitled to the Board of Trade's silk hat for bringing the first vessel into the harbor for this season, or is he entitled to the credit of being the last arrival? Tuesday morning he brought in the tug Maitland from Wiarton, arriving at 10 a.m., and the trip to Owen Sound was made in her usual time. The bay is still clear, and the only ice encountered was in leaving Wiarton harbor, and in making the dock at Owen Sound. It was necessary to break away considerable ice in order to reach the harbor, and the tug tied up near the entrance to the harbor. The Maitland was in Wiarton, where she was undergoing repairs. Capt. Rutherford's arrival is one of the latest (or one of the earliest) arrivals in the history of the port.

Underwear Sale Hit Him.

Detroit, Jan. 27.—Three union suits bought at a bargain sale Monday afternoon by George Sauve, a travelling salesman from Montreal, saved him and his wife from death when the lodging-house where they had engaged rooms, took fire Tuesday. Escape by way of the stairs was cut off by the blaze. Sauve knotted the union suits together, tied one end to the bedpost threw the other out of the window, and thus he and his wife scrambled to the ground.

Health Measures In Alberta.

Edmonton, Jan. 27.—It has been made imperative by an important order just issued by the Provincial Board of Health, that all municipalities in the province shall have proper and satisfactory sewage deposal systems installed before Dec. 31. It practically necessitates the expenditure of close upon $2,000,000.

Reject Men's Demands.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 27.—Claiming that submission to the requests of the men would mean that the operating expenses of the road would be increased more than 25 per cent., the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad yesterday rejected the demands of the trainmen for higher wages.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $26,270,000.00, an increase of $2,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $319,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $34,817.24.

The Assets now total $306,974.09, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.13.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

LEADING TEAMS WON FROM TAIL-ENDERS LAST NIGHT

West Ends Won From T. A. S. 7 to 4, While Strathconas Had an Easy Victory Over Keene--Score Was 12-2---Abstainers Made a Good Showing.

There were no startling surprises in the City League games last night, the Strathconas trimming Keene, as was expected, while the West Ends scored their second victory over the T. A. S., after a good game by a score of 7 to 4.

As was prophesied the Westerners had to work every minute for a win over the hard-working Abstainers, who, in the early stages, gave the Oldhamites some uncomfortable moments, and even in the dying moments of the game never stopped. The half-time figure was 2 to 1, in favour of the winners, but at that the T. A. S. had, if anything, a little better of the going. A long shot by Crane from outside the defence, gave the West Ends the lead just before the half ended, but earlier in the game the Abstainers were working down on the nets with good speed and stickhandling, and should have had more goals if their shooting ability had equalled their aggressiveness. Their marksmanship was of anything but King's prize quality, however, and to make matters worse they seemed to prefer to shoot from outside.

The West Ends, on the other hand, uncorked some pretty combinations, that got them in close, and they gave a snappy exhibition all the way through, with the exception of Crane, their shooting was not of the best. The rover annexed four goals, two of them on long shots from well outside, and his aim was accurate to say the least.

It was a hard-fought and clean game, with both teams showing plenty of speed and the West Ends superb condition, that kept them going all the way. The winners had much the better of the play on the forward line, with the exception of checking, but there was little to choose between the two defences.

Crane was probably the star of the winners, his great shooting from all angles bringing him into the limelight. He gets the rubber away fast and accurately, and there is always trouble for the goal-keeper when this player looms into sight. Dobson rushed and passed nicely and checked back vigorously, while Giroux and Short showed speed and aggressiveness on the boards. Seymour checked and rushed nicely, as did Munro, while Halpin made some effective stops.

Heffernan was the pick of the Abstainers and probably played the best game of any of the fourteen players on the ice. His checking was beautiful to watch and he tore down with speedy rushes in which he showed splendid stickhandling ability. This youngster is one of the most promising that has yet been uncovered in the City League. Giroux, in goal, stopped a host of shots at close range, although a couple of long easy ones fooled him. Coughlin did some brilliant work in spots, although he was not consistent in his playing. His rush for the second last goal of the game was the most brilliant individual stunt of the night.

Roy McDougall, of the Keene team, handled the game very satisfactorily. He was very strict on offsides and frowned down any attempt at rough play. The teams were as follows:

The First Game.

There was nothing to the first game but the Strathconas, who ran up the biggest score of the season against Keene, beating the Villagers by 12 to 2. The half-time figure was 8 to 2 in favour of the Commissioners. Keene had their weakest line-up of the season on, and never were in the hunt. They managed to hold the Straths scoreless for ten minutes, but then came an avalanche of goals that resulted in seven scores in nine minutes, before Keene located the nets at all. The next two goals went to the blue shirts, but after that the Strathconas banged in five more, while Keene failed to register.

It was loose hockey all through the argument, but the contest was clean, and at times marked by some brilliant work. The Commissioners showed soe clever combination all through and. Keene's failure to back check after the first few minutes allowed them plenty of opportunities to work down on the defence unhampered from behind. The result was that they were continually closing in on Dinsdale, and should have scored more often than they did. Keene had very little to offer in the way of combination and their checking was weak, especially on the part of the forwards, who failed to come back with the red and white line.

FRED DENISON,

Clever young point player of the Strathconas' City League team. He is also Captain of the Collegiate Institute Junior O. H. A. team. He is sixteen years of age and is playing his first year in senior company.

There were no particular stars on the Strathcona team. Every one gave a good account of himself, and there was no choice. The defence checked well and the forwards passed neatly and at the proper time.

Derocher distinguished himself by going out and stopping shots the few times the Keene forwards managed to break through the defence. For Keene, McDougall and Weir were the stars, Lewis showed up well in the first period, but died in the last half. The others failed to show class.

Bill Rose had an easy task handling the game, which was clean as a new whistle. There was but one penalty, McMillan getting a minute for an unintentional trip, earning the distinction of being the only Strathcona man to decorate the fence in two games.

The teams were as follows:

The Strathconas could not seem to get working at the go-in, and Keene held them away for ten minutes. Keene had several opportunities, but Derocher picked off the shots. Then Dusty came down all alone and scored on a neat shot from the wings.

From the face-off Dusty broke loose down the boards and centred neatly to Burritt, who made it 3 to 0 in 30 seconds.

McMillan got two minutes for tripping, and while he was away Burritt again tallied after a combination rush started by Weatherstone and helped on by Ray.

After this outburst of four goals in less than three minutes the Commissioners threw on the brakes and by neglecting to check back gave Keene a number of openings. Finally Keene broke into the scoring column, Weir taking the puck away from Ray as he brought it out from behind, and fooling Derocher.

McMillan got the eighth goal for the Commissioners on a lonesome jaunt, followed by a neat shot.

Weatherstone scored the first goal of the half in two minutes on a rush all by himself.

The next goal was scored seventeen minutes afterwards, when Dusty slipped up the boards with a speedy rush and a nice shot that fooled Dinsdale.

Burritt got the next in 40 seconds on a pass from McMillan, and Dusty ended the scoring in 2 1-2 minutes after a combination rush with Ray.

Summary.

1—Strathconas, Dusty, 10 mins.
2—Strathconas, Weatherstone, 1 minute.
3—Strathconas, McMillan, 5 mins.
4—Strathconas, Burritt, 30 secs.
5—Strathconas, Burritt, 2 mins.
6—Strathconas, Burritt, 20 secs.
7—Strathconas, McMillan, 25 secs.
8—Keene, Weir, 8 mins.
9—Keene, Lewis, 4 mins.
10—Strathconas, McMillan, 3 mins. Half-time.
11—Strathconas, Weatherstone, 2 mins.
12—Strathconas, Dusty, 17 mins.
13—Strathconas, Burritt, 40 secs.
14—Strathconas, McMillan, 1 min.

T. A. S.—Goal, L. Giroux; point, Heffernan; cover, Quigley; rover, Coughlin; centre, T. Sabatino; right wing, Morin; left wing, McNichol.

The T.A.S. opened the game at a pace that seemed to surprise the westerners and for the first few minutes had all the better of the going. They buzzed around the West Ends nets like a swarm of bees, but failed to shoot accurately and lost a number of chances. Quigley got two minutes for dumping Seymour into the boards, but even with the disadvantage of a man short the Coldwater brigade still pressed. However, the West Ends began to find themselves and finally after twelve minutes' of exciting play Crane went up by himself and beat Giroux by a shot from close in. West Ends 1, T.A.S. 0.

T. A. S. came back with a rush and Halpin blocked beautifully a hot shot from Morin's stick. Seymour drew two minutes for slashing and just before his time was up Crane was penalized for the same offence. For a moment the Abstainers had the advantage of two odd men, but Seymour was back in a moment and a good chance was gone. The T.A.S. kept hammering away, however, and finally T. Sabatino checked Seymour as he was starting a rush and carried the rubber in for a score in 12 mins. West End 1, T.A.S. 1.

Seymour got two minutes and soon after Morin drew a like penalty for tripping. Just before half time Crane put his team in front by a long lift from the boards.

The West Ends got clean through at the beginning of the second half but Giroux made a great stop. McNichol was penalized for slashing. With him on the boards the West Ends scored, Dobson banging one past Giroux on a combination rush, with Crane and Giroux. Time 3.30. West Ends 3, T.A.S. 1.

Crane scored the next on a long shot from the wings in one minute. Dobson and Quigley had a wrestling match, which resulted in the pair being banished for five minutes. Seymour and Crane went down together with the prettiest combination rush of the night and Seymour scored on a shot from the side in four minutes.

The T. A. S. came back strong and Coughlin made things closer by scooping one past Halpin. Crane was penalized for tripping. Giroux made it 6 to 2 on a long lift shot. Heffernan was banished for tripping Seymour and while he was off Crane went down all alone and scored in two minutes. Score 7-2.

Coughlin got the next for T.A.S. on a beautiful rush. Securing the puck at centre he went down like a flash. Seymour bodied him, but he recovered and skating around Munro, tipped the rubber behind Halpin. It was a great play and was enthusiastically cheered. Coughlin was exiled a moment after for tripping Seymour. However, he got back in time to bang the last goal through from a face off just ten seconds before time was up. The summary—

1 West Ends, Crane 12 mins.
2 T.A.S., Sabatino 10 mins.
3 West Ends, Crane 7 mins.

Half time—

4 West Ends, Dobson 3.30 mins.
5 West Ends, Crane 1 min.
6 West Ends, Seymour 4 mins.
7 T.A.S., Coughlin 6 mins.
8 West Ends Giroux 6 mins.
9 West Ends, Crane 2 mins.
10 T.A.S., Coughlin 2 mins.
11 T.A.S., Coughlin 4 mins

West Ends—Seymour 2, Crane 2, Dobson. Total 5.

Lindsay Expects To Win Here To-morrow

Lindsay Post.—Last evening another O.H.A. intermediate practice was conducted in the Lindsay St. skating rink. Several of the town league teams were represented, and with the members of the intermediate team a rattling good, all round practice was run off. Some changes were made while the practice was going on and things looked bright. Cote was put from right wing to point and showed up splendidly, catching all the rushes, and with the assistance of Gray, looked good. Stoddard, McDougall, Blomfield and Cain formed the forward line. Green was in attendance last evening, doing considerable checking, in which he is a star. Gamble was also out in the nets and put up a good showing, getting the most of them. Several other players were on the ice and for a few moments before the close the forwards played the defence.

The game on Friday will be a hummer. Peterborough are fast on their own ice. The locals are out to win the game and are confident of doing it. A big change will be made in the locals, it is likely, although the line-up here was fast, while the Quakers will, it is likely, play "Rolly" Glover.

A special will be sent from town to Peterborough, returning after the game.

The Ladies are delighted with the New Dyes introduced at Parker's Dye Works. The new process gives results never dreamed of before. Come and inspect the Samples. Parker's Dye Works, 177 Charlotte Sreet R. M. Beach, Prop. 1m-145

CARNIVAL WILL BE THE EVENT OF SEASON

The big event of the winter season will undoubtedly be the carnival to held in the Brock St. skating rink on Tuesday evening next, February 1. A better list of prizes was never offered for a similar event in Peterboorugh and an unusually large number of people will appear in costume, tempted by the unusual value of the prizes which are on exhibition in the window of the Peterborough Hardware Company, and are attracting considerable attention. The band will be in attendance and will render a choice programme during the evening. The judging will take place in the early part o fthe evening and after nine o'clock an opportunity will be given those not in costume to enjoy a skate. There will undoubtedly be a large crowd present as nothing is more attractive to most Canadians than a masquerade on the ice. Already a large number of young people re arranging their costumes and the display promises to surpass anything of the kind ever before attempted here.

GREAT INTEREST IN GAME WITH LINDSAY

One of the old time crowds that puck to suffocation point every corner of the Brock St. rink will see Lindsay and Peterborough battle for supremacy in this district of the O. H. A. to-morrow night. With the Lindsay team strengthened up and confident of winning, it begins to look as if the Petes had their work out out for them, but they are in good shape and feel that, barring accidents, they should win. Nearly all the team had a good workout in the City League games last night and the men are in condition to stand a gruelling pace for the full limit.

Lindsay will make several changes in their team and announce that their defence will be stronger than last week, while the forward line will be strengthened by the presence of the famous Pacer McDougall, the ex-Midget, Toronto Rowing Club star, whose birth place is Fenelon Falls, but who has a permit to play with the Lindsay team. A man from Lindsay who was in town yesterday, said that the Midgets were fifty per cent. stronger than on their last time out. If so, they will certainly take a whole lot of beating. The weather man has promised colder weather to-morrow, but even if it does not materialize, a good sheet of ice will be available.

The Peterborough team will be chosen to-night from the following players: Derocher, Glover, McDougall, Ray, McMillan, Campbell, Dobson and Dusty.

SPORTING NOTES

As the result of last night's games the standing of the City Hockey League is as follows:

Had Heart Trouble.

Nerves Were All Unstrung.

Wherever there is any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown, the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will soon produce a healthy, strong system.

Can Do Her Own Work Now.

Mrs. M. McGann, Debec Junction, N.B., writes:—"I wish to tell you what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. Three years ago I was so run down I could not do my own work. I went to a doctor, and he told me I had heart trouble and that my nerves were all unstrung. I took his medicine, as he ordered me to do, but it did me no good. I then started to take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and had only taken one box before I started to feel better, so I continued their use until I had taken several boxes, and I am now strong and well, and able to do my own work. When I commenced taking your pills I weighed 125 pounds, and now weigh 135 and have given birth to a lovely young daughter, which was a happy thing in the family. When I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I could not go upstairs without resting before I got to the top. I can now go up without any trouble."

IMPORTANT TO LADIES

It is not often an opportunity occurs at your door to see the latest Parisian and New York styles in Hair Goods, yet such is the case, as Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto, is visiting this town, and invites your inspection of these goods at his private apartments, reserved at the Hotel."

These Hair Goods styles, when properly adjusted protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face and consequently tone up an aged appearance. Be sure and see them at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Friday, January 28th.

MUSICAL AT HOME TO-MORROW EVENING

The Musical At Home under the Auspices of the Ladies' Aid Auxiliary in the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow evening of this week will present the best list of local artists that can be secured for the programme. Those taking part are as follows, — Miss McCaw, Miss Pringle, Miss Sanderson, Miss Reesor, Miss Foy, Miss Hope Miller, Miss Gumpricht, Miss Logan, Miss Sisson. A Quartette from the George Street Church, Mrs. Hopwood and Messrs Ferguson & Downey.

In addition to the programme, Refreshments will be served and a pleasant evening's entertainment is heartily looked forward to. Admission 25c.

The Ladies' Auxiliary hope to see a large number of the friends of the Y.M.C.A. in attendance.

CURLERS ARE OUT OF TANKARD COMPETITION

The Peterborough curlers were beaten yesterday afternoon by Lindsay in the final of the district Tankard competition. The local curlers beat Bobcaygeon in the morning, but fell before the prowess of Skips Flavelle and Little in the afternoon, The Lindsay Post says:

In the semi-finals of the district championship tankard series, the Peterborough curling club defeated Bobcaygeon on the round this morning by 16 points. The game was very interesting, as both rinks, representing the two clubs played equally good curling, Peterborough at the close proved very fast and reliable, while Bobcaygeon seemed to be depending on the last few ends to win out, but alas the Quakers were too fast. J. Connal, who skipped for Peterborough, was swamped under by 4 points by E. J. Broad, G. H. Giroux, who skipped so successfully for Peterborough defeated A. Davies by 21 points. The ice for the game was in splendid condition. Following are the players:

Peterborough	Bobcaygeon
D. Hall	F. Johnston
S. T. Medd	W. T. C. Boyd
R. Waddell	H Mark
G. H Giroux skip	W. A. Davies skip
Dr. Wightman	G. Walker

COUGHING BURST BLOOD VESSEL

Says Danger Avoided and Cures Coughs in 5 Hours.

A writer for the medical press states that coughing is responsible for the bursting of blood vessels quite frequently. A cough or cold means inflammation (fever) and congestion, and these in turn indicate that the body is full of poisons and waste matter. Simple relief, as found in patent cough medicines, and whiskey, often result in more harm than good; as they cause more congestion. A tonic-laxative cough syrup will work marvels and here follows a prescription which is becoming famous for its prompt relief and thorough cures. It rids the system of the cause, except it be consumption. Don't wait for consumption to grasp its victim, but begin this treatment, which cures some in five hours. Mix in a bottle one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol, and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less according to age.

DIED.

FORSTER.—On Jan. 27th, at Nicholls Hospital, Frances E. Maguire, relict of the late Joseph B. Forster, of Warsaw, aged 67. Funeral notice later.

A MOST REMARKABLE CASE

My face was paralyzed, I could not speak; five doctors failed to help me and I was in despair when hearing of Dr Chase's Nerve Food I used this wonderful restorative treatment and became well and strong in every way. I would not go back to my former condition for all the gold in the country," writes Mr. Wm. J. Brennan, Western Hill, St. Catharines, Ont.

INDIAN RIVER NOTES

Examiner Special.

Indian River, Jan. 26.—The snow storm of Saturday last caused very little blockades on the roads, but helped the sleighing considerably.

Messrs. Arthur Devlin, Maurice and Will OLeary and Thomas Breckenridge, are hauling brick from Curtl's Bros., to veneer their houses.

Mr. William Breckenridge has purchased two hogs from Mr. Stephen Murphy. In weight about two hundred pounds and price twenty dollars.

Mr. Frank Devlin has placed 30 cords of wood at the cheese factory for Mr. J. M. Audrey.

Mr. Gilbert Rancier, cheese maker, of Indiafi River factory, visited friends here last week. Mr. Rancier is hired to make cheese in Warminster factory for the coming season.

Miss Shannon, school teacher in No. 1, Douro, attended the wedding of her brother, which took place in Campbellford on Monday last.

A large number from here are going to attend the meeting called by the east riding Liberals in Norwood on Saturday next.

SHINES IN SOCIETY

Women With Fascinating Hair Always Attract Attention.

If you are a woman with dull, lifeless, ordinary hair, do not feel distressed. Just make up your mind now that you can have just as luxuriant and captivating a head of hair as any other woman, and quickly, too.

Just go to Mr. Madill's this very day and get a bottle of Parisian Sage. Use it as directed, and in two weeks your scalp will be free from dandruff, your hair will be soft, lustrous and beautiful.

If your hair is falling out, Parisian Sage will stop it.

If your hair is thin, Parisian Sage will make it grow in heavily.

If you have dandruff it will quickly vanish when Parisian Sage is used.

It prevents hair from turning gray, stops itching scalp almost instantly and is the ideal dressing for daily use.

A large bottle costs only 50 cents at Wm. Madill's, or direct, all charges prepaid, from the Canadian makers, Giroux M'f'g Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

WILL PAY $500 TO THE CRANLEY ESTATE

A meeting of the Legal Committee was held last night, with Ald. Duffus presiding. In regard to the claims of the estate of the late Patrick Cranley, the City Solicitor was instructed to arrange a settlement with the solicitors of the estate, Messrs O'Connell & Gordon, namely that the city pay $500.00 to the estate.

It will be remembered that Patrick Cranley fell off an unprotected bridge in Ashburnham last fall and, it is asserted, died from the effects of the injuries sustained. Messrs. O'Connell & Gordon were instructed by the family to issue a writ against the city, claiming $2,000 damages. A subsequent letter was received by the city in which an offer to settle for $500 was made. On the advice of the city solicitor the offer was accepted.

Dog By-law.

Ald. Turner introduced a question that in the minds of many citizens requires attention, the prohibiting of dogs running at large. There was considerable discussion on both sides, but no action was taken and the canine family has every liberty of the streets for the present. It was a rather close call for them, but the year has not passed yet.

Hatton Suit.

There was some discussion over the threatened suit against the city by Mr. G. W. Hatton, for damages to his horse and rig, on Concession street last fall, but on the advice of the city solicitor the city will defend the suit.

Advertising Matter.

The committee went thoroughly into the necessity of getting out advertising matter for the city for the purpose of distribution among the excursionists of the city, especially during the summer months. All were in favour of the move and the city clerk was ordered to prepare something and get prices. One price has already been received for $150 for 10,000 copies of a pamphlet of which a dummy was submitted.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

SPORTING NOTES

The Church League series will be continued to-night at the Auditorium Rink, when the George St. team will play All Saints at 8 o'clock, and St. Andrew's meet Knox Church at 9 o'clock. As both the South City teams have strengthened two good games may be expected.

The Peterborough Hockey Club will run an excursion to Lindsay per special G. T. R. train, on Monday next. The train will leave Peterborough at 7 o'clock sharp, and, returning, will leave Lindsay immediately after the game. The fare will be $1.05, and it is expected that a big crowd of fans will accompany the team as the interest in the series is at fever heat, and everybody will want to see the battle on Lindsay ice.

The new sweaters for the Peterborough Hockey Club will not be here in time for to-morrow night's game, with Lindsay, so the Petes will wear the garnet and gray of the Quakers for the evening. The new uniform will be decidedly classy, consisting of a white bodied sweater with blue collar yoke and cuffs and a big blue "P on the breast.

COLD ON THE LUNGS

This letter gives some idea of the confidence placed in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine by people who know by experience of its exceptional merit. Mrs. S. D. Turner, Broadview, N.W.T., writes:—"We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for them all when troubled with colds on the lungs. We buy four bottles at a time and always keep it in the house, believing there is nothing so good for coughs and colds."

FRASERVILLE NEWS NUGGETS

Examiner Special.

Fraserville, Jan. 24th.—Mrs. Jas. Stewart arrived home on Saturday evening after visiting friends in Millbrook.

Mr. Wm. Fell, of Bailieboro, was in the village last week.

Mrs. Andrew Hogg has arrived home after a lengthy visit with her mother.

Mr. Charles Jewison, of the Peterborough Business College, was the guest of his parents on Sunday.

The social evening spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Seabrook last week was highly enjoyed by those present.

Mr. Bruce Fisher, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with his parents.

A GOOD BEGINNING

J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist. Doctor of Optics, Teacher of Opticians, Graduate of Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, New York and Philadelphia

We have had good cause to say thank you for the patronage of 1909. This month so far has surpassed that of last year by 50 per cent. We are sometimes so busy that we cannot wait upon all who come. To avoid this we advise that it is better to make appointments by phone or call, and this saves waiting your turn. Many do this and others will find it advantageous. 1910 has begun well with us. We are thankful, and promise to serve all to the best of our ability.

PARIS IS INUNDATED

Invalides Station Is Crumbling and It and Foreign Office May Collapse—Levels of Streets Are Being Changed by Flood and Water and Gas Mains Are Bursting—Feeding Homeless—Provinces Worse.

Paris, Jan. 28.—Another day has passed, but the inexorable yellow tide still creeps slowly higher, each inch of water widely extending the area of destruction, desolation and ruin.

Though the barometer is rising rapidly and bright sunshine yesterday succeeded the raging storms, a feeling of consternation, bordering on panic prevailed last night when the authorities, who Wednesday promised the maximum of the flood for the day, announced that this would not be reached until to-day.

Official figures of the stage of the water are difficult to obtain, and the City Council, at a stormy session last night, charged M. Lepine, prefect of Paris, with withholding the true gravity of the situation. The prefect defends his attitude by saying that he was governed by the necessity of not unduly alarming the people.

Meantime the very crust of the city seems ready to sink into the flooded subterranean labyrinth beneath. Everywhere house drains are bursting in new localities, causing a subsidence of the streets, or bulging them feet above their normal level, while the overflow of surface water from the river is transforming the inundated districts into formidable lakes and the streets into canals.

In the Bercy quarter the water is six feet deep in the streets and the entire left bank of the Seine, from above the islands to Auteuil, comprising the law court institute, the fashionable St. Germaine districts, the Foreign Office, the Chamber of Deputies and the Champs de Mars, is submerged under from one to ten feet of water. Some of the Deputies left the Palaise Bourbon last night in row boats, others on the backs of attendants.

The walls of the Invalides Station are crumbling and both that structure and the wing of the Foreign Office opposite are in danger of collapse. Nevertheless, Mme. Pichon, wife of the Foreign Minister, held her regular reception last evening, oil lamps and grate fires being employed in the absence of steam, heat and electricity.

The streets surrounding the St. Lazare Station have sunk three feet and the situation there is regarded as desperate. It is also feared that the foundations of the two big neighboring department stores are being undermined.

Soldiers are working desperately by the aid of torches, disentangling driftwood above the Solferino and Henry IV. bridges, while large forces of men are still engaged in constructing dams to divert the course of the swiftly moving currents. There was a further shut-down of electric light plants yesterday, leaving the city in semi-darkness last night.

The relief work is proceeding bravely, none being refused food or shelter. Archbishop Amiette has ordered public prayers in the churches and a collection taken up for the victims.

In spite of the crippled water supply the authorities say that the reservoirs are intact and that there is no danger of a famine if the water is husbanded carefully and confined strictly to drinking purposes. At the same time a warning again is issued that the water should be boiled.

The situation below Paris is becoming appreciably worse. The strength of water, which engulfs Bologne, Neuilly, Puteaux, Asnieres, Maisons-Laffitte, Lepecq, and Poisy, is widening rapidly, while further below the swollen Oise is pouring in new torrents over the Pontoise section.

Police Didn't Give a Warning.

Montreal, Jan. 28.—Householders to the number of 130 were up before Recorder Dupois yesterday for having slippery sidewalks. They complained that they had not been notified, and the police said they had orders from the chief to take action without notifying offenders. The recorder says this was not just and dismissed the cases, scoring the police for their course.

DEBATE ON THE N. T. R.

Change In Fiscal Year, Which Went Into Effect on Oct. 31, Is Cause of Smaller Receipts Than Previously—The T. & N. O. Is Paying—Succession Dues Are a Big Item to Provincial Treasury.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—To have the public accounts laid on the table on the third day of the session is an achievement sufficiently unprecedented to cause old Parliamentarians to rub their eyes in wonder. That this was done in the Legislature yesterday is due to the change in the fiscal year, which ended on Oct. 31, 1909, giving time for their preparation before the commencement of the session. The innovation may thus become a permanent one. The accounts were laid before the House by Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary.

The total receipts were $7,477,920.94, and the expenditure $7,546,040.47. This is a deficit of between $67,000 and $68,000, but it must be borne in mind that this is sufficiently accounted for by the fact that the receipts were for only ten months, instead of the full year. November and December, which were thus omitted, are the largest revenue-producing months of the entire year. This is shown by a comparison with 1908, when the receipts for the full 12 months were $8,602,902.95, and the expenditures $8,567,283.60.

The amount of cash on deposit on Oct. 31, 1909, was $5,088,283.75.

The Temiskaming and Ontario Railway earnings poured into the Provincial Treasury the large sum of $550,009 against which should be placed the interest paid on three loans for construction of $313,026.25.

The new Canadian loan netted the Government $2,089,477.25 up to the end of October, 1909. Many more inquiries were received than could be filled. The loan was taken up largely by private investors.

The smallness of the amount ($14,362.34) received on deposit from the municipalities for the formation of sinking funds is due to the fact that most of the payments were not due until after the end of the short fiscal year. Many applications have been received from municipalities not now taking advantage of this means of enhancing their credit.

The Department of Lands, Forests and Mines, over the large revenue producing department, fairly surpassed itself, bring in $2,028,294.48, or practically the same in the eight months as in the previous full year. Of this sum $338,426.66 came from royalties and $115,411.71 from the provincial mines. Mining licenses and recording fees netted $219,473.95. The sale of crown lands brought in $354,082.16, while timber dues amounted to $529,422.50.

The License Department collected $353,929.06.

The amount received from succession dues was $618,049.02. In addition to this, funds deposited in lieu of bond for payment of succession duty amounted to $83,506.63. To the death duties the County of York was the largest contributor, with $229,190.29, Wentworth coming next with $47,923.87.

Other sources of revenue were from the Dominion of Canada, $2,128,072.08; interest paid by the Dominion and other interests on investments, $117,137.02; law stamps, $83,185.55; education, $36,653.84; Provincial Secretary, $210,357.15; game and fisheries, $85,047.35; agriculture, $104,956.42; supplementary revenue act, $719,146.88; public institutions, $217,387.60.

The amount expended on public institutions for maintenance was $954,795.28. As an evidence of the careful preparation of last year's estimate not a single appropriation under this head was exceeded. The large sum of $132,480.98 was expended on good roads.

The advance to the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway was $627,901.72. The amount expended on the road up to October 31, 1909, was $15,338,338.69.

The amount expended on the Hydro-Electric transmission line up to the same date was $468,893.73. This appears erroneously under current account, as will be pointed out by the Treasurer when he speaks on the budget.

The amount expended for administration of the Government was $5,330,552.36. Of this no less than $34,203.84 was for colonisation and immigration.

Strathcona's Donation.

Montreal, Jan. 28.—Lord Strathcona yesterday did a very graceful act towards the Catholic Archbishop of Montreal, when he cabled him from London placing at the disposal of his grace his two large homes in Montreal during the Eucharistic Conference, to be held next September. A number of cardinals and leading dignitaries of the church will attend the conference. The archbishop is gathering together from the various churches in the diocese a fund of $100,000 for the entertainment of the visitors to the conference.

Unclaimed Baggage From West.

The owners in most cases met death. It will be stored until claimed by the relatives of the victims.

Praises Canadian Banking.

London, Jan. 28.—Sir F. Schuster, speaking at a bank meeting, said that the Canadian banking system was highly efficient as well as very useful to the country generally.

A DEFICIT THIS YEAR

Member for Carleton Acts as Spokesman For the Government In Replying to Charges of Messrs. Middlebro, Meighen and Borden—It Is an Effort at Whitewashing, Says Middlebro In Commons.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—In the House yesterday W. S. Middlebro (North Grey) resumed the adjourned debate on the Premier's resolution to appoint a special committee of five members of the House to investigate the charges laid by Hugh D. Lumsden, former chief engineer of the N.T.R., against a portion of the engineering staff.

He said he proposed to show what the object of the Premier should be in introducing his motion and what had seemed to be the object. Major Hodgins, one of the district engineers, had claimed in 1907 that the Transcontinental Railway commissioners had been pressing him to over-classify the work done by the contractors. Mr. Lumsden had charged that there was over-classification. Not one of the commissioners was a railway man, and owing to this fact the chief engineer was the most important official. He was the guardian of the treasury.

The object of the resolution, therefore, should be that the committee should be given power to see that Mr. Lumsden prove his charge, that because of over-classification he had lost confidence in his engineers. But what seemed to be the object of the Premier in introducing his motion was to strangle the enquiry, said Mr. Middlebro. If the Government did not give the committee full power to enquire into the question of over-classification it was because they were afraid.

Mr. Middlebro then asked the Premier to say if he meant to allow questions of over-classification to be dealt with by the proposed committee, sat down and waited for an answer.

Thereupon Mr. Middlebro described the committee as a "whitewashing committee" and a "strangling committee." He said Major Hodgins had been dismissed because he was keeping the classification down too low to suit the contractors or the commissioners. His crime was that he was too honest. A man named Poulin was appointed in his place and he allowed over-classification to the extent of over two millions. Gordon Grant, after being appointed chief engineer, went west himself and cut the accounts still further by $360,000.

F. B. Carvell (Carleton, N.B.) said that as Major Hodgins had voluntarily withdrew his charges, these should not be resurrected. He believed with the Premier that the only thing to do was to bring before the committee Mr. Lumsden and a committee of engineers.

Shortly before one o'clock this morning, R. L. Borden rose to address the House. He said the motion of the Premier might properly be styled a motion for the prevention of an investigation. The case as originally presented by Mr. Lennox had not been answered. Estimates had been made by men which when results were actually seen, were so absolutely absurd and misleading as to justify the dismissal of each one of them.

Charges of the gravest character had been made against some of them by G. A. Wood, assistant chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway Co. Specifications had been ignored by the Government's own officers and the whole transaction reeked with corruption.

During the last Parliament in 1907 the Government had voted down the proposal to investigate these charges and it would be to the everlasting discredit of this Government that these charges had been allowed to go without any attempt to investigate them.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley informed Mr. Crocket that the total amount of the payments made through the Public Works Department to A. & R. Loggie of Fredericton, N.B., during the last fiscal year, was $44,053, and during the present fiscal year, to date, $16,366.

Mr. Crothers asked if Albert Allard, Liberal candidate in the Ottawa by-election, was, on Jan. 22 (nomination day), directly or indirectly undertaking any contract or agreement with or for the Government. The Premier replied that he was not aware of any such contract.

Hon. Mackenzie King stated that the resolution regarding the investigation of combines would come up to-day.

George Taylor (Leeds) asked if employes of the Public Works Department were absent from duty taking part in the present election campaign.

Mr. Pugsley replied: "The attention of the Government has not been called to the alleged fact."

A voice: "It is now."

James Conmee referred again to gross reports stating that Arthur Wilson, who gave evidence before the mines committee last week, was a representative of the British Government, and had declared that the nickel deposits of Ontario were in the hands of American capitalists. Reiterating his denial of these assertions, Mr. Conmee proceeded to condemn an editorial in The Ottawa Citizen, and was called to order by the Speaker, who refused to allow him to proceed beyond the confines of a question of privilege. Conmee sat down.

Advice to British Farmers.

London, Jan. 28.—Sir R. Best, addressing British farmers at their conference, urged upon them the necessity for increasing their wheat production, and avoiding the necessity to Britain relying on foreign countries for supplies for bread.

Thomas Hay's Injuries.

North Bay, Jan. 28.—Thomas Hay, C.P.R. claims agent, injured in the wreck near Webbwood on Friday, died yesterday morning at his residence in North Bay, blood-poisoning having set in.

Mr. Hay was in his sixty-fourth year, and had railroaded for forty-five years, joining the C.P.R. in 1883, after serving the Grand Trunk Railway for some years in Brockville. He was born near Kingston. Mr. Hay entered the C.P.R. service at Ottawa, then was assistant superintendent of the Schreiber division for fifteen years. For ten years he was claims agent.

Cannery Merger Incomplete.

Hamilton, Jan. 28.—J. J. Nairn, manager of the Canadian Canners, says that while a merger of the can and canners' companies is under discussion, it had not been completed yet. The American Can Co. owns factories in Hamilton and Montreal, but has not been able to control the field on account of the fact that the Canadian Canners, Limited, has a large factory in Simcoe, where it manufactures cans for all its factories.

Police Spoil Cock-Fight.

London, Jan. 28.—One of the biggest cock-fights ever held in Ontario was arranged to come off in Stratford Wednesday night between Brantford and Toronto owners for championship. The police, however, got wind of the affair and prevented it. Many crates of birds are at the express office in Stratford. A big crowd of sports from London, Hamilton and Toronto were in the city.

BADLY CRIPPLED WITH LAME BACK

Could Not Walk Straight

Very few diseases can cause you as much pain as a Lame Back. Sitting down is torture—getting up pretty nearly kills you—walking is agony. Even when you lie in bed, that nagging pain keeps up the ache, ache, ache—and when you roll over or try to get up again, well, it brings tears to your eyes.

Mr. Mackenzie, an old resident of Elmsdale, Nova Scotia, knows what it is to have a Lame Back—and he knows, too, what to take to cure it and be free of pain and suffering.

"I was badly crippled up with pains across the small of my back. I could not walk straight or lie comfortably in any position that I would place myself.

I was recommended to try Gin Pills, which I did, and I received immediate relief after taking four doses, and by the time the first box of Gin Pills was finished they had made a complete cure.

I can with pleasure recommend Gin Pills to any person troubled as I was."

GEO. M. MACKENZIE.

Gin Pills cure Lame Back because they cure the Kidneys. Lame Back is just another name for Sick Kidneys. Hard work and old age strain and weaken the kidneys. These important organs need help, and the acute pain in the back is a sign that they are being overworked.

Give your kidneys the help they need. Get Gin Pills and take them regularly. In a very short time, you will be free of pain, the kidneys will have gained new strength, and the Bladder be in excellent condition. Dealers everywhere have Gin Pills at 50c. a box—6 for $2.50.

We don't ask you to buy Gin Pills but to try them at our expense and only buy them after they have proved their value.

Sample box sent to your address, absolutely free of charge if you write the National Drug & Chem. Co. Limited Dept. B. Toronto. 31

Denike's drug store. The last concert given by the Conservatory Orchestra of Peterborough, under the direction of Mr. Gliddon, was highly appreciated, which begpeaks a crowded house on February 7th.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham gave a party at their home on Friday night last to a few of their friends. The evening was very pleasingly enjoyed with games, and music, both vocal and instrumental.

A number from town have received invitations to the Bachelors' dance, to be held at Campbellford on Thursday night of this week.

The death occurred on Sunday of Mr. Jas. Burgess, who resides in the Township of Belmont. Deceased was over eighty years of age and until of late has always been hale and hearty. Last fall he met with a misfortune, falling down stairs, and ever since has been ailing. The funeral took place from the family residence, Belmont, on Tuesday afternoon, to the Norwood cemetery for burial. Services wereconducted at the house by Rev. Mr. Sterling, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Havelock, of which deceased was a member. Having been a resident of Belmont for many years he became well known and highly respected, thus the funeral was very largely attended. The sympathy of all is extended to the sorrowing friends.

SOME HASTINGS ITEMS OF INTEREST

Examiner Special.

Hastings, Jan. 25th.—The friends of Mrs. M. Conlin, who for many years was a much respected resident of Hastings, regret to learn of her death which took place at the homeof her daughter, Mrs. OConnor ,of Whitby. Although the deceased lady had moved from here some years ago she visited friends here every summer, and it was while here last summer she was taken ill. The funeral was held on Thursday last to the R. C. church and from thence to the cemetery. Mrs. Conlin leaves to mourn her loss one son and two daughters, who have the sympathy of all.

The anniversary services in connection with the Presbyterian church of this town, were conducted on Sunday last by the Rev. G. A. Brown, of Campbellford.

Our local hockey team went to Warkworth on Friday, but were defeated by 6 to 5. The fact that a number of our juniors were on the line-up no doubt accounts for the result of the game.

We regret to chronicle the death of Miss Annie Sherwin, daughter of Mr. Wm. Sherwin, which took place last week, after a short illness, due to acute indigestion. The deceased young lady was quite a favourite among those who knew her best, and her parents have the sincere sympathy of all in their sad bereavement. The funeral was largely attended.

As the result of the elections held last week to fill the vacancies for councillors, Messrs. Hatherley and Tyler headed the list and were consequently elected.

At the first meeting of the new council Mr. L. F. Clarry was appointed solicitor for the ensuing year and Dr. Edmison, Medical Health Officer. It was also decided to pass an order on the treasurer for $10 in favour of the Sick Children's Hospital.

During the past week, Mr. and Mrs. Warner, sr., held their annual family gathering at the home of their son, Mr. Wm. Warner. All the members of the family being present. A very enjoyable time was spent by all. Mr. and Mrs. Warner are both over 80 years of age and in good health.

Mrs. Corbett, of Brockville, has been visiting friends in town.

Mrs. N. Beavis and daughter Mae, have been visiting friends in Lakefield and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Valleau have been visiting friends in Prince Edward.

Mrs. E. Valleau is in Montreal spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Clarke.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Whitred extend congratulations on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of their wedding.

OBSERVATIONS FROM JUDGING FIELD CROPS

From Farm and Dairy.

"From my two years experience in judging in Standing Field Crop Competitions, it appears that there seems to be insufficient attention paid to the grading and selection of seed grain," said Mr. B. J. Waters, of Coldstream in addressing a meeting of farmers at the recent Guelph Winter Fair. "Selecting the best seed from the granary for sowing is one step in advance. But selecting the best heads of grain during the time the grain is still standing, is a still greater stride in advance and is a feature which should be practised more than it is.

"The aim should be to select the best seed from only the best heads of grain. Average seeds as regards size and general development, from average heads are considered better for seed than large seed chosen from small and inferior heads. If the seed is not chosen until after threshing, how are you to determine which seeds to choose? Hence the importance of selecting the best heads in the field from which to obtain the seed.

"A very important phase of successful farming seemed to be lacking in the shape of following systematic rotations. In most cases I found no particular or definite rotation followed. Hoe crops seemed to be the exception rather than the rule. In sections where these conditions were most prevalent, the most luxuriant growth of noxious weeds existed. Without the hoe crop, the weeds get a splendid start.

"Last year in the County of Wellington, in nine different fields competing in the Field Crop Competition there was only one having no sow thistle in it. One of the main difficulties is, that farmers don't recognize this post until their farms are almost past redemption.

"I would recommend the following rotation: In the spring when sowing the seed grain, seed with clover and a little timothy. During the first winter apply some manure. The following summer after removal of the hay, pasture the sheep on it until fall and then plow. The following spring plant corn and roots on this area but don't plow again after the hoe crop has been harvested. Some will ask why?

"The answer is simply because by plowing you would bring to the surface, weed-seeds, which had been living in a dormant condition below the first few inches.

"After the hoe-crop your surface soil or seed bed is cleaned. Why then, plow and bring to the surface, weed seeds, which will grow and damage the crops. By so doing you would be defeating the very object you had in view the season before—destruction of weeds."—R.B.C.

COUNTRY SIGN BOARDS

From Farm and Dairy.

Now that the municipal councils have been chosen for another year, it would be a move in the public interests if they would arrange to have sign boards placed in conspicuous places along the sides of the highways in the different municipalities. On these should be in plain letters, not only the directions to the various points of interest to the travelling public, but the distances to the same. This would add greatly to the interest of travel; it would popularize routes, and save much of the uncertainty now attaching to verbal directions obtained from residents along the way.

Such sign boards are common in the Northern and Central States, and have also made their appearance on certain roads in Western Ontario. The cost would not be large. Some times the cost is borne by automobile clubs in large cities, and the boards aforesaid are put up for the convenience of the members using the roads. But in a section where no large club of the kind exists it should be performed by councils.—"The Parson."

Constipation.

No one need expect to be healthy if the bowels are allowed to become clogged up. A free motion of the bowels daily should be the rule with everyone who aspires to perfect health.

Costiveness or constipation clogs the bowels, chokes up the natural outlet of impure matter, and retains in the system the poisonous effete waste products of nature, causing bad blood, dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, foul humors, pimples, boils, blotches, piles, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters has built up an unrivalled reputation as a cure for constipation and all the diseases which arise from it.

Constipation Cured.

Mr. Burns Woodcock, Nashwaak Bridge, N.S., writes: "For over two years my wife was troubled with constipation. She tried several physicians, but could get no relief, but after taking three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters she was completely cured and is to-day in good health. My wife and I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters."

APSLEY SCHOOL IS WITHOUT A TEACHER

Examiner Special.

Apsley, Jan. 25.—A severe storm passed through this part of the country last Saturday en route to the North Pole, to catch the Arctic explorers.

Mr. and Mrs. John Snelgrove and son of Deloraine, Man., are visiting friends and relatives in and around the village.

Mrs. J. A. Weir and Miss Dora returned to their home at Lasswade, on Thursday last, after spending a couple of weeks with the former's aunt, Mrs. Wm. Wilson.

The annual meeting of the I. O. F. was held in the town hall on Wednesday evening, the 19th, for the purpose of electing officers for the new year. Mr. Brown, of Belleville, an organizer of the I. O. F., was present, and after all business matters were arranged, told some amusing tales, which interested and detained the crowd till the "wee sma' hours of the morning".

The young ladies in and around the village have formed a club named the "Independent Order of Socialists," consisting of about twenty young ladies, which will meet every Thursday evening, from 7 to 9 p.m., at one of the member's homes, for the purpose of spending a social evening.

They were entertained for the first time a week ago Thursday evening, at the home of Miss Kathryn Eastland, where business matters were discussed.

Last Thursday evening they met at the home of the Misses McIlvend, where fourteen members were present and after they were initiated, business matters were again discussed, and the minutes of the meeting were read.

Moved by the President, Miss K. Eastland, that the initials "I. O. S." be embroidered in white on red, to be worn as badges, seconded by Miss E. McIlmoyl.

Miss Amy Booth being unable to attend sent a cordial invitation to the members to visit her home next Thursday evening, which was read by Miss Ida Tucker.

Moved by Miss J. Mann that ribbon and all necessaries be taken to the next meeting and the badges be embroidered; seconded by Miss F. Stephens.

After all arrangements were made fancy work became the chief occupation, where many gained new ideas in the making of cushions and crocheting.

A very pleasant evening was spent and at the close of the meeting the Misses McIlvena served lunch.

We are pleased to see the Rev. H. C. Garbutt back again, after a two-weeks' visit with his family in Madoc.

The village school is still vacant on account of receiving no applications from qualified teachers.

A number of men passed through the village one evening last week en route to Watson's camp.

COWS ABOVE THE AVERAGE

From Farm and Dairy.

The patrons of the Acme cheese factory, near Trenton, must have an unusually fine class of cows, judging from the fact that the average amount of milk per cow sent to the factory during the season was 4,030 lbs. The cows of one patron averaged 5,900 lbs.

In view of the fact that the average production per cow for all the factories in eastern Ontario last year, as shown by the annual report of Chief Dairy Instructor, G. G. Publow is considerably less than 3,000 lbs., it will be seen that the cows owned by the patrons of the Acme factory must be above the average in quality.

Had Weak Back.

Weak back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know of the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

They begin by heaping the kidneys to flush of all the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages and carrying away the uric acid, the chief cause of rheumatism, from the blood.

Mrs. Areb. Sebnare, Black Point, N.B., writes:—"For years I was troubled with weak back. Oftentimes I have been in bed for days, being scarcely able to turn myself, and I have also been a great sufferer while trying to perform my household duties. I had doctors attending me without avail and tried liniments and plasters, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was about to give up in despair when my husband induced me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after using two boxes I am now well and able to do my work. I am positive Doan's Kidney Pills are all that you claim for them, and I would advise all kidney sufferers to give them a fair trial."

Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering specify "Doan's."

A SUCCESSFUL WINTER FAIR AT OTTAWA

From Farm and Dairy.

The winter fair held at Ottawa, from Monday to Friday of last week, vious shows of the kind over held in that city. The paid admissions in spite of unfavorable weather part of the time, were almost 100 per cent. greater than they were last year. Taken all around there was a distinct improvement in the number of entries, in the quality of much of the stock shown and in the general interest manifested. The people who were present seemed to go away well satisfied with what they had seen.

The number of horses shown was about 50 per cent. greater than last year. There was a slight increase in the number of poultry exhibits. The poultry show is now the largest held in Canada excepting only the one at Guelph. The entries of beef cattle, and sheep were about the same in number as last year. In the hog classes there was a slight falling off in the number of entries due possibly to the keen demand for hogs having left many of the breeders short of good stock.

After some ten years of effort the management of this show appear to have overcome the difficulties that have confronted them and from now on the Ottawa Winter Fair may be expected to grow rapidly in popularity and in educational value. The addition of the exhibit of horses has gone far to add the life and interest to the show that it lacked for many years.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS

The principal speakers at the opening of the show were Hon. Sydney Fisher, of Ottawa; Hon. J. S. Duff, Toronto and Hon. Justice Riddell of the King's Bench Division, High Court of Justice, Ontario. Hon. Mr. Fisher thought that one of the reasons for the high prices of farm commodities was the continual rush from the country to the city. Farmers should not rush in and out of certain lines of farming as many have been inclined to do. Had our farmers not stopped raising hogs the way many did when prices were low they would have been able to make a large profit from hogs now prices are high.

Hon. Mr. Duff hoped that the farmers of the two sister provinces of Ontario and Quebec would enter into a friendly competition in the showing of farm products at the Ottawa show.

THE DAIRY TEST

As usual, considerable interest was manifested in the dairy test. A table of the prize winners is published elsewhere in this issue. While there were not as many exhibitors as there were last year the number of animals that competed was slightly larger. The sweepstakes cow was a Holstein, Rhoda's Queen, owned by Neil Sangster of Ormstown, Que. She gave 251.7 lbs. of milk during the three days of the test.

THE LECTURES

A number of splendid lectures were delivered in the lecture room. Some of these were well attended, the lecture room hardly being large enough to accomodate the crowd. At others, however, the attendance was so poor that the addresses had to be called off.

Elsewhere in this issue are published extracts of the addresses of Messrs. J. H. Grisdale, of the Experimental Farm Ottawa; D. Drummond and E. D. Eddy of the Seed Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Extracts from the address of A. D. Harkness of Irena on "Soiling Crops" and of T. G. Raynor on "The Production of Improved Seed, will be given later.

The addresses most enjoyed were those illustrated by live animals including one on "Market Classes of Horses," by Dr. H. G. Reid, of Toronto." "How to Breed Horses of the Different Market Types," by Wm. Smith of Columbus; "The Market Value of Good Feeding," by J. H. Grisdale; "The Conformation of Beef Cattle," by Capt. J. E. Robson, of London, and "Feeding Beef Cattle" by John Gardhouse, Highfield. Some excellent addresses on the handling of poultry were given by A. P. Hillhouse, of Bondville, Que., and by F. C. Elford, manager of the Poultry Department, Macdonald College, Que.

THE EXHIBIT OF HORSES

The principal exhibitors of horses were Smith & Richardson of Columbus and Robt. Ness & Sons of Howick, Que., who carried off a large share of the prizes with animals of high quality. Other successful exhibitors were Messrs. B. Rothwell, of Ottawa, who showed Clydesdale and Hackneys, Adam Scharf, Cummings Bridge, Dr. R. E. Webster, Ottawa, T. B. MacAulay, Hudson Heights, Que.; Robt. Hunter & Sons, Maxville; Hon. Clifford Sifton, Chas. Groat, Brooklin; Fred Garbutt, Lambton Mills; and G. H. Pickering Brampton.

The Clydesdale championship was won by Smith & Richardson and the reserve championship by Robt. Ness & Son. Robt. Hunter & Sons captured the championship for the best Canadian Clydesdale, the reserve championship going to Smith & Richardson. The award for the best Clydesdale in the show was taken by Smith & Richardson, the reserve championship being awarded to Robt. Hunter & Sons. Smith & Richardson also won the championship for Clydesdale or Shire mares of any age. The Hackney championship went to G. H. Pickering, Brampton. The principal winners in the light horse classes were Hon. Clifford Sifton and Dr. R. E. Webster of Ottawa.

THE BEEF CLASSES

Senator W. C. Edwards was the leading winner in the beef classes. His winnings included 1st and 2nd on two year old heifers, 1st and 2nd on yearling heifers, 1st and 2nd on heifers under one year and the championship for the best beef Shorthorn. The latter award was won by Emma 47. This heifer defeated the champion steer at Guelph which was also the 5th prize yearling steer at Chicago.

Leading exhibitors and prize winners in the beef classes were A. A. Armstrong, of Fergus in Herefords; D. McCrea of Guelph in Galloways; Jas. Leask, Greenbank; Jos. W. Barnett, of Brooklin; Alex. Dynes, of Ottawa; Wm. Ormiston & Son, of Columbus; R. Slattery, Ottawa and A. A. Armstrong of Fergus, in the grade classes.

AWARDS FOR SWINE

The principal winners in the swine classes were Jos. Featherstone & Son, of Streetsville; Alex. Dynes of Ottawa; A. H. Foster of Twin Elm; Wm. A. Wallace of Kars and Robt. A. Heron of Billings Bridge. In the dressed carcass competition the successful competitors included Geo. R. Bradley, of Carsonby.

SHEEP CLASSES

The winners among the exhibitors of sheep included J. Lloyd Jones, Burford; J. W Lee & Son, Simcoe; Edward Ward, Greenbank; Telfer Bros., Paris; W. E. Wright, Glanworth; Adam A. Armstrong, Fergus; J. & D. J. Campbell, Woodville; Wm. A. Wallace, Kars; Geo. Baker, Simcoe; R. H. Harding, Thorndale and Geo. R. Bradley, Carsonby.

STOMACH DISTRESS SIMPLY VANISHES

No Dyspepsia, Gas, Heartburn, or Indigestion Five Minutes Later.

If you have some Diapepsin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested—food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odours.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50 cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

SICK TURKEYS

From Farm and Dairy.

I desire your advice on fattening turkeys. I have a flock of 50 which are poor, and do not care to eat, but stand around all gathered up. Some are secured badly. Would it be better to shut them up? What kind of feed should be given—whole grain? I ought to say that the birds got into the grain bin a week ago, over ate and have not been right since; they are very moppy and dull. It was buckwheat they ate. I have been feeding them oats and barley mixed whole.—E. E., P. Q.

Your turkeys have an attack of indigestion caused by eating an overdose of buckwheat. Give castor oil or Epsom salts in a mash at the rate of a teaspoonful to each bird. It will be quite necessary to get them cured of their indigestion before you can put any flesh on them. You might confine them in a pen as long as they are eating well, but should they be dissatisfied and want to get out, an occasional run in the open will help them. You could also give them in their feed a little poultry spice such as Carnafac, Spratt's poultry feed, Herbageum or in fact any good condition powder, such as is sometimes fed to stock. This will give them a good appetite and will help them to lay on flesh more rapidly. If you have ground grain, such as oats, wheat, and barley, it might be well to give them one feed of this a day, the other feed being grain. If you can give them milk to drink, and mixed with ground grain, so much the better.—F.C.E.

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $26,270,000.00, an increase of $1,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $4,817.84.

TRAINING COLLIE DOGS

From Farm and Dairy.

To gain the best results and secure the full worth of a collie dog as a stock dog I would say take him while yet a little puppy, and I strongly emphasize this advice. There are many reasons why we favor the little puppy to the dog nearly or quite grown, says a writer in the Breeder's Gazette. Most collies are sensitive and suspicious, of a fine temperament and this characteristic often makes them appear rather cowardly than brave while cowardice really is not a part of a well-bred Collie, which has been properly cared for and considerately handled during his puppyhood up to maturity. He should have plenty of courage.

A puppy never should be permitted to have a place of refuge, where on hearing a slight noise or unusual disturbance of any kind, or at the sight of a stranger, he can run and hide away. He is almost certain to take advantage of such a retreat whenever he has the least cause to be alarmed, and the habit becomes the next thing to nature with him, and when once formed it is quite difficult to overcome it. If, on the other hand, he is kept under conditions where he can see all that may be doing and so become familiar with active life, learning that noises and strange persons do not harm him, he will develop plenty of courage, without which there is but little hope of great usefulness.

FIRST LESSONS

If the puppy exhibits good courage it matters but little how early his training begins. First teach him his name and to come when called. to keep back, "lie down," and similar acts, heeding well these common commands. Then as he is taught to drive use gentle cattle which are easily handled. Let him keep back of the stock with you at this period, while you drive the cattle to and from the field or pasture without undertaking to teach him, for as he learns by observation he must have the example made plain. He will quickly show a desire to help and then you may take advantage of the act, encouraging him in it, and by following up this mode of management he will soon become a driver at the heel, and this should be well established before other work is attempted, giving him plenty of practice, for it is the chief work of his life as he drives the stock in his daily work. When he once becomes a good driver at the heel, taking a positive interest in the work, he then can be easily taught to turn the stock to the right or left, to head them off, stop them, or go alone into the distant fields and bring the cattle to the barns. He should not be allowed to drive fast, that is to hurry the stock, as in this way he is apt to become careless or develop a disposition to worry them. The moderate worker will succeed the best.

PRECAUTIONS TO OBSERVE

A great mistake may be made and an otherwise good dog become only partly developed in his training and his usefulness lessened by the owner being too anxious for the dog to know it all at once, and being over-hasty in scolding or punishing the dog for some error in his work when he really did not understand what was wanted. Never scold the dog for your own errors or when he fails to understand your meaning, though it require great self control. They are not here for vent purposes. All investigation depends on the faith of somebody. Some one fully believed in the hidden mystery and by persistent work for the desired end gained it. We must believe our little Collie capable of great things and then with careful persistence and clear, distinct methods guide him until he sees and attains to the idea of the lesson and when he does the work honest praise belongs to him, which if given serves to intensify his desire to repeat the act for the master he loves. He has a wonderful memory never forgetting the things he has learned to do; thus we are amply repaid for the care and time used in making the lessons plain.

WORK OF CONSERVATION COMMISSION

From Farm and Dairy.

The Conservation of Canadian natural wealth of water, of mine, of forest, of soil and of citizenship; such is the object of the Conservation Commission which was in first annual session in Ottawa last week. The commission is a body constituted for the purpose of collecting exact information and deliberating thereon, so as to render it of practical benefit to the country and for the purpose of advising the government on the actual questions of policy that might arise in reference to the administration of natural resources where effective conservation and economical use are concerned.

The President of the Commission, Hon. Clifford Sifton, in his inaugural address said that the real survey of the Commission included everything from the physical health of the individual to the national health of that great leviathan men call the State. To insure the first, it will attack that wasting monster called consumption. To insure the second, the Commission aims to check national waste caused by the prevalent disease "Ignorance" wherever it may be found. Inland waters must be owned and operated for national ends, not personal ends and the head waters must not be denuded at the caprice of the fortune-hunter. Forest conflagrations must cease to lick up with firey dragon tongues those verdant sureties against flood, or drought or famine

IDEAL OF THE COMMISSION

Mr. Sifton's care for the farmer was strongly emphasized. He betrayed clearly the fear that "wealth might accumulate and men decay." The danger lay in the depleted fertility of the soil, for "wherever there is a population dependent for upwards of two centuries on the soil, there is to be found the grossest poverty." In concluding, Mr. Sifton expressed his ideal for the commission. "It can," he said, "exert a powerful influence in the proper direction. It may even become the embodiment of public spirit and advanced thought now that our time is come, and there is, in all human possibilty, a period of long prosperity before us."

Dr. B. E. Fernow, Dean, Faculty Forestry, Toronto University, addressed the commission on forestry. He spoke about methods used in other countries which were applicable to Canadian conditions. Dealing with the subject of public ownership of forest lands, he showed the wonderful results in countries where the state controlled the lumber business.

DEPENDENT ON THE SOIL

The conservation of agricultural resources was dealt with by Dr. J. W. Robertson, C.M.G., late of Macdonald College, Que. The conditions existing in Canada and the United States, he said, were practically concurrent. In the West there was a tendency for men to take what they wanted from the land, get rich, and let the mother-earth look after itself. It should be remembered we were absolutely dependent on the body and the body on the soil. We looked to the soil for our food, clothing, tobacco (he did not advocate its growth), and drugs, all came from the farm. Agriculture implied suppression of weeds, restraint of damaging diseases and the preservation of beauty and fertility. It had to deal with four things—air, climate, seeds and intelligent labor.

By special invitation Hon. Adam Beck, Ontario's Minister of Power, addressed the Commission on the "Conservation of the Water Power of Ontario."

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

It Makes Weak Women Strong. It Makes Sick Women Well.

Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

THE FINEST EMBROCATION

OPINIONS OF CHAMPION SPORTS.

Hockey players, football players, and athletes in general are interested in Zam-Buk because it has achieved so many successes, and is regarded by the leading athletes as the finest balm and embrocation.

A bad sprain, a cut, a nasty bruise—all heal quickly when Zam-Buk is applied. Mr. Joe Kelley, the famous Toronto baseball "pro," is a great user of Zam-Buk. Mr. H. Lannon, the ex-champion lightweight wrestler, never travels without it. Tom Longboat, Sherring of Hamilton, Ashley of the West End Y.M.C.A., and other proinent authorities on sport and athletics, have from time to time expressed the same opinion.

If you have a cut, ulcer, or wound which is always troubling you, try Zam-Buk. Follow the instructions carefully, preserve for a proper length of time, and you will join the army who praise this great balm. It is equally good for skin diseases, blood poison, abscesses, rashes on face, chest, or other parts of the body, fistula, piles, etc. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50c a box.

BRIGHTER MEN NEEDED

From Farm and Dairy.

It is no reflection on the men at present engaged in creamery work to say the business would be improved if brighter men were attracted to and remained conected with the creamery industry. Chas. Reade in one of his books says, "Better is a bright comrade on the weary road than a horse litter." To change this into modern dairy language we might say, "Better is a bright buttermaker in the creamery than an automobile or an air-ship for gathering cream.

"He tried each art, reproved each dull delay Allured to brighter worlds and led the way."

These are the men who hold the destiny of the creamery business in their hands. But we must not expect all to be clear sailing. The creamery business has its ups and downs like everything else. Carlyle expresses this idea in one of his aphorisms. "The brightest triumph has a bar of black in it and might always have been brighter." Another writer says. "We hesitate to call pain and sorrow evils, when we remember what bright characters they have made." All this leads us to express the hope that our dairymen shall not grow discouraged at results below expectations, nor give up because of apparent failures.

ADVANTAGE OF INSTRUCTION.

A term at the Dairy School will give a man encouragement, insight into the creamery business and enable him to solve creamery problems which cannot be solved so easily in any other way. There ought to be double the number of students at present in attendance at the two Dairy Schools of the Province. The founder of Cornell University, located at Ithaca, New York, said, "I would found an institution where any person can find instruction in any study." Our Dairy Schools ought to be institutions where any dairyman can find instruction in any branch of dairying.

To sum up the creamery problems they may be grouped as follows:

How to get more cream per cow, per acre and per farm.

How to get more butter per gallon or per 100 lbs. cream.

How to get better cream, better butter, and better managed creameries. And finally how to secure and retain brighter men, better educated men—men whose hands, and minds and hearts are in the creamery work. In this latter is to be found the main work of the revolving arm chair buttermakers, who may not know all the details of buttermaking and creamery practice, but who are, or should be, an inspiration to the toilers on the farm and in the factory.

WHERE AVERAGES MISLEAD

From Farm and Dairy.

The following chart gives the comparative yields of 248 cows in 18 Ontario herds, for the full period of lactation. It is a part of the address given by Mr. C. F. Whitely at the recent Dairymen's convention in Belleville:

Poorest Individual, 2,670 lb. milk, 3.5 test, 94.9 lb. fat.

The chart illustrates graphically a few comparisons in the yields of 248 Ontario cows. The average yield, close on to 6,000 lb. of milk, is too apt to be taken as indicative of good all round cows. It comes as a shock to find that two such extremes as 13,740 lb. and only 2,670 lb. are included. This shows immediately how thoroughly one can be misled by ignoring the fact that an "average" institutes no comparisons, but is simply a comforting blanket thrown over the cold deficiencies of many a delinquent. An average in connection with herd yields should immediately awaken enquiry as to what is included; otherwise, and frequently to one's loss, cows under the 3,000 lb. mark may creep into undeserved credit amongst the 6,000 pounders.

On the other hand, such individuals as this 13-thousand-pound beauty are likely to be completely overlooked. Their light is literally shining brightly, but the befogging average drops a bushel basket over it.

Between the 18 best cows (one in each herd) and the 18 poorest there is a difference of over 3,500 lb. milk; this illustrates what is the actual difference in efficiency between cows in hundreds of herds to-day, and points to the absolute necessity of taking notice of each cow's performance separately.

THE DIAMOND HORSESHOE.

A Mother Does Not Lose Faith In Her Son.

By AGNES G. BROGAN.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

She was the last one to enter the train, running breathlessly up the steps and pausing for a moment in the doorway—such a bright and happy picture with glowing cheeks and sparkling eyes, that the passengers glancing in her direction half smiled sympathetically as she beamed upon them all.

The porter, showing his white teeth, hastened to lead the way to the only vacant seat, and the man behind anticipated her movement toward the window and pressed the spring and let in the fresh October air. The little old woman who had been sitting unnoticed close to the window drew a long breath gratefully. She was a shabby, worn little old woman, with wrinkled face almost hidden in the depth of an old fashioned Quaker bonnet.

"THIS IS THE PIN, IS IT NOT?" SHE ASKED.

"Is the breeze too strong for you?" asked the girl, smiling down into the bonnet, and then, seeing the great tears which were flowing down the furrows on the tired little face, she added impulsively, "Can I help you in any way?"

"I am afraid no one can do that, my dear," replied the little old woman painfully. "I am going on a sad journey today."

It was evident that her need of human sympathy was very great, but she checked herself suddenly, embarrassed at the realization that she had been on the point of confiding in a stranger.

With an expectant look in her soft eyes the girl waited. "Perhaps," she suggested feelingly, "you would like to tell me all about it."

For a moment longer the woman hesitated, and then, reassured by the kindly interest in the girl's face, began her story.

"It's my son," she quavered. "He is in great trouble, and I'm hurrying to him. It is years since I've been on a train, years since I've been in a city, and it will all be very strange and hard for me. He doesn't know I'm coming, Henry doesn't, but if his mother can help him she is going to be right there. Just yesterday it happened. He was going in on this very train to the city, where he lives. The car was filled, as it is today, my dear, and he sat beside a lady just as we are sitting. She wore one of those dresses, he wrote, that are fastened way up the back, and through the fastening was pinned a diamond horseshoe. She was leaning forward all the time, looking through the window, so he remembers the horseshoe very distinctly as it dashed and glittered in the sun. Well, why they should say he did it—those men—I can't understand, unless they were anxious to blame it on some one when the lady missed it, for it was gone, the diamond horseshoe. There one minute and gone the next, and the men, two of them across the aisle, say that Henry—my Henry, who is as honest as the day—unfastened the pin and slipped it into his pocket. Quick as he was, they declare, they saw him do it. The trainmen were called, there was great commotion, and there he had to stand and bear it all—the prying eyes, the disgrace. Oh, they searched him well, but no pin was found. I could have told them many miles away that they would not find their stolen pin upon my boy. So"—the grief stricken voice choked bitterly—"they locked him up there in the city. He had no money to give a bond, and this morning early they are to swear his honesty away—the men who say they saw him to do it and the lady who lost her diamond horseshoe. But if a mother's prayers can help"—

She could go no further. She saw her boy again as when she had first seen him the day he was born. She saw him as, having kissed her, he toddled away to school. She saw him as he began to grow from boyhood to youth and from youth to manhood and remembered how proud she had been of him. What a fine man he was going to be!

And now where were all these hopes?

In a twinkling they had vanished.

With misty eyes, the girl leaned forward gently. The little hand in its dainty glove was laid upon the toil worn hand in its cotton one. "Tell me more about your boy," she urged softly.

Almost eagerly the old woman continued: "He has always been such a good boy, poor, like his father and grandfather before him, but honest always and honorable as they were. His father wanted to paint pictures when he was a lad, but had to stay at home and work on the farm instead. It had been a great disappointment until the day of his death, so when Henry wanted to be a painter I let him go. He has had hard times, I'm afraid—he is looking to poor and white and thin—and when our neighbor called to see him there in the city he found him living in such a crowded place way up near the roof. But that's for the skylight, Henry says. Artists like to be high up, and I'm not to worry."

She paused and regarded the girl questioningly for a moment. The girl nodded understandingly, and the other resumed: "But things were beginning to look so bright. He was to paint a rich man's picture as soon as he could earn enough to buy the necessary materials—canvas, brushes and things. And now to be locked up and branded a thief!"

"I am glad you have told me, and I thank you," said the girl very softly. "If Henry's mother has such faith in him everything is certain to come right. You must let me help you. I know the city very well, for it is my home in the winter time. When we arrive the carriage will be waiting, and we will drive immediately to the courthouse."

If the accused artist had seen them as they entered the courtroom he might have found in their faces—the wan, pitiful countenance of his distracted mother and the glowing features of her young companion—inspiration for a picture to be called "Hope and Despair," but his head was bowed low and his face was buried in his hands as he sat waiting for his case to be called.

Seating the little old woman in a secluded corner, the girl hurried forward and asked a court attendant to permit her to speak to the judge. The man conducted her to the bench, and his honor signified his willingness to hear her.

"If the case of Henry Burrows has not yet been called," she pleaded, "will you please have it dismissed? I am Miss Stanfield, the person who lost the diamond horseshoe, and I do not wish to appear against him. You will remember that nothing was found upon him when he was searched. There has been a great mistake, and the horseshoe is now safe in my possession."

So saying, she unclasped a pin from the laces at her throat and laid it upon the desk, a curious golden horseshoe, with the diamond nails flashing brilliantly.

With a puzzled expression the judge scanned closely for a moment her flushed, eager face and then motioned to two men seated together in the room. "The witnesses," he said impressively, "are positive that the man unclasped the pin."

Quickly the girl turned to the men. "This is the pin, is it not?" she asked. "It is a design one would not forget easily. There has been a great mistake." Then, with lowered voice, she added: "If her son should be pronounced guilty it will break his old mother's heart. Think of that, gentlemen, before you act."

Silently and with respectful admiration the men regarded her. "I see," said one of them finally, "that it is all a mistake, as you say."

A few moments later "The case of Henry Burrows dismissed!" rang out through the courtroom, and the old woman turned hastily to those near by and cried excitedly: "I knew it! My boy, my boy!"

"Why did you do it?" he demanded curtly.

Without flinching the girl looked straight into his eyes and answered. "The faith your mother has in her son should never be permitted to grow less."

"It never shall be!" he declared. "Do you believe me?"

In answer she held out her hand.

Then he spoke again: "It was the madness of despair. When I saw them coming to search me I threw the pin through an open window. It must have fallen into the marshes or into the water below the bridge. How, then, can you have it today?"

They were standing quite alone, but the girl almost whispered her answer. "There were two," she said—"twin horseshoes. My father gave them to me."

As she was going he rose to his feet and raised his right arm as if he were registering a vow.

"Some day I shall return it to you," he said.

Again the girl put forth her hand. "I believe you," she said simply and went her way. And the memory that she carried out into the sunshine of the morning was the perfect content on the wrinkled face of the old mother as her son led her tenderly from the courtroom.

The young man kept his promise. One day two years later the girl received a little package by post. Opening it, she removed some cotton, and there below lay a diamond horseshoe pin.

Referred.

"Have a drink, old man?"

"No; I've cut it out."

"Aw, be sociable."

"Well, my companion here will have a drink with you. He's my social secretary."—Kansas City Journal.

Character in Finger Nails.

Long Nails.—When the nails are long the person is good natured, but placing little confidence in others.

Broad Nails.—They who have their nails broad are of a gentle disposition, bashful and afraid of speaking before their superiors or indeed to any one without hesitation and a downcast air.

Little Nails.—Little round nails discover a person to be obstinately angry, seldom pleased, inclining to hate every one as conceiving herself superior to others, though without any foundation for such conception.

Fleshy Nails.—A calm person and idler, loving to sleep, eat and drink, not delighting in bustle and a busy life, one who prefers a narrow income without industry to one of opulence to be acquired by activity and diligence.

Pale or Lead Colored Nails.—A melancholy person, one who through choice leads a sedentary life and would willingly give up all things for the sake of study and to improve in the learned and metaphysical branches of philosophy.

Tactless Saleswirls.

"The lack of tact shown by some of the saleslades in the millinery departments almost kills me," said a woman who is very sensitive concerning her weight. "I don't see how they ever get anybody to take anything they have to offer. One of them brought out a fright of a hat for my inspection the other day, a regular beehive. I wouldn't be seen in it in a huckleberry pasture. And when I rebelled she seemed to be offended.

"'You've got a round, full face,' said she, 'and if you'd do your hair differently, carry it out behind, this would be becoming on you.'

"Now, nobody has to so much as hint to me that my face is round and full, though it isn't so round and full as it was. I've lost four pounds in the last six months. And as for doing my hair, I do it as I please. I've paid for it.

"But the worst was yet to come. When I told her that another hat she brought out was too staring she said that people who didn't have anything else ought to dress showily. The elevator was going down about then, and I took it."

No Law For Newest Woman.

Not all women in these days of suffragette excitement are generous to their sex. For instance, "utterly selfish" is the hard indictment found against modern women by the secretary of a woman's club. "Civilization is producing a new woman," she writes, "not the short haired creature who is dying to look like a man, but the jewel woman in Parisian finery who recognizes no law but her own. She walks airily over the rule that the last comer must take the last place in the box office line or at the railroad ticket office. She occupies with her beauty bags and other accessories twice the room she is entitled to in the railroad car. She talks in loud tones in the theater and at concerts and refuses to take off her hat for the convenience of the person in the rear seat unless the rules of the place absolutely compel her to remove it. Altogether woman is becoming very lawless, and if she is balked in her lawlessness she complains loudly that man's chivalry is waning." All of which has more than a grain of truth.

Ingratitude.

Lycurgus, being asked why in his laws he had set down no punishment for ingratitude, answered, "I have left it to the gods to punish."

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

It is now stated in London that the Earl of Carrington will succeed Earl Grey as Governor-General of Canada.

Hon. P. S. G. MacKenzie, Quebec, new Provincial Treasurer, was yesterday re-elected in Richmond County, by acclamation.

The associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia have passed a resolution favoring Government ownership of telephones.

The retirement of Hon. Clifford Sifton from active politics will take place when the present Parliament runs its course, according to statements of his close personal friends at Ottawa.

Harry Steinberg, his wife and two young children of Hamilton were taken to the city hospital shortly after midnight in a serious condition from ptomaine poisoning. They had canned sardines for supper.

Mrs. M. A. Statler, 70 years old, and Mrs. Bama Bailittx, mother and sister of E. M. Statler, the well-known Buffalo hotel man, captured a burglar yesterday afternoon after a struggle in which both women were injured. Mrs. Bailittx chased the man down the street and caught him.

Who Shot Weigand?

Niagara Falls, Jan. 28.—Investigations conducted yesterday into the circumstances surrounding the shooting of George Weigand, the Niagara River fish dynamiter, in the river off Grand Island, Wednesday, tend to show that the dead man was possibly accidentally shot by Gus A. Enger, his companion in the launch, and not by Fisheries Inspector Thomas Briggs.

The local authorities place reliance in the story told by Briggs and corroborated by several other persons that the first shot was fired from the boat and that Weigand fell dead several minutes after the last shot was fired from the shore by the Canadian official. Witnesses say that Briggs did not fire on the boat with intent to kill the occupants, but aimed low in an effort to sink the craft, when the occupants refused to come ashore. The bullet from which Weigand died is in the back of his head.

Inspector Mains of the provincial police has informed District Attorney Dudley of Erie County, N.Y., that if the body of Weigand is turned over to the Canadian authorities, a searching enquiry will be conducted.

Bullets found in trees and in the ground, fired from a 44 Winchester prove Briggs' assertion that he was shot at.

U. S. Postal Banks Bill.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The postal saving bank bill drafted by Senators Carter, Dolliver and Owen, a subcommittee of the committee on post-offices and post roads, was perfected yesterday, and by Mr. Carter was introduced in the Senate.

The bill provides that there shall be established a system of postal savings banks, under the supervision and direction of a board of trustees, consisting of the Secretary of the Treasury, Postmaster-General and the Attorney-General acting ex-officio.

An account cannot be opened for less than one dollar, and no more than $100 can be deposited in any one calendar month. All deposits must be in multiples of one dollar, but in order that smaller amounts may be accumulated for deposit, saving cards will be issued and ten postal savings stamps sold. When these cards and attached stamps show an investment of $1, or multiples thereof, they will be received as deposits.

Deposits will draw 2 per cent. interest, which will be credited to the books of depositors once in each year.

Higher Standard For Engineers.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—The Canadian Society of Civil Engineers yesterday appointed a committee to wait on the Premier respecting a higher standard for Government engineers and an advisory board on national engineering questions.

These officers were elected: President, H. N. Ruttan, Winnipeg; vice-presidents, W. F. Tye, C. H. Rust and R. W. Leonard; councillors, C. R. Coutlee, Phelps Johnson, H. J. Cambie, D. MacPherson, A. E. Doucet, L. A. Herut, C. E. W. Dodwell, C. N. Montserrat, J. G. Sullivan, A. W. Campbell, J. M. R. Fairburn, J. M. Shanley, H. H. Vaughan, W. J. Francis, H. E. Haultain, H. G. Kelley, R. J. Durley and R. S. Kelsch.

Get Licenses Back.

Detroit, Jan. 28.—Capt. Enos Burke and Leander Robinson, master and mate of the steamer W. C. Richardson, will receive their licenses back. Supervising Inspector James Stone having reversed the decision of the Buffalo inspectors, which sunk last fall with a loss of five lives.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieves all the troubles incident to a Bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK HEAD ACHE

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not stop here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. Once or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

DRIVERS ARE ROBBED.

Two Masked Men In Toronto Hold Up Five.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—Five men, drivers for Rutherford and Marshall, wholesale producers, East Front street, were held up at the company's stables on a lane in the rear of 97 Pembroke street between 6 and 7 o'clock yesterday morning by two men, masked and armed with revolvers and billies. Each man was taken and tied as he came to the stables and deprived of his money. He was then stood up in a stall and the robbers waited for the next to come. In all, the booty amounted to $225.

George Lee, 69 McCaul, was the first driver to reach the stable. As he stepped inside the door, two revolvers were thrust into his face and he was told to stand and deliver. There were two men masked by wearing stocking caps drawn down over their faces and with holes cut for eyes and mouth.

Lee jumped for a pitchfork but was struck on the head with a billy and felled. Then his assailants went through him and took $29, all he had on him. Then they trussed him up with ropes and put him away in a stall telling him that if he made any outcry he would be shot.

The next to come was Reginald Truesdale, 749 West Richmond street. As he entered the stable in the dim light of a single lamp, and that turned low, he was told to stand and deliver. Also Lee, who has been through the treatment, advised him that it would be useless to struggle, so he gave up. He had no money on him, but was tied as the other man had been.

W. R. Gray, 134 Markham street, came next, and was treated in a like manner. They got no money from him.

Charles Brown, 43 Clinton street, came next and contributed $4 under similar circumstances. He was followed by George Sherbrooke, 36 1-2 Florence street. He was the largest contributor, chipping in $160. All were securely tied and left in the stall.

In the dim light it was difficult to get a good view of the men, but as one of them went out he lifted his mask and it was seen that he was dark with a dark moustache. The other was clean shaven, fair and tall.

When they were left alone the imprisoned ones set about their common release. Gray succeeded in undoing the bonds of one of his companions by working at the knots with his teeth. He finally succeeded and after that it was plain sailing.

The case was reported to the police and two detectives are at work upon it.

The robbery must have been committed by men who had a knowledge of the ways of these men. The drivers collect during the day, and do not make returns until the morning following.

Blames Liquor For Crime.

Cobourg, Jan. 28.—George Mancuro, Italian, charged with the murder of two of his countrymen and wounding another, came before Magistrate Holland for preliminary hearing. F. D. Boggs defending.

James McCormack of Grafton, swore that on the morning of Jan. 25 he went to the construction camp and learned that work was suspended. He noticed a crowd before the shack where the Italians were. It dispersed, and as he neared the gateway Mancuro came out. When he saw McCormack he raised his gun and fired. As McCormack got closer, he saw the Italian "break" the gun, then raise it, saw his hand on the trigger, but the weapon did not go off. Mancuro motioned McCormack to go away. The latter stepped back a little way and Mancuro disappeared.

"Too bad, too bad; too much gin," was an expression of the prisoner's yesterday.

Hamilton Will Advertise.

Hamilton, Jan. 25.—The Board of Control decided upon an aggressive policy in connection with industrial development and appointed William Mullins, city editor of The Spectator, as publicity commissioner at $1,500 a year. Controller Bailey thought the board should take some action to get the railways to build a union station. It was announced that the loss from the fires Saturday night were: City Hospital, $4,878; Central fire station tower, $180. Last year's surplus was announced as $69,130. The revenue was $39,370 greater than the estimate, the increase being largely due to the collection of taxes. A proposal to add to the penalty for arrears in taxes was laid over.

Black Hand In Windsor.

Windsor, Jan. 28.—J. W. Drake, ex-mayor of Windsor, has received a black hand letter, in which the writer declares that he is desperate and demands $200 cash, and in the event of refusal the assassination of Mr. Drake will follow, says the epistle. The letter was decorated with the customary skull and cross bones, and a rudely drawn coffin, and mailed from Windsor. The letter demands that $200 cash be placed in an envelope and mailed to J. Davis, Sandwich, Ont. A Windsor police officer is now stationed at the Sandwich postoffice.

Strike Leaders Convicted.

Sydney, N.S.W., Jan. 28.—President Bowling, of the Northern Miners' Federation, was yesterday convicted of obstructing work at the mines during the strike, and sentenced to one year at hard labor, in prison. Three other leaders were given sentences of eight months at hard labor, while a number of miners were committed to broader terms of imprisonment.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Firm—East Buffalo Market Generally Lower.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—London and Liverpool cables quote live cattle (American) steady, at 12½c to 14½c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef higher, at 10½c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—The railways reported 27 carloads of live stock at the City Market for Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of 1748 cattle, 4014 hogs, 709 sheep and lambs, 103 calves and 1 horse.

Exporters.

A few export bulls were bought at $4.75 to $5 per cwt., but we heard of prices as high as these being paid for butcher bulls.

Butchers.

George Rowntree bought 420 butchers' cattle for the Harris Abattoir Co., at following quotations: Steers and heifers, $4.60 to $5.60; cows, $2 to $4.40; bulls, $1 to $5.2 per cwt.

Stocker and Feeders.

Harry Murby reports little doing in stockers and feeders, but owing to the fact that butchers are paying higher prices for all classes of steers with any flesh on them, than farmers and feeders are willing to pay. Mr. Murby bought loads of butchers, 700 to 900 lbs. each, at $4 to $4.65 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

Buyers from Montreal and Quebec had the effect of stimulating the market for milkers and springers. Prices paid ranged from $35 to $55, with a very few going at $60 each.

Veal Calves.

The run of veal calves for the two days was light, which caused prices to be firm at $3 to $7.50, altho as high as $8.25 was paid for a few new milk fed veals.

Sheep and Lambs.

Ewes, $4.50 to $4.75, was the general price, but $5 per cwt. was paid for a few of choice quality; rams and culls, $3 to $3.75; lambs, prices ranged all the way from $6 to $7.25, and a few selected lots at $7.50.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris and the rest of the dealers reported the market weak at $8.50, fed and watered, and $8.25, f.o.b., cars, with prospects for lower prices next week.

SAVINGS

The wisdom of saving money must be apparent to every thoughtful person. A little money saved enables one to take advantage of opportunities for making more money; to buy a lot; to make the first payment on a house; to start in business.

These and other opportunities are ever before the person with capital.

Saving small sums is the creation of capital.

TWO WOMEN BRUTALLY ASSAULTED BY YOUNG MAN

The Misses McPherson, Residing Three Miles From Norwood, Attacked by Thug This Morning—One Woman is Reported Dead—Assailant Was Followed by Farmers and Sectionmen and Was Arrested in Havelock.

MOTIVE WAS ROBBERY

Special Wire to the Examiner.

Norwood, Jan. 28.—A sensational assault took place about three miles from here, shortly before noon to-day when an unknown man, a tramp, entered the home of the Misses McPherson. Both women are now suffering to such an extent from the injuries received at the hands of the thug that they are lying seriously ill and Drs. Pettigrew, Sutton and Ford have been called in to attend them. One is in a dying condition. A report was received here that the assailant had been taken prisoner at Havelock and was in the lock-up there.

The Misses McPherson are old women, probably seventy years of age, and resided alone. They have lived about three miles from this village practically all their lives. It appears from the news of the affair that has been received here that the brute entered the house, apparently with the intention of robbing the house. From the fact that the women were so badly beaten up, it would seem that they had made an effort to defend their property.

On learning of the affair searching parties for the wretch were sent out in all directions.

Reported Dead.

Havelock, Jan. 28th. — The young man who made such a dastardly attack on the Misses McPherson, near Norwood, this morning, is in custody here. He was followed from Norwood by two farmers, and when near Havelock the latter called to some sectionmen, working on the track, for assistance. The assailant fired at his pursuers, but his shot went wide, and no one was hurt. He was chased right into Havelock and there was placed in the lock-up by the village constable, Mr. Fred Bennett.

The prisoner is a young man. He gave his name as Robert Henderson and his home as Toronto. He had but little money on him, but he had letters addressed to himself at the above city.

His motive in such an act was evidently that of robbery. An unconfirmed report is in circulation here, to the effect that one of the women is dead.

COUNTY CHILDREN COST SOCIETY $600

Messrs. Peter Campbell, George Cochrane and Wm. Henry waited on the County Council this morning, and asked that a substantial grant be made towards the Children's Aid Society. It was pointed out that the number of County children received at the Shelter since Jan. 31st, 1908, was 18, and they had cost the Society over $600.00. The names of six of the children were given, length of time under care and their disposal. The request was turned over to the Finance Committee.

Confessed To Murder Of Anna Schumacher But Makes Full Denial At Scene Of Crime

Strange Behaviour of James Hall Who Had Been in Prison Ship—Released to be Examined in Civil Court and Denies Story He Told the Naval Authorities.

HIS OPINION OF HIMSELF

Portsmouth, Jan. 27.—James A Hall, confessed murderer of Anna Catherine Schumacher, of this city, was to-day turned over by the United States authorities at the Navy Yard here to Sheriff Gillette, of Rochester, who left at once with his prisoner for Rochester, where Hall will stand trial for the killing. Hall was apparently unconcerned as he left the prison here for the train and merely asked how long the ride would be.

Hall has acknowledged himself guilty of a crime that baffled police and detectives alike and states that his confession is due to remorse and the pangs of a conscience that must assert itself. Miss Schumacher had gone to a cemetery one day toward last fall and was found dead shortly after with practically no clue to the murderer, who escaped the minuteat kind of a search. To District Attorney Howard W. Widener, Hall gave an opinion of himself that tells the story of his life as briefly as possible.

"I am a no good stiff. I have been a criminal all my life. I have never done any good for myself, nor for anyone else. I have no religion, never did have, and don't know what religious training is. I know the awful crime I have committed, know the results and am willing and anxious to go back to Rochester and take the results. Nobody is in anyway responsible for my confession—nothing except that the crime haunted me when awake troubled me in my dreams and made me talk in my sleep, and never gave me any peace, asleep or awake. I am glad it is all over."

The words were spoken by Hall in a discouraged tone and with as little emotion as a man could impress into such a statement. Looking at the murderer, the District Attorney could hardly control a natural revulsion that crept up and down his spine. Hall stood on the deck, looking out over the water, his face mobile, his eyes tearless and his manner that of a man who has been hunted and trapped and has given up, without a final struggle.

"I am a no good stiff." These words came as easily as if he had said: "I have been a hard working man." He had measured up himself, had found his life a red negative—his good done, as to his bad, like a mole to a mountain. Whatever else was in store, he seemed to care naught.

"I have been a criminal all my life." He wasn't proud of it, he didn't say it with bravado. He said it with the abandon of one who despised his past and almost dreaded his future. It was a pitiful confession for a young man to make, yet he made it with the air of one who was glad to take the world into his confidence, to unburden himself—to clean-breast all; but not to begin over again. No, he knew there was no turning point; he realized that only the end was before him and that could come none too quick.

"I have no religion; dont know what it is. To make such a statement in these days of Christian civilization is one of the saddest things a man can utter. To him there is no future life, no punishment for wrong done, no beacon to guide onward and upward—nothing but o death like he administered and a burial like he gave. Hurry it on, he seemed to say.

Rochester, Jan. 28.—James A Hall, Hall, self accused of the murder of Anna Schumacher, near Holy Sepulchre cemetery last August, deiberately lied as to his connection with the case in order to obtain his release from a prison ship at Portsmouth, N. H., or else having made the confession and recognized the seriousness of the charges which he has brought upon himself, he is now seeking a way to escape the consequences of the crime.

Whatever may be his motives, Hall to-day denies that he ever was in Holy Sepulchre cemetery or in Rochester before. The authorities, holding his signed confession, are puzzled. They have effected his release from the prison ship, where he was under sentence of eighteen months for fraudulent enlistment. Whether on the strength of this confession, they can obtain evidence to convict him is still problematical with them.

Asked as to his opinion, Sheriff Gillette remarks that the case is one for the district-attorney's office and the district-attorney is the man to see. When information is sought from Charles B. Bechtold, assistant district-attorney, who has the case in charge, Mr. Bechtold refers enquirers to Sheriff Gillette, who brought Hall to Rochester under arrest. Chief of Police Quigley shrugs his shoulders and says nothing. Hall also says little, but spends the time whistling through his teeth when questioners are around.

Hall arrived in Rochester this morning at 1 oclock, in custody of Sheriff Gillette, who had brought him from Portsmouth. Stenographer William J. Ritcher, of the district-attorney's office, also was of the party. Hall was taken to the jail and re-

IS APPOINTED CURATE OF ST. JOSEPH'S PARISH

Rev. Father McFadden, of the Cathedral Staff, Will be Assistant to Father McGuire of Douro.

FATHER TONER SUCCEEDS

Rev. Father V. G. McFadden of the Cathedral staff, has been appointed curate to Rev. Father McGuire who succeeds the late Father Keilty, as parish priest of Douro. The necessity of an assistant priest in Douro is occasioned by Keene and Galway being included in the parish and the duties are too onerous for one person. Father James Toner, who has been acting temporarily at St. Joseph's church, Douro, arrived in Peterborough this morning and succeeds Father McFadden on the Cathedral staff. Since his ordination Rev. Father McFadden has been attached to St. Peter's Cathedral and in the discharge of his duties has endeared himself to the members of the congregation and to many others whom he has met. One and all join in congratulating him upon his promotion and trust that his endeavours in Douro, assiting Father McGuire, will be most successful.

WON PRIZE IN CROP COMPETITION

Mr. Peter Drummond of Keene Secured Fourth Prize at Ottawa.

The grain from the Standing Field Crop Competitions exhibited at the Ottawa Winter Fair was of a high standard and created favourable comment among the many farmers from the different sections of Eastern Ontario, who visited the Exhibition. A portion of the grain which won prizes was retained by the Ontario Department of Agriculture to be used for experimental purposes by the Agricultural specialists in different sections of the Province. The balance is being shipped to the office of the Ontario Government in London, England, to be used for exhibition purposes. The grain which did not receive prizes was sold by public auction in the Howick Pavilion, Ottawa. Not since the inauguration of these Field Crop Competitions three years ago were such crowds in attendance, the bidding so spirited or such splendid prices realized. The money received for this grain is being forwarded promptly to exhibitors. Mr. Eddy, of Ottawa, acted as judge and appeared to give excellent satisfaction. The following is a list of the prize winners:

2nd T. Cossins, Whitby, Oats.
3rd John White, Beachburg, oats.
4th Peter Drummond, Keene, oats.
5th, Andrew McKay, Woodville, oats.
6th, W. J. Barber, Ameliasburg, oats.
7th Wm. Lewis, Dunsford, oats.
8th Jas. Leask, Taunton, oats.

OBITUARY.

MRS. FORSTER.

The many friends in Peterborough and surrounding district were grieved to learn of the death in Nicholls Hospital yesterday of Frances Maguire, relict of the late Rev. J. B. Forster, of Warsaw. The deceased who has seventy-six years of age, had been residing with her brother, Mr. A. S. Maguire, 59 McDonald street, since November last. She was the daughter of the late Patrick Maguire and was born in Millbrook in 1833. She had lived in Warsaw the greater part of her life. In 1873 she was married to Mr. Sydney Payne, who died in 1880 and in 1895 she married for the second time, her husband being Rev. J. B. Forster, a Methodist evangelist, who resided in Warsaw. He predeceased her in December 1908.

The late Mrs. Forster had a very large circle of friends, to whom her many kindly qualities made her a favourite.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. R. H. Kidd, Port Angeles, Wash., and by two brothers, Mr. A. S. Maguire, city, and Mr. A. R. Maguire, Stratford. The funeral will take place to-morrow (Saturday) morning, at 11 o'clock, from the residence of her brother, 59 McDonnel St., to Warsaw.

Woman Underwent Operation Which Proved Fatal and News of Webbwood Accident Was Kept From Her—Hamilton Woman Determined to Die.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

North Bay, Jan. 28.—George A. Tees leaves this morning for Bruce Mines with the body of his wife, who died yesterday in the hospital as the result of an operation performed a few days before the Spanish River wreck, in which Mrs. Tees lost her father and her only daughter. She was only 25 years old and had been kept in ignorance of the accident.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 28.—The woodworking factory of Hamilton and Gray was destroyed by fire early this morning, along with three thousand feet of lumber in stock. Total loss is placed at fifty thousand.

Hamilton, Jan. 28.—Mrs. Robert Stewart, Chestnut Avenue, a woman about 50 years of age, made a sensational attempt to commit suicide this morning by setting fire to her clothes and slashing her throat with a razor. Miss Mason, a friend, called at the house in time to extinguish her burning clothing before she was burned, but she is not likely to recover.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—Thos Miller, 413 Cherry St., out of work since November, hanged himself in the cellar of his home this morning. He had expected to go to work at the Grand Trunk freight sheds to-day, but was disappointed. He leaves a wife and nine children, the eldest of whom, a boy aged 17, lost his position a few days ago.

SHOT THE DOG

Vicious one Attacked Adam Hall's Horse on Wednesday.

On Wednesday afternoon, on Water St. north a vicious dog ran out and bit the horse belonging to Mr. Adam Hall, in the left front leg. An information was laid in the police court but the matter was settled by the owner of the dog having it killed.

LAKEFIELD HIGH SCHOOL WON FROM GROVE TEAM

The Lakefield High School won their first victory over Grove on Tuesday by a score of 5 to 4.

The game started off quietly, and Cumberland shot in three minutes.—Score 1 to 0.

After this the forward line of L. H. S. broke loose. Labelle tallied for High School. Soon after Kennedy scored, making the score 4 to 2.

Half-time score, 4 to 2, in favour of Grove.

After a rub-down the High School boys gave an exhibition of real hockey Young finding the nets first, by a pretty shot from the wing. Score 4-3. Northey, who played a splendid game at cover, shot, but accidentally hit the goal minder, who stopped it.

When the puck was placed in centre ice there was only 30 seconds left, and by a swift rush made by H. Kennedy and Young, the latter passed the puck to Kennedy, who returned it, and Young scored, just before the bell rang, making the score 4-4.

It was decided that the tie should be played off, so they started into the game, and by a pretty rush, made by Kinneally, who scored, made the final score 5 to 4.

The following were the line-ups:

Grove		L. H. S.
	Goal.
F. Edwards		P. Sherin
	Point.
J. Crombie		H. Kenneally
	Cover-point.
B. Mewburn		Northey

Referee—B. Blewett; umpires, Quinlan and Legott.

Edwards and Gordon played a star game for the Grove.

WAS HEAVILY FINED FOR AN ASSAULT

Two Men Got Into Dispute Over Payment of a Bill, Which Led to a Fight and a Police Court Case—Had to Pay $10 and Costs.

HE PLEADED GUILTY

A local liveryman was fined ten dollars and costs, amounting to $13.35 for assaulting a young man last evening. It appears that the two got into a dispute over the price charged for a horse and cutter and words led to blows. The young man who hired the horse paid the fee asked but the defendant thought he should have charged more. He struck the complainant, the latter stated in court today, a blow in the face. He said that he offered to fight him out on the road but the defendant wouldn't come.

His Worship in imposing such a heavy fine, said that a man in business should exercise better judgment.

A PARLOUR SOCIAL

A large number of people attended the parlour social held last night at the Rectory, under the auspices of the Girls' Auxiliary. Every room downstairs was thrown open to accommodate the many guests. A feature of the event was a Gypsy Camp, where the tea cups were read, which gave much merriment to those who availed themselves of the reading. Mrs. P. Laing and Miss Florence Butcher had charge of the lamp. The candy table was presided over by Miss Maudie Stewart and Miss May Moore. Miss Hazel Hickey, assisted by several other young ladies, had charge of the refreshment table, where coffee, bread and butter and cake was served. A programme of great merit was also given. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt acted as chairman:

Instrumental solo—Miss K. Leary.
Recitation—Miss Bartley.
Vocal solo—Mr. H. Moore.
Recitation—Miss Gladys Pentland.
Vocal solo—Mr. C. Coleman.
Instrumental solo—Miss Shearer.
Vocal solo—Miss Quartermaine.
Recitation—Miss K. Leary.
Instrumental duet—Miss Tully and Miss Phyllis Dawson.
Vocal solo—Mr. J. Mercier.

The members of St. Luke's A.P.P.A. will hold their sleighdrive to-night. Conveyances will be at the post office and rectory at 7.30. All members who wish to go are requested to be punctual, as the busses will leave sharp at 7.45.

Miss Burnett, of East City, has gone on an extended visit to Montreal and Fort Henry.

Rev. Rural Dean Langfeldt, Rev. Canon Davidson and Rev. H. R. Trumpour will attend the Deanery meeting in Norwood next Monday and Tuesday.

PAYMENT OF ACCOUNTS
All accounts due the firm of H. LeBrun & Co., Clothiers, are required to be settled not later than the 1st day of February next, as our books must be closed on that date. GOT SIX MONTHS

Montreal, Jan. 28. Frank Moise the man who has been charged under peculiar circumstances, as related recently was sentenced yesterday to six months in jail for neglecting to provide for his wife. Now that he has been sentenced by Recorder Dupuis on this minor charge he will be called upon to stand trial on the second, that of bigamy. When arraigned before Judge Leet on this charge he pleaded not guilty. His trial will take place in the course of a few days.

The bigamy charge is being pressed by Miss Alice Rayner, late of Labelle county, who alleges that he was married to her several years ago, and has been living with her since on Planet street.

Mrs. W. H. Bradburn, of Homewood Ave., returned to the City last evening after a pleasant trip to Toronto, where she was visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. F. D. Hewson, with whom she attended, as honoured guest, the opening of the Legislature.

INSPECTOR BRODERICK MET THE COUNTY COUNCIL THIS MORNING

Will Begin His Duties on February 1st.—District Comprises Townships in Both Peterborough and Victoria Counties—Memorial to Mr. J. C. Brown.

OTHER COUNCIL MATTERS

The County Council passed a resolution of appreciation of Mr. Coyle Brown's services as inspector at their afternoon session yesterday, and this morning they met Mr. G. E. Broderick, who was appointed to the charge of the inspectorate, established at the December meetings of Peterborough and Victoria Councils. An address was presented to Mr. Brown, referring in strong terms to the long period he had spent as Inspector of Peterborough's rural schools. Mr. Brown made a reply tinged with the feeling he retained for the work he had so long striven to advance.

He went back to 1871, the year in which he was appointed and compared the conditions then with those of the present day, showing how the changes had gradually been made.

The Council also passed a resolution recommending the Provincial Government putting Mr. Brown on the superannuation list as he had served very faithfully and efficiently for many years.

Good Roads Committee.

A report from the special committee appointed to attend the meeting of the Good Roads Association in Toronto on Wednesday, December 22, 1909, was presented as follows:

In accordance with a resolution of the County Council, passed on Dec. 2, 1909, we attended a meeting held in the City of Toronto, on Wednesday, with the object of placing before the Provincial Government the advisability of increasing the present grant to roads under the county roads system, from 33 1-3 per cent. as it stands at present to 50 per cent. of the entire cost.

After the meeting the deputation which was a large one, waited on the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, and placed the matter as strongly as possible before him, and while he manifested a strong desire to improve the road system throughout the province, yet he did not give us any assurance that the increase asked for would be made as he considered that it would be a very heavy burden to place upon the finances of the province at present, but led us to believe that in the near future the conditions would be complied with.

R. N. SCOTT,
F. MOHER,
M. PERDUE,
Committee.

The New Inspector.

Mr. Broderick, of Lindsay, the new inspector, whose territory comprises a part of Peterborough and Victoria counties, was introduced to the members of the Council this morning. Upon motion he was asked to address the Council and in an appropriate speech touched upon the work which he will begin on February 1st. His address was received with applause.

Moved by Messrs. E. A. Tanner and Young that Mr. Broderick's expenses be paid upon the presenting of an itemized statement at the close of the year.

Moved in amendment, by Mr. Shaw and Mr. Coben that Mr. Broderick be paid the sum of $100 to cover expenses in connection with his duties re inspectorate.

A communication was received from the Clerk of Hastings County, regarding the boundary bridge at the north of Peterborough, adljoining Hastings. The structure is in need of repair, and Hastings agrees to pay $100 if Peterborough will grant a like amount for the same purpose, the money to be spent by the Reeve of Wollaston Township, and any person appointed to represent Peterborough. The letter was referred to the Bridge and Buildings' Committee.

The Council has, for the most part, been in committee to-day, and will wind up their business to-morrow morning.

THE STANDING TO-DAY

Special to The Examiner.

London, Jan. 28.—The parties now stand: Unionists 262, Liberals 260, Labourites 40, Nationalists 74, with 34 elections to hear from, mostly Scotch and Welsh. These last will take place Monday next, except in Orkney and Shetland, where polling will take place on February 14 and 15.

THE CARNIVAL

Great interest is being taken in the carnival to be held in Brock St. rink on Tuesday night next and there will be a big crowd of contestants and spectators. The ice will be reserved for those in costume until 9 o'clock, after which it will be thrown open. The band will be in attendance and there will be a great night's fun. The prizes are the best ever offered for such an event.

DUST WAS FLYING

CANADIAN CLUB

The address by Dr. J. A McDonald before the Canadian Club at the National Hotel to-morrow night promises to be attended by a large number of members. It is the first meeting of the Club this year and should not be overlooked.

Many Social Affairs Mark The Near Approach Of Lent

With the first days of Lent, close at hand, social functions are following fast one upon the other and the number that might have been extended over several other weeks is confined to so many days. The situation in Peterborough is experienced throughout the province and orchestras have positively refused countless demands for their services. For some reason Toronto is the home of the leading orchestras and as might be expected is the mecca of committees that have been in charge of the arrangements for a dance. Organizations such as Frolicks and other of that standard have had every night booked solid for several weeks past up to Shrove Tuesday. Their engagements are here and there and almost everywhere. Galt, Brantford and many other towns being examples. Social clubs desiring to secure orchestras have paid the price of dilatoriness by having to be content with a pianist. And these same musicians, as they are termed, receive their own price, which the ordinary layman considers near the limit. The success of a dance is largely dependent upon the music and "regulars" say that orchestras and pianists differ in the "way they deliver the goods." Hence if a reputation is gained for playing "swell" music as the young lady describes it, business will flow in and the price scale must be increased. In the meantime the young people will enjoy themselves as they have always done and the members of the committee will trust to their lucky stars that no hitch will occur to mar the occasion.

THE DOMINION BANK.

A profit for the year 1909 of over $620,000, being earnings at the rate of 15¼ per cent. on its paid-up capital, a reserve fund which now reaches the sum of $5,000,000, and total assets of nearly $59,000,000 is in brief the gist of the 39th annual statement issued by the Dominion Bank and published to-day. This gratifying showing has been made possible by capable management and the pursuit of a conservative policy, and affords striking evidence of the strong position attained by this prominent financial institution.

As indicating the rapid progress the Dominion Bank is making, the total deposits show an increase during the year of over $7,500,000. The liquid assets and cash reserves are particularly strong, being 41 per cent. of the total liabilities to the public.

During the year the sum of $150,000 has been written off bank premises and dividends absorbed, $478,156. These are paid at the rate of 3 per cent. quarterly. In addition to the profits of $620,927 for the year, there is a balance of $302,996 brought forward from the previous year, and $18,368 received in premiums on new capital stock or a total of $942,191.00. In a year when most banks found their earnings decreasing this splendid showing by the Dominion Bank will prove most satisfactory to the shareholders and to the management.

It should be added that the Peterborough branch of this Bank, under the prudent management of Mr. John Crane, has had the satisfaction of contributing to these gratifying results.

A CANADIAN POLICY.

(Brantford Expositor.)

The time has come in the history of Canada when it should be recognised as a nation, one in the group of other nations of the earth, facing the same conditions, meeting the same problems, and striving for the same ends, so long as they be just and commendable. Thus it should be the duty of Canada to adopt a truly national policy, so moulding its fiscal system as to develop trade with all parts of the world, and so guarding its commerce by land and sea as to ensure for its people continued peace and prosperity; at the same time bearing its just responsibilities in shaping the destiny of the great empire of which it is a part.

Outstanding in the world-wide situation as we view it at the present moment, is the danger of attack which confronts British prestige on the part of other nations of the world. It is imperative that in the first instance the peril of conflict should be removed, in which connection the Imperial conference of defence has laid down a system for the guidance of the various parts of the empire in order that it may be so solidified as to preclude the possibility of successful invasion on the part of foreign foes. In this scheme Canada must play its part, preferably in the creation of a naval unit for the assistance of the empire in times of danger, and the protection of Canadian commerce in times of peace.

Having thus protected the trade routes of the empire, it follows that some concerted plan of commercial development among the component parts should be devised, probably of a preferential nature that all sections may share in the common good. Temporarily defeated in the British elections, tariff reform, in the opinion of many fiscal authorities, is certain to be adopted in the not-distant future, in which event the colonies would no doubt be asked to unite on some definite commercial proposal. The genarl trend in Canada of late years has been towards a gradual reduction of duties and the maintenance of a tariff sufficiently high to protect the interests of manufacturers, on the one hand and safeguard those of the masses on the other. Britain, of course, has already been extended a preference in our markets.

With the proper protection and creation of new trade routes, the great need of this country in the approaching period of development, will be adequate transportation. Existing lines of railway should be improved and capital should not be discouraged in the construction of new ones. Waterways should be extended and deepened and harbours constructed along modern lines. An efficient system of government control, rather than of government ownership, would for the present at least, seems to be desirable, in order that the credit of the country may not be too heavily impaired. And the end should always be kept in view that ultimately Canada, spanned by transcontinental roads with steamships on two oceans east and west, should become a highway of the world's trade and commerce.

The conservation of national resources should be pressed with vigour through the medium of the Conservation commission, which has been recently appointed and an increased grant, probably $50,000 per annum, should be made to aid in carrying on this important work, for if the crystallised into legislation of a charfindings of the commission are later calculated to conserve the natural resources of the country, a saving of millions will be effected in the future.

Nor should the moral or material welfare of Canadians be neglected. Education should hold a first place in the hearts and minds of the people. The gap between the public school and collegiate courses should be filled and the term of the average course extended, embracing a technical training in the case of boys intended for mechanical pursuits. This is imperative if Canada is to maintain its place in competition with the industrial nations of the world. The social evils must be dealt with, including the gambling spirit, the white slave traffic and intemeprance. Temperance leaders are looking forward to the day when there will be national prohibition in this country, as well as throughout this continent, the day when not only the sale of intoxicants will be prohibited, but likewise the manufacture and importation. Excellent as is the enforcement of Canadian laws, a great step in advance is still to be taken in simplifying the whole judicial procedure with a view to securing a uniform interpretation of the statutes at a reasonable outlay on the part of litigants. In the regulation and control of all public utilities there is a wide scope for inquiry and adjustment that the rights of the public may be rigidly protected. Insurance reforms are promised, but none too soon, nor can they be too drastic to meet the demands of the existing situation. The curbing of combines has been undertaken and while this is a step in the right direction, it is not expected that the bill now before Parliament will, in its present state, adequately meet the conditions in this regard. Amendments looking to a more effective enforcement are required. The immigration issue is rapidly assuming serious aspects and in the avowed opinion of leading public ment, will loom large as a source of peril in the future. The influx of foreigners into the West in large numbers will tend to create problems of a social and economical nature as grave as have ever faced the legislators of any country in the history of the world. In this growing time and period of development, Canadians would do well to intelligently grapple with these issues while Canada is still "in the making," for some day it will be too late.

A feature, too, which must of necessity impress itself deeply on intelligent observers of current events, is the modern trend towards democracy. The world over, this is evident, in the gradual ascendency of the masses in curtailing the privileges of the classes. More and more the governing powers are being delegated to the people themselves. • • • • The general tendency, too, will probably be towards parliamentary reforms, embracing the reform or abolition of the Canadian Senate, changes in the parliamentary system and an extension of the civil service act by which the service will be practically removed from politics and the outside, as well as the inside service as at present, under the direction of the Civil service commission.

CURED WHEN DOCTORS FAILED

Mr. Felix Villeneuve, Clarence Creek, Ont., writes: "I was a great sufferer from kidney disease, inflammation of the bowels and liver troubles, and doctors could not help me much. Could not sleep, water contained sediment, had frequent desire to urinate, and often passed blood. Had dreadful headaches, one side almost paralyzed and was deaf in one year for eight years. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cured me, and I am very grateful. I want to thank you.

THE BUDGET DEBATE AND PLATFORM OF 1893

The Minister of Customs Shows How Liberals Have Implemented Platform of 1893.

At intervals, and during the recent budget debate in the House of Commons, we have heard Conservative criticism of the failure of the Liberal Government to implement the platform laid down at the National Liberal Conference in 1893. In making the practically the closing address in the debate Hon. Wm. Paterson, minister of Customs, dealt with these criticisms, showing their lack of foundation. A general reference to his remarks will, therefore be interesting.

Hon. Wm. Paterson, Minister of Customs gave to the House one of his old ime fighting speeches. He took for his text the Liberal platform of 1893 and reading each resolution demonstrated to the House that the platform had been carried out with the exception of that plank dealing with the Senate. In this respect he freely admitted that the Government had encountered a difficulty which had not yet been surmounted.

Nailed a Misrepresentation.

Referring to the statement that Mr. Foster had made as to the Government selling 250,000 acres of land to the Saskatchewan Valley Land Company for $1 an acre, he pointed out that the land was sold upon settlement conditions which made the cost $1 an acre plus those conditions.

Foster Retired Before Fire.

Mr. Foster left the House as soon as Mr. Paterson commenced his speech and, as Mr. Paterson well said, the principal joker had got frightened and gone out—which, continued Mr. Paterson, was not an unusual sight in the House. The House listened to the Minister of Customs with keen delight, and the utter inability of the Conservatives to offer one word in protest to the Minister, although frequently invited to do so, showed the soundness of his position, and the weakness of the Opposition.

Interrupters Silenced by Speaker.

Th sledge hammer blows of the Minister of Customs spread dismay among the Opposition and they finally resorted to constant interruptions in the form of meaningless questions the object being to destroy the continuity of the Minister's arguments. All this was of no avail, however, and the unseemly interruption only ceased after the Speaker had threatened to name one of the chief offenders.

They don't want Truth.

The Conservatives in the House cannot listen to plain truths. The moment some aggressive speaker on the Liberal side lands with some hard facts that cannot be gainsaid, they resort to the most disreputable tactics of interruption. In Hon. Mr. Paterson they met more than they bargained for, especially the new member, whose experience of political life and history leaves much to be desired. As the Minister in stentorian tones made one point after another stick, the Opposition, after vainly trying to embarrass him, preferred to leave the House rather than submit to the verbal castigation which the Minister administered.

'ROUND THE STORES

"Have you signed the pledge yet?" is the question now being asked at the Labour Temple, Toronto, and other cities by the members of the newly-organized Anti-Meat Eaters' Society, whose object is not to curtail the consumption of alcoholic beverages, but to put the beef trust out of business.

"In my opinion," said a citizen, the farmer is just as much to blame for the high prices of meat as anybody else. They are demanding and getting very high prices for their stock. Just think of some farmers getting $9.00 a hundred (live weight) for hogs. I remember selling hogs at $3.85 a hundred (dressed) in the year 1880. In 1896 you could buy lambs at $3.00 each, and three-year-old steers at $18 each."

There is a difference, however, in the way people live now, and the way they used to live. High living is an admitted evil. The increased cost of living does not come from meat eating alone, although it might be advantageous to some people if they became temporary vegetarians. Meat prices in Peterborough cannot be said to be excessively high, and there is not much danger of a domestic crisis here, unless butter and egg prices do not aggravate the housekeeper. Both these articles are too high by one-third.

The stock-taking and January sales have had another week of price-cutting, and this week will likely see their finish. It is absolutely necessary that merchants should sell the balance of winter stocks, and to the buying public this means an opportunity for genuine economy. Specially interesting are the fur bargains announced at Mr. W. E. Lech's new fur store, 386 George street. The discounts at this store are of more than usual value to the customer because of the great advance which has taken place in the price of raw furs, and which means that they will cost nearly double next season. Mr. Lech's reductions in ladies' pony coats, mink furs, stoles, muffs and men's fur coats are extra. See his advertisement on Page Five.

To-morrow there will be on display in Turnbull's an attractive lot of advanced styles in ladies' new spring suits. They are advertised to be on sale at $12.95, and are described as "handsome man-tailored suits, worth $20 to $25 and $30." Women who would like to take a peep into the future will get a glimpse of new 1910 styles in the north window. They are dainty models, and made up in striking effects and natty styles.

Down George street, in the new Lundy block, Messrs. Graham & Co's. new store, "The Palace Grocery," has been doing a satisfactory trade. The clean stock of groceries, provisions, confectionery, etc., present an attractive and pleasing appearance in this newly finished premises. The windows present quite an artistic appearance—the one to the south being dressed with "Big 3" shoe polish, at 5c per box, instead of 10c, and the one to the north with a display of Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes, making quite a catchy front effect. Potatoes at 50c per bag is also a leader this week; they are "Rural New Yorkers," and represented to be as dry as a bone.

The J. M. Greene Music Co. in the Grand Opera House building, handle large stocks of the National Phonograph Co's. machines. A representative of the Examiner happened in the store yesterday, when the February shipment of Edison Phonograph records arrived. His surprise at the choice and quality of the selections they offered, the splendid galaxy of artists who recorded them, and the marvellously natural and pure tones of their reproduction was complete. What particularly impressed him was the amount of entertainment contained in the new Edison Amberol Record, which plays four and one-half minutes. On these records he heard complete instrumental selections by such renowned musicians as Victor Herbert and his orchestra, Sousa's Band, the United States Marine Band, Frosini (the accordion wizard) and the American Symphony Orchestra. The vocal numbers were the best efforts of Bessie Wynn, Harvey Hindermeyer, Reed Miller, Thomas Chalmers, the Metropolitan Quartette, Edward M. Favor, Ada Jones, Manuel Romain, Byron G. Harlan and other well-known concert and vaudeville celebrities. The two-minute list was equally noteworthy. In it were represented, in addition to many of the above names, Stella Mayhew, Arthur C. Clough, The Vienna Instrumental Quartette, and the well-known staff of Edison artists. It is worth while to drop around to the Greene Music Co's.

MARVELLOUS HEALING POWERS

The most severe test to which a healing ointment is ever put is the cure of eczema. So successful has Dr. Chase's Ointment proven in the cure of torturing itching eczema that many people refer to its effects as magical and marvellous. After the first few applications it positively stops the dreadful itching and then gradually and naturally heals up the sores.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

OVERWORKED CHARITY

The daughter of the horse leech is chasing up and down, in winter and in summer she still infests the town: you find her on her errand wherever you may live: and always she is singing: "O, give, and give, and give! We want to help the heathen to buy new parasols, to give the Chinese babies nice gutta percha dolls; the people up in Lapland eat blubber from a sieve; we want to buy them oysters, so give, and give, and give!" The daughter of the horse leech has always some new scheme: "We plan to have a supper of egg plant and ice cream; we'll charge ten cents admittance, and every cent we make, will go to Aged Spinsters, to buy them pie and cake; but we are needing money—and that's no winter dream—so blow a pair of sawbucks, to buy the egg and cream." The daughter of the horse leech, she has a winning smile; she works you for your bundle, but does the trick in style; and when you reach your cottage, and find your wife in tears, because the grocer's raging, the meat bill in arrears, because the gown she wanted since she was young and fair, is still a thing of moonshine and dreams and heated air, your feeble explanation won't soothe her weary soul: "The daughter of the horse leech, she shook me for my roll!"

CONFESSED TO MURDER.

manded there until 10 o'clock, when he was taken to police headquarters.

Carrying out an official plan, a large automobile was obtained, and Chief Quigley, Mr. Beehtold, Deputy Sheriff Legler and Hall piled into it, bound for Holy Sepulchre cemetery, the scene of the crime.

Arrived at the gate of the cemetery, Hall was told to get out and "go the way you did in August."

"Never Was in Cemetery."

"I never was in this cemetery in my life before," was his reply; "I don't know how to go."

This was a stumbler for the authorities and indicated to them that if Hall is the murderer he is going to make a conviction difficult, despite his confession.

Hall was led to the grave of Anna Schumacher a father, from where the girl was enticed on the day of her death. He appeared equally unfamiliar with this territory.

"I wasn't here, either," Hall remarked, and then he added:

"I've got a contract to fill."

"With whom?" he was asked.

"The devil," came the reply.

"Why, how's that?" quizzed Legler, coaxing him on.

"You see," added Hall, "it's just like this. The devil promised to give me a job burning bodies after I die, if I told this story. I have told it. That lets me out of the contract.

"How did you come to make the contract with him?"

"Why from reading the Rochester newspapers I got the thing pretty well in my head. I knew all the facts. Then the devil got to me and he promised me the job and made a contract with me. I've done my part and now I can do as I please."

ALL SAINT'S AND ST. ANDREW'S WON CHURCH LEAGUE GAMES

All Saints' and St. Andrew's were the winners in the Church League games at the Auditorium ring last night. The Anglicans beat the George St. team by 2 goals to 1, while the champion St. Andrews team won from Knox church by 4 goals to 3. The games were played on soft ice and were hard fought if not brilliant battles. The strong defence of All Saints saved the game for them. George St. had the better of the battle on the forward line, but the rear guard of the Anglicans was too much for them, Staunton playing an especially good game. The All Saints' team scored the first two goals and George St. got the last a few minutes later. The teams were:

The second game was an even up affair. The score at half-time was two all and there was little to choose between the teams. The lineups were as follows:

St. Andrew's—Goal, Richardson; point, Clarke; cover, Thompson; rover, Currie; centre, Rae; right wing, Leitch; left wing, Sills.

Referee—Ames McWilliams.

LINDSAY'S STRONG TEAM FOR TO-NIGHT'S GAME

Ice is in Great Shape for the Battle and the Game Promises to be the Most Sensational of the Year—A Record Crowd Will See the Old Rivals Battle for Supremacy

A good sheet of ice is ready for the Lindsay-Peterborough intermediate O. H. A. game at Brock St. rink tonight and both teams will have the kind of going that they claim suits them best. The result should be a great game, crammed full of sensational plays and the crowd will have something to get on their toes and cheer for all the way. The game will start at 8.15 oclock.

The Lindsay team is bringing down a bunch of rooters on a special train and are confident of victory. Their team will be strengthened by the addition of Burgess, of Fenelon Falls, one of the best defence men playing the game, who will figure at coverpoint in place of Green, it is expected. Pacer McDougall, also of Fenelon Falls, may be another change, but this is not certain. A record crowd will see the opening of the Intermediate O. H. A. series. The game has been the chief topic of conversation during the week in Peterborough, and the fans are stirred up as only a hockey game between Lindsay and Peterborough can stir them. Everyone interested in hockey will be on hand and it will be a case of come early to avoid the rush, as no seats have been reserved. The teams will line up as follows:

Lindsay—
Goal—Gamble.
Point—Gray or Taylor.
Cover—Burgess.
Rover—Stoddard, capt.
Centre—McDougall.
Left wing—Cain or Blomfield.

Peterborough—
Goal—Derocher.
Point—Glover.
Cover—McDougall.
Rover—Ray, capt.
Centre—Campbell.

It will be remembered that two years ago when playing the Rennfes of Toronto in the finals for the tankard they were 18 shots down and only nine ends to play, but they curled that "never quit" game and won by four shots.

On the fifth end in yesterday's game Skips Flavelle and Little were three shots down. On the eighth end things were looking blue for Lindsay, for at this stage of the game they were eight shots down, and a few anxious moments were put in by the many spectators. On the ninth end matters took a change. Skip Little scored a four that looked as big as a house and from this on Skip Little scored every end, counting five twos, one three, and two ones, winning by fourteen shots. From the ninth to the sixteenth end Lindsay scored 21 shots, while Peterborough did not touch the chalk.

While Skip Little and his men were running up a large score Skip Flavelle changed the game on Skip Giroux by playing on the outside of the rings and scoring 11 shots in seven ends, defeating the Peterborough skip by seven shots. After the ninth end the Lindsay rinks simply outplayed their opponents and won on their merits, the final score being Lindsay 43, Peterborough 32.

The players on both Lindsay rinks played the best game of their lives, every man playing most perfect, while Skips Flavelle and Little could draw to a quarter of an inch, take out a stone, or guard perfectly. The two skips were ably assisted by their third players "Tim" Burke and "Larry" O'Connor, while second stones "Heck" Cuthbert and Mat Sisson were always on the job, playing their Peterborough friends. The leaders, Walter Reesor and Dick Butler, also played star games.

The Peterborough rinks curled well, especially Skips Giroux and Connal, who made several sensational shots that brought forth from the crowd rounds of applause.

Games In First Round For District Cup In No. 2 District

Hockey Demands Speed, Brains And Courage To Make Good

The hockey boys are up against better players this year than ever, and the game is bound to improve.

Hockey players are either born or made. We believe they are born; for to be a hockey player, (that is a hockey player, not a go-as-you-please man) one must have speed, brains and courage. Not two, or one of these qualities, but all, and plenty of each. That is what makes hockey one of the great games.

We have seen a score of Stanley Cup games, the best hockey played, a dozen championship football games, many big lacrosse matches, including several Minto Cup fixtures, and two or three seasons of Eastern League baseball, and half a dozen of the best baseball games. Hockey requires more brains, more courage, more speed than any other game, possibly baseball excepted.

We have seen marvellously speedy hockey boys chased off the ice by club officials, players that could fairly flash up the ice, and handle a stick like magic. They had no heart, and very little brains. All they could do was to skate fast and hold the puck. When it came down to hockey, they had no courage and no brains. Many courageous boys cannot play hockey. They lack speed. A hockey team is a machine; every man knows what every other man will do, afrom the nets out.

To see a high calibre team in action is a sight for the gods. Every man is in his place, brave enough to take punishment that would appal a coward, fast enough to send a crowd wild, and brainy enough to be in a position and take only his share of the game. The idea is for seven men to score, collectively. Occasionally the opportunity of lords for a one man dash. Then the man has to use speed enough to beat seven others, brains enough to "know when" and courage enough to take everything handed him by all who can reach him with a stick or body.

We have a very vivid picture of six years of watching the famous Ottawa and Montreal teams. Everyone in the rink knew what the goalkeeper would do if he stopped the puck and had a second's time to to clear. He always passed back to either the left or right corner, where the wing men were waiting, ready to start something. There were four men in front, circling and all ready for a tremendous rush. A dash, a few anxious seconds, and four men flew up the ice, the puck flashing from one to the other. As each man was checked, he usually went down hard—but the puck was safe. But why go on? And seven boys can do the game, with a solid basis of good health and sound training back of it. But there must be speed, brains and courage. Then the hockey machine is ready.—Port Hope Times.

HOW PETERBOROUGH LOST THE TANKARD COMPETITION

Both Peterborough Rinks Were Up in the Early Stages of the Game But Fell Behind Towards the Finish, While Crack Lindsay Rinks Finished Strong.

The Lindsay Warder says:

Joy reigned supreme in the hearts of every member of the Lindsay curling club last evening when Lindsay's two tankard rinks won the championship of District No. 2 by defeating their old rivals, Peterborough, in the final game by 21 shots. The crack Lindsay rinks are now in the finals of the Ontario tankard competition (the blue ribbon of the curling world in Ontario), and will go to Toronto early next month to battle for the mug they have annexed Lindsay on five previous occasions. Yesterday's game was looked forward to with much interest by the members of the club and citizens of the town, for the simple reason that Lindsay and Peterborough were to battle once more for the honours of playing in the finals. These two clubs have battled for supremacy for almost a quarter of a century, Lindsay being successful almost every year. Strange to say no matter how the draw was made Lindsay and Peterborough always appeared in the finals, each club easily defeating their opponents in the first and second rounds.

The Peterborough rinks took their defeat like true sports and congratulated the Lindsay players at the conclusion of the game, wishing them every success in the finals for the silver mug in Toronto. Too much praise cannot be given the Electric City players for the gentlemanly manner in which they played the game yesterday afternoon, every player on both sides being on the very best of terms during the entire game.

At the conclusion of the game three hearty cheers were given by the Peterborough players for the Lindsay club and the curling season of 1910 as far as Peterborough and Lindsay tankard rinks are concerned was brought to a close.

Peterborough presented two of their strongest rinks skipped by George Giroux and "Jimmie" Connal, two of the best skips playing the game. Their rinks were just as strong as any rinks the Lindsay club will meet in the finals in Toronto, and if Lindsay curlers play the same game they did yesterday afternoon a sixth tankard will surely come to the banner curling town in Ontario.

The game commenced promptly at 2.30 o'clock, with Skip Flavelle playing Giroux and Skip Little playing Connal. It was one of the most sensational games ever played in Lindsay, and for the first half of the game things looked blue for the Lindsay rinks.

Lindsay rinks are noted for being great finishers, which they proved yesterday. They at all times get a poor start, but never quit, and the farther they are down the better they seem to play. They have proved to be great finishers on several occasions, and have won many games when they appeared to be hopelessly beaten.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Items of Interest From the Village to the West.

Examiner Special.

Mount Pleasant, Jan. 27.—The former council of the Township of Cavan, was re-elected, Mr. Geo. Berry dropping out, Mr. Thorn taking his place as deputy-reeve. Mr. Thorn's place as councillor was filled by Mr. Wm. Shield, so that no election was held for 1910.

The Council in committee of the whole met at the bridge on the long swamp on the 21st inst., and let a job to Mr. J. Fee of removing the bridge and filling up the space occupied by the bridge. The drain is supposed to carry off all the surface water that ran under the bridge. We hope that all the roads made in future will be of a width to allow teams to pass each other while travelling on them. The road through the swamp on the 14th concession is not as wide as it should be to allow loaded teams to pass each other in safety. Passing places should be made on that swamp road for the convenience of the travelling public.

The village was visited with a severe storm on Saturday, the 22nd. Wonder if the tail of Halley's comet swept through this locality, or the unknown one seen at Winnipeg. Each one of our ministers reached their pulpits about half an hour late. The congregations were larger then expected.

Preparations are being made for building operations in the village next summer, the good times causing a surplus of cash in Ontario, along with the great increase in revenue, will make lively times in Canada.

APPLY WOOD ASHES TO THE SOIL

From Farm and Dairy.

Enormous quantities of wood ashes are exported annually from this country. The returns from the Department of Customs, Ottawa, show that recently in one year, 343,803 worth of ashes were exported from Ontario. In all probability they were bought from the original owners for not more than five cents a bushel.

These ashes would bring much greater profits if kept at home and applied to the soil. When properly applied as a fertilizer they are of great value for increasing both the quality and the quantity of the various crops of the farm and garden. Wood ashes are rich in potash, phosphoric acid and lime. Professor Gamble of the Ontario Agricultural College, estimates that wood ashes contain on an average seven per cent of potash, two per cent of phosphoric acid and ten per cent of lime. Were we to buy the two former elements at current market prices for artificial fertilizers, the investment would many times exceed the paltry sum received from the ash dealer. It is evident that we can ill afford to sell ashes off the farm.

But in addition to this loss through the export of ashes, tons and tons of this valuable fertilising material are allowed to go to waste through being exposed to rains. Some means of preserving wood ashes until they can be applied to the land should be a part of every farm. We need to appreciate more fully the dollars and cents value of this product. Thousands of acres of land in Ontario are deficient in potash and many of the crops of the farm, especially vegetables and fruits, are in particular need of this constituent. Let us then discourage the ash dealer in his business and preserve this fertilising material and apply it to our own soils that too often are in such dire need of it.

MINING SCRIP AND GREENHORNS

From Farm and Dairy.

"Here is a yarn, vouched for by a stock broker, concerning the sale of worthless mining scrip to greenhorns in the country districts," says the Toronto Saturday Night.

A man walked into the broker's office one day and asked for the manager. When that magnate appeared he was asked if he had any Cobalt stock.

"What stock?" asked the broker.

"Any of them that are cheap," replied the visitor; who went on to explain that what he desired was a lot of certificates, say one hundred thousand shares, averaging in value, say five cents per share, that he could take out into the country and sell over again to the "rubes."

The broker stated that he was just out of that class of securities and the stranger took his way.

THE DOMINION BANK.

Transferred from Profit and Loss Account	18,268.38
	$5,000,000.00

Your directors have pleasure in reporting that since the affairs of the Bank were last placed before you at the annual meeting of the shareholders in January, 1909, there has been a steady development in all departments of its business as is evidenced by the statement submitted.

During a considerable period of the year some difficulty was experienced in fully employing the Bank's funds at remunerative rates, but, as a result of improving trade conditions, and the harvesting of an excellent crop the demand for legitimate banking accommodation has increased, and there is every reason to expect a prosperous current year.

Following the policy of conservative extension, new Branches have been established in important Western centres, and at other points in Canada where it appeared advantageous to do so.

Offices were opened during the year as follows: At Victoria, B. C.; in Saskatchewan, at Guernsey, Hanley, Melville, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon; in Alberta, at Claresholm and High River; at the corner of Guy and St. Catharine streets, Montreal; in Ontario, at Malton, Rectory street, London; and in Toronto, at Deer Park, Wychwood, and near the corner of Lee avenue and Queen street.

The branch at Linwood, Ont., was closed in March last.

Desirable sites have been purchased in Calgary, Edmonton, Brandon and Moose Jaw, also at the corners of Queen street and Lee avenue, Bloor and Sherbourne streets, and Yonge st. and St. Clair ave Toronto, and at the corner of St. Lawrence Boulevard and Prince Arthur street, Montreal. It is the intention to erect suitable buildings on these properties at a reasonable outlay.

The new office buildings in Windsor and Fort William were completed and occupied in 1909.

The authorised capital stock of the bank at this time is $5,000,000, of which $4,000,000 has been issued and fully paid up. A bylaw will be submitted for your approval providing for a further increase of $5,000,000, which, together with the $1,000,000 already authorized, but not issued, will be offered to shareholders from time to time in such amounts as the expansion of business warrants.

You will also be asked to approve of a by-law changing the par value of shares from $50 to $100 each.

The directors, as is customary, have verified the Cash Assets, Securities and various investments entered on the accompanying statement.

In addition, the General Balance Sheet of the Bank as on the 31st December, 1909, detailed herein, has been checked, and found to be correct, including the auditing of all Foreign Accounts.

The report was adopted.

E. B. OSLER, President.

The thanks of the Shareholders were tendered to the President, Vice-President and Directors for their services during the year, and to the General Manager and other officers of the bank for the efficient performance of their respective duties.

By-laws were passed authorizing an increase in the capital stock of the bank of $5,000,000, and changing the par value of the shares from $50 to $100 each.

The following gentlemen were duly elected Directors for the ensuing year:—Messrs. A. W. Austin, W. R. Brock, James Carruthers, R. J. Christie, J. C. Eaton, J. J. Foy, K.C., M.P.P., W. D. Matthews, A. M. Nanton, E. B. Osler, M.P.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. E. B. Osler, M.P., was elected President, and Mr. W. D. Matthews Vice-President for the ensuing term.

FRASERVILLE ITEMS

Mr. W. Wood has returned to the west after spending a few weeks with his parents.

Mrs. Philips, of Port Hope, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cruikshank last week.

Miss Cora Scobell, of Peterborough, was the guest of her parents on Sunday.

The many friends of Mrs. R. Menzies, will be sorry to hear of her illness.

The Sunday school convention was held at Springville Tuesday afternoon and evening last.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Stewart were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Cruickshank on Sunday.

One of our citizens is again giving his time to an invention, the nature of which he keeps a secret. This time he is confident of success. We do not know whether it is the same as the machine he attempted to invent before or not, but at all events he is working on a larger scale. He has engaged W. A. Kidd, blacksmith, to make the iron parts and Mr. Kidd appears to think the attempt will prove successful, but he also declines to make public the name of the machine.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver are visiting friends at Mariposa.

BAR INSANITY AS MURDER DEFENSE

REFERS TO THAW TRIAL

Rochester, Jan. 27.—Recommendations for an amendment of the law relating to the criminally insane which will abolish insanity as a defense in a trial for murder in the first degree, and using the Thaw case as an example of the law's abuses, are before the State Bar Association today.

It is suggested that the law be so amended that a person confined in a private asylum may ask for a writ of habeas corpus at any time and without supporting affidavits, but that a person confined in any State hospital for the Insane or a State hospital for insane criminals, or a State hospital for insane convicts, may make an application for a writ of habeas corpus only upon a written verified petition accompanied by a certificate made under oath by two qualified medical examiners in lunacy.

These examiners must make affidavit that the person is sane and give their reasons and then the applications for a writ may be made to any court having jurisdiction. After that the case takes its usual course. The report continues in part:

REFERS TO THAW CASE

"To emphasize the need for this remedy reference should be made to a well known case which has been in the public eye for long, where a murderer, having escaped the consequences of his crime by the plea of insanity, is trying to escape the consequences of his plea by means of a continuous performance in habeas corpus.

"No stronger illustration of the abuses in our system of criminal jurisprudence can be had than by recalling the circumstances of this case. Sympathy for an unfortunate and misguided family ought not to deter us from the recital.

"A youthful debuchee, of great wealth, trained to believe that his money gave him a right of freedom from all restraints, whether imposed by law or the rules o fdecency; leading a debased and ignoble life, without a thought of the responsibilities which wealth imposes upon its owner, commits a foul and cowardly murder in a public resort. If he were sane, there could be no escape from the penalty of death. His only defence is insanity.

SPEAKS OF THE TRIAL

Rehearsing the trials for murder of the person alluded to in caustic stylo the report continues:

"No one will contend that the insane murderer should forfeit his life. The question we put is: Why should he be acquitted on the ground of his insanity, and then be allowed to go at large on the ground of his sanity? He has proven himself to be a dangerous man. Society must protect itself against the danger of a repetition of his homicidal tendencies.

"If these views be sound, they could be put into effect with but little change of the statute law. Replace Section 20 of the Penal Code by the following words: 'Insanity or other mental efficiency shall no longer be a defence against a charge of crime, nor shall it prevent a trial of the accused unless his mental condition is such as to satisfy the Court upon its own inquiry that he is unable, by reason thereof, to make proper preparation for his defence.'"

LABOUR REPORT FOR JANUARY

The following is the labour report for this city during January, as forwarded to the Labour Gazette by Mr. J. Arthur Sharp, the local correspondent:

Labour generally was well employed during the month, being more active than at the corresponding month last year. The mild weather during the first part of the month was favourable to the building trades, which were unusually active for the season. Indoor workers will have employment the greater part of the winter. Last month showed a falling off in permits for building over the same month last year. November 1908, saw building permits issued to the amount of $25,-525, while this year the amount was only $15,275. During the past year five new churches have been erected or were begun; a rough estimate of the cost of these buildings is $155,-000. The Wm. Hamilton Company has been awarded the contract for a new set of pumps for the City of Hull. The Colonial Weaving Company has received two car loads of new machinery and will add considerably to the capacity of its factory.

Condition of Local Industries.

Agriculture.—Farmers were busy with fall ploughing the first part of the month and later with shipping grain. They got very good prices for fowl. Turkeys sold for 30 cents per lb., and geese and chickens were correspondingly high.

Lumbering.—Fairly active conditions prevailed.

Manufacturing.—The factories were all running steadily with full staffs of employes.

Condition of Particular Trades.

The building trades had a fairly good month though no very large operations were going on.

Iron moulders had a fair month, Machinists, engineers, electrical workers and brass workers were busy.

Woodworkers, upholsterers, varnishers and polishers, carriage and wagon makers were active. Coopers were busy.

Printers and bookbinders were active and journeymen tailors were busy.

Bakers and confectioners had a very busy month.

Railroad employes were well employed as is usual at this time of the year.

Unskilled labour has been active until the latter part of the month.

Man's Misery Promptly Banished.

(From "Man's Maladies.")

A certain sort of misery which causes a man to become abject in manner, timid, suspicious and jealous without real warrant, can be readily banished by a systematic nerve treatment which can be followed out in the privacy of home and restoration of a normal or natural condition speedily ensues.

A man feels and knows when he is not getting out of life all that it holds, and this knowledge makes the misery which occurs with such symptoms as unsteady gait, weak voice, downcast eyes, cold extremities, loss of flesh, loss of self control, lack of self esteem, pains in the back and back part of the head, shooting pains, heart palpitation, nervousness, sleeplessness, hollow eyes, sunken cheeks, colourless lips, dizziness and trembling.

The requirement to overcome these dreadful symptoms is a restoration of power and strength to the nervous system, which has been poorly nourished or abused by thoughtless eating, drinking or social duties, perhaps superinduced by overwork. Keen, strong, sensitive nerves, which carry every sensation or emotion to the brain centres of consciousness, can and should be the possession of every living individual. Let this prescription be used and the results will surely reward the efforts. Obtain of any good druggist, three ounces of syrup sarsaparilla compound, in a six ounce bottle. Add one ounce of compound fluid balmwort, shake and let stand for two hours, then add one ounce of tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom) and one ounce of compound essence cardiol. Mix. Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring. The three last named ingredients are specially prepared and powerful concentrations, much used in various prescriptions, but contain no opiates to harm the system.

Sale of Home-made Cakes, Salads, and Sweets at King's Daughters' Tea Room, on Saturday, January 29th, from 9 a.m. to 6 p. m. Special orders may be left previously at the Tea Room. 22-24-26-28

SQUIRE BRECKENRIDGE IN HIS 81ST YEAR

Squire Brackenridge, of Westwood, is receiving the congratulations of his numerous friends throughout the district on having attained his 81st birthday on the 21st inst. The Squire, who has been postmaster at Westwood and clerk of the township of Asphodel for many years, besides filling numerous other appointments, is still quite hearty and able to discharge his numerous important duties with the same efficiency as in his younger days. We wish him many happy returns of the day.—Norwood Register.

Clocks!

The man or woman who is thinking of placing a Clock in the home or making a present to a friend could not do better than invest their dollars in one of our magnificent Clocks. They tell the time correctly, the finish is of high-class order and the prices the most reasonable.

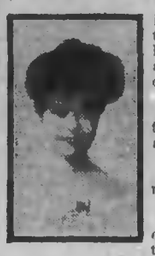
The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

No matter how much it may accomplish, any work which spoi worker for sane, happy converse with his fellow men, is evil.

The man who comes home at night nervously unfit to be friend his wife and children, no matter how many luxuries he may showe them, is not a good provider. For he is failing to provide them more important thing than luxuries:—a peaceful home atmosphere.

The woman who so wears herself out by her devotion to her hou cares that she cannot be pleasant and sweet and amiable, is actin selfish rather than an unselfish way.



The young man and woman who throw them into their work with self-exhausting fervour they deserve praise for their ambition, but if they home at night, as so many of them do, unable agreeable or profitable housemates, they certainly deserve praise at all.

Are you any one of these people?

If you are it may interest you to know in ad to the indictments I have already brought in the are taking something that does not belong to y

You are stealing energy for your work.

Doubtless you thought you were accomplishi much more than your neighbours by your own str

But you aren't.

You are doing it partly out of the forbearanc endurance of the members of your family who h tolerate you when you come back from your of nervous wreck.

You don't think so?

We'll say you have had a hard day and you go home in such vous condition that every sound disturbs you and if someone drops thing on the floor or stumbles over the rug, you feel personally affr

Before you have been in your house half an hour your whole fami gins to get into your state of mind.

It is inevitable. No disease is more contagious than nervousness. state charges the very atmosphere with nerves.

Now, when you remember such evenings—and there are few wrought business men but have them to remember—can you still that you supplied the energy for your day's work at the office all by self, or will you admit that it also cost your family something?

All work beyond what we can do pleasantly and healthily is evil.

Some of us are driven by necessity to work beyond our strength dispositions.

Then the evil is not our fault.

Then it is our own fault.

If you think I put too strongly all this, please listen to what R Louis Stevenson, the believer in the gospel of sweet temper, has to s the man who tries to do more than he can do pleasantly.

"Either he absents himself entirely from all fellowship and liv recluse in a garret, with carpet slippers and a leaden inkpot, or he among people swiftly and bitterly, in contraction of his whole ne system, to discharge some temper before he returns to work. I do care how much or how well he works. This is an evil feature in other ple's lives. They would be happier if he were dead."

Blouse Sale Saturday

THIS HAS BECOME AN ANNUAL EVENT WITH THIS STORE. IT HAS PREVIOUSLY been a most successful one and promises to outclass itself this year. The sale was inaugurated for the purpose of making an otherwise quiet month a record breaker. We succeeded and have adopted the plan of advertising each department exclusively for 5 days. This does not mean that the sale in each department is for 5 days only—it means that the sale is in every department every day from Saturday, Januauy 29th to Saturday, February 26th, both days included, and that each department gets the bulk of the publicity for five days that have been allotted to it. The first five days is for the Ready-to-wears and Saturday commences it with the biggest BLOUSE SALE OF THE YEAR. Don't miss it. It is for one day only. Read the following and see the windows. :: :: ::

LEW DOCKSTADER COMING WITH HIS FAMOUS COMPANY

The coming of Lew Dockstader and his minstrels for the first time in Peterborough, promises a treat in the field over which he reigns supreme. The minstrel man has an absolutely new programme this season in its entirety with nothing retained from last year's production which will be the offering at the Grand next Thursday, Feb. 3.

The first part takes place in front of the Possum Aero Club and is a new departure from the customary circle of end men and singers. Mr. Dockstader introduces an aeroplane which is said to be practical and actually flies out over the heads of the audience. He follows this with a comical lecture "How Dr. Cook Discovered the North Pole." Mr. Dockstader also points with special pride to the singing contingent which includes such vocalists as George McKenna, W. H. Thompson, Master Naulty, W. H. Hallett and something over twenty other trained voices.

The music is especially written for this year's programme and is to be heard in no other production in the world, as every number is absolutely owned and coprighted by Dockstader's Minstrels. Neil O'Brien, the popular impersonator of negro character, will present his new act entitled "Fighting the Flames," while Eddie Mazier has an abundance of comedy, songs and stories. The scene of Mr. O'Brien's act is laid in the mythical town of Ungandi, Africa, and is said to offer the comedian the best opportunities for the exploitation of his unique style of negro comedy.

One of the spectacular numbers is called "The Sahara Belle," in which the full strength of the dancing and of the minstrels is utilized. The offering concludes with a big spectacular number entitled, "The Human Flag," in which some fifty members of the company take part.

As is usual with Dockstader, his production is lavish; in fact, this season he is said to have the most brilliant equipment ever carried with an organization of this character. The company numbers in the neighbourhood of 100 people and is playing exclusively in the independent or Shubert theatres throughout the country.

Has The Cost Of Living Been Increased In Recent Years?

INVOICE OF 45 YEARS AGO

At the present time one hears on all sides something about the increased cost of living in Canada during the past five, ten, twenty and forty years. While this is admittedly true with some articles, particularly farm products, yet too many get the opinion that it is practically true with everything that is purchased in the grocery store.

From the grocer themselves one hears continuously about the wrongs, disadvantages and hardships constantly besetting the trade, and more especially about small profits. There is scarcely one in the country business who is not prepared to point out that the grocery trade is not what it used to be, and that the chances for making money are less favorable.

There are some Canadian grocers who have been in business for half a century or more and from one of these The Grocer was able to secure an old invoice dated January 4th, 1865—forty-five years ago. The invoice represents the purchase of a bill of goods from a wholesale grocer on that date, and there is also given opposite the wholesale price to the retailer to-day of the same goods:

Olive oil, pint, per doz.	$4 80	$4 25
4 lb. jar mustard, 2lc per lb.	84	75

Syrup, per gal.	52	30
Butter per lb.	17	26
Cheese, per lb.	8	13
Cheese, No. 2 per lb.	6	12½

Total, 1865, $44.43½; 1910, $35.42 5-10.

WHY CHANGES OCCUR

The above figures show that in the matter of imported goods which grocers handle, prices have seldom increased. In many cases they are the same and in a number they have declined.

The totals are interesting as the bill of goods is a representative one. In 1865 it was bought for a little more than $44. To-day the same bill could be purchased for $25.

In analysing the invoice more closely it will be seen that probably the greatest decrease affecting the trade has been sugar. This has, no doubt, benefitted the consumer more so than the dealer, as sugar now-a-days is one of the articles upon which little profit is made and yet it is one of the chief articles sold in a grocery store. The decrease in price is due in a great measure to the greater production. Salt shows a greater percentage of decrease because during the past few years salt has been produced in Canada in very large quantities where formerly it had to be imported.

Tea has also declined since then for the reason that in those days the world's market was supplied principally from China and Japan and had scarcely heard of India, Ceylon and other countries which produce so much now.

The cause of the increase in the price of eggs, ham, butter and cheese is well known. The increase in consumption of these farm products in Canada has been wonderful and Canada has such a splendid market for them in the Old Country that they were bound to advance. In short the great demand and the comparative shortage of supplies explains this situation. Of course these last mentioned articles figure more conspicuously on the table of the consumer than most of the others.—Canadian Grocer.

Inspector Calls Attention To Obstacles To School Progress

His Report to the County Council Covers Ground Minutely—The Changing of Teachers and Irregular Attendance Keeps Grade of School Down.

ANNUAL GRANTS IN 1909

A deputation composed of Mr. M. Perdue and Mr. Killen, of Ennismore and Mr. Sherman, of Verulam, waited on the County Council Wednesday afternoon in regard to the loss of a horse suffered by Mr. Sherman when it dropped through the Pigeon Lake bridge on the night of December 7th. The bridge was damaged in a storm and the horse was driven into the opening. The horse was valued at $175. Mr. Killen and Mr. Perdue presented the facts as they knew them. The question was referred to the joint committee to be taken up with Victoria County and the Council of this city.

Inspector's Report.

To the Warden and Council of the County of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—I beg respectfully to submit my report on the work of the schools for the past year.

During 1909, there were in operation 100 rural schools in five of which assistant teachers were employed. There was also one Continuation school with two teachers, making a total of 107 teachers in the rural schools. There were three public schools and two continuation schools in villages with a total of 21 teachers. Of the 122 teachers employed in public schools, last term, 51 held second Class, 35 third class, 10 district, and 26 temporary certificates, distributed as follows:

Conditions are not as favourable now as during last term, changes at the beginning of the year having resulted in an increase in the number of low grade certificates.

As formerly, the two most serious obstacles to progress, are frequent changes of teachers and irregularity of attendance on the part of pupils. For this irregularity, there are various causes, but by far the most serious, is indifference on the part of parents. Children are allowed to be out of school for the most trivial reasons, and often for no reason at all. There is everywhere, great need for a rigid application of the Truancy Act, which is at present, practically a dead letter so far at least as the rural schools are concerned. The act gives to every township Council the power to appoint one or more truant officers for the municipality, and in case this is not done by the Council before February 1st, boards of trustees may appoint their own officers. The powers and duties of these officials are fully defined. It is earnestly to be desired that every Township Council in the county, will exercise this privilege and appoint as truant officers, men who can be trusted to perform efficiently and fearlessly the duties of their office.

Changing of Teachers.

The frequent changing of teachers is also a serious evil. It is to be hoped that when the new system of granting certificates is fully established, and there is a larger proportion of permanent certificates, this will, to some extent, disappear. The most important measure of advance, however, will have to come from the sections in the form of a determination to recognize merit and efficiency by a willingness to pay better salaries. As things are now arranged, the difference between the cost of securing an experienced, qualified teacher and one of the cheaper class without qualification, is very largely borne by the grants, so that the difference to the section is comparatively small. It is to be hoped that trustees and ratepayers will soon wake up to a realization of this fact.

Annual Grants.

The grants for the year have been liberal. The total amount exceeds slightly that received in 1908. As the grants now depend largely on the salaries and qualifications of the teachers, an increase in the amount received, may reasonably be taken as an indication of improved conditions The grants for 1909 were as follows:

Fixed grant of $30 each to 41 schools in the poor townships	$1230.00
Grant on account of salaries	5658.40
Grant on account of certificates	700.00
Grant for accommodation and equipment	1161'00
Special grant to assisted schools	1210.00
Special grant for libraries	135.68
Grant to continuation schools	762.09
Grant to fifth classes	99.71
Grants to village schools	836.00
Total	$11793.08

The county pays the equivalent of the grants to Continuation schools, fifth classes and that for accommodation and equipment, amounting to $2022.80, so that the total grants for the year amounted to $13,816.88.

During the year, two new buildings were erected, one in the new section, No. 14, Douro, and the other in No. 5 Chandos. The former is of cement blocks and the latter frame. They are both good buildings, modern in design and will meet the requirements of the sections for many years to come. A special grant of $150 was made by the Minister from the assisted schools fund to assist the trustees of No. 5 Chandos. A number of other sections are contemplating building and some may do so this year.

The three Continuation schools of the county have all increased to the standing of two teacher schools. The attendance at these schools now totals about 130, showing that they are being appreciated by the people for whose benefit they are maintained. They are all doing excellent work and are worthy of the confidence of the communities in which they are located. The greatest difficulty encountered has been that of securing suitable qualified teachers.

I have the honour to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
RICHARD LEES.
Public School Inspector.

LEW DOCKSTADER PLEASES CAPACITY HOUSE IN MONTREAL

The Press of That City Speaks Very Appreciatively and Enthusiastically of Lew's Opening Performance at the Princess Theatre---An All-Star Company---What The Star Says:

Lew Dockstader and his minstrels entertained a capacity house at the Princess last night and when the curtain fell everybody appeared to have had a good time, and the audience, wreathed with lengthy smiles, filed through the long lobby.

It was ages ago since the last minstrel show visited our fair city, hence seeing this well-known entertainer and his fellow performers was like delving into the past and greeting old friends. It was a bright, snappy form of entertainment that Mr. Dockstader provided for his audience, and the people in the theatre appreciated this consideration by laughing heartily and often.

The minstrels are decked in new fashions, and, as befits modern times, the aeroplane furnishes material for fun and interest. Mr. Dockstader appears in his biplane and soars above the audience, singing blithely as he sails through the auditorium. It is a clever piece of mechanism and has a place in the first rank of theatrical novelties. Mr. Dockstader has a topical song dealing with civic affairs in Montreal, and a number of gags touching upon matters municipal, all of which made a quick hit with the big audience.

Assisting Mr. Dockstader are two clever entertainers in the persons of Eddie Mazier and Neil O'Brien. The former is a dancer of skill and grace, while the latter is a humourist and singer of high standard.

There are good singers and dancers with the troupe, some Arabian acrobats and other entertaining features. Master Naulty is a boy soprano of good voice. Hamilton Hill, George McKenna and W. H. Thompson were pleasing in vocal numbers.

The performance is amusing and eminently suitable for persons who are seeking means of spending a couple of laughable hours.

who, with his famous company of nearly 100, including an orchestra of 16 skilled musicians, comes to "The Grand" next Thursday, Feb. 3. Seat Sale opens Tuesday morning.

Royal Templars' Society To Have Support Of Prominent Men

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—The recent campaign for bar-room abolition in this city, while not resulting in all that was hoped for by the temperance people, has disclosed to them nevertheless, some encouraging facts that should be kept clearly in mind, as they very greatly improve the fighting ground for succeeding struggles. One thing made clear is, the existence in Peterborough of a preponderating sentiment in favour of the total suppression of the drink traffic, a sentiment, which, if properly encouraged, will unquestionably crystallize sufficiently in the near future, to put an end wholly to the traffic.

The freely expressed thought of our most discerning citizens is "the bar is bound to go." Even opponents of the reform in many instances, reluctantly admit that this is inevitable. No set of men are more fully alive to the situation than our worthy City Councillors, as may be readily seen by reading just a little between the lines of their discussion, and many think they could have, in justice to the majority, gone farther than they have in the way of license reduction. Still, there is little use in complaining, since the view-points of men are bound to differ, rather let their action be commended, as being in the right direction, and let the best possible encouragement be given to further action upon the same lines.

Now, sir, my object in writing this letter is to urge what appears to me to be the study of the hour, namely, to stimulate the sentiment, conviction (more properly called, awakened and roused, so that wherever the need and opportunity arise, it may easily and quickly crystallize itself in definite action. I feel sure that every interested person will admit the importance of this, and, to my certain knowledge, many leading citizens are anxiously expressing the hope that the most effective means possible may be employed to this end.

The question is, how may it best be done?

Let it be assumed that there is no other thought concerning the City Temperance League, than that it will continue to exist and do its well-begun work. But apart from its executive body, there does not appear much probability of the League existing as a continuously effective organization, unless there be an actually enrolled membership, definitely pledged to a purpose, and held together by meetings of some character more or less regularly held.

The W. C. T. U. is a valuable adjunct to the organized temperance work of any place, and the noble women of the Union, encouraged by recent events, should vigorously campaign among their sisters, with a view to adding still greater strength and effectiveness to their organization.

The T. A. S. will continue to flourish and Protestant people will surely wish that it may, as a Temperance society, grow both in stature and character, and, sir, I think I foresee the time when the T. A. S. will so alter its face toward the question of a licensed liquor traffic in the city that in the next Local Option campaign it will present an unbroken front in favour of the measure.

There is another Temperance organization in Peterborough to which the eyes of many are beginning to turn, as one possessed of certain inherent qualities that might make it a much greater force than it has been hitherto. I refer to the Royal Templars. A society which, in many places of lesser size than this, enrolls men and women by hundreds, upon a basis at once tangible and commendable, and which has, in not a few villages and towns, proven itself the greatest factor in successful Local Option contests.

The popular thought of the R. T. of T. has not done it justice. It has been thought of as either one of the many fraternal insurance societies, bidding for its share of this particular class of business in the community, or as a Society characterized, as many others are, by a plethora of ritual and paraphernalia, when it is neither the one or the other, necessarily. It is just a sensible temperance organization, with a creed which demands in the "interests of humanity and righteousness, the home and the nation, the destruction of the traffic in strong drink."

It has insurance for such as may wish it. It has a ritual also; but so exceedingly simple and elastic that any tedium, which might be experienced therefrom, can be reduced to a minimum.

Prominent business men have, since January 3rd, made enquiries of the undersigned and other members of the local "Council" concerning the possibilities of their organization as a basis on which the temperance people might be gathered, and some have expressed their intention of enrolling among the membership and urge that a general movement of this sort be encouraged at once.

I understand that, speaking at the T. A. S. anniversary the other day a leading Protestant of the city expressed the hope that he might some day have an opportunity of addressing a great Protestant teperance organization in Peterborough of at least equal strength to that society. Now, I am asking, Mr. Editor, through your valued paper, why may this not be speedily realized? And am suggesting that unless the City League be put into a somewhat more tangible form, the existing Royal Templar organization be taken hold of as one in every way suitable to the object had in view.

In doing this, I do not suggest that the City League shall be supplanted, for it is the best and most representative body to lead the attack, in any civic campaign, such as we have recently had. Let the League exist by all means, and let all other organizations rally upon its common platform when the fighting time comes.

What is here written is not with a view to booming a pet society, but rather to indicate a method of realizing what many citizens feel would be a most desirable condition in the history of temperance work in Peterborough.

Apologizing for the space I have taken and thanking you, sir, I am

Yours very sincerely,
CHARLES H. COON,
S. C. of R. T. of T.

FROM AWAY OUT ON THE PRAIRIES

Comes Proof of Another Wonderful Cur By Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Skipton, Duck Lake, Sask., Jan. 28. —(Special).—After thirteen years suffering from Kidney Disease brought on by an accident, Mark Southern, of Heslaker Farm near here, is a well man, and he is not slow to state that he owes his cure to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"It began with pains in my back," Mr. Southern says, "and across my loins, and of late years I became very weak, and for days I had to keep to my bed. I had all kinds of advice and tried a great many medicines, but all to no purpose.

"Reading an advertisement induced me to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial, and I wrote for six boxes. After taking the first box I began to feel relief, and after using five boxes I felt quite well again. I am now able to get about my work and feel no effects whatever from the old complaint."

SIR NIGEL

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

Copyright 1906, 1909, by A. Conan Doyle.

Five men more had joined his comrades in the front, who had now risen to their feet. Behind them a half-mile of archers stood behind the hedge, each with his great war-bow strung, half a dozen shafts loose behind him, and eighteen more in the quiver slung across his front. With arrow on string, their feet firm-planted, their fierce eager faces peering through the branches, they awaited the coming storm.

The broad flood of steel, after oozing slowly forward, had stopped about a mile from the English front. The greater part of the army had then descended from their horses, while a crowd of varlets and hostlers led them to the rear. The French formed themselves now into three great divisions, which shimmered in the sun like silvery pools, reed-capped with many a thousand of banners and pennons. A space of several hundred yards divided each. At the same time two bodies of horsemen formed themselves in front. The first consisted of three hundred men in one thick column, the second of a thousand, riding in a more extended line.

The Prince had ridden up to the line of archers. He was in dark armor, his visor open, and his handsome equiline face all glowing with spirit and martial fire. The bowmen yelled at him, and he waved his hands to them as a huntsman cheers his hounds.

"Well, John, what think you now?" he asked. "What would my noble father not give to be by our side this day? Have you seen that they have left their horses?"

"Yea, my fair lord, they have learned their lesson," said Chandos. "Because we have had good fortune upon our feet at Crecy and elsewhere they think that they have found the trick of it. But it is in my mind that it is very different to stand when you are assailed, as we have done, and to assail others when you must drag your harness for a mile and come weary to the fray."

"You speak wisely, John. But these horsemen who form in front and ride slowly towards us, what make you of them?"

"Doubtless they hope to cut the strings of our bowmen and so clear a way for the others. But they are indeed a chosen band, for mark you, fair sir, are not those the colors of Clermont upon the left, and of d'Andreghen upon the right, so that both marshals ride with the vanguard?"

"By God's soul, John!" cried the Prince, "it is very sure that you can see more with one eye than any man in this army with two. But it is even as you say. And this larger band behind?"

The two bodies of horsemen had moved slowly over the plain, with a space of nearly a quarter of a mile between them. Now, having come two bowshots from the hostile line, they halted. All that they could see of the English was the long hedge, with an occasional twinkle of steel through its leafy branches, and behind that the spear-heads of the men-at-arms rising from amidst the brushwood and the vines. A lovely autumn countryside with changing many tinted foliage lay stretched before them, all bathed in peaceful sunshine, and nothing save those flickering fitful gleams to tell of the silent and lurking enemy who barred their way. But the bold spirit of the French cavaliers rose the higher to the danger. The clamor of their war-cries filled the air, and they tossed their pennoned spears over their heads in menace and defiance. From the English line it was a noble sight, the gallant, pawing, curveting horses, the many-colored twinkling riders, the swoop and wave and toss of plume and banner.

Then a bugle rang forth. With a sudden yell every spur struck deep, every lance was laid in rest, and the whole gallant squadron flew like a glittering thunderbolt for the centre of the English line.

A hundred yards they had crossed, and yet another hundred, but there was no movement in front of them, and no sound save their own hoarse battle-cries and the thunder of their horses. Ever swifter and swifter they flew. From behind the hedge it was a vision of horses, white, bay and black, their necks stretched, their nostrils distended, their bellies to the ground, whilst of the rider one could but see a shield with a plume-tufted visor above it, and a spear-head twinkling in front.

Then of a sudden the Prince raised his hand and gave a cry. Chandos echoed it, it swelled down the line, and with one mighty chorus of twanging strings and hissing shafts the long-pent storm broke at last.

Alas for the noble steeds! Alas for the gallant men! When the lust of battle is over who would not grieve to see that noble squadron break into red ruin before the rain of arrows beating upon the faces and breasts of the horses? The front rank crashed down, and the others piled themselves upon the top of them, unable to check their speed, or to swerve aside from the terrible wall of their shattered comrades which had so suddenly sprung up before them. Fifteen feet high was that blood-spurting mound of screaming, kicking horses and writhing, struggling men. Here and there on the flanks a horseman cleared himself and dashed for the hedge, only to have his steed slain under him and to be hurled from his saddle. Of all the three hundred gallant riders, not one ever reached that fatal hedge.

But now in a long rolling wave of steel the German battalion roared swiftly onward. They opened in the centre to pass that terrible mound of death, and then spurred swiftly in upon the archers. They were brave men, well-led, and in their open lines they could avoid the clubbing together which had been the ruin of the vanguard; yet they perished singly even as the others had perished together. A few were slain by the arrows. The greater number had their horses killed under them, and were so shaken and shattered by the fall that they could not raise their limbs, overweighted with iron, from the spot where they lay.

Three men riding together broke through the bushes which sheltered the leaders of the archers, cut down Widdington the Dalesman, spurred onward through the hedge, dashed over the bowmen behind it, and made for the Prince. One fell with an arrow through his head, a second was beaten from his saddle by Chandos, and the third was slain by the Prince's own hand. A second band broke through near the river, but were cut off by Lord Audley and his squires, so that all were slain. A single horseman whose steed was mad with pain, an arrow in its eye and a second in its nostril, sprang over the hedge and clattered through the whole army, disappearing amid whoops and laughter into the woods behind. But none others won as far as the hedge. The whole front of the position was fringed with a litter of German wounded or dead, while one great heap in the centre marked the downfall of the gallant French three hundred.

Whilst these two waves of the attack had broken in front of the English position, leaving this blood-stained wreckage behind them, the main divisions had halted and made their last preparations for their own assault. They had not yet begun their advance, and the nearest was still half a mile distant, when the few survivors from the forlorn hope, their maddened horses bristling with arrows, flew past them on either flank.

At the same moment the English archers and men-at-arms dashed through the hedge, and dragged all who were living out of that tangled heap of shattered horses and men. It was a mad wild rush, for in a few minutes the fight must be renewed, and yet there was a rich harvest of wealth for the lucky man who could pick a wealthy prisoner from amid the crowd. The nobler spirits disdained to think of ransoms whilst the fight was still unsettled; but a swarm of needy soldiers, Gascons and English, dragged the wounded out by the leg or the arm, and with daggers at their throats demanded their names, title and means. He who had made a good prize hurried him to the rear where his own servants could guard him, while he who was disappointed too often drove the dagger home and then rushed once more into the tangle in the hope of better luck. Clermont, with an arrow through the sky-blue Virgin on his sarcoat, lay dead within ten paces of the hedge; d'Andreghen was dragged by a penniless squire from under a horse and became his prisoner. The Earls of Salzburg and of Nassau were both found helpless on the ground and taken to the rear. Aylward cast his thick arms round Count Otto von Langenbeck, and laid him, helpless from a broken leg, behind his bush. Black Simon had made prize of Bernard, Count of Ventadour, and hurried him through the hedge. Everywhere there was rushing and shouting, brawling and buffeting, while amidst it all a swarm of archers were seeking their shafts, plucking them from the dead, and sometimes even from the wounded. Then there was a sudden cry of warning. In a moment every man was back in his place once more, and the line of the hedge was clear.

It was high time; for already the first division of the French was close upon them. If the charge of the horsemen had been terrible from its rush and its fire, this steady advance of a huge phalanx of armored footmen was even more fearsome to the spectator. They moved very slowly, on account of the weight of their armor, but their progress was the more regular and inexorable. With elbows touching—their shields slung in front, their short five-foot spears carried in their right hands, and their maces or swords ready at their belts, the deep column of men-at-arms moved onward. Again the storm of arrows beat upon them clinking and thudding on the armor. They crouched double behind their shields as they met in many fell, but still the slow tide lapped onward. Yelling, they surged up to the hedge, and lined it for half a mile, struggling hard to pierce it.

For five minutes the long straining ranks faced each other with fierce stab of spear on one side and heavy beat of axe or mace upon the other. In many parts the hedge was pierced or leveled to the ground, and the French men-at-arms were raging amongst the archers, hacking and hewing among the lightly armed men. For a moment it seemed as if the battle was on the turn.

But John de Vere, Earl of Oxford, cool, wise and crafty in war, saw and seized his chance. On the right flank a marshy meadow skirted the river. So soft was it that a heavily-armed man would sink to his knees. At his order a spray of light bowmen was thrown out from the battle-line and forming upon the flank of the French poured their arrows into them. At the same moment Chandos, with Audley, Nigel, Bartholomew Burghersh, the Captal de Buch, and a score of other knights sprang upon their horses, and charging down the narrow lane rode over the French line in front of them. Once through it they spurred to left and right, trampling down the dismounted men-at-arms.

A fearsome sight was Pommers that day, his red eyes rolling, his nostrils gaping, his tawny mane tossing, and his savage teeth gnashing in fury, as he tore and smashed and ground beneath his ramping hoofs all that came before him. Fearsome too was the rider, ice-cool, alert, concentrated of purpose, with heart of fire and muscles of steel. A very angel of battle he seemed as he drove his maddened horse through the thickest of the press, but strive as he would the tall figure of his master upon his coal-black steed was ever half a length before him.

Already the moment of danger was passed. The French line had given back. Those who had pierced the hedge had fallen like brave men amid the ranks of their foemen. The division of Warwick had hurried up from the vineyards to fill the gaps of Salisbury's battle-line. Back rolled the shining tide, slowly at first, even as it had advanced, but quicker now as the bolder fell and the weaker shredded out and shuffled with ungainly speed for a place of safety. Again there was a rush from behind the hedge. Again there was a reaping of that strange crop of bearded arrows which grew so thick upon the ground, and again the wounded prisoners were seized and dragged in brutal haste to the rear. Then the line was restored, and the English, weary, panting and shaken, awaited the next attack.

But a great good fortune had come to them—so great that as they looked down the valley they could scare credit their own senses. Behind the division of the Dauphin, which had pressed them so hard, stood a second division hardly less numerous, led by the Duke of Orleans. The fugitives from in front, blood-smeared and bedraggled, blinded with sweat and with fear, rushed amidst its ranks in their flight, and in a moment, without a blow being struck, had carried them off in their wild rout. This vast array, so solid and so martial, thawed suddenly away like a snow-wreath in the sun. It was gone, and in its place thousands of shining dots scattered over the whole plain as each man made his own way to the spot where he could find his horse and bear himself from the field. For a moment it seemed that the battle was won, and a thundershout of joy pealed up from the English line.

But as the curtain of the Duke's division was drawn away it was only to disclose stretching far behind it, and spanning the valley from side to side, the magnificent array of the French King, solid, unshaken, and preparing its ranks for the attack. Its numbers were as great as those of the English army; it was unscathed by all that was past, and it had a valiant monarch to lead it to the charge. With the slow deliberation of the man who means to do or to die, its leader marshaled its ranks for the supreme effort of the day.

Meanwhile during that brief moment of exultation when the battle appeared to be won, a crowd of hot-headed young knights and squires swarmed and clamored round the Prince, beseeching that he would allow them to ride forth.

"See this insolent fellow who bears three martlets upon a field gules!" cried Sir Maurice Berkeley. "He stands betwixt the two armies as though he had no dread of us."

"I pray you, sir, that I may ride out to him, since he seems ready to attempt some small deed," pleaded Nigel.

"Nay, fair sirs, it is an evil thing that we should break our line, seeing that we still have much to do," said the Prince. "See! he rides away, and so the matter is settled."

"Nay, fair prince," said the young knight who had spoken first. "My gray horse, Lebryte, could run him down ere he could reach shelter. Never since I left Severn side have I seen steed so fleet as mine. Shall I not show you?" In an instant he had spurred the charger and was speeding across the plain.

Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the result. There is hardly a community in this country where women cannot be found who have been restored to health by this famous old remedy, made exclusively from a simple formula of roots and herbs.

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in all that time have we published a testimonial without the writer's special permission. Never have we knowingly published a testimonial that was not truthful and genuine. Here is one just received a few days ago. If anyone doubts that this is a true and honest statement of a woman's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound write and ask her.

Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life."—Mrs. Letitia Blair, Canifton, Ontario.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Blair.

An Insurance Problem

It is hard to make $1.00 do the work of $5.00, yet that is just what the majority of women have to do when death removes the husband.

Suppose you are earning $2,000 per year now, but You think you cannot afford to pay for Life Insurance. You find it difficult even now to make ends meet. Should you die to-morrow, what then? Even you have, say $4,000 of Life Insurance, it would only yield $200 per year at 5%. What is that to a family used to living on a $2,000 plan? Yet that is just what they must do. Have you done your duty in that respect? Remember Life Insurance must be obtained when it does not appear necessary.

Then come and let us show you what the Sun Life Insurance Co'y, of Canada, can do for you.

We also represent first-class Fire, Accident, Guarantee, Plate Glass and Live Stock Insurance Companies.

Proving by Actual Experiment

This experiment will always interest the children, and will provoke a good deal of thinking. The explanation, of course, is, that the lighted piece of paper which is inserted into the inverted glass drives out most of the air, so that when the mouth of the glass is quickly put down into the water there is very little air, and, consequently, very little pressure above the water within the glass. Hence, the weight or pressure of the air on the water outside the glass drives the water up into the glass to occupy the space from whence the air was driven by the burning paper.

A practical demonstration of this kind is always more convincing than any ...e statement. This is particularly true of medical remedies.

All authorities agree that in every case of women's disorders there exists a ...gested condition of the womanly organs. The circulation in these parts is slug... or stagnant, and the result is that the broken-down tissue or waste matter ...ch should be carried off if the blood was circulating freely, remains in these ...ns, causing inflammation, irritation, oppression of the nerves, etc. ORANGE ...Y is not taken internally, but is applied direct to the suffering organs. It is ...orbed into the circulation, and its antiseptic properties at once act on the waste ...ter referred to above. The consequence is that this waste matter, which is ...sing the inflammation, ulcers, nervous troubles, etc., begins to be discharged. ...it continues to be discharged until all the foreign matter is removed from the ...ulation. At the same time the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strength... ...d the nervous trouble disappears, the circulation is restored and good health ...ows.

PLENTY OF ROOM.

No Trouble to Find a Place For Him to Rest in Sleep.

His blanket the soldier takes along on the march, but usually not his tent. Usage soon makes the ground as soft a bed as he wants. The case is pretty nearly the same with the prospector and the frontiersman. In writing of the "Highways and Byways of the Pacific Coast" Mr. Clifton Johnson tells of the practice on the ranches of the west. He was the guest of an early settler.

While we were chatting a laborer passed, shouldering a roll of blankets. The butcher had come to the door, and he pointed to the passer and said: "You see that fellow, don't you? Well, when I first reached here from the east I thought a man with a bed on his back was the funniest thing I'd ever come across.

"A rancher in this country won't take his hired man into his house. They've got to furnish their own blankets and usually sleep on the hay in the barn.

"I know a fellow who, when he'd just arrived and didn't understand the way they manage, got a job harvesting on a big wheat ranch. The help usually sleep in the straw stacks then, and it's precious little time they get to sleep anywhere. But he didn't know anything about that, and he was sitting around in the evening and finally said to the rancher, 'Where am I to sleep tonight?'

"'Why, I don't care where you sleep,' said the rancher. 'I've got 960 acres of land around here, and if you can't find a place to sleep on that I'll get my next neighbor to lend me a piece of his.'"

TOWER OF BABEL.

Traditions as to the Height of the Famous Structure.

The actual height at which the last stone of that famous structure, the tower of Babel, rested cannot, on account of the remoteness of the times at which it is said to have existed, ever become more than a matter of merest conjecture. Herodotus, who lived about 1,700 years after that "great spiral way to heaven" is said to have been attempted, says that he saw at Babylon a structure consisting of eight towers raised one above another, each seventy-five feet in height, but whether this ruin was the remains of the tower of Babel it was even then impossible to ascertain. Herodotus, usually minutely exact in his writing, leaves us in ignorance as to how the upper level of each of these seventy-five foot towers was reached from the level below.

As might be expected, even in tradition, a wide difference of opinion exists as to the height of the tower. Most orientalists maintain that God did not put a stop to the work until the tower had reached a height of 10,000 fathoms, or about twelve miles. In Ceylonese tradition it is said to have been as high as 20,000 elephants, each standing one above the other. St. Jerome asserts on the authority of persons who had examined the ruins that it did not reach a height exceeding four miles. Other statements are still more extravagant.—London Saturday Review.

Preventing Sepsis.

The extraordinary precautions taken to prevent the infection of wounds at surgical operations were described by a doctor from St. Bartholomew's Hospital, at an inquest in London. He said that under the Lister system—invented by the celebrated surgeon of that name—the doctor, before going into the operating theatre, was enveloped in a white gown which had been sterilized, and he wore over his head a cap which had been similarly treated. The instruments were boiled, which killed all microbes, and then placed in an antiseptic solution, which kept other microbes away. All the sponges and dressings were sterilized. If the doctor had a cold he placed a bandage over his mouth to prevent infecting the wounds by that means.

How Living Showers Are Caused?

In both Briton and other lands there have been authentically recorded showers of frogs. In a contemporary description of one which occurred in Lincolnshire in the early part of the last century, it was said that the small frogs came down all alive, tumbling down the spouts from the tiles of the houses, and jumping about on the pavements and in the roads. There have been showers of fishes, wheat, sulphur, and other curious animals and things, all supposed to be the result of whirlwinds catching them up into the air, and, after carrying them longer or shorter distances, dropping them on the earth's surface.

Wives and Mothers Suffer With Backache

Constantly on their feet, attending to the wants of a large and exacting family, women often break down with nervous exhaustion.

In the stores, factories, and on a farm are weak, ailing women, dragged down with torturing backache and bearing down pains.

The dizziness, insomnia, deranged menses, and other symptoms of kidney complaint can't cure themselves, they require the assistance of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which go direct to the seat of the trouble.

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS CURE ALL WOMAN'S ILLS

To give vitality and power to the kidneys, to lend aid to the bladder and liver, to free the blood of poisons, probably there is no remedy so successful as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. For all womanly irregularities their merit is well known. Recommended for girls and women of all ages. 25 cents per box at all dealers. TWO UGLY ANIMALS.

Those Big Pigs, the Rhinoceros and the Hippopotamus.

THEY ARE HARD TO CAPTURE.

Getting Away With One of the Colossal Brutes Makes the Work of Trapping the Big Felines Seem Like Child's Play—Methods of the Hunters.

Trapping the big felines is child's play compared with the work of capturing those lumbering, colossal animals of the "big pig" family, the rhinoceros and the hippopotamus.

Too stupid to tame or to break to a halter and too heavy to transport through hundreds of miles of wilderness, it would take a man half a lifetime to bring one of these five to six thousand pound creatures out of a jungle into civilization. Therefore the expert's only chance is to find a cow with a calf and to capture the young one.

Compared with the alert, grim exterior of the felines, there is little in the appearance of a phlegmatic, ponderous pig like a rhinoceros to indicate its real ferociousness. There is hardly a wild animal in existence which is more dangerous than this rarest of all our menagerie captives. Awkward as the great creature appears when at rest, once aroused it dashes through the densest thicket with the irresistible speed of an express train.

To catch a rhinoceros the trapper proceeds with preparations much as would an explorer bound for a two or three year expedition in the interior of an unexplored continent, for the difficulty confronting him is the threefold one of first penetrating a thousand or more miles into the interior; second, of finding not only a rhinoceros, but a rhinoceros cow with a calf old enough to capture, and, lastly, of transporting his prize across hills and mountains and plains, over rivers and ravines, across swamps and through forests to civilization.

Skirting swamps and rivers, the men are ever on the lookout for the deep, round spoors, like a pie plate driven into the mud, for in this wet ground the rhinoceros loves to wallow. Frequently five or six months elapse before the tracks of a cow and a calf are picked up.

Noiseless and from well to leeward, the trapper and his men gradually steal nearer until the cow and the calf are inclosed in a circle. From ahead, out of the maze of cane and creeper, sounds the uneasy stamping of the cow. With a half snort, half grunt, in an instant the rhinoceros is all attention. Head raised and nostrils sniffing, she searches the air steadily. At sight of one of the savages the cow dashes with the speed of a race horse at the man, charging the human decoy; and at that instant the trapper's rifle is heard, and her furious charge is over, provided the bullet reaches the heart by striking just behind the left foreleg—the only vulnerable point in the inch thick armor with which the beast is clad.

Now and then it happens that the trapper fails to kill in time—his gun may miss fire, intervening trees may interfere or the marksman may miss his aim. Then the life of the decoy depends upon his own agility. To run to one side before the rhinoceros is almost on top of him would be fatal, for the swift brute would overtake him with a few bounds. His only hope is to wait until the deadly horn is almost at his feet and then, with the swiftness of a mongoose dodging the aim of a cobra, to leap to one side while the ponderous creature, unable to turn short in time, dashes onward under its own impetus. Twice, three times, a clever native hunter will dodge in this way, giving the trapper ample time to bring down the rhinoceros.

Then comes the tracking of the frightened calf, which has fled at the first sign of trouble, and soon it is pushed, prodded and shoved up a bridge of log skids into a cage of the bullock cart.

But even more dangerous is the trapping of the hippopotamus, for, although in itself the "rhino" is a more savage antagonist than the "river horse," the trapper hunts the former on land and brings down at a safe distance, whereas in the case of the hippopotamus he must fight in the same primitive fashion that savages have used for ages. Hand to maw, as it were, he must engage this two ton monster while standing in the bow of a frail canoe, for the hippopotamus, as its name, the "river horse," means, is a land and water animal and must be harpooned and brought ashore before it expires, otherwise it would sink at once to the bottom of the river, the coveted calf escaping among the other hippopotamuses instead of following the stricken cow to shore, so that the youngster may be caught.—A. W. Rolker in St. Nicholas.

Two Tees.

Three Irishmen had four guineas to be equally divided among them. After several unsuccessful efforts by two of them the third settled the business thus: "There are two for you and here are two for me-tee."

Texas.

The area of Texas is equal to that of land eleven miles wide encircling the earth at the equator or to an area of land more than one million square miles from the earth to the sun, or a lane wide enough for the construction of a double track railway and long enough to reach from the earth to the sun.

Stone by Stone.

For hundreds of years the people of Saxony have used stones instead of brick covered with glazed tiles, which retain and gradually radiate the heat for hours after the fire has gone out.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY
OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $36,370,000.00, an increase of $1,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $219,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $4,617.24.

The Assets now total $396,974.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.19.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President. — Hon. F. T. Frost.
Noel Marshall, Vice-President. — B. Bickerdike.
Hon. Geo. A. Cox. — W. D. Robb.
Elias Rogers. — J. J. Kenny.

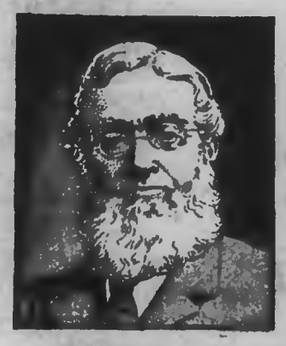
Kidney Disease For Years

This Well Known Gentleman Strongly Recommends "Fruit-a-tives" to all Sufferers.



JAMES DINGWALL, Esq.

"I have much pleasure in testifying to the almost marvellous benefit I have derived from taking "Fruit-a-tives." I was a lifelong sufferer from Chronic Constipation, and the only medicine I ever secured to do me any real good was "Fruit-a-tives." This medicine cured me when everything else failed. Also, last spring I had a severe ATTACK OF BLADDER TROUBLE WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE, and "Fruit-a-tives" cured these complaints for me, when the physician attending me had practically given me up.

I am now over eighty years of age and I can strongly recommend "Fruit-a-tives" for chronic constipation and bladder and kidney trouble. This medicine is very mild like fruit, is easy to take, but most effective in action."

Church and Clergy.

The oldest Methodist Episcopal church in Maine is at Monmouth. The church was organized by Jesse Lee in 1794.

There are not many women preachers in Great Britain, but Miss Harriet Orfer Baker is in charge of a congregational hall in a small village in Sussex, and Miss L. C. R. Smith is the elected pastor of a congregation in Cardiff.

The Rev. Sedgwick W. Bidwell of East Middlebury, Vt., who finished his active pastorate at the age of ninety after sixty-six years in the ministry, celebrated his one hundredth birthday recently by preaching in the Methodist church.

The Rev. John F. Harvard, who celebrated his ninetieth birthday recently, has been vicar of Little Maplestead, England, for fifty-five years. His income from the living is £54 a year, and he lives in a cottage for which he pays £5 a year rent.

Things Theatrical.

William Gillette is now at work on a new comedy to be produced by Charles Frohman as soon as it is completed.

Louise Gunning is to star in "The Glassblowers," with music by John Philip Sousa. The book is by Leonard Leibling.

Ruth St. Denis, who has created a sensation in New York with her East Indian dances, was at one time an actress in Mrs. Leslie Carter's company in "Du Barry."

The Shuberts have accepted "The Man Higher Up," the first dramatic work of Arthur J. Eddy, author of "Ganton & Co." It will be produced in New York shortly.

Louis Mann has made an adaptation of "The Double Man," written by Arthur Lipshuetz and William Jacoby, and will produce it as "Two of Him," although he will not personally take part in the farce.

The Writers.

Mark Twain is now seventy-four and is suffering with a tobacco heart, yet he himself says that he never smoked more than one cigar at a time.

Mary Johnston, the novelist, has declared herself in full sympathy with the movement to secure the political enfranchisement of women.

Emerson's two rules to young scholars have often been quoted, "Room alone" and "Keep a journal." He followed the latter rule faithfully all his life, and it was in this journal that he learned the art of writing.

On Count Tolstoy's recent visit to Moscow he was pursued by the cinematograph and pelted with flowers by the thousands assembled at the station to see him off. On reaching Yasnaya Polyana the aged count was visited by faintness.

The Cookbook.

Boiled suet puddings will have an added nutriment if they are mixed with milk or milk and water.

If a turkey or chicken is rubbed inside and out with lemon it will make the meat white, juicy and tender.

To beat bread sponge quickly use a large sized egg beater. It does the same work as a machine and is quickly cleaned, and it will also save work in mixing cake batter.

A pretty way to bake apples is to cut them into halves, leaving on the skin. Sprinkle a little sugar over them and bake in a pan, skin side down. The skin need not be eaten, but it holds the slice in form.

Sinking Spells Every Few Days

"At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I was having sinking spells every few days. My hands and feet would get cold; I could scarcely breathe, and could feel myself gradually sinking away until I would be unconscious. Those about me could not tell there was life in me. After these spells I would be very weak and nervous, sleepless and without appetite; had neuralgia in my head and heart. After taking the remedy a short time all this disappeared and in a few weeks all the heart trouble was gone."

MRS. LIZZIE PAINTER
803½ 3d Ave. Evansville, Ind.

For twenty years we have been constantly receiving just such letters as these. There is scarcely a locality in the United States where there is not some one who can testify to the merits of this remarkably successful Heart Remedy.

A Convict's Humor.

The town hall tower at Perth, Western Australia, started in 1876 and finished in 1879, was built by convict labor, the architect also being a convict. The latter was evidently possessed of a very keen sense of the humorous, for some time after the building was finished (so runs the story, which is generally accepted as true) the authorities suddenly discovered that in the small corner windows he had introduced the broad arrow inverted, and over one of the windows the hangman's rope. Yet, although these are so plain when pointed out, very few of the thousands who gaze at this clock day by day are aware of these facts. To add interest in local minds to this subject, it may be added that this building is soon to be pulled down and a new building erected on the site.—Strand.

Suffragette and Suffragist.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the woman suffrage movement in England, in the course of a recent speech defined the difference between suffragist and suffragette. She pointed her definition with the story of two newsboys who were crying in their papers a meeting of the suffragists and a "raid" of the suffragettes. One asked the other what was the difference.

"Well," responded his pal, "a suffragist just wants the vote, but the suffragette"—making the g hard—"she means to get it."

Mrs. Pankhurst told how the name suffragette had been applied by a newspaper in contempt and ridicule, but that the women had turned it into a title of honor.

An Expensive Inmate.

It is estimated that a woman who has just died at the Hackney Union Infirmary, East London, where she had been an inmate for twenty-nine years, cost the guardians nearly $7,500. She suffered from delusions, one of which was that she owned the workhouse.

Banish Dyspepsia, Madam, with your Five Roses Cooking

In a conversation with the Family Doctor not so very long ago, this queer fact was developed.

Or, it sounded queer to us hearing it for the first time.

This is what he said:

"Do you know, if you were forced to eat without appetite, no matter how nourishing the food, you'd simply be a candidate for that demon Indigestion with every chance in favor of your election."

Maybe you've noticed it yourself, Madam.

Of course, they sit down hungry to every meal.

Hunger before the meal banishes indigestion after.

* * * *

The woman who knows how to use FIVE ROSES flour, Mistress Housewife, finds in its savoury flavor a most effective appetizer for finicky folks.

The amber gluten in FIVE ROSES imparts to the body of the loaf, and the rolls and the goodies all a delicate aroma, a rich nutlike taste to the crust calculated to tickle the palate in its tenderest and stimulate the appetite of even the most confirmed dyspeptic.

You don't have to force your folks to eat if YOU use good flour, though you may compel them to stop.

Just think, Madam, the very same qualities that give FIVE ROSES its appetizing wholesomeness and lingering taste likewise give it exceptional food value.

There is no waste—every speck of FIVE ROSES foodstuffs has nutritive value.

Where else can you get this ideal combination consistent with true flour economy?

* * * *

There is no regret in FIVE ROSES, Madam, except the regret of not having known it sooner.

It's never too soon to buy HEALTH, Madam.

LAKE OF THE WOODS MILLING CO., LTD., MONTREAL

THE LORDS LONG AGO.

When Mr. Lloyd-George Would Have Been Hanged.

Mr. Lloyd-George should be thankful that he lives in the twentieth century. If he had lived in good King Richard Coeur-de-Lion's glorious days the probability is that he would have been hanged!

For in those times the Lords were mightier than the men, and brooked no interference with either their privileges or their pockets. And when a champion of the commoners, named Fitz-Osbert, boldly declared that taxation should be proportioned to the power to bear it, he was promptly hanged as a thinker in advance of his age!

The Lords of long ago, indeed, had many little eccentricities, which a perusal of "The House of Lords"—T. Fisher Unwin—will reveal.

There would have been no indignation in the House of Commons in the Middle Ages at the prospect of the Lords throwing out one of their Budgets, for in those pre-Winston Churchill days the members of the Lower Chamber were humble to the point of helplessness. When Edward III., for instance—to whose account must be laid the creating of the first duke—consulted them with respect to the French war he was waging, they sent him this reply:

"Most dreaded Lord,—As to your war and the equipment necessary for it, we are so ignorant and simple that we know not how, nor have the power, to devise. Wherefore, we pray your Grace to excuse us in this matter, and that it please you, with advice of the great and wise persons of your council, to ordain what seems best to you for the honor and profit of yourself and of your kingdom; and whatsoever shall be thus ordained by assent and agreement for you and your lords we readily assent to, and will hold it firmly established."

In good Queen Bess's days they were equally incapable. When their Speaker died they had to consult the Lords as to what they were to do, whereupon, the Queen, hearing of it, volunteered a piece of statesmanlike advice. "Go back," she said, "and elect a new one." The problem was solved.

What would the Westminster police constables think if, one day, Lord Rosebery, Lord Lansdowne, and Lord Crewe turned up at the House, each with a small army at his back? Yet, such was the habit of Lords in the fifteenth century. And what would the Dukes of Westminster, Connaught, and Buccleugh think if, on relaxing their attendance at the House for any considerable period, they found themselves the recipients of polite notes, informing them that they had been fined £100 for neglecting their duties? For bishops and earls the fine used to be 100 marks, and for abbots and barons £40.

Librarians' Howlers.

It is usually the ignorant or confused frequenters of a library who are responsible for amusing mistakes, but occasionally an over-haughty guardian of literature gives occasion for a quiet smile to those she serves. To a request for "Prometheus Unbound" one such replied, with chilling decisiveness, "We have no unbound books."

More recently a school teacher, wishing to extend her rather scanty knowledge of the stories of Edgar Allan Poe, in view of the centenary of his birth, inquired at the delivery desk of a rural library for "The Gold Bug," adding, "I can't find it in the catalogue, but I'm sure you have it. A friend of mine had it out last week."

The librarian glanced at the card-catalogue drawer over which the teacher had been poring and smiled a superior smile.

"No wonder, Miss Jones," she explained, with patient gentleness. "You're looking under 'Fiction.' Turn to 'Entomology,' and you won't have any trouble."

Smiling in her turn, a different and more genial smile, the teacher turned to "Entomology," and there, indeed, duly classified with learned works on Lepidoptera and Coleoptera, she found the unscientific but fascinating insect invented by that master of mystery tales.

The president of a woman's club, also brushing up her knowledge of Poe before writing a paper on his life, sought at the local library for that weird tale of horror, "the Pit and the Pendulum."

She was referred to the card-catalogue, and advised to look under "Mechanics" or "Horology."

How Steel Shoulder-Straps Originated.

The story goes that the steel curb shoulder-strap of the British cavalry originated in a woman's wit and resourcefulness. Of course, chain armor is an ancient thing; but when Sir George Luck was setting out for Kandahar during the first operations against Afghanistan, Lady Luck, knowing something of the fighting methods of the tribesmen, whose four-foot knife can cut clean from shoulder to belt, sewed a couple of steel curb chains under each of the shoulder-straps on her husband's tunic. As a protection from sword-cuts these proved so effective, that at the end of the campaign Sir George made a report in relation thereto, with the result that they were adopted as a permanent feature of the cavalry uniform.

A Lucky Find.

A London novelist has just had a stroke of luck. He was poring over the boxes arranged along the walls by the side of the Seine, and decided to buy for a couple of francs a "Henriade," in quaint type, published last century, in which there were a number of engravings. He went off with his prize, and in the evening began reading it. He found two of the pages of Scene 3 stuck together, and on opening them with a knife found three bank-notes of $900 each.

Foolish Worry.

"Captain, is there no way in which the ship may be saved?"

"None at all, sir. We are going to the bottom, but I should not worry about the ship, sir, if I were you—she is fully insured. You'd better find a life belt."

A Mean Comment.

The Man—She looks nice enough to eat. The Woman—M-yes; plain food seems to appeal to some people.—London Illustrated Mail.

"Something New"

OXO

in cubes

Just think of having all the strength and goodness of ¼ pound of the best beef in a little cube about half an inch square, that will dissolve quickly in boiling water and give you a cup of delicious OXO!

It's a difficult problem to concentrate the stimulating extracts and the nourishing proteids of rich lean beef into a solid cube, and it took the OXO Company ten years of scientific experiment to solve it.

The new OXO cube is a marvel of taste—of quality—of value. It takes ¼ pound of prime lean beef to make each single cube. OXO cubes are practically the same thing as bottled OXO—in a more convenient form.

Just drop an OXO cube into a cup of hot water, stir a moment, and you have a delicious drink. You don't waste it by using too much, nor spoil it by using too little.

OXO cubes in the kitchen are convenience itself. A single cube will make the extra gravy you want—will improve the flavour of sauce or stew—or will make delicious and nourishing soup for two.

Every ounce of beef in OXO cubes comes from OXO'S own cattle, and is guaranteed healthy, pure, fresh and good.

OXO is now put up in 1 oz., 2 oz., 4 oz., 8 oz. and 16 oz. Bottles.

Baked Men.

Workers in porcelain factories are literally baked, but by some miracle they remain sufficiently underdone to live. At least if they are not quite baked they endure a stronger heat than that which browns the Sunday sirloin. The furnaces wherein porcelain is finished are kept at the fiercest heat used in any industry. A chain of workmen, their heads and bodies swathed in fireproof garments, take the finished pieces from the fire one at a time and pass them to the cooling room. The man at the head of this chain—he who stands nearest the furnace—can only work in five minute shifts. In his interims of rest he lies on a mattress drinking glass after glass of ice water from the hands of a small boy. At lunchtime all about the chain of men steaks grill.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Are you ready to receive the obligations?" asked the most upright supreme hocus pocus of the Order of Hoot Owls.

"I am," said the candidate firmly.

"Then take a sip of this prussic acid, place your right hand in this pot of boiling lead, rest your left hand upon this revolving buzzsaw, close your eyes and repeat after me"—

Early next morning shreds of Joyner's clothing were found upon the bushes and trees all along the road to Pottsville, thirty miles distant, and at Scrabbletown, sixty miles away. He was reported still headed west.—Judge's Library.

Easy Method.

"Remarkable!" said Mr. Gloonip. "How did you get it to vary so little?"

"I broke the mainspring."

All Ready for Orange Week

Greatest Sale of "Sunkist" Oranges

SUNKIST ORANGES

Sale Opens Everywhere on January 31st

Forty-five carloads of seedless, tree-ripened "Sunkist" oranges will be on sale during "Orange Week." Your dealer—every dealer—will take part in this great sale. Keep the date in your mind.

Fresh-Picked "Sunkist" Seedless Oranges

"Sunkist" oranges fully ripen on the tree, thus giving them that matured deliciousness that only tree-ripening can effect, and fast freight trains, which are given full right of way wherever possible, bring "Sunkist" oranges to you. Hence your "Sunkist" oranges are just as fresh, if not fresher, than the fruit that is eaten in California cities.

These oranges are deliciously juicy and luscious. The California Fruit Growers' Exchange picks, packs and ships millions of bushels of oranges. The choicest of all these countless millions of oranges are carefully selected and they alone wear the "Sunkist" wrapper. Hence the "Sunkist" brand means orange perfection. The "Sunkist" wrapper is placed on these oranges so that you may know the highest quality oranges that California produces. Insist that the oranges you buy are wrapped in the "Sunkist" wrapper.

SUNKIST LEMONS

"Sunkist" Navel Oranges Are Seedless

They are tree-ripened, exquisitely rich in sweet orange juices and the pulp is deliciously tender.

"Sunkist" Lemons Highest Grade

"Sunkist" lemons are firm and full of juice, such as are found only in lemons that wear "Sunkist" wrappers. For "Sunkist" is also the highest grade of all the lemons grown in California. We select only those lemons that pass the rigid tests to which they are put by our experts, and the choicest are placed within "Sunkist" wrappers.

Save the Wrappers

It is important that the oranges and lemons you buy are wrapped in tissue paper coverings, bearing the "Sunkist" label. Not only are you assured of "Sunkist" quality but we will give you a with each 12 "Sunkist" wrappers—either orange or lemon—and 6 two-cent stamps. These spoons are Rogers' full standard plate of handsome design. It is easy to get a full set in a very short time. Send your wrappers and stamps to California Fruit Growers' Exchange, 32 Church St., Toronto, Ontario.

Rogers' Orange Spoon—FREE

LATE SIR THEODORE MARTIN KNEW MANY NOTABLES.

English Man of Letters Thought the Present Generation Did Not Compare Very Well With the Early Victorian Age — Remembered Sir Walter Scott Walking In Edinburgh—Friend of Queen Victoria.

The death of Sir Theodore Martin at the age of ninety-three gives to The London Daily Chronicle the opportunity to recall some literary personalia of a man who could look back to the beginnings of the Victorian era and compare it with the present generation, which Sir Theodore was wont to describe as a "sad and saddening spectacle."

He remembered seeing Sir Walter Scott walking down Prince's street, Edinburgh. A very tall old man with a club foot, leaning heavily on a stick, around which his legs seemed to twist as he walked. "I can vividly recall Sir Walter," he said, "sitting as clerk in the court of session. He would sometimes seem to go to sleep during the proceedings, and then suddenly wake up and begin scratching upon paper with a quill."

Sir Theodore Martin's long friendship with Queen Victoria was a privilege he valued very highly, and some of the most vivid and charming reminiscences of the late Queen were those he published only a few years ago. When it was decided to publish a life of the Prince Consort Sir Arthur Helps was to have been entrusted with the biography. Feeling that the task was beyond his powers, he urgently recommended that his friend Mr. Martin should undertake it. In taking up the work the latter very soon found how great were the responsibilities attached to it. On one occasion he went to Windsor to consult the Queen as to the advisability of making certain statements. Her advice was unhesitating. "Tell the truth as you find it in the materials at your command," she said. "Tell the truth, no matter whom it hurts. Truth is a very precious thing to people in my position."

Among Sir Theodore's many tributes to Queen Victoria is one worth quoting. "It is always to be remembered," he said, "that Queen Victoria was two women at the same time—on the one hand a loving wife and mother, and on the other an exceedingly dignified sovereign. In talking to the one woman you were never allowed to forget the other."

The friendship brought about by the Prince Consort's biography did not cease on the completion of the work. Sir Theodore continued to advise the Queen in literary matters and has told many humorous stories of how he was asked to turn some of Mr. Gladstone's despatches into intelligible English. Very often the Queen would send for him to go to Windsor, when he would find himself a fellow guest with either Mr. Gladstone or Disraeli. It gave him an opportunity of comparing the two statesmen. With the Queen Disraeli was by far the greater favorite. "Disraeli," Sir Theodore said, "had the art of appealing to a woman. Gladstone was by far too full of his own ideas."

When Sir Theodore left Edinburgh—where he was born the year following that of Waterloo—and came to settle in London, one of the first friends to welcome him was Carlyle.

"Well can I remember," said Sir Theodore, "Carlyle bursting into my business room one afternoon and plumping himself down by the fire, and saying in broad Scotch, 'Why is it you never came in and had a crack with me, Martin?'"

With both Thackeray and Dickens Sir Theodore was acquainted, and he was present when they patched up their unfortunate quarrel. He liked Thackeray the better. "He was like a great big-hearted boy." But of all the distinguished men of the day with whom he came in contact Browning held first place in Sir Theodore's affections, perhaps because he knew him most intimately. The poet spent weeks at a time with Sir Theodore and Lady Martin at Llangollen, and his host's recollections of him are valuable personalia of one whose personality afforded scant material for biographers.

"As everybody knows," Sir Theodore said, "there was very little of the apparent poet about Browning. He looked like a business man, and talked about anything else but poetry. He was particularly full of good stories. I think it was all partly due to real sensitiveness about his poetry. He was, anyhow, far more inclined to resent parody than Tennyson, whom we knew very well." George Eliot—another friend—was to those who really knew her not a Delphic oracle of whom everybody sat in awe, but "a most genial, homely woman."

By his marriage with Helen Faucit, one of the greatest Shakesperian actresses who ever trod the stage, Sir Theodore was brought into another circle of friends—a theatrical one, and his memories of the great players went back to the days of Edmund Kean, whom he saw in various roles. "His acting," said Sir Theodore, "was very unequal, but there were moments of passion that were quite overwhelming." Coming to later times, Macready he pronounced "full of dignity and elevation."

With such memories to carry with him through the years that brought a change from the old order of things and gave place to the new, it is only natural that Sir Theodore should have viewed with despondency the social and literary activities of the present day. "We of the old order," he said recently, "see much to deplore in the new. The stately manners of the spacious Victorian days are gone. Men with brass mouths and iron lungs command undivided attention to-day. Haste, bustle, noise, the jingling of the guinea, the thousand and one meretricious allurements of the age, have for a time dimmed the fair mirror of English life; but it will pass."

Babies suffer from chafing, scald head, skin irritation and eczema.

Eczema often develops from the milder forms of skin irritation and has a tendency to spread over the body and become chronic.

Baby eczema means torture for the little ones—anxiety and loss of sleep for the mothers.

Deputy of the Minister of Interior.

Fifty Years a Diva.

Adelina Patti recently celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of her debut as an operatic singer at the New York Academy of Music, Nov. 24, 1859, when she appeared as Lucia.

She was then under 17, but had made a public appearance on a concert platform nine years before. In this year of Patti's operatic debut Strakosch paid her $100 a week. At her first operatic appearance in London in 1861 she received $450 a month.

Previous to her marriage in 1869 her earnings never exceeded $600 a night, but later when Christine Nilsson was engaged for $1,000, Patti got $1,050.

Though these prices cut a small figure in comparison with those the present songbirds get, it is calculated that Patti's voice earned her about $4,000,000.

Artist and Author at Golf.

Mr. Will Owen, the artist, has a delightful drawing of the caddie watching a very erratic player, and remarking to some children who stand by, "Now, ain't yer glad yer didn't go to the pantomime?" This he considers his best golf story; but the following, which he tells at the expense of himself and the author of "Many Cargoes," bears repeating: "Jacobs and I—both of us regular duffers—were playing on the ladies' links at Deal. The place was rather deserted, and we had two small caddies. Jacobs (to his caddie): 'Do you get many people playing here?' Caddie: 'No, sir, we don't—only ladies and old gentlemen wot can't play'."—Strand Magazine.

A Pre-Christmas Plan.

"I simply will not quarrel with any of my young men friends until after Christmas," said the first damsel. "We'll have peace till then anyhow."

"But that idea is exploded, dear," asserts the second. "Of course if you don't quarrel with them they will send the usual remembrance at Christmas. But don't you see if you do quarrel then they'll send something twice as nice as a peace offering!"

Prefers to Wait.

"You should buy all your Christmas gifts now."

"That's what they say, but I'm not so sure of it. You see, I've made up my mind to give several of my friends a dozen eggs apiece—no matter what they cost—and I hate to think of buying 'em now."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Aged Station Mistress.

One of the quaintest railway stations in England is Langford, on the Witham and Maldon (Essex) branch line. The sole staff consists of an aged widow, who has performed the duties of "stationmaster" for many years. Her cottage, situate in a garden, is also the booking-office; a small wooden shed on the single narrow platform represents the waiting-room; and trains stop only when there are passengers to take up or put off.

Her Daughter Took Very Sick As Result Of Catching Cold.

Mrs. Dennis Delaney, Friar's Head, N.S., writes: "At the close of the year 1907, our youngest daughter, five years old, took very sick as the result of catching cold. She became very weak and could not move around at all. We consulted doctors and gave her various kinds of medicine but they did not seem to relieve her any. On the advice of a friend I procured a bottle of your valuable remedy, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after using the first bottle noticeable improvement was the result and after using three bottles she was entirely cured. I can certify that it was through your valuable remedy that she regained her strength and would advise every mother having young ones similarly afflicted to obtain your valuable remedy. For myself I would not be without a bottle in the house."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree combined with Wild Cherry bark and other pectoral remedies. It has stood the test for many years, and is now more generally used than ever. Price 25 cents at all dealers. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Queer Case of Evolution.

The general law of evolution is from the useful and practical into the ideal and beautiful. This seems to be reversed in the case of the lily and the banana. The banana is really a developed tropical lily from which the seeds have been eliminated and the fruit greatly expanded.

LIFE'S OUTLOOK FOR YOUNG GIRLS

Nature Makes Demands Upon Them Which Only Such a Tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Can Supply.

The girl of to-day is the woman of to-morrow, and until that to-morrow comes she suffers a weariness and loss of strength and brightness. These woes, with pallid cheeks, shortness of breath and persistent headaches, tell plainer than words that she needs assistance in the form of new, rich red blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are just the medicine growing girls need. Every dose helps to make new, rich blood, thus helping languid, despondent girls on to the full bloom of womanhood, making them robust, cheerful and attractive. Mrs. Albert Putman, Port Robinson, Ont., says: "A couple of years ago my daughter Hattie, now fifteen, was in declining health. She complained of severe headaches, had no appetite, was very pale, and exhausted at the least exertion. As time passed on she was hardly able to drag herself about, notwithstanding that she was under medical treament and continuously taking medicine. At this juncture a neighbour strongly advised me to give Hattie Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to do so. After she had taken three boxes some improvement was noticed; the headaches were not so frequent, nor so severe, and her appetite was much improved. This was indeed cheering, and she continued taking the Pills until she had used some eight boxes, when she was as well as ever she had been in her life, and since that time she has been as robust as any girl could wish to be. I would strongly urge all mothers of growing girls to keep their health fortified through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had from any medicine dealer or by mail from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

CHRISTMAS TREES FROM CANADA

From Farm and Dairy.

Editor, Farm and Dairy,—The following is a clipping from the Toronto Telegram regarding shipping Christmas trees from Canada to the United States:

"New York, Dec. 17.—The price of Christmas trees and holly has gone up this year at a surprising rate. The reason assigned by some of the dealers in the holiday green, is that the supply in the Catskills, which has hitherto been sufficient for this city and the surrounding country, has fallen to such a degree that it became necessary to import trees from Canada for the festive season. This means a cost of from $6 to $8 a carload for import duty alone as well as extra transportation. New York uses from 100 to 125 cars of Christmas trees each year and this year the price will range from 25 cents to $25 a tree. Spruce trees cannot be used, as cutting them is forbidden by the Forestry Bureau, as they grow into good lumber, Balsam trees which never amount to much are the principal variety sold as Christmas trees now."

We as a people are standing in our own light when we allow such a trade to be carried on—thousands of fine, young spruce are taken every year. The writer some years ago, while in the Algoma district, saw some of the destruction carried on by those engaged in this business. Where suitable young trees were not available, large ones were cut down and the tops only were taken. They worked a wholesale destruction of fine young spruce and other evergreens which should be stopped. Surely the Department responsible is aware of the harm being done. Then why is it permitted?

Farm and Dairy is at present engaged in a praiseworthy campaign for reforesting. We know it will gladly help to bring about some legislation to prevent this wholesale slaughter of our young forest trees.—W. J. Stevenson, Ontario County, Ont.

QUEEN'S WEEKLY LETTER

Queen's University, Jan. 29.—The atmosphere at Queen's is now redolent with an air of high seriousness. Too often is the dire truth brought to mind that every day brings us closer to those fateful spring examinations, hence the necessity for making the most of the time, while yet there is grace. The season of these functions, which required so many nights off, and those organizations and societies which demanded so much of our time is now, happily for our studies, on the wane. Student life at Queen's is one of many-sided activities, which coax out and develop the social, spiritual and political sides of the student's nature, as well as his mental and physical. Although the registration at Queen's is now well over 1,500, yet differences of faculty are largely obliterated in a common student fellowship, welded together by the student society—Alma Mater Social intercourse is widened and heightened by intimate contact with the professors and their families, as well as with many of the best families in Kingston. In fact all Kingston opens its arms to the students, and we are not slow in recognizing and appreciating that fact. But, after all, the mental training of her students is the pre-eminent consideration of Queen's. To appreciate this we need only to look at some practical results. Prowess in debating is, perhaps, the best indication of a soundly-developed mind; here Queen's stands pre-eminent among the Universities of Canada, for she has held the Intercollegiate Debating Championship for four years out of six.

But this year we must record the loss of the Debating Championship. Queen's lost to Ottawa, the debate held there on Friday, Jan. 21st, on the subject "Resolved that the government should have complete control of the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors." The affirmative was upheld by the winners, L. H. Fracy and E. L. McEvoy, and the negative by R. B. Mills and N. MacDonald of Queen's. The judges were G. H. MacDougall, E. B. Devlin, M. P., and E. P. Stanton; Queen's put up a good fight, the decision being won, according to the judges, by the narrowest margin

One of our graduates and a trustee of the University, Dr. James Douglas, of New York, has founded a chair in Canadian and Colonial History. This marks a new departure in Canadian Universities, Queen's being the first university in Canada to install such a chair. This is a subject whose importance in Canada is becoming increasingly important, and the more so, since the Archives of our Government have been thrown open to students of Canadian history, with all their wealth of undeveloped treasure. The professor of Canadian and Colonial history at Queen's is to be Mr. W. L. Grant, M.A., the only surviving son of the late Principal Grant, and a brilliant honour-graduate of Queen's. Queen's is, indeed, fortunate, in securing such a distinguished scholar. In the capacity of lecturer at Oxford on Colonial History under the Beit Foundation, Mr. Grant has made a distinct reputation for himself, and at a recent conference at Brussels, a brilliant address in French won him plaudits from the best scholars in the continent. With the acquisition of Mr. Grant, History will be one of the strongest departments in the University. Our present professor of history, Professor Morison, has, in a few years, raised history in Queen's to a high standard of excellency, but the increase in the History classes of late has made too much work for one professor to handle. Mr. Grant assumes his duties in Queen's the first of next session.

Alma Mater was very largely attended last Saturday. Convocation Hall was filled. Many came to hear the illustrated lecture of Mr. Arthur C. Wheeler, President of the Alpine Club, of Canada, on the subject of "Canada's Mountain Heritage." The stereoptical views exhibited were extremely interesting, accompanied as they were by a vivid portrayal of the grandeur and beauty of the mountains and a relation of thrilling experiences in mountain climbing. Mr. Wheeler's story is one of national significance. The Rockies may be aptly termed the "Canadian Alps". Saturday night also witnessed the inauguration of our Mock Parliament, the Honorary President of the A. M. Society delivering the speech from the throne. Next Saturday the subjects of debate will be on the problem of "woman suffrage," and the nationalization of telegraph and telephone."

Friday night, the first game of the Senior Intercollegiate Hockey series at Kingston, contested in water and slush, ended in Queen's defeat at the hands of Toronto, by a score of 6-2. Queen's has a comparatively light team this season and could not get away in slush. Before the game was over the players were soaked from head to foot. Queen's forward line did its work, but her defeat may be attributed to a new and light back division. Varsity, on the other hand, had a strong and heavy defence, her net guardian especially starring. Dobson on the Queen's forward line played his customary brilliant game, and was easily the best man on the ice. One defeat need not imperil the guardianship of the Intercollegiate Trophy, the Montague Allan Cup. Wait till we get Varsity on ice, not slush.

Friday afternoon, in the most brilliant game of basketball seen on the "gym" floor, the Varsity five went down to defeat before the Queen's quintet, the final score tally being 23-23. The game was closely contested throughout and the issue was always in doubt, half-time score being 18-16 in favour of Queen's.

HENS NOT LAYING

From Farm and Dairy.

My hens are not laying very much, and I think perhaps the reason is, they do not get any meat, except separator milk. Where do you get your horse meat? Do you like it as well as beef scraps?—P. M., Vaudreuil, Que.

Just at this time of the year hens are not laying well anywhere, especially if they have been doing well during the summer nor are they likely to lay for a month or six weeks, no matter how they are fed. Early pullets, however, or even later pullets, May hatched, should be getting into shape now, and if the pullets and hens are divided I would endeavor to give more meat to the pullets than to the hens, it should bring better returns. If they have plenty of separated milk they do not require so much meat. A little, however, makes an agreeable change and should give good results. The horse meat you speak of is manufactured in Montreal. It is just as rich as the ordinary beef scraps, and a little cheaper.—F.C.E.

STRUCK THE TWO WOMEN ON THE HEAD WITH AN AXE AND THEN FLED

Young Man Under Arrest at Havelock Confesses to the Crime at Norwood---Women are Still Alive But Older One is in Serious Condition---Had Intended to Rob Them But Was Frightened Away by Their Screams---Had Had His Dinner at the House---Went Away and Then Returned.

ANSWERS DESCRIPTION OF MAN WANTED HERE

Norwood, Jan. 29.—A vicious attempt upon the lives of two women, Misses Margaret and Susan McPherson, who live on the Norwood and Havelock Road, two miles east of this village, was made at 12.15 yesterday by an unknown man. The two women live alone in a little frame house on the corner of the 11th concession of Asphodel and the boundary line between Asphodel and Dummer, the house being close up to the road. The eldest of the two, Margaret, is about 77 years of age, and her sister Susan, is some ten years younger. Their house is about a quarter of a mile from their nearest neighbour, a small piece of bush separating the two houses. About a quarter after twelve a fairly well-dressed man, lean featured and clean shaved, wearing a dark overcoat, a brown-coloured scarf and tan boots, came to the door and asked for something to eat. They allowed him to enter, though they did not like his appearance, and gave him something to eat. He asked them if they had any wood to split, but the women, wishing to be rid of him as quickly as possible, answered in the negative, whereupon he handed them ten cents and took his departure. In a minute or two he returned running, and, picking up the axe which was leaning against the house, entered The eldest of the two women was still sitting at the table, and he approached her and struck her a vicious blow over the head, felling her to the floor. He then wheeled and made for the younger woman, who rushed to her sister's side. Raising the weapon, the man made a blow at her. She raised her arm to ward off the blow, but the axe fell, striking her on the top of the head, inflicting a serious though not dangerous, wound.

Perpetrator Fled.

The man then ran out of the house and down the road towards the C. P. R. track, about a quarter of a mile south. Geo. Parcels, who was passing at the time with a load of logs, saw the man leave the house, but did not know what had happened until he reached Norwood, when a messenger came in with the news of the crime. Mr. Parcels was able, however, to give a very good description of the man.

After the man left the house the younger sister managed to make her way over to the house of Mr. Robert Graham and told them of the assault. The constables in all the nearby places were immediately notified by wire, and a number of men from this village and vicinity started in pursuit.

Shortly after one o'clock the Chief Constable at Havelock saw three men approaching the village on the railway track, one of whom answered the description of the man wanted for the crime, and the three were at once placed under arrest. Three tramps were also discovered loitering around the yards and were locked up.

In the pockets of the suspect arrested were several letters addressed to Robert Henderson, De Grassi St., Toronto.

Confesses to the Crime.

Henderson, who is about 20 years of age, says that he is a steamfitter by trade and that he came out from England in May. When arrested he had on his person a 32-calibre revolver and a good supply of ammunition. He admitted the assault, and said that his object was robbery, but that he did not mean to kill the old women. He thought they might have money and intended to search the house, but the screams of the younger women frightened him.

High Constable Cochrane, of Peterborough, arrived here to-night to take charge of the case. The preliminary hearing will take place to-morrow afternoon at one o'clock at the town hall, Havelock, before County Police Magistrate Edmison and Mr. Justices Matheson and Joyce.

The condition of the eldest woman is very serious and her recovery is considered doubtful. The injuries of the other sister are not considered dangerous. The two sisters have lived together in the house where the assault was committed almost all their lives and have never been molested before. They have a little garden and keep some poultry, and in the winter they knit mitts and stockings, which they sell to the stores.

Was Wanted Here.

The young man, Charles Henderson, in custody at the Havelock lockup, charged with a brutal assault on the Misses McPherson, near Norwood, yesterday morning, is apparently the same fellow who spent the past week in Peterborough and who is wanted by the local police.

It will be remembered that in Wednesday's issue of the Examiner, a notice appeared to the effect that a young fellow was going around the city collecting money on the pretence that he was trying to raise sufficient means to send two young women to the Gravenhurst Sanitarium. He bore a letter bearing Rev. Canon Davidson's signature. He succeeded in securing financial assistance from several residents. From the description of the man who was collecting received by Chief Roszel, he informed the Examiner this morning that he felt sure that it was the same person who was arrested at Havelock. Both are described as being of light complexion, wearing dark clothes, tan boots, and about twenty years of age.

Stole an Overcoat.

The fraudulent collector, during his stay here boarded at the home of Mrs. Edgar, Sherbrooke Place. He came there a little over a week ago, and left on Wednesday. In speaking to an Examiner reporter, another boarder at the same house thought that the description of the one arrested at Havelock tallied exactly with that of the mysterious boarder. He said that he had come from Brisbane, Australia. He wore a short jacket coat, but when he left he stole a fine overcoat belonging to one of the other boarders. He carried a revolver, having shown it to a fellow. He stated that he had a license to carry it. He was a very young fellow.

County Council Did Not Know What To Do With Revolvers

Three revolvers were unwrapped from a package yesterday afternoon by Warden Moher, at the County Council, when County Magistrate Edmison turned them over to the Council to dispose of them as they saw fit. The Councillors were in a quandary as to what they should do with these little death-defiers, harmless as they were, unloaded. The Magistrate had confiscated the weapons from prisoners who had been before him. One of them had been purchased by a man who intended to shoot his wife. Just why he was filled with such a friendly sentment towards his better half has not been given out, but the county authorities received notification of his intentions before he could carry out his threats, disarmed him and, well there was nothing more heard of the affair. A second revolver, the largest of the cluster, had been carried by a man who was afterwards sent to Kingston. He had entered a store at Buckhorn, held up several young ladies that were there, rifled the till and disappeared in the darkness. The other revolver has had, according to the stories connected with it, a varied and wide experience. It was confiscated from the gypsies, who paid this locality a visit last summer, and the only returns the county received for its money was the satisfaction that the visitors provided a nine days' wonder for the citizens and people, and were in one respect really worth the money. The revolver was the only item on the credit side of the account. Anyway Queen Rosie was "some class" with a revolver and No. 3 was her favourite, so they say. It is even told that she took it home with her to Bulgaria on her last visit, and that it played an important part in freeing her from a bandit band that closed around her little party in a narrow pass in the mountains that fringe one of the southern provinces. So much for the story that some one had the audacity to relate. The County Councillors decided that they did not personally want the weapons and they settled the question by just doing nothing at all. The County Clerk picked them up at the close of the meeting and brought them down to his office.

A WONDERFUL BOOM IN THE WEST

Sunny Alberta is a land of resource, so marvellous and possibilities so many and varied that it would take columns to tell of them all. The greatest development in Western Canada for the next decade will be in Southern Alberta, and the opportunities are so wonderful that within the next few months she will enter upon an era of development such as the world has never seen before.

In the heart of this land of promise at the junction of two lines of railways already in operation and two more rapidly building towards it, is the wide-awake city of Stirling, with a record for rapid and substantial development, remarkable even in the West, where towns spring up almost in a night.

Stirling is located on the main line of the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company, running south from Lethbridge to the American boundary, at Coutts, where it meets the Great Northern. Another branch leaves Stirling running due west to Cardston.

In southern Alberta prosperity lifts the lack of money out of life and thereby annihilates the greatest cause of tribulation. The opportunities for accumulating wealth there are in abundance and phenomenal fortunes are being made out of real estate.

Stirling, even though a young town, is up-to-date in every way, with one of the finest hotels in the west, telephone and telegraph service and electric light plant; the climate is one of the finest in Canada and the scenery looking west to the Rockies, is one of the greatest magnificence.

Twenty years ago Edmonton and Calgary were what Stirling is to-day and hundreds of thousands of dollars have been made by those who bought lots in these cities and there is no doubt that Stirling will have the same marvellous record.

GIVEN A PEARL RING

Presentation to Miss May Smyth of Cold Springs by a Number of Friends.

Miss May Smyth, of Cold Springs, Otonabee, who is leaving for St. Catharines, to take up a course in nursing there, has been honoured by a presentation and address from her friends.

On Wednesday evening a surprise party of about forty-five young people gathered at her home to spend the evening, During the evening Mr. Frank Lockington made the presentation to Miss Smyth of a beautiful twin pearl ring, while the following address was read by Miss Alice Stenton.:

Cold Springs, Jan. 26th, 1910.

Miss May Smyth, Cold Springs, Otonabee:

Dear Miss Smyth,—We, your friends have learned with sincere regret of your departure from our neighbourhood, but although you will be separated from us, we trust you will not forget us. We will ever remember with pleasure and gratitude the good times we have spent together. As a slight token of our appreciation and esteem of your efforts put forth to entertain us and as a remembrance we beg of you to accept this token, and our hope and prayer is that you may have every success in your new undertaking, and we do sincerely hope that you may be able to remember with feelings of pleasure your stay among us.

Signed on behalf of your well-wishers, Roy Speirs, Alice Stenton, Scott Huston, Laura Bennett, Alex. Long, Ruth Waldie, Teresa Taylor.

NOT READY FOR COMMISSIONER

Council Approves of the Idea and Asks for an Appropriation, But They Want to Discuss it More Minutely.

QUESTIONED BY ALDERMEN

"That a Commissioner of Industries be appointed and that an appropriation be made for that purpose."

This clause in the report of the Committee of the Whole Council, as presented last night caught Ald. Buller's eye as he scanned the typewritten page each alderman receives.

"I think we ought to go a little slowly in this matter," he said. "It's a question whether we are big enough for the hiring of a commissioner at a large salary." Ald. Buller questioned whether this official was the success accredited him in other cities. He moved that the clause be struck off from the report and Ald. Metherel supported him.

Ald. Bradburn did not entirely agree with this somewhat peremptory method of dealing with the question." I don't think we ought to strike it off entirely," he said. "We ought to spend some time in considering it. We should take it up alone at some meeting and have prepared a statement of what a commissioner would cost the city and other facts connected with the appointment.

Mayor Morrow remarked that he understood the clause only to approve of the appointment.

Ald. Gillespie said he had brought it up at a former meeting in order that it could be thoroughly considered. He did not intend that it should go through without a full discussion. He felt that an appropriation could be made now before it was too late.

The clause was finally changed to read "That the committee approve of the appointment of a Commissioner, and that an appropriation be made for the appointent."

The Council has still to come to some definite idea as to what they will do, with this appointment and the question will be thrashed out in the near future.

AN ATTRACTIVE INVESTMENT

Cumulative Preference Shares Offered for Subscription by John MacIntosh's Limited.

From a careful reading of the Prospectus of John MacIntosh's Toffee, Limited, who are offering for subscription $50,000.00 7% Cumulative Preference Shares, it is immediately evident that the flotation is something a little better than what is usually offered the investor, something different and more attractive as dividends on the Cumulative Preference stock are not only assured, but there is a substantial prospect of a rapid increase in market values. The Company has the advantage of being thoroughly established in Canada, having had its Brockville factory in active operation during the past eighteen months and prior to that time Canadians consumed over 2,688 packages of MacIntosh's Toffee daily, which were imported from the English and United States factories. With local factory and active management on spot the opportunity to do greater business has been considerably enhanced. The very low and conservative capitalization is another attractive feature, it being placed at $100,000, divided into 500 shares at $100.00 each. A study of the profits as illustrated in the prospectus would make one wish he were not only financially but actively engaged in the Toffee business. The charter was secured and financial matters arranged by Athol George Robertson of Manning Chambers, Toronto. The terms of payment are $25.00 with subscription and $75.00 at time of allotment. Those who wish a really good investment should write or wire to the Investment Agents, Morris Edgar & Company, 166 Bay street, Toronto.

"NOT OUTS" DANCE

Held at Conservatory Last Night—A Great Success.

The "not outs' fancy dress ball at the Conservatory hall last evening was a very delightful affair. A large number of young people were present and thoroughly enjoyed the dancing to the excellent music provided by Miss Gladman and Miss Julia Choate. The fancy dresses and comic costumes of the young people presented a very attractive appearance in the gaily decorated room. Supper was served at half past eleven. The patronesses were Mesdames A. H. Stratton, J. A. Aylmer, Wallis, T. F. Matthews and W. R. Morris.

The prizes were for the best costumes and were won by Reggie Stratton and Miss Esme Aylmer.

APPOINTMENT OF THE MARKET CLERK

Is Approved by County Council Who State That Present System Has Very Many Advantages Over the Former System.

MAKE RECOMMENDATION

The members of the County Council waited upon the Legal Committee of the City Council last night in regard to the claim of Mr. Shermann, of Verulam, who lost a horse in Pigeon Creek, in December. The committee decided to have the City Solicitor investigate the claim, which will be considered by the joint committee. While the County representatives were present they had a few other topics to talk about, and although it was not the entire Council who heard them they had their little say anyway. The representatives of the various townships expressed themselves as entirely pleased with the present system of conducting the market, that is in regard to the appointment of the clerk. The farmers, the different speakers said, preferred the present system to the former method of letting the market by contract. The treatment they received was more considerate for, under the old system, they felt that the clerk was in the position for all the money he could get out of it, without any consideration for the good of the market or the feelings of the farmers and their wives. They recommended that the market clerkship be let according to the plan now in vogue.

The County Councillors also showed themselves unchanged in their decision not to accept any persons from the city as inmates to the House of Refuge. Ald. Turner brought up the question merely to find out what were the views of the County, but the opinions the Councillors expressed on former occasions remain unchanged.

Reeve Robert Shaw of Harvey, conveyed the intelligence in kindly words that the House of Refuge could not receive any one from this city. The institution was not erected for that purpose, and, well, it was simply out of the question.

HAD A SLEIGH DRIVE

A. Y. P. A. of St. Luke's Church Spent a Pleasant Evening.

The A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's church had a most enjoyable sleigh drive to the country last evening. Two sleigh loads left the city at 8 o'clock and drove to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mackay in Douro, where they were pleasantly entertained with games and music. Refreshments were served and before returning home a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Mackay for their kind hospitality, and to the two gentlemen who supplied the vehicles.

TO SECURE POWER

Special Committee to Procure Plans For Developing at Waterworks Dam.

The special power committee, of which Ald. Turner is chairman, has taken up the question of the development of power at the waterworks dam, a movement which will undoubtedly meet with the approval of every citizen. The Council is practically a unit in its intentions to act in this regard during the present year, and the provisions made by the Water Commissioners afford an opportunity which it is generally felt should not be allowed to pass unnoticed. At the meeting of the Council Ald. Turner presented the following report, which was adopted:

"Your Special Power Committee beg leave to report and recommend that the Peterborough Water Comissioners be requested to procure plans and all data necessary to ascertain the cost of developing the electrical power at the waterworks dam that can be developed after the water required for waterworks purposes is reserved."

CURE FOR WHOOPING COUGH

Mrs. William Ball, Bracebridge, Ont. writes: "My three boys had whooping cough and we could get nothing to help them until we used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. This was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment."

AGREEMENT BETWEEN CITY AND QUAKER OATS CO. NOT COMPLETED

The Possibility of High Level Bridge in the Future Presents Feature the Company Would Not Likely Agree to, Mr. Denham Stated---Asks for Some Consideration.

COMMITTEE WILL AGAIN CONSIDER THE MATTER

A question the future may develop blocked the passing of an agreement last night at the Council meeting, between the city and the Quaker Oats Co., whereby Quaker street is to be closed and sold to the Company, who will erect an $80,000 warehouse during the coming spring and summer. The particulars of the arrangements have been published before, but several additions added by the City Solicitor proved too much for Mr. Denham, who spoke in the interests of the Company. Mr. E. H. D. Hall was providing for the erection of a high level bridge some time in the near or distant future, and the particular clause stated that the Company waive all rights for damages to their property in case the bridge is erected. The understanding is that the bridge will extend from the brow of the hill on the west side of the river to the opposite crest near the corner of Burnham and Hunter streets, east. Another item regarding the deeding of property now was not exactly to the liking of Mr. Denham, who was not satisfied to deal with the indefinite future. With the two clauses struck out he felt the Company would accept the rest and proceed with the work of building the new warehouse at once. He remarked that the company should receive at least the same consideration that would be accorded a new factory. The erection of the high level bridge would necessitate the filling in of the road way up to it and the conditions fifteen or fifty years hence could not be appreciated now. Ald. Hicks submitted that these clauses should be arranged now and the filling in part could be specified in the agreement. He understood that at each end of the bridge there would be a viaduct and this would not interfere with the entrance into the Company's yards.

The matter was finally left unsettled. Ald. Phelan moved that it be referred to the Committee of the Whole Council to report on again at the next meeting in February.

It was moved by Ald. Hicks and Ald. Duncan, that the city clerk be authorized to advertize the closing of Quaker street and conveying it to the Quaker Oats Company.—Carried.

Claims Against City Due To Negligence, Said Aldermen

When the report of the Legal Committee was presented to the Council last night Ald. Turner stated that he felt inclined to move a vote of censure against somebody on account of the city having to pay $500.00 to the Cranley estate as the result of an accident, which, it was said, was due to negligence on the part of some city official. He was chairman of the Legal Committee last year, and a number of claims had been presented. One was for $120, another for $90, and this last was for $500, almost enough, he remarked to pay another man to do nothing else but see that the walks and everything were in good repair, that accidents might be prevented. Several of the aldermen expressed themselves to the effect that there should be no carelessness, particularly in the winter, when there is not the same amount of work to be done by the street workmen. At one stage it was almost decided upon to hold an enquiry into the cause of this particular accident, which was costing the city five hundred "Williams," but it was dropped, and Ald. Hicks, the new chairman of the Board of Works, stated that he would speak to the officials.

PITTSBURGERS SORE

Lost $15,000 Backing Smallwood to Beat Longboat.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan 29.—The Longboat-Smallwood foot race is still being freely discussed. Sports of Pittsburg who figured themselves as among the wise, bet heavily on Smallwood yesterday afternoon, giving odds of 10 to 4 that he would beat the Indian.

It is estimated that $15,000 was bet on Smallwood at these heavy odds, but Longboat ran away from him after the fifth mile. Smallwood, while running the sixth mile, developed what he claims was a severe cramp, and did not run the race that had been expected. His close friends to-day declare that he was overtrained, while Smallwood gives out that he does not know what was the matter with him, that he appeared to feel dopey after running a bit, leaving the impression that something in his food or water had been fixed.

Aside from Smallwood's great record those who plunged on him had additional grounds for hope when they saw him run the 12-mile course on Sunday afternoon privately in 1.04.1-8 which they considered far more than good enough to beat the Indian. On this performance the odds were made and those who witnessed the private exhibition are now broke.

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN COMPANY.

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company entered upon its silver jubilee year under happy auspices. The annual report presented at the twenty-fifth annual meeting, showed that the Company entered upon its second quarter century with the best record in its history. At the annual meeting of the shareholders, held at the head office here, 437 George St., yesterday afternoon, the directors' report showed a year of gratifying prosperity. The net earnings for 1909 —$124,120.31—were the largest recorded by the Company. Out of this four quarterly dividends at six per cent. were paid, which, with a bonus of two per cent. per year, was equivalent to 8 per cent. The reserve fund was strengthened by $30,000, bringing its total up to $680,000, which is 68 per cent. of the paid-up capital. A balance of $36,429.30 was credited to profit and loss. During the year the assets increased by $133,028.78, and now stand at $3,120,201.18. All payments in respect of the Company's investments have been satisfactorily met, rentals proptly paid, and altogether the Company has had the best year of its life, a circumstance, for which the management deserves a due share of credit.

A GOOD BANK STATEMENT.

At the annual meeting of the Traders Bank held at the head office, the statement presented showed a prosperous year for this advancing institution. From the profits of the year, after making the usual deductions and the usual conditional allowances, there were paid three quarterly dividends at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, one at the rate of eight per cent. The sum of $200,000 was added to the rest account, bringing the total up to $2,200,000, and $102,443.40 was placed to the credit of profit and loss account. There has been a very satisfactory growth in deposits; these show an increase of $4,420,000, or 17.44 per cent. over the increase of the preceding year, the present year beginning with a total of $29,813,194. The circulation also showed a large increase, the average being about $2,500,000, though during the year it reached the highest figures in the history of the bank—namely, $3,543,000. There is a very large increase in the assets of the bank as compared with the previous year. The increase in this respect was $5,104,000, as against an increase in 1908 of $1,139,000. The assets of the bank now total $39,963,996.11. A decided increase is reported in business connections as well as an expansion of operations represented by the opening of twenty new branches. The report shows a healthy condition of the business of the bank, a strengthening of its resources, and a decided advance in all departments.

The Lakefield Branch of the Bank is under the management of Mr. J. M. Duck.

THE COMBINES ACT.

(Hamilton Times.)

A brief reference to the character and purpose of the bill just introduced into Parliament by Hon. Mr. King entitled "The Combines Investigation Act," would seem to be appropriate at this time. The measure is described as "an Act to provide for the investigation of Combines, Monopolies, Trusts and Merges, which may enhance prices or restrict competition to the detriment of consumers."

The administration of the Act will be in the hands of the Minister of Labour, and the Governor in Council shall appoint a registrar of boards of investigation.

The Act may be put in operation at any time on application of six or more persons who are of opinion that a combine exists, whereby prices have been enhanced or competition restricted to the detriment of the consumers. The application is to be accompanied with a statutory declaration by each of the applicants, averring that to the best of his knowledge and belief the facts are as stated, and asking for an inquiry.

The judge must fix a time and place for the hearing within 30 days, and applicants are entitled to counsel. If reasonable ground is shown for believing that a combine exists, the judge must direct an investigation.

The investigating board shall consist of three members, one appointed on the recommendation of the applicants, one on recommendation of those alleged to be concerned in the combine, and the third on the recommendation of the two members so chosen. If they fail to recommend a third, the Minister of Labour will appoint him. No person who has a pecuniary interest in the alleged combine can act.

The members of the board are sworn to the duties for which they are chosen. The board shall inquire expeditiously and thoroughly, and shall make a detailed report to the Minister together with its findings and recommendations, and this report is to be given to the press and published in the Canada Gazette.

The customs duties on any article dealt in by such combines may be reduced, or entirely removed. Patents protecting any article the subject of a combine may be revoked. Combines restricting manufacture, trade or competition may be indicted and shall be liable, to a fine of $1,000 and costs for each day after ten days from the date of the publication of the report of the board, during which they offend. Severe penalties are provided for contempt of the process of the board, and it is clothed with all the powers of the high court. Provision is made for the payment of the members of the board and its proceedings are to be reported to Parliament.

The measure appears to be an honest effort on broad lines to deal with combines that are harmful to the public without doing injury to such combinations as are beneficial. A few organs have condemned it out of hand, but the reasons advanced for such a course have not been very conclusive. When we reflect on the fact that the Lemieux Act was similarly denounced, and declared to be inconclusive and absurd, we are inclined to give Mr. King's measure careful consideration before holding it to be unworkable. The very publicity which it is calculated to ensure in cases in which its provisions are invoked would not damage innocent combinations of capital.

One fact is better than ten hearsays.—Ask Doctor Burgess, Supt. Hospital for Insane, Montreal, for his opinion of the D. and L. Menthol Plaster. The genuine made only by Davis and Lawrence Co."

APPOINTED GRAIN INSPECTOR

Mr. Francis Hurley, son of the late Inspector Mr. John Hurley, has been appointed grain inspector for the Midland District. Mr. Hurley has assisted his father for some years and his appointment, as guaranteeing effective service, will meet with general approval.

THE GYROSCOPE AND SOME OF THE CHANGES IT PROMISES

From the practical applications that have already been made of the wonderful gyroscopic principle to the three chief methods of travel, it is no tax upon our powers of conception to forsee the almost limitless possibilities that may reasonably result from its further an dmore general use.

When we come to consider the transportation facilities of the future, governed, as they doubtless will be, by the gyrosta, we see a condition of things which tugs at our credulity, but which may be, nevertheless, confidently expected from the promises which men experimenting with the principle are making.

When the existing steam roads are supplanted by the monorail system in this country it will be possible to go from New York to San Francisco in about 20 hous. That will mean that a business man can leave his office on Broadway at the colse of his day's business, have dinner, board a train for San Francisco and reach his destination in the morning in time to have breakfast at the hotel before meeting an early forenoon appointment.

Such rapid transit will allow of our seeing the sun set in New York and of getting to San Francisco in time to see it rise the next morning—from ocean to ocean "between sun and sun.

A merchant in San Francisco will be able to send an order by mail from New York Monday night and have the goods in his store Wednesday, whereas ten days is the very shortest time this can b edone now.

The application of the gyroscopic principle will bring the different points of the country into closer touch with each other than ever. People in New York and Chicago will be neighbors, for monorail trains will go to Chicago and back the same day easily. Now one must spend nearly a whole day and night in making the trip one way.

A party can drop over to Boston from New York for an evening's game of bridge and return as soon at is is over with comfort, for an hour's ride will cover the distance between the cities. No invention has ever been put forth which does more toward discounting distances, from a physical standpoint, than that of the gyrostat.

It will make Philadelphia and Albany suburbs of New York and will put the nation's capital almost within an hour's ride of the metropolis. Women in Boston can do an afternoon's shopping in New York, having luncheon and dinner at home.

t will result in the development of untenanted land within the radius of 150 miles of every large city, for commuters will find that they can live that far out and get to their work in the cities in from half to three-quarters of an hour, the time now consumed in covering one-tenth of that distance under existing methods of transportation.

But not alone in railway traffic will a great change take place. On the high seas will this discovery work its miracles. The dread most people have of crossing the oceans, because of seasickness, will be allayed, for it has been demonstrated that the gyrostat prevents the rolling of the vessel keeping it on an even keel. As the starboard or port side of the ship starts to roll up under the force of a wave the whirring gyroscope wheel forces that side down and this wonderful, unseen, almost uncanny force keeps the deck so firm and steady that a child may romp at will in the heaviest seas.

This steadying effect upon a vessel will allow, of course, of greater speed than is even now attainable with the ne wturbine engine and with improved types of turbines, supplemented with the gyrostat, it will be possible to send a great liner skimming from London or Liverpool to New York in four and perhaps three days. Then will the jest about "dropping over to London for the week-end" be no longer a pleasantry.

A Husbands' Sacrifice.

New York, Jan. 29.—In a written statement, witnessed by the German consul here, Karl Jorn, the German tenor, made public last night the terms of his separation from his wife. Like Ruskin, he surrenders his wife to the man she loves.

"I have agreed," said Jorn, "that she get a divorce so that she can marry the man of her choice. Furthermore, I have bound myself to pay her $35,000 in cash and $1,000 a year until she is married again. To our three children I give $1,000 a year for the rest of their lives. I gave my wife all the money I had before she sailed and I did not even have 50 cents to buy her a bunch of violets at the pier."

Jorn kissed his wife affectionately before she sailed last week for Germany. He met her when a young man struggling for success and their life until recently has been very happy together.

Woman Attempts Suicide.

Hamilton, Jan. 29.—Because of ill-health Mrs. Stewart, 23 Chestnut avenue, wife of Robert Stewart, caretaker of the Barton street school, tried to end her life yesterday. While alone in the house she slashed her throat with a razor and then set fire to her clothing. When a neighbor called, the wounded woman opened the door, though her throat was gashed and she was suffering from horrible burns.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto, the Queen City of Canada, has much of the beautiful. It is found in the many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens. Its government buildings are fine. Of hotels there are many; none, however, approaching the Queen's for perfect service, quiet comfort, and homelike surroundings, and the peculiar excellence of its cuisine. Its fame is far-reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. The charges are based on the American and European plan, and are as follows:

Rooms without bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up; Rooms with bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up; Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up

Unionists Lead by One.

London, Jan. 29.—The position of the parties last night is as follows:

Unionists, 264.
Liberals, 263.
Laborites, 40.
Nationalists, 77.

Now that the electoral struggle is on the point of closing, the curious effect is seen of both parties claiming victory and both supporting their claim with plausible arguments, broadly speaking, on the question of free trade against protection.

It cannot be said that the elections have decided anything, and it is difficult to judge whether the country as a whole is tending one way or the other.

There were five Unionists gains in the few returns reported yesterday, including Buteshire, in Scotland.

Unable to Secure Work.

This was the end that faced Thos. Miller, a boilermaker, with a wife and nine children to support, who had been out of work for several months and who hanged himself in the cellar of his home at 103 Cherry street yesterday morning. After he had been turned down on a position that he had hoped to get.

Miller returned home after the refusal and went to his room. There he threw himself upon his bed and wept. In a short time he went downstairs and seemed resigned. He went into the cellar. About 15 minutes later his son followed and found him swinging from a beam by a piece of clothesline. He was quite dead.

In the cold house where they lived in abject poverty for months the family of nine children and the mother who is sick sit alone with their misery in hopeless despair.

Floors Collapse In Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—With a tremendous roar, three floors of the old Savoy building at the northwest corner of Adelaide and Yonge streets, deprived of the support of the inner walls while being remodelled, collapsed shortly after three o'clock yesterday afternoon. The great timbers and part of the heavy brick outer walls fell inward upon the fifty workmen engaged in the basement of the building.

Fortunately the noise of the breaking away was heard before the mass dropped, and the men were able to seek safety close to the walls. Only one was hurt, and he so slightly that he was able to continue at work.

Children's Marvelous Escape.

Andover, Ohio, Jan. 29.—A bobsled carrying twenty school children was struck by a fast passenger train on North Main street yesterday and carried upwards of 200 feet upon the pilot of the locomotive, until brushed off by an engine standing upon a side track.

Not one child is killed and none is thought to be seriously hurt.

Battle In Nicaragua.

Washington, Jan. 29.—An official telegram to the State Department from Managua says it is rumored there that a battle has been fought between the Madriz and the Estrada forces near La Libertad with heavy losses.

Request Government Ownership.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Renewing the request that the Government take over the grain elevators at Port William and Port Arthur, a deputation of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association and the Millers' Association conferred with Sir Richard Cartwright yesterday. It was argued that better inspection, closer supervision, prevention of fraud and improved conditions to the farmer generally would result from Government ownership. The cost would be around $8,000,000.

The Forty-Third Victim.

Sudbury, Jan. 29.—The body of Charles Duff, has been recovered from the Spanish River. A sister lives in St. John, N.B. He was en route to Oregon.

George A. Tees, of Cochrane, whose seven-year-old daughter and father-in-law perished in the wreck, is further bereaved yesterday by the death of his wife, who had been critically ill for sometime, and who died without knowing of the tragedy.

British Torpedo Boat Ashore.

Dover, Eng., Jan. 29.—Fifty-three officers and men were saved from the British torpedo boat destroyer Eden yesterday by means of the breeches buoy.

The Eden broke her moorings during a gale in the channel Wednesday night and was driven ashore off this place.

HELPING ONTARIO.

Toronto, Jan. 29—Hon. Col. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, announced at the close of yesterday's session of the Legislature that he hoped to be able to bring down the budget on Thursday, if all the estimates were ready by that time.

In bringing forward a motion expressing grateful satisfaction at the donations which have been made to the province towards the reconstruction of the library, the treasurer mentioned that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had generously given instructions to all the departments of the Dominion Government to do all in their power to assist the province. The Dominion had contributed 700 volumes. Sir Lomer Gouin had also been most kind. Books had also been contributed by the Government of the United States and quite a number of the State Governments, by the Government of Victoria, Australia, and by many private persons. Only a few days ago he had received a generous offer from a former member of the House, Hon. Richard Harcourt. The Imperial Government was also prepared to assist. He expressed his conviction that in a few years the House would have a better library than ever before. About 1,500 volumes in all had been presented up to date.

A message was received from the Lieutenant-Governor asking that supplementary estimates be passed to cover $450,000 for capital account on the construction of the Hydro-Electric power transmission line from Niagara Falls, and $28,000 for the construction of colonization roads, for both of which warrants had already been issued. The House went into committee on these and the committees reported progress.

The second statute revision bills, introduced Thursday, received their second reading and will go to committee Tuesday.

The House went into committee on a number of other revision bills. In the consideration of a bill of Hon. J. J. Foy "respecting limited partnerships," W. F. Nickle thought that companies should be required to specify the location of their "head office" rather than their "principal place of business." The latter term might allow them to specify one place one year and another the next. The Attorney-General held to the opinion that no question could arise as to the synonymity of the terms.

The House ratified the contracts with Wm. Briggs of the Methodist Book Room for printing and binding, and with E. Harcourt Co., Ltd., for binding for the Legislature.

The special committee to strike the standing committees was appointed by the House.

Bills which got their first reading were: "An act respecting limitations of actions."—Sir James Whitney.

Society Women as Nurses.

New York, Jan. 29.—While defending an aged and helpless man from three tormentors yesterday, Thomas Graham, a partially paralyzed newsboy was stabbed three times by one of the men in Herald Square.

An ambulance failing to respond promptly, two women in an automobile, who had paused at sight of the crowd, took the wounded newsboy into the machine.

While the car sped to Bellevue Hospital, they held him on their laps and their rich dresses became saturated with his blood. Doctors said that the crippled lad would probably die. Two arrests were made.

Exporting Cattle.

Boston, Jan. 29.—The agitation against the high cost of food has begun to show results in Boston, a general decline in the prices of meat occurring in the markets. Retail prices have fallen from 2 to 4 cents a pound on the higher grades of meat.

More beef is being shipped to Europe on account of the boycott. Two cattle boats, which sailed from this port for England Thursday, each had steers aboard considerably in excess of the number originally booked. Another steamer sailed yesterday also with a great herd under the decks.

Wives Are to Blame.

New York, Jan. 29.—James J. Hill, one of the first persons to issue a warning against national extravagance and its reflection in the advanced cost of living, said yesterday that half the problem lies in the discretion of the housewife.

"If a housekeeper," said Mr. Hill, "instead of standing in front of a telephone to order the family supplies, would go to the market and learn what foods are cheap, and what are dear, there would be less of this kind of talk. The high cost of living is the cost of living high."

Libel Suits Against Le Devoir.

Montreal, Jan. 29.—Le Devoir Henri Bourassa's publication, which has been taking a hand in the municipal fight, has, as the result of knocks it has been handing out, libel suits on hand aggregating $32,000, all taken this week, four in number.

The one entered yesterday is by Gaston Maillet, a candidate for civic honors, and it is stated that a well known contractor intends suing the paper for $50,000 libel in the course of a few days.

Mayor Payette is also out for $10,000 of Le Devoir's money.

Lawyer Patrick Disbarred.

New York, Jan. 29.—Albert T. Patrick, who has been a prisoner for nearly ten years, and who is now serving a life sentence in Sing Sing Prison for the murder of Millionaire Wm. Marsh Rice, was yesterday formally disbarred as a practicing lawyer by the appellate division of the Supreme Court. Taking advantage of his position as a member of the Bar, Patrick has been able to fight his case for many...

STUART STRATHY,
General Manager.

Toronto, 31st December, 1909.

During the year the following branches were opened: Bruce Mines, Camrose, Castor, Chapleau, Didsbury, Dryden, Embrun, Forget, Gadsby, Gerrard and Main streets (Toronto), Gerrard and Jones (Toronto), Gleichen, Holden, Lynden, Market Branch (Hamilton), Montreal, Vancouver, Vars, West Fort William, Yonge and Richmond streets (Toronto), and Zealandia. One branch, Hepworth, was closed.

The General Manager's Address.

The General Manager, having read the foregoing report, made the following comments:

You can see by the foregoing statement that the Bank has made substantial increase in every department during the past year. The deposits now amount to $29,880,000, as compared with $25,380,000 a year ago, while, during the same period, the circulation of the Bank has risen from $2,600,000 to over $3,000,000. These additional funds have been used to the extent of over $3,800,000 to further the commercial needs of the country by an increase in loans to the public to that extent.

Out of the profits of the year we have been able to pay dividends amounting to $315,671.48, and together with the amount carried over from last year, after making the usual appropriations to Guarantee and Pension Funds of $10,000, and writing off $20,000 on account of Bank Premises, etc., we have added to Rest Account the sum of $200,000, making that fund a little over 50 per cent. of the paid-up capital stock of the Bank, while the sum of $102,442.40 has been carried to the credit of Profit and Loss "New Account."

Cash Reserve.

You will notice by the statement the strong position which the Bank maintains as regards Cash Reserves. It is the fixed policy of the Bank to maintain a large proportion of its assets in a readily convertible form. This policy necessitates a large amount of funds at its disposal, to be employed at low rates. The Management of the Bank, however, considers it the first essential that the Bank shall be at all times in a position to take care of its rapidly increasing clientele in all varying conditions of trade. That this policy is in the best interests of the Bank has been amply justified, the Bank being able during the recent times of an exceptionally tight money market to take care of all the legitimate wants of its borrowers. Our ability to do this has given the Bank a connection which is of inestimable value, not only in augmenting old clients to the Bank, but in attracting new business towards us.

Canada's Resources Attracting Good Settlers.

We have been blessed with a bountiful harvest during the period under review, not only in one section of this vast Dominion, but in all sections, the field crops alone yielding in money value about $523,000,000, not to mention all the other natural resources of this vast country. True it is, our population is very limited, considering the immense territory belonging to us; but a large tide of immigration has commenced to be attracted towards us. It is estimated that in the neighborhood of 90,000 American settlers alone, with perhaps $90,000,000 in cash, have settled in the North-west Territories within the last year, besides settlers from Europe, amounting roughly to another 32,000 souls.

It is a platitude to say that the potentialities of this country are not to be conceived of, and the prospects of the country are identical with the prospects of its financial institutions, and that your property will increase in value with the growth of the Country it is only reasonable to assume. The rapid settlement which will ensue by the completion of three Transcontinental Railroads will increase our population at an enormous rate, and who is bold enough to predict what proportions its commerce will assume say within the next ten years? The money markets of the world are open to us, investors abroad realising the intrinsic value of our securities and the increasing value which will naturally accrue to the same as the Country is developed. I sincerely trust we may so fulfill our obligations, private and corporate, to merit this confidence.

The Bank's Progress.

This Bank's ramifications have been extended during the past year by the opening of several new Branches. Amongst the most important, I mention Montreal and Vancouver. Our growing business demanded our occupation of these important points, and the growth of the Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta has induced us to increase our sphere of influence in those Provinces.

The Capital of the Bank now amounts to $4,354,500, and the Rest Account to $2,200,000. It is interesting to note the growth of your property as compared with ten years ago:

Capital paid up	$ 700,000	$ 4,354,500
Rest Account	70,800	2,200,000
Deposits	5,461,000	29,813,000
Circulation	581,000	3,060,000
Total Assets	7,638,000	39,963,000

The revival in all lines of business on this Continent is more or less apparent. It is natural that we should feel the mighty impetus which follows from a favorable state of affairs in our agricultural and other resources. We must not forget, however, that it is during such times we are apt to overshoot the mark of prudence in the matter of extensions. The inevitable cycle of bad times is bound to recur, and it behooves us to keep our commitments well in hand to prepare for other conditions when a policy of retrenchment will be necessary.

It will afford me much pleasure to answer any questions in connection with the statement which any of our Shareholders may see fit to ask.

The Vice-President's Address.

The bank has been more than prosperous during the past year. Benefitting by the general advancement of all branches of business and receiving its full share of the advantages resulting from greatly improved conditions in the trade of the country, the Bank has been able to present to you a report which is as highly creditable to the management as it must be gratifying to the shareholders. At no time in its history has it presented more satisfactory results, nor has it ever been in as strong a position as it occupies to-day. Its reserves have been strengthened and its business largely extended. The deposits have greatly increased and the assets are readily available. The field of its operations has been extended and several new and highly important branches have been organized. A thorough revision of the working of the staff, and the management of the various agencies has been exercised, and your directors are in close relation to the business transactions and affairs of the Bank from the Head Office down to the smallest Branch. We have endeavored to bring the numerous details and many dealings of the various offices directly before the Board by means of systematic arrangement, in order that we may have an actual knowledge of what is going on in all the offices.

The Auditor to the Board.

The services of the Auditor to the Board have been devoted largely to this important work, and by his efforts we are enabled to pass upon the whole records of the Bank's business in an intelligent and effective manner. To illustrate I might mention the matter of credits. By systematic and exact reports which we receive every week your Board is informed of how credits are being dealt with, how far accounts are being paid off as they mature, to what extent credits may be affected by over-draft or change in securities, and how each Branch is progressing. By this method, no material move can be made without the sanction of the Board. The actual condition of important accounts is investigated from time to time and special reports concerning them are prepared and presented for such action as may be deemed advisable. Except in cases of small advances, every credit must be approved of by the Board on the fullest statement of the available facts. This method involves a large amount of work, but your Directors feel that they could not fully perform their duty to you and to themselves in any other way.

Economical Management.

Economy in every Branch of the business is insisted upon, and I am glad to say that in this we are assited by whole staff. Saving has been affected in the matter of supplies by placing this class of expenditure in the hands of a competent and careful official. In transferring and appointing Local Managers and clerks, in opening of new offices and in the division of the work there has been a decrease of expenditure wherever possible. In no case however, has this desire for economy been allowed to impair the efficiency of the working of the Bank.

Branch System Extended.

During the year, owing to the largely increased business of the Bank, we found it advisable to open some important branches. In Vancouver, an Agency has been established in a central and highly desirable location. A property was purchased which has already considerably increased in value, and the Bank has opened there with every prospect of success. An office has been opened in Montreal under favorable circumstances, and several desirable points between these two large cities have been selected for our Branches. The results from the Western field thus opened up have been very gratifying, and have fully justified the action taken by our Directors. It will also be necessary to consider in the near future what steps should be taken to connect our system with the Maritime Provinces, thereby extending our financial relations and still further increasing our facilities for doing business in all parts of Canada.

The astonishing growth and extension of Toronto, and its business, demanded serious consideration. The most important move made here was the opening within the past few weeks of a Branch at the corner of Yonge and Richmond streets in the office lately occupied by the Bank of Montreal. Already business of a most material character is coming to us at this Branch, and being in the centre of the commercial, financial, and trade locality of Toronto, this point will always be an important Agency.

Assets Sound.

I need not go into the details of the Annual Statement, which has just been read to you, and which you have had for some time past in your hands. I would like to point out to you, however, that we are able to add $200,000 to Rest Account, to contribute $20,000 in reduction of building and furniture account, to give $5,000 to Pension Fund for the benefit of disabled or old retiring officers, to add $5,000 to a Guarantee Fund to protect the Bank against loss by personal defalcation or losses through any member of its staff, and to carry something over $102,000 to Profit and Loss account.

In preparing this statement, we have dealt with the value of the Assets in a vigorous manner. There has been no hesitation in allowing most liberally reasonable provision for bad and doubtful debts, and I believe that no item has been knowingly placed amongst the assets at one dollar more than its actual and available value. We felt that the solidity and vital character of the Bank's business justified us in using more than ordinary criticism of what might be treated as doubtful, and I believe that had we applied the ordinary test to the valuation of our assets, the net gains would appear much in excess of what the statement shows.

Gratifying Increase in Business.

At the last Annual Meeting the statement was made that for 1909 great progress might be looked for. I am delighted to say that this statement has been fully verified. We have made, so far as I am aware, absolutely no bad debts during the year, except in a few small accounts which may yet be realized. The whole twelve months present a record of credits well observed, debts promptly paid, and no losses. Our deposits have increased at an astonishing rate, and this, after all, is one of the great tests of public confidence and of stability in a Bank's affairs. Look for one moment at the facts. The increase alone in our deposits for the past year is nearly as great as the total deposits were ten years ago, then representing nearly fourteen years' accumulation. This year's addition to Rest Account is three times more than the total Rest of the Bank ten years ago. We have added to our Total Assets in 1909 a sum almost equal to the whole assets of the Bank at that period, and the increase in circulation for 1909 is equal to two-thirds the whole circulation of the Bank at the same period of comparison. In addition to all this you are now receiving an increase in dividend of 1 per cent. as promised, with ample provision against all contingencies. The promises held out a year ago have therefore been fully met, and we have no doubt that the future will bring equally good if not better results in every branch of the Bank's business. Notwithstanding the low rate of interest during the earlier part of the year and the abundance of available money, the earnings of the Bank have not suffered. We are able to increase the Dividend and maintain at the same time a strong position with regard to all other obligations and contingencies. The increase in Dividend is warranted by the condition of the Bank's affairs, and we felt that the interests of the shareholders should be kept in view, as the Bank has reached the stage when it can well afford to recognize these interests without impairing its ability to perform all its other obligations.

It is also a source of pleasure to know that the relations between the Bank and its Customers are so satisfactory that litigation is almost unknown to the Bank's record for 1909. The absence of legal proceedings shows the accounts to be in a healthy condition, for it is only in cases of bad or doubtful credits that the law has to be invoked. Prompt payment and good security are the chief reasons why the Bank has not required the aid of the Courts, and when you consider that nearly $40,000,000 are under the control and management of the Bank with tens of thousands of accounts in all parts of the Dominion, outstanding and current, and that only a few suits have been entered during a whole year, you will readily conclude that the financial condition is safe and strong.

The Building.

One of the best investments of the Bank continues to be the Head Office Building. Every foot of rentable space is occupied, and the rents are promptly paid. After paying all outgoings the Bank receives nearly 5¼ per cent. net profit on the investment, or to be exact, 5.40 per cent. Rents appear to be increasing, notwithstanding the many new office buildings, and with our equipment and accommodation for tenants, there need be no fear as to the future revenue from this source. The other buildings also yield a good return and promise well for the future.

The staff, from the chief of the Executive to the messengers, are enthusiastic in their work, attentive to their duty, and efficient in every detail. Every office has been thoroughly inspected and full reports made to the Board thereon.

I now move that the Report for the year 1909 be adopted.

Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., seconded the motion. He pointed out that the Bank had risen from small beginnings to be one of the most important financial institutions in the Dominion. It had all the elements of sound progress and stability. The large deposits during the past year showed the confidence of the public. The absence of litigation proved that the debts were being promptly paid, or well secured, and the increase in the dividend, justified as it was, is the strongest evidence of the good earning power of the Bank. The Directors scrutinise every credit, except in very small accounts, and exercise their best discretion in determining the policy and conduct of the Bank's affairs.

The motion for the adoption of the report was carried unanimously.

It was moved by Mr. Geo. Le Riche and seconded by Mr. Geo. Watson that the thanks of the shareholders are due, and are hereby tendered, to the President, Vice-President, and Directors of the Bank for their attention to the interests of the Bank during the past year. Carried.

It was moved by Rev. J. S. Williamson and seconded by Mr. J. F. McKichan that the thanks of the Directors and Shareholders are due, and are hereby tendered, to the General Manager, the Assistant General Manager, and the staff of the Bank for their diligent attention to the interests of the Bank during the past year. Carried.

It was moved by Mr. Ed. Dickenson and seconded by Mr. J. J. Gibson that the ballot be now open for the election of Directors, and to be kept open until three o'clock, unless five minutes elapse without a vote being cast, when it shall be closed, and until that time, and for that purpose only, this meeting be continued.

The scrutineers reported the following gentlemen duly elected to act as Directors for the ensuing year, viz., C. D. Warren, Hon. J. R. Stratton, C. Kloepfer (Guelph), W. J. Sheppard (Waubaushene), C. S. Wilcox (Hamilton), E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., H. S. Strathy.

The meeting then adjourned.

At a subsequent meeting of the newly-elected Directors, Mr. C. D. Warren was re-elected President, and Hon. J. R. Stratton Vice-President, by a unanimous vote.

STUART STRATHY,
General Manager.

SEE THE COMET!

Was Easily Seen With the Naked Eye Last Evening and Will be in Sight To-night.

Drake's comet was visible to the naked eye in Peterborough shortly after 6 o'clock last night, and a few citizens had the benefit of the brilliant display in the Western sky.

The tail of the comet is twenty-five million miles long, and the display covers twenty degrees. If to-night is clear the comet will again be visible.

City Council Is Having Busy Time During The New Term

Special Meeting Held Last Night—License Reduction By-law Passed—The Various Committees Have Considerable Business on Their Slates.

DICKSON CO. REQUEST

The new City Council is showing a voracity for work that bespeaks a useful term of office during 1910. Already they have had several extra meetings and the subjects that have demanded consideration have in many cases been of unusual importance. Last night there was a slight falling off in the amount of business transacted in proportion to the talk that was incidental. Mayor Morrow presided and all members were present.

A communication was received from W. H. Gould, proprietor of a pool room on Water St. asking for a reduction of the license which at present is $40 a table. Referred to Finance committee.

From F. E. Coulter, secretary of the Single Tax Association, giving information about the Association and asking the city to join them.—Finance committee.

A letter was received from W. H. Ruse, offering suggestions in regard to the appointment of an Industrial commissioner.

An unsigned letter was read in which the writer applied for the position of caretaker of the Public Library. W. G. McKee also applied for the position.

O'Connell and Gordon, representing Mrs. M. Cadogan wrote in reference to the pollution of a well on her property by the septic tank in East City. Compensation is asked.—Referred to Board of Works.

A letter was received from the president of the Board of Trade of Orillia, asking Peterborough to join them in the move to have the northern end of the Trent canal completed at once.

Moved by Ald. Gillespie and Ald. Turner, that the city of Peterborough place itself on record urging the minister of railways and canals to hurry the work.

A copy of the resolution is to be sent to the chairman of the Orillia Board of Trade and a promise that Peterborough will do all in its power to assist the movement.

Reports were read and adopted from the several committees.

A statement was received from the Charity Board stating that there was a deficit of $1000 last year and asking for $3500 for this year.—Referred to Finance committee.

More Work for M.H.O.

In connection with the Fire, Water and Light committee's report, Ald. Turner suggested that the Medical Health officer's duties be defined and that it be arranged that he attend the firemen who may be injured. Mayor Morrow stated that Ald. Duncan's Property committee had this matter already under consideration.

When Ald. Morgan read the Fire, Water and Light committee report, Ald. Duncan referred to the painting of the exterior hall in a joking manner remarked that if the firemen are to do the work (and they likely will) that they become members of the Master Painters' Association. That would mean an addition of twelve or thirteen names on the membership roll.

Mr. E. L. Goodwill appeared on behalf of the Dickson Company in reference to sewer connection for their property north of McDonnel St. All that block of land has been cut into building lots. Some of those lots have been sold and they ask the council to establish a septic tank for the reception of sewage.

The matter was referred to the Board of Works.

By-laws.

Ald. Hicks moved the first reading of a by-law limiting the number of shop licenses to four. The by-law was carried.

Ald. Duncan and Ald. Morrow moved a by-law authorizing the City Trust to sell the property on Simcoe St. given to the city, for public library purposes by the Nicholls Estate to Hon. J. R. Stratton for $11,000.

Dan Spence Ambulance.

Mr. John Comstock was present in reference to the Dan Spence ambulance. He claimed that if the city wished to operate an ambulance they should do so themselves and not give it to a person in opposition to them. He was satisfied if it were placed in the fire hall and operated from there.

The matter was referred to the property committee.

It was then moved by Ald. Bradburn and Ald. Phelan that the mayor have authority to send deputations out of the city when he found it necessary, and that their expenses be paid on the mayor's certificate. Turn rule Appointing Assessors.

Mayor Morrow reminded the Council that the appointment had to be made at the February meeting of the Council. Moved by Ald. Graham and Metheral that an advertisement be published asking for applications for the position of assessors.

Moved in amendment, by Buller and Phelan, that the question be taken up by the committee of the Whole Council. The amendment lost by 4 votes to eight. Yeas and nays asked for by Ald. Duffus were as follows: Yeas—Ald. Phelan, Buller, Batten and Duffus. Nays — Ald. Graham, Metheral, Turner, Gillespie, Bradburn, Morgan, Duncan and Hicks.

Heating Market Hall.

Ald. Turner said he thought it was high time that the market building be heated from a central system and thus do away with the stoves in the market hall and also to have it properly heated.

He moved that it be referred to the Property committee to take it up with the City Trust Commissioners.

Ald. Morgan moved that the same committee take up the matter of a public lavatory under the market arcade. Ald. Buller seconded the motion and it carried.

Garbage Collecting.

Ald. Turner brought up the matter of a scavenger system and urged upon the council the necessity of it.

He moved that the matter of a garbage by-law be referred to the Property and Health committee.—Lost.

By-law Not Enforced.

Ald. Duffus gave notice of motion that he would introduce a by-law regulating the safety of buildings in which any number of people are congregated.

Ald. Bradburn stated that three years ago a by-law was passed covering all those matters if only the police would see that it is enforced.

COLD KILLS THE GERM.

Lieut. Perry Says There are no Bald Heads in the Arctic Region.

The people who come back from Klondike testify to the fact that no native bald heads are there. The evidence is that the cold climate kills the germs that eat the hair off at the root. Lieut. Perry, who went to the Arctic regions, gives the same evidence. Newbro's Herpicide has the same effect as the cold climate. It kills the germ that eats the hair off at the roots, and thi hair grows again. Herpicide is the first hair remedy built upon the principle of destroying the germ that eats the hair off. Its phenomenal sale demonstrates the correctness of the scalp germ theory. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

CANADIAN CLUB

The address by Dr. J. A. Macdonald before the Canadian Club at the National Hotel this evening promises to be attended by a large number of members. It is the first meeting of the Club this year and should not be overlooked. Those attending are asked to be in their places at 8.15.

Why is it that romance is always associated in the popular mind with youth, and why is it people can see the spirit of romance only in youthful or hasty marriages, and never in the mating of lovers of more mature years and acquaintanceship? Why this tendency to regard the youthful matrimonial venture as more interesting than the wedding of those of riper years?

"It wasn't a very romantic affair," you will hear a girl say. "The bridegroom was getting quite gray and the bride must have been at least thirty-five." Or, Rather dull; the poor things have been engaged for ten years and are quite middle-aged."

And these same ladies will positively gush over the romantic wedding which takes place, after only a few weeks' acquaintance, between two foolish young persons whose combined ages only amount to some forty years.

Why has this standard arisen? Why does the idea prevail that only the young and beautiful are capable of romance or suited to marriage? It is a most fallacious doctrine, which though constantly disproved, is tenaciously clung to by quite a large percentage of people, who regard the union of a mature couple with a kind of tolerant disdain.

In point of fact, it is in the days of their youth that the man and the maid know least about love. They are enthusiastic over sports, adore dancing, revel in theatres, and have a hundred and one absorbing interests. Every day brings some novelty, every week holds wondrous possibilities—to the very young. If Phillis has the blues, she sends for her dearest friend Clara to chase them away, or bicycles to the narest shops an dfinds consolation in the Spring fashions. Arthur, in the dumps, declares his liver is out of order and kicks it in again on the football field.

They are easily cured of their small ills, are these young people, and at the period of their existence marriage is but a mere incident in their lives. It gives to her a fredom from parents' influence and an importance hitherto unknown. Of course she is fond of Arthur; he is a dear boy, and one of the finest football players she has ever seen. He, for his part is proud of his pretty wife. He is glad to be away from the paternal eye, and comes home when he pleases, regardless of meal hours and no longer hampered by a front door locked punctually at ten. He thinks himself a fine fellow altogether—but he doesn't bother much about romance—despite the curly hair and handsome eyes which entirely deceived the onlookers at the wedding ceremony.

On the other hand, we have the elder sister, who for some reason or another, has arrived at an age dangerously near to forty without having married. Probably she has been too busy with her small brothers and sisters to have time to think much about her own affairs. She has had a delicate mother to look after, or an exacting father, and then a time has come in her life when at last she has a little leisure. Perhaps her parents are dead—all the young people started in life. And then the loneliness of her position dawns upon her. She cannot satisfy herself with parties, and new hats—those days are over for her. She longs for sympathy and companionship, who herself has always given both so generously. How she would have a strong arm to fight her battles now that her own is so tired. She finds herself shrinking with horror from a childless and selfish old age. Her heart is very tender, for life has taught her many things.

Romance, accumulating in all these years, has grown, like a bulb in the dark, and when an old sweetheart appears, unexpectedly, upon the scene, it blooms as a beautiful and perfect flower. Her hair is faded and her cheeeks have lost their roundness, but her heart is at its best.

He is not what the young sister-in-law would call a "romantic" bridegroom, and he looks every one of his fifty years. He has been ranching "out West" for twenty-five of them, and his face is brown and his hands are roughened with hard work.

In all those lonely years he has badly felt the need of feminine companionship. He has longer for some one to share his solitary fireside and to bring some womanly influences into his bleak life. Bu talways he has felt that he could not ask a girl from his own county to "rough it" and share his exile. Could not expect her to give up so much for his sake. But now the exile is over. He will settle down at home and all his longings may be fulfilled and his hungry heart satisfied. Is he, indeed, incapable of romance because his hair is thin and his forehead lined? Have not those years devoid of love rather taught him its real worth and how empty life is without it?

FAMOUS BEAUTIES NEVER GET FAT

Womankind wonders why famous beauties grow old, but do not grow fat. They live at silken ease, amid the porcelain flesh pots. The wine, that puffs out obscure mortals, flows not illiberally down their alabaster throats. Yet their life-long loaf does not thicken their limbs nor double their chins. What is the secret of the long-lived gracefulness of the haut-ton?

One half ounce Marmola, 3-4 oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 4 3-4 oz. Peppermint Water. This is the famous Marmola Prescription, long familiar to the fashionable pharmacists of the world and their clientele, but which has only recently penetrated to the knowledge of the hoi polloi of womankind. Since when, for convenience sake, it has been put into elegant pocket form, the Marmola Prescription Tablet, which can now be had of well nigh any druggist, fashionable and ordinary, or the Marmola Co., 833 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., in large cases for seventy-five cents.

With this tablet any woman can reduce, be losing a pound a day, in a few weeks; take off fat (where it shows most) on chin, abdomen, hips, etc., without need for exercising, table restraint, fear of wrinkles, or the slightest physical form or uneasiness.

FOSTER'S WEATHER FORECAST

Washington, D.C., Jan. 29.—Last bulletin gave forcasts of disturbance to cross continent 28 to Feb. 1, warm wave 27 to 31, cool wave 30 to Feb. 3. This disturbance was expected to bring lower than usual temperatures as an average of the week centering on aJn. 30. Acold wave will follow the moderate warm wave with rains and snows according to latitude. In most parts of the country this storm will cause usually bad, disagreeable weather. Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about Feb. 4, cross Pacific slope by close of 5, great central valleys 6 to 8, eastern provinces and northeastern states 9. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about 4; great central valleys 6, eastern provinces and northeastern states 8. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about 7, great central valleys 9, eastern provinces and northeastern states 11.

The low, or storm centre of this disturbance will pass eastward by way of Vancouver, Salt Lake, Denver, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburg and Bidderford, Maine. The cold wave will be nearly north and a little west of the storm centre and will pass eastward by way of northern British Columbia, Manitoba, North Dakota, Toledo, Pittsburg and the northeastern states and eastern provinces.

This will be a severe winter storm with more than usual amount of rain east of meridian 90. The cold wave will be severe within 300 miles of the line of eastward drift designated above. The weather features of this storm will not be the most radical of the month but will be of greater than usual intensity.

I expect temperatures of Feb. to average above normal in the States east of Rockies and below on the Pacific slope. Temperatures in Canada east of Rockies will be about normal and west of Rockies below normal. Rainfall will be above normal in February, within 500 miles of a line drawn from Dayton, Ohio to Ottawa, Canada. Elsewhere, it will be less than usual. A drouth will prevail in Florida, lower Mississippi valley, Texas and Cuba. The most severe cold waves of the month will cross meridian 90 about Feb. 2 and 27. Highest temperature will cross meridian 90 not far from 7, 16, 25.

Temperatures of February will go up from 1 to 25 much more than the season would seem to indicate. They will be much below normal first of month and much above normal for the weeks centering on 17 and 24. These dates must be applied to meridian 90, counting one to three days earlier for west of that line an das much later for east of it.

FORESTS AND RAINFALL

This is one of the most important questions of our time. The people of all nations have long been convinced that the forests do affect rainfall and this country was almost unanimously of that opinion till Chief Moore of the Weather Bureau, took the negative side of the question. President Roosevelt, through his chief forester, Pinchot, whom he enthusiastically supported, was very positive on the affirmative side of this issue. It is of such great importance that I must discuss the question through these bulletins.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

DELICATE LITTLE BABIES.

Every delicate baby starts life with a serious handicap. Even a trivial illness may end fatally and the mother is kept in a state of constant dread. Baby's Own Tablets have done more than any other medicine to make sickly babies well and strong. They give mothers a feeling of security as through their use she sees her delicate child developing healthily. Mrs. Theodore Mordon, Bala, Ont., says: "I can say with confidence that Baby's Own Tablets saved my baby's life. I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest until we started using the Tablets, but they have made him a strong, healthy child." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"PICKLED" NEARLY TWENTY LONG YEARS

Tragedy of Once Fmous Song Writer Who Went the Pace and Died Recently in Detroit.

New York, Jan. 30.—"I started when I was sixteen; I'm thirty-six now, and except for seven months on the water waggon I've been pickled most of the time. It was twenty years—twenty black, sick, nasty years—with only a little brightness now and then, when I made good with some song."

Hugh Cannon, once a well known figure in the night life of Broadway and composer of some of the first of the "rag-time" songs, left this message to his fellow song writers as he quit the world that he had made merrier for the shelter of a poorhouse in Detroit.

"I quit the cocaine easy," he continued. "Fifteen days in the jail cured me of that. I hit the pipe in New York for a year and stopped that, too."

Cannon drifted into New York from "somewhere West" about seven years ago, and began to play the piano in saloons in the side streets of Broadway. Soon he attracted attention as a song writer, and finally submitted "Goo, Goo Eyes" to the firm of Howley, Haviland & Dresser. It was published and received favourably. Then followed "Won't You Come Home Bill Bailey?" and "Ain't That a Shame?" Soon these were whistled in the streets, sung in the theatres and played in every dance hall in the States. One more success he wrote, called "Albany on the N. Y. C." which May Irwin sang for a season, and then he dropped out of sight until yesterday, when a despatch from Detroit brought his valedictory to "the line."

To-night Will Witness Wind-up of Our January Clearance Sale

The finish of this unequalled sale is planned for accomplishment in a radiant outburst of vivid values. All previous price paring will pale before the onslaught on prices now made. Down drop figures marked on seasonable and satisfactory goods to points but fractional portions of usual cost. Winter Goods, with weeks of cold weather yet to come, will not lag long when people learn of these lowered pricings now announced. But one day only can these economies be shared—a fact that prudent buyers will turn to their profit by thronging here Saturday. You'll attend, of course. Such savings are all too rare to be missed. Read, heed and respond—our guarantee is that every minute and every cent you spend here will give you great return. :: :: ::

GENERALLY SPEAKING

(By F. M. D.)

License Reduction.

There has been a considerable amount of talk on the street in regard to the reduction of licenses lately, recommended by the committee of the Whole Council. Naturally, there have been diverse views on the matter. Looked at impartially, it seems perfectly clear that the members of the committee acted in what they considered was in the best interests of the city, and both the Mayor and themselves should be given all credit for having so acted. In a somewhat varied experience of conditions in different parts of Canada, the writer can certainly affirm that he has never come across a town where the effects of heavy drinking were less noticeable than on the streets of Peterborough. For this state of affairs, we can, in all honesty, credit the bulk of the liquor men in this city. If the cutting off of the few licenses asked for by the Moral and Reform League will have the effect of centralizing the traffic and so narrowing the limits, an offender against the laws of ebriety ought to be about as rare a spectacle on our streets as a snow bird in July.

The Fair Association.

The Fair Association did a generous thing last week, when they undertook to pay the expenses of the visiting horsemen, which had been incurred through the delay caused by soft weather. "Honesty is the best policy" is a very old saying. "Generosity is its running mate" might well be bracketed with it. In the present instance, it is easy to assert that this action of the Fair Association will not only redound to the credit of the members, but will also be an excellent advertisement for Peterborough.

While on the subject of the Fair Association, another matter might be mentioned, and that is in regard to the granting of concessions at the annual Fair. The suggestion has been made that fewer obstacles should be thrown in the way of applicants, whose attractions can be shown to be absolutely clean and above board.

In past years, it is rumoured, there has been a certain amount of dissatisfaction on the part of prospective showmen, in regard to the ground rates that were charged—and it is hinted that in consequence many attractive and high-class productions shunned the city. It cannot be said that niggardliness has been the policy of the Leary government, and doubtless, now that the Fair is beginning to assume larger proportions, this point will not be overlooked by the enterprising board of directors.

Faith Breakers.

Women have always been credited with an undue desire for gossip and tale bearing. Why this should be so, it is hard to see, for men, whilst they are not, as a rule, quite so vindictive in their tattling, as women, are still quite as prone to say unkind things of their neighbours. But gossip, with or without malevolence is one thing, and tale bearing, which is often mistakenly called gossip, quite another. The man or woman who has the misfortune to be addicted to both, should be put under careful restraint and kept there. Such a miserable specimen of humanity is just as harmful to the body politic, as any degenerate. It is a good thing that these foibles are not as often found together, as people might imagine. It it were, not even the saintliest man of woman would escape the tongue of the liar or slanderer, or the malevolence of the tale bearer.

The being who betrays a confidence for the sake of inflicting an injury, should be placed in a category far below that of a thimblerigger or a sneak thief and treated accordingly. A gossiper is on occasion mean enough, but the betrayer of a confidence is on so much lower a level that any comparison between the two must necessarily be insulting to the former. If asked how much difference there is between the two species it would be safe to say that there is all the difference between an ass and an assassin.

DIRTY KIDNEYS ARE CAUSE OF BACKACHE

A Few Doses Will Clean and Regulate the Kidneys and Make You Feel Fine.

If you take several doses of Pape's Diuretic, all backache and distress from out-of-order kidneys or bladder trouble will vanish, and you will feel fine.

Lame back, painful stitches, rheumatism, nervous headache, dizziness, irritability, sleeplessness, inflamed, or swollen eyelids, worn-out, sick feeling and other symptoms of sluggish, inactive kidneys disappear.

This unusual preparation goes at once to the disordered kidneys, bladder and urinary system and distributes its healing, cleansing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder or feel rheumatism pains, begin taking this harmless medicine with the knowledge that there is no other remedy at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will affect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker, or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treatment means clean, active, healthy, kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and no backache.

A. LONGO & CO'Y have just received a car of "Sunkist" Oranges, and can sell any quantity, wholesale or retail.

BURNED TO DEATH

Halifax, Jan. 29.—The most disastrous fire that has occurred in Amherst for some time broke out in the large four-story building of the Black Printing Co., at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and raged with terrific fury for several hours. The fire is now under control. An aged woman, Mrs. W. Oulton, widow of the late Dr. Oulton, was overcome and died before being rescued. Her daughter, Miss Georgie Oulton, was taken out almost exhausted. The fire broke out in one of the lower flats. The alarm was immediately sounded but the flames seemed to have complete control, the whole north end of the building apparently being on fire. The flames rushed up the elevator shaft, which extends from the basement to the roof. Some 16 lodgers were in the third flat, and these escaped in their night clothes, all losing their furniture and clothing. The building is gutted and the plant and stock a complete ruin. The loss will be in the vicinity of $30,000 to $35,000, insurance about $20,000, divided among 12 companies. Mrs. Oulton, the unfortunate victim of the fire, was unwards of 90 years of age and has been for some time an invalid.

We know of a number of cases of supposed consumption that have been cured by Miller's Compound Iron Pills.—Wm Madill, druggist.

GEORGE STREET MUSIC

The following is the music that will be rendered at the George Street Methodist Church to-marrow night:

Anthem—"Saviour, When Night Envelops This World"—Shelley
Solo — "King David's Lament," by Mr. Fred Miles.
Duet—"Sweet Hour of Prayer," by Mesdames Rehill and Greenglade.
Solo—"Great Lord of Light"—Miss C. Reesor.

Shakespeare's House.

The house in which the master bard was born is located in Henley street, Stratford-on-Avon, England. Washington Irving said of this famous abode of genius: "It is a small, mean looking edifice of wood and plaster, a true nestling place of genius, which seems to delight in hatching its offspring in by-corners. The walls of its squalid chambers are covered with names and inscriptions in every language by pilgrims of all nations, ranks and conditions, from the prince to the peasant, and present a simple but striking instance of the spontaneous and universal homage of mankind to the great poet of nature."

Several years ago the house was purchased by subscription with a view to the careful preservation of it and of its contents for the inspection of future generations.

Moose Hunting in N. B.

It is claimed that New Brunswick has more big game to the square mile of its territory than any other province of Canada. At least one-third of the province is good hunting ground and most easily reached, from the fact that in New Brunswick as a whole there are more than sixteen hundred miles of railway, or a mile of railway for each nineteen miles of area. Moose are found in at least twelve of the fourteen counties, and both moose and caribou in all but two. Moose, caribou, or deer are found in every county, and sometimes all three are in one neighborhood. The best moose grounds are in the Counties of Restigouche, Gloucester and Northumberland, or what is generally known as the North Shore of New Brunswick, being that portion of the province bordering on northeastern seashore. There is also excellent hunting in the northern part of the counties of Kings and Queens, designated among sportsmen as the "Canaan Woods." These portions of the province have been described as a vast game preserve.

A Monstrous Tide.

The Bay of Fundy forms a cul-de-sac at which the Atlantic ocean seems to have taken a special spite and at regular intervals pours into it an enormous amount of water. Take the harbor of St. John as an illustration of what this mighty tide must be. In most parts of the world a tide of ten feet is considered something abnormal, but at St. John it rises twenty to twenty-four feet in good weather. In stormy weather the monotony is varied by the high water mark being pushed up even ten or fifteen feet higher.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Princess Marie Bonaparte is the richest woman in France. Her father founded the Monte Carlo gambling resort.

Mrs. Daniel C. Morse, employed in a corset establishment in Worcester, thinks she is the oldest "shopgirl" in Massachusetts. She is eighty-four years old.

The president of the Dutch Women Suffrage association is Dr. Aletta Jacobs of Amsterdam, who was the first woman authorized to practice medicine in Holland. Dr. Jacobs recently celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of her practice.

Miss Marteina Kramers of Rotterdam, Holland, is one of the most accomplished of woman linguists. She can read and speak thirteen languages. She is the editor of Jus Suffragii, the official organ of the International Woman Suffrage alliance.

Caroline Bartlett Crane is an evangelist in social ethics. Mrs. Crane, fifty-one years old, lives in Kalamazoo, where in 1893 she founded the People's church, a creedless, seven day, working church. Later she relinquished her pastorate and through the Woman's Civic Improvement league commenced a much wider work.

Train and Track.

Railroad signals of the present day are the outgrowth of the inventions of a lazy Scotchman who when obliged to walk some distance to operate a signal rigged wires to it and worked it from his box, whose he could sit still.

Out of 206 railway charters granted by the Canadian parliament in the twenty years ended 1909 only twenty-eight have resulted in any construction, eighty-six have lapsed, and the others have received extensions of time.

The railroad station at Langford, England, on a branch line, is in charge of an aged widow who has performed all the duties for many years. Her cottage, a short distance away, is also the ticket office, and a small wooden shed is the waiting room.

Recent Inventions.

An Australian has taken out a patent on a buoy to be fastened to the bridge deck of a vessel by a coil of wire to enable the wreck to be located should the vessel founder.

A European inventor has brought out a parachute hood which he claims may be used on any aeroplane without hindering its flight, yet which will prevent disaster should the machine fall.

A North Dakota man has patented a hammer with a loop of metal under the face of the head in which a nail can be held for starting into place without danger of mashing the user's fingers.

The Royal Box.

The chief hobby of the sultan of Zanzibar, who was educated at Harrow and Oxford and speaks English perfectly, is the accumulation of clocks.

Queen Margherita of Italy has a weakness for books of American and English novelists. She also reads English and American magazines, and it is her opinion that the American school of short story writers at present is the best in the world.

King Edward celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday recently in excellent health and spirits, and yet seven years ago the coronation ceremony was first hastened on account of his physical condition and then postponed until he should recover from the effect of a serious operation.

Flower and Tree.

New Zealand has in its edelweiss a plant differing but slightly from the famous Swiss variety.

An oak tree at 100 years averages forty-one inches in diameter, a larch forty inches, an elm fifty inches and a yew nine inches.

A white pine tree twenty years old ought to be about twenty-five feet high and at thirty or forty years of age it ought to measure about sixty feet.

Sporting Notes.

Rochester's (N. Y.) Aero club will be limited to fifty members.

The Eel, 2:02¼, gray wonder, has been barred from the Ottawa free for all contest and will not race on the ice circuit as a result.

Purdue university will introduce wrestling classes as a means of developing athletic candidates. All applicants for places on the teams will be asked to take part.

German Gleanings.

There are no deserted farms in Germany.

In Germany 20,000 foxes a year are slaughtered.

It costs Berlin less than $1,500,000 a year to keep the streets clean.

Earthenware factories in Germany have had to reduce prices for many articles on account of competition.

Dental students in the German universities will henceforth be matriculated in the medical departments and not in the philosophical, as heretofore.

CLEVER HOLIDAY GAMES.

Much Enjoyment May Be Had With Soap Bubbles.

Among the amusing holiday pastimes is a game of soap bubble football. There really is no end to the fun a crowd of young people can have with a bowl of soapy water and pipes.

Tests of every kind have been invented with the soap bubble as a central figure, but probably the game of football creates more hilarity and takes more skill than the others.

A large room is required, or, better still, a long hall. A goal is erected at each end out of handy implements. Often the posts are wrapped with colored tartatan or crape paper, and the bar across the top is made of paper flowers strung on twine or strips of cloth.

The five yard lines are marked off with strips of cheesecloth tacked to the floor. If they are run clear across the room they can be fastened without damage to carpet.

The soapy water is expertly made and brought into the room in a huge glass bowl. The pipes for each guest are plain or fancy. There are umpires and referees, and the game proceeds along regulation lines.

Of course there can be little personal attack. Everything centers in the ability to blow and to blow straight. The side that gets a bubble over the enemy's goal scores five.

At some of these games there is a scoreboard, and the elaborations of college football are worked up.

It is quite good fun to use college colors, as though the game was played by opposing universities. Flags of these colors fly from the goal posts and decorate the room. Another good game that can be played by young people with bubbles is a fortune telling bout. Large Christmas wreaths are swung in the doorways or in a ribbon run straight across the room. Over each is a placard bearing a prophecy of good or evil which relates to marriage, to sentiment or to wealth.

The game is to make each group of guests stand at a certain line in the room, blow bubbles when the bell rings and then fan or blow the bubbles through these wreaths.

If the latter are hung well above the heads of the players, fans are needed to get the bubbles through, and this adds to the general fun as well as the color scheme.

There is no end to the trials the guests may have. They can use up most of the evening trying for different wreaths if they are so inclined.

Each group must play together and at the same time, but they cannot be partners. It is a game of individual effort.

Lady Blount Says Earth is Flat.

Lady Blount, one of the leaders of London society and president of the Zetetic society of England, snaps her fingers ironically at both Peary and Cook. It is her belief that any hunt for the pole is the height of absurdity, for she is convinced the world is flat. Lady Blount is so in earnest that she has been lecturing about it, and she intends to go out lecturing in England and Scotland during the winter.

"The poles—what are they?" asked Lady Blount the other day of a London audience. "To me it is immaterial if Peary beat Cook or Cook beat Peary. The poles are simply magnetic centers in the heavens around which the sun circles in its daily path. It is an absurd supposition that we are living on a ball whirling on an axis and flying through space at an inconceivable speed. The earth is flat."

Paris Wants Dog Meat.

According to a Paris paper, the prefecture of police has received numerous applications from persons desirous of selling dog meat. The permits have not been granted, for such traffic is not considered lawful. But if the number of applications continues to increase it is said that the police will have to obtain a definite decision on the subject. Horse, it is well known, is sold in continental cities, but, as the Paris authority observes, there would be an instinctive repugnance to eat the flesh of man's best friend. The flesh is eaten in China and by the Esquimos; but, like that of all carnivorous animals, it is tough.

NORTH AMERICAN LIFE

SPLENDID RECORD FOR 1909

The Twenty-ninth Annual Meeting of the North American Life Assurance Company was held at its Home Office in Toronto on Thursday, Jan. 27, 1910, when the Report of the business for the year ended Dec. 31, 1909, was presented.

INCREASE IN CASH INCOME

The cash income for the year from premiums, interest, etc., was $2,028,525.40, showing the satisfactory increase of $133,117.95.

ECONOMICAL MANAGEMENT

The business continues to be conducted on an economical basis; the ratio of expenses to premium income remains practically the same, notwithstanding the large increase in new assurances.

LARGE PAYMENTS TO POLICY-HOLDERS

The amount paid on policyholders' account was $789,520.41. Of this sum $138,320.47 was for surplus or dividends, while $327,111.96 represents payments for Matured Endowment and Investment Policies.

ADDITION TO ASSETS

The assets increased in 1909 by $899,826.81, and now amount to $10,490,464.90. As heretofore, they continue to be invested in the best class of securities available, the addition to mortgage loans being $710,285.39.

INCREASE IN NET SURPLUS

After making ample provision for all liabilities and distributing during the year the relatively large amount for dividends mentioned, the net surplus on policyholders' account was increased to $1,018,121.25.

INSURANCES INCREASED

The policies issued during the year, together with those revived, amounted to the sum of $5,091,029, being an increase over the previous year of $625,805; the total business in force amounted to $41,964,641.

CAREFUL AND SYSTEMATIC AUDIT

A monthly examination of the books of the Company was made by the Auditors, and at the close of the year they made a thorough scrutiny of all the securities.

A Committee of the Board, consisting of two Directors, made an independent audit of the securities each quarter.

HISTORIC STRUCTURES IN PARIS THREATENED BY FLOOD

Hospitals are Flooded and Patients are Hurriedly Moved to Safe Places---Water Has Put Out Fires and Part of the City is in Darkness---Streets are Devastated and Many Have Been Closed to Traffic.

Paris, Jan. 29.—An agonizing cry goes up from the people of Paris today, "Will the end ever come?" they are asking.

After a slow but steady rise of the flood waters throughout the day, the situation greatly improved between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning. This, in part, is attributed to the change in the weather. Suddenly the skies cleared and a full moon burst out. The temperature dropped, and the wind veered to the eastward. The officials are convinced that the waters will soon begin to recede.

The water has begun to fall in all the affluents of the Seine above Paris, but the passage through the city is clogged by bridges and an immense accumulation of drift, and the seething waters hourly are spreading over new acres. Choked underground rivers and sewers are bursting their confines and playing havoc with the streets, swamping more cellars and threatening more foundations of buildings.

Several hospitals are in a dreadful plight, water having reached their cellars and quenched the fires in the furnaces. Four hundred patients were hurriedly removed in ambulances from the Hospital de la Salpetriere to the Hospital Boucicault. Their rescue was dramatic. Some were dying and aid came to them in the nick of time. The hospital already was isolated, and a new rush of water threatened to level it.

At this moment the tireless prefect of police, M. Lepine, arrived and sent out a score of policemen on bicycles to summon ambulances and boats and additional police and soldiers.

While some of the soldiers wereday-ing pontoons, others lifted out patients from the hospital. Two hundred were saved in boats while the other two hundred were carried across the pontoons on the backs of the soldiers.

A story of the details of the greatest flood that has swept Paris in years would simply be a repetition of what has gone before. To-day the city presents a weird spectacle, the soldiers, sailors, firemen and police hastily constructing temporary walls in an endeavor to keep out the invading floods, while pickets patrol those sections of the city which were plunged in darkness last night by the bursting of the gas mains and the stoppage of the electric lighting plants.

The situation in the Place de L'Opera to-day is grave. The entire territory has been roped off as unsafe. It is said also that the new Equitable Life Assurance building is in danger of collapse.

French stocks averaged a loss of thirty franc the last week. The subway shares dropped 60 francs, and all industrials were off, but considering the extent of the disaster, the drops are hardly as great as were anticipated.

A touching evidence of the conditions above the city came yesterday in the shape of an urgent appeal from Charenton for food and fresh clothing for two thousand babies, rescued at Alfortville and Ivry, and who have been without clothing for four days.

Yesterday's papers are filled with pages of pitiful and terrifying details. War would hardly play such havoc. The City of Light has become a City of Slime, filled with muddy waters. Business is almost at a standstill, and the hotels are crowded with persons who have fled from inundated houses.

The prices of necessities are advancing by leaps and bounds as the paralysis of transportation facilities entering the city extends. Within the city there is practically no means of transportation, except by cabs and taxicabs, the owners of which charge fabulous prices.

Disaster followed disaster during the day. A gaping chasm opened in the lower Champs Elysees, engulfing a cart and two men. One of the men was rescued but the other with the horse was swept away to his death.

The devastation has now penetrated the very heart of Paris, the gorged rivers and sewers underneath literally blowing up the streets and the area of the surface overflowed by the water of the Seine had been doubled yesterday. Twelve of the twenty-five bridges over the river have been closed, and the quays on either side from one end of the city to the other, are either inundated or have been roped off as unsafe.

The Esplanade Des Invalides is a sheet of water. The Turgid flood has crept back almost to the Jardin du Luxembourg on its left bank, and invaded the Place de la Concord which was closed and guarded by soldiers, and the lower Champs Elysees on the right bank.

The Palais de Glace and other pleasure resorts and restaurants are surrounded, even the Place de l'Opera at the core of the city threatens to sink to the subway beneath.

The sewers with which the foundation of Paris is honeycombed have complicated and added to recent flood disasters. The main sewers are eighteen feet in diameter and the total length of this network of drains is 900 miles. Under flood pressure these vast tunnels burst and frequently undermined the foundations of the buildings. As these tubes also contain water conduits, gas pipes, telegraph, telephone and power wires as well as the pneumatic postal tubes, the effects of a bursting sewer are widespread and serious.

The subways opened in 1900 furnish further underground avenues for the flood. The main subway line runs east and west through the centre of the city from the Porte de Vincennes to Porte Maillot, a distance of seven miles.

London Fund For French Sufferers.

London, Jan. 29.—Sir John Knill, Lord Mayor of London, yesterday opened a Mansion House fund for the relief of the flood sufferers in France.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Montreal has an organized suffrage society, though not of a militant nature.

James Learoy, arrested in Toronto, was yesterday convicted of burglary at Orangeville and sentenced to one year.

C. D. McPherson, editor of The Portage la Prairie Graphic, has been nominated by the Liberals for the Manitoba Legislature.

Hamilton & Gay's woodworking factory at St. John, N.B., with 300,000 feet of lumber, was burned yesterday. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $10,000.

It is stated in London that Lord Crewe is likely to become Viceroy of India, and that the Duke of Connaught has been asked to open Toronto's Exposition.

Ambrose J. Small, theatrical magnate of Toronto, has completed arrangements for a circuit in Eastern Canada and the Maritime Provinces, taking in most of the large towns.

J. T. Therson, an Icelandic student at Manitoba College, was neuninated by the Rhodes' scholarship committee yesterday. This is the second Icelandic student to receive the honor.

The labor men of Ottawa decided at a meeting last night that they would not advocate a boycott of meat owing to the high price movement. It was held that the idea would hurt the small butcher, while it would be easy for the large firms to put their meat in storage.

Military Man In Trouble.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 29.—There is a sensation in military circles owing to awkward predicament of an officer, well up in the artillery, who is at present confined to the barracks, and will be tried by a military tribunal.

For a short time back bailiffs and collectors have been after the officer referred to, and some personal belongings went to satisfy the creditors. When on furlough, he was impressed in the belief that he was leaving the city. He seemed to have contracted accounts which he was unable to pay and judgments against him were registered.

But his latest trouble seems to be from military sources, and it is claimed indebtedness to some branch or department with which he was connected is a serious matter from a military standpoint.

The officer referred to, who is a man of family, came from Quebec, and is well connected there.

Composer In Poorhouse.

Detroit, Jan. 29.—Hugh Cannon, composer of the ragtime classics "Goo Goo Eyes," "Bill Bailey," etc., was committed yesterday to the poor house.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Residents of That City Say It Would Put Entire Saskatchewan River In Private Hands—Naval Debate In a Fortnight — Must Guard Western Fish, Says Geo. H. Bradbury, M. P. For Selkirk.

On the second reading of the bill to incorporate the International Waterways Canal & Construction Co., Hon. Wm. Pugsley protested strongly against this bill, which is promoted by Conmee. He said he had received a communication from the City of Edmonton urging that the bill be not allowed to pass, as it gave exclusive rights and control over the Saskatchewan River.

Mr. Pugsley argued that it would be a grave mistake to give to a private company such extensive powers as those sought by the bill. It would give the company control of the waters of Rainy Lake, Rainy River, Lake Winnipeg, Lake Manitoba and up to the Saskatchewan.

Mr. Conmee said there was nothing in the bill beyond the usual powers sought.

Dr. Sproule: "Yes, always sought by you."

Mr. Emmerson: "Is there anything you have left out?"

Mr. Conmee explained that the object of the bill was to make a navigable waterway from Rainy River to the Saskatchewan. It was not proposed to have special control over navigable streams.

Dr. Sproule said that, having regard to the policy, Federal and Provincial regarding water powers, it was contrary to the public interest to hand over these national assets to private individuals.

W. S. Middlebro, and A. C. Boyce, declared that the bill sought to acquire the powers struck out of the Ontario and Michigan power bill last session. Mr. Pugsley again spoke against the bill and the proposed measure was talked out.

On the motion to go into supply in the House yesterday afternoon, Hugh Guthrie (South Wellington) asked what attitude the Government proposed to take regarding the question of technical education, his resolution for the appointment of a commission of enquiry being still on the order paper.

Hon. Mackenzie King had begun to discuss the question, when the leader of the Opposition rose to a point of order, reminding the House that the information apparently about to be given might provoke discussion which would be very much out of order.

Hon. Sydney Fisher said the Government proposed to give an early opportunity to discuss the question.

Mr. King began to say that he had sent a letter to each of the Premiers of the provinces regarding the matter of technical education, and the advisability of the appointment of a royal commission to enquire into it, when A. C. Boyce (West Algoma) objected, and the Speaker ruled Mr. King out of order.

George H. Bradbury (Selkirk), in the House last night, reviewed the report of the Manitoba Fisheries Commission, declaring that it had borne out statements he had previously made on the floor. It was absolutely necessary to take action this summer in order to preserve the fish of Lac Du Bonnet, the breeding ground of sturgeon. In the last year two and a half million pounds of white fish were taken out of Lake Winnipeg. If the catch was restricted to two and a half millions this year, no great harm would have been accomplished before the commission had finished its work, but the great danger was that if there was no restriction, the great plant now being got ready would treble the catch, and great harm would be done.

A great American combination was destroying the fisheries of the Canadian west, and all the Canadian fish caught in American nets were allowed to go into the United States free of duty, but Canadian fish caught in Canadian nets had to pay one-quarter of a cent per pound duty. This gave the market into the hands of the Booth Fish Packing Co. of Chicago, operating in Canada as the Dominion Fish Co.

The general plans of the Government regarding the naval policy which were to be explained on Tuesday next, will not be laid before the House until about a fortnight hence.

Hon. Mr. Graham will make his Intercolonial Railway statement on Tuesday and the discussion will probably occupy the two other Government days, Thursday and Friday. The Intercolonial statement is being hastened in order to relieve Mr. Butler, the Deputy Minister, of his official duties, so that he will be free to join the Dominion Coal Co.

The U. S. Minimum Tariff.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The tariff officers of the U. S. Government yesterday recommended to the President that a proclamation should be issued by him declaring the following named countries as not being unduly discriminative in their tariffs against the U. S., and therefore entitled to receive minimum rates of duty imposed by the Payne-Aldrich act; Denmark, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Belgium, Egypt, Persia.

Bars Closed Until 7 A. M.

Quebec, Jan. 29.—A bylaw was unanimously adopted by the City Council last night prohibiting saloons or retail groceries selling liquor before seven o'clock in the morning.

NATURE OF BUSINESS

The Company manufactures John McIntosh's celebrated Toffees, the trade names of which are "Old English Toffees" "Treakle Toffee," "Vienna Toffee," "Butter Scotch" "Russian Toffee" and "Buttermild Toffee" as supplied to Queen Alexandra and the Empress of Russia. The business is particularly profitable, and possesses the advantage of being thoroughly established in Canada, as in all other large countries. An understanding of the profit and sale may be gleaned from the knowledge that over 22 tons daily or 8030 tons annually are consumed in Great Britain alone.

History of John MacIntosh's Toffee

The MacIntosh Toffee business was established some 40 years ago in the City of Halifax, England. Mr. MacIntosh commenced business absolutely without capital, boiling his celebrated Toffees in an ordinary kitchen pan on his cottage fire. To-day Mr. MacIntosh controls the largest and oldest Toffee manufacturing business in the world.

Imported From England and United States

Prior to the establishing of a factory in this country, over three cases or 2688 packages of MacIntosh's Toffee was consumed by Canadians daily. This business was done from England and the United States, without the assistance of advertising or local management.

BROCKVILLE WORKS

The Company's buildings at Brockville are large and commodious and are constructed and equipped in a manner suitable to the purposes of the business. The most modern machinery and special appliances installed guarantee a manufacturing capacity of 7 tons of John MacIntosh's Toffee daily or 2555 tons annually.

ACTUAL PROFITS

The cost of producing one case containing 896 packages of John MacIntosh's Toffee ready for sale is $14.00. Study these profits:

Cost of Producing One Case	$14.00

"It Is Those Who Invest at Time of Flotation Who Reap Large Profits."—My Opinion.

"I visited Brockville on January 14th and remained there four days. My sole object in going there was to investigate the works and business of John MacIntosh's Toffee, Limited. I studied the details of the business carefully, and in addition to finding a magnificently equipped factory in active operation, I found a good business, managed by men of sterling worth and sound reputation, who have a thorough and practical understanding of the business, gained at the works of the parent Company of John MacIntosh, Limited, Halifax, England, the oldest and largest Toffee Manufacturers in the world. The future welfare of these men is centred in the business and the results of their determination and effort will be the building of a large and important enterprise in Canada.—ATHOL GEORGE ROBERTSON.

REMEMBER—These Shares bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, with the opportunity of earning additional interest.

How to Come to a Decision—You have read the contents of this prospectus and having done so must realize that this offering is particularly good, that it constitutes an investment with all the safeness of a parcel of REAL ESTATE, while containing the interest bearing ability of a good industrial. With this knowledge can you afford to ignore the investment, knowing that no better method can be adopted for the saving and increasing of your small capital.

LINDSAY TURN TABLES ON PETERBOROUGH TEAM

Midgets Surprised Homesters by Their Speed and Aggressiveness and Won a Clean-Cut But Hard Fought Victory by Six Goals to Three Before an Old-Time Crowd of Hockey Fans---Peterborough Scored the First Goal But Lindsay Were Never Headed Once They Took the Lead---A Great Game Between Two Fast Teams.

Lindsay did it!

Beaten on their own ice a week ago the Midgets came back to Peterborough last night and after a whirl wind exhibition of hockey, on almost perfect ice, turned the tables on the Peterboroughs, winning by 6 goals to 3. The result was as much a surprise to Peterborough fandom as the score of the game in Scugogville was to the hockey world there. After the game in Lindsay the local team confidently expected to win, but Lindsay proved a different proposition on the hard ice and won the game on its merits, their great speed on the forward line being the chief factor of the result.

While disappointing in its ending, the game was about as exciting an article of hockey as one would care to see and the 1800 fans present were half wild with excitement as the puck was rushed back and forward at lightning speed. It was a grand game between two fast skating teams who never let up for a moment all through and it was no wonder that the fans were delirious throughout. The pace was terrific all the way and there never was a moment in which there was not something to get up on tip toes and yell for. One Lindsay fan in the gallery got so frenzied that he dropped his false teeth on the ice, but this was only an isolated case. End to end rushes, mostly of the individual character, clever checking and splendid goal keeping, these were some of the features that made the contest a memorable one, and it is safe to say that few more exciting games have been seen at the Brock St. Arena.

Peterborough Scored First.

Peterborough scored the first goal the only time they were in the lead, and this auspicious opening set the crowd agog. Then Lindsay rallied and began to have a little better of the play, their efforts finally resulting in tieing the score, and before half time they had forged ahead, never to be headed off. At half time the figures were 2 to 1, with Lindsay in possession of the odd goal. Then the Midgets came along with two goals in the second half and Peterborough's chances began to diminish, only to grow brighter again soon after when the Petes ran in two counters. With the score 4 to 3 and a little better than a dozen minutes to play the excitement was intense, and the crowd was hopeful, inasmuch as the Stoddardites were showing signs of fading off a little, while Peterborough, on the other hand, were coming back with a vengeance. A dozen nice openings were spoiled by the superb work of Gamble in the flags for the Midgets, and then a rush by Stoddard, which resulted in Green scoring, put the contest on ice. Peterborough did not give up hope even then, but all their efforts to score were in vain, while Lindsay increased their count on a long shot by Stoddard.

Reason For Defeat.

After seeing the game in Lindsay and studying last night's contest, one is forced to the conclusion that the sticky ice favoured Peterborough in the first game. This seems partly the reason and then, too, the Peterborough line did not check back as they did in Lindsay. At first they came back nicely, and the result was that they had the better of the going, but towards the middle of the first half the Midgets, notably Blomfield, Stoddard and Cain began to tear down without the same opposition from behind and the result was that the Peterborough defence were overworked. On the other hand, Lindsay never failed to follow back after losing the puck, and the Petes were given few chances to work in without the most strenuous kind of opposition, both from in front and from behind.

A Bunch of Speed.

There is no getting away from the fact that Lindsay had the preponderance of speed on the forward line. Beautiful skaters, all four of them, they came down the ice like meteors and had they combination to match their skating ability, would have been an even more dangerous proposition than they looked. The combination was there, however, only in streaks, and as the Peterborough defence did grand checking throughout the individual rushes, were not always effective. But the fact remains that they outskated the Peterborough line. Peterborough, however, were never beaten until the last gong. They worked heroically and had openings enough to win an ordinary game against an ordinary goal keeper, but unfortunately Gamble is not an ordinary goal keeper. He speared shots from all angles, and at all ranges in a cool, deliberate manner that tickled the Lindsay fans immensely, but that made the Peterborough portion of the crowd almost wish that a section of the rink would fall in on him. While they may not have had any more chances than Lindsay had, the Petes were more accurate in their heaving, and only the sterling work of Gamble, especially in the last half, prevented them from annexing a number of counters. Peterborough at stages showed good combination, but they did not break away together as they did in Lindsay, and did not seem to work in on the nets as well. At that, however, they got in often enough to win under usual circumstances.

Gamble a Star.

Gamble was the one bright star on the Lindsay line-up, but there were others, and one would be inclined to give the biggest laurel wreath to Reggie Blomfield, the ex-Lakefield-Toronto Argonaut, who although a veteran in years and experience, had a turn of speed that was amazing, and who never let up for an instant. He would come tearing down the ice so fast that he couldn't see the scenery and losing the puck he would whirl around and check back, often catching up to the Peterborough man with the puck and regain possession. Bill Stoddard was also there with a barrel of speed, and his rushing and stick-handling were superb. Unlike Blomfield, he loafed more than a little, however. Cain was good all through the piece, and Stoddard and Blomfield had little on the youngster, who, like the majority of the Peterboroughs, is a recruit from the City League. The defence was steady and hard to draw out, but there was nothing particularly brilliant about them, with the exception of Gamble.

McDougall Was Great.

Peterborough's defence played better hockey than the forward line did, and they had lots of work, too. With a bunch of speed merchants like that Lindsay line coming down on them, they had to move somewhat lively, and they did, too, most of the time. McDougall was immense, figuratively and literally. The big fellow waded right into the Midgets when they came down, and his checking throughout was splendid, while he ploughed through with return rushes that were always dangerous. In the last half, especially, he was a tower of strength and worked unceasingly for a goal, his rushes being the feature of the dying stages. Derocher blocked a host of difficult shots, but a couple of long ones of the variety he generally nails, beat him.

On the forward line, Ray was probably the pick, the little Peterborough captain rushing and checking splendidly. He was always at it, and in addition to rushing unceasingly, came back fast. McMillan was aggressive and always prominent at right wing, although he had his hands full in looking after Blomfield, undoubtedly the fastest Lindsay forward. Campbell did good work in the early stages, but tired badly, while Dusty was not as effective as usual, and was pretty well all in when it was over. He got away for a number of fast jaunts down the boards, but had hard luck, the local fans turning out en luck with his shooting.

Referee E. J. Livingstone, of Toronto, was an impartial and satisfactory referee, and little fault could be found with his work. A peculiar feature of the game was that each team was given a goal that should not have been counted. Lindsay got credit for the first dubious one, a shot from Blomfield's stick rolling in front of the nets and was counted, the goal umpire being removed. A few minutes later Peterborough was given a counter on a shot from McMillan that hit the top of the nets and fell over the back. In this case there was also a change of umpires.

Although the pace was hard and there was a lengthy penalty list, the game was clean.

An old time crowd saw the contmasse, while Lindsay sent down a 1 cathered lung contingent of one hundred and fifty on a special G. T. R. train. The teams and officials were:—

Lindsay.		Peterborough.
Gamble	Goal	Derocher
Cote	Point	Glover
Green	Cover	McDougall
Stoddard	Rover	Ray
McDougall	Centre	Campbell
Cain	Right Wing	McMillan
Blomfield	Left Wing	Dusty

Timers—Simpson, Lindsay; Banks, Peterborough.

Penalty Timer—Charlton.

Peterborough won the toss and elected to defend the north goal. From the face off Ray rushed nicely and

HERB McMILLAN,

Peterborough's right wing, who, although checking the fastest man on the Lindsay team last night, gave a good account of himself. He holds a similar position with the Strathcona's City League team.

nearly scored, Gamble turning aside the shot. Cote relieved with a rush, but Ray recovered and on a combination rush with Dusty carried the disc back into shooting range. The shot went wide and Stoddard, with Green at his side, galloped down the rink, only to lose the rubber to McDougall. Stoddard came back with another lightning rush and shot, but Derocher was in the way, clearing nicely. Then Ray came down all alone with a brilliant rush, but Green bodied him into the boards and was penalized.

McDougall nearly scored on a long shot, but Gamble handled it nicely. Then Glover came back with a rush from his position at point and passed to Dusty, who shot dead on the nets, Gamble stopped the heave, but before he could clear Campbell batted the rubber through on the rebound. Time 5 minutes. Peterborough 1, Lindsay 0.

Ray and McDougall came down with a nice combination rush, but the shot was blocked. Then Blomfield broke lose with a lightning jaunt, which was stopped by McDougall, who got two minutes for tripping the Lindsay man. Gamble pulled off a nice stop on a shot from Dusty, and then Derocher was called upon to do the same with a shot from "Pacer" McDougall. The Peterborough McDougall got another sentence for heaving his namesake, and on his return united with Ray for a nice rush that was, however, fruitless. McMillan shot over the net and then McDougall fired one from centre which went in the same direction. Glover rushed down the side, but Gamble stopped his low shot and cleared nicely. Ray was penalized for an attempt to trip Blomfield, and while he was off Lindsay tied the score, Blomfield and Stoddard uniting for a goal from Stoddard's stick the last pass being a yard offside. Time 14 mins. Peterborough 1, Lindsay 1.

ROY McDOUGALL,

Stoddard was warned for loafing and a moment after Cain was penalized for the same offence. Before he was back Stoddard drew a penalty for tripping Ray. Dusty nearly scored on a pass from McMillan. Stoddard came back on the ice and broke away for a nice rush, Ray checked back fast and the two captains went down in a heap. Peterborough were working hard for a score,, but had no luck, and it was Lindsay who finally broke the tie after eight minutes' hard playing, on a long shot from McDougall from outside the defence. Peterborough 1, Lindsay 2.

Ray got right through on a nice rush, but scooped the rubber over the net. Campbell was penalized for slashing. McDougall bodied his Lindsay clansman and drew a three minute penalty. Glover was almost immediately after penalized and then Ray followed for an attempt to trip, leaving only four Peterborough men on the ice. It looked like a great chance for Lindsay, but they failed to take advantage of the opening. Coming down alone instead of playing combination as they should have, they found trouble in getting through as Dusty, McMillan, Campbell and Derocher held them out until half time. In fact Dusty and McMillan almost scored on a nice combination rush, which Gamble rendered ineffectual by a nice stop. Cain was sent away for loafing, leaving the teams four to six, and so they were when half time came.

When the half opened Cain and Ray were still in the brain-storm box, but the rest were back. Dusty rushed nicely, but Gamble stopped the shot. The Lindsay forwards seemed fresh after the rest and were coming down on the Peterborough defence at top speed. Peterborough held them out for a while, but then Stoddard broke loose with a nice rush and a speedy shot that fooled Derocher. Time 6 mins. Lindsay 3, Peterborough 1.

Stoddard was penalized for slashing, but even with the advantage of the odd man, Peterborough could not score. Then Campbell came off for the same offence. Blomfield came down with a beautiful rush but was cross checked by Glover just as he was going to shoot. The rubber rolled across the front of the nets, but Goal Umpire Primeau, of Lindsay, hoisted his hand and Lindsay was given a goal. Time 4 mins. Lindsay 4, Peterborough 1.

The umpire was removed and Jas. Squires, of Lindsay, substituted.. The Peterborough McDougall had been sent off just before this and Glover was banished for crossing Blomefild, leaving the teams five to seven. Peterborough's stock went up at this stage, when Ray scored after a nice rush by McMillan in 3 minutes. Lindsay 4, Peterborough 2.

The Lindsay McDougall was banished for loafing off side. Peterborough rushed and McMillan let drive a high one that hit the top bar of the net and Umpire Simmons pronounced it a goal. Lindsay disputed the decision, but the counter was allowed. Harvey Staunton was substituted as goal umpire and the merry battle went on. Lindsay 4, Peterborough 2.

Peterborough were having a little better of the play at this stage and rushed repeatedly. Dusty shoved one in with his hand in a fierce scrimmage in front of the Lindsay nets, but Referee Livingstone detected him and refused to allow the goal. Then Peterborough scored on a combination rush but were called back for an offside. Blomfield was penalized for what looked like an accidental trip. Stoddard shot down with a lightning rush and Green scored on the rebound in seven minutes. Lindsay 5, Peterborough 3.

Ray got clean through for Peterborough, but Gamble came out and deflected the shot with his pads when a score seemed certain. Glover was penalized for bodying Stoddard. The latter cinched the game for Lindsay on a long shot in four minutes. Lindsay 6, Peterborough 3.

The summary follows:—

1 Peterborough, Campbell 5 mins.
2 Lindsay, Stoddard 14 mins.
3 Lindsay McDougall 8 ins.

Half time—

4 Lindsay Stoddard 6 mins.
5 Lindsay, Blomfield 4 mins.
6 Peterborough, Ray 3 mins.
7 Peterborough, McMillan 2 ins.
8 Lindsay, Green 7 ins.
9 Lindsay, Stoddard 4 mins.

Penalties—Peterborough, McDougall 4, Ray 2, Campbell 2, Glover 3. Total 11.

Lindsay, Green, Cain 2, Stoddard 2, McDougall.—Total 6.

Heart Trouble Cured.

Through one cause or another a large majority of the people are troubled with some form of heart trouble.

The system becomes run down, the heart palpitates, you have weak and dizzy spells, a smothering feeling, cold clammy hands and feet, shortness of breath, sensation of pins and needles, rush of blood to the head, etc.

Wherever there are sickly people with weak hearts Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will be found an effective medicine

Heart Trouble Cured.

Mrs. Wm. Elliott, Angus, Ont., writes "It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I suffered greatly from heart trouble, weakness and smothering spells. I used a great deal of doctors' medicines but received no benefit. A friend advised me to buy a box of your pills, which I did, and soon found great relief. I highly recommend these pills to anyone suffering from heart trouble."

BIG CROWD WILL GO TO LINDSAY MONDAY NIGHT

A big crowd of fans will accompany the Peterborough Hockey Club to Lindsay on Monday night, when the third game in this district of the intermediate O. H. A. will be ulayed. A special train will leave the Grand Trunk station at 7 o'clock, and from present indications there will be a great rooters' chorus from Peterborough. The team is not in the least down-hearted, as the result of last night's game. They expetced to win, but realize that they were not playing up to top form, or as they did in Lindsay and they think that they can reverse the situation and once more beat Lindsay at home. The teams are now even up with one victory and one loss each and the championship of the district depends upon the next two games. There is little to choose between the two teams and the element of luck may or may not enter into the calculations. The fare for the return trip is $1.05. The train will leave Lindsay on the return journey as soon as possible after the gue.

TORONTO SAVINGS & LOAN CO.

Annual General Meeting.

The Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders of The Toronto Savings and Loan Company was held at the Head Office of the Company, No. 437 George Street, Peterborough, on Friday, the 28th day of January, 1910, at Two o'clock, p. m.

DIRECTORS' REPORT

The Directors submit herewith their Twenty-Fifth Annual Report, showing the result of the business for the past year, accompanied by the Balance Sheet to the 31st December 1909.

The Gross Earnings for the year amounted to $213,954.59, and after the payment of Interest on Deposits and Debentures, and all expenses of management, there remained a Net Profit of $124,120.31. To this amount has been added $22,308.99, the balance carried forward from last year, which makes a total sum for distribution of $146,429.30.

This amount has been disposed of in the following manner:

(1) By Payment of four Quarterly Dividends of 1½ per cent. each, equal to 6 per cent. for the year, amounting to	$60,000.00
(2) By Bonus of 2 per cent. for the year on 1,000,000 Paid-Up Capital	20,000.00
(3) By Addition to the Reserve Fund	30,000.00
(4) By Amount carried forward to Profit and Loss Account	36,429.30

The above addition to the Reserve Fund increases that account to $680,000.00, making it now 68% of the present Paid-Up Capital of $1,000,000.00.

All payments maturing during the year on the Company's investments have been satisfactorily met, and the rentals from the property owned by the Company have also been promptly paid. The books, accounts and securities of the Company have been carefully examined by the Auditors and their report is attached to the Financial Statement.

County Council Decides To Install New Heating System

In the Jail and Court House—Will Visit Other Institutions to Examine Various Methods Before Deciding—Make an Offer to School Children.

BRIGHTEN UP OFFICES

The County Council's first session for 1910 was concluded this morning. The final business was of no particular importance, but a full report will be published on Monday. Among the reports the following are of special interest:

Report of the Committee on Schools.

The committee on schools beg to report as follows:

That uniform promotion examinations be held in June each year, and that the Inspectors be requested to prepare the necessary papers and arrange all details in connection therewith.

That if no change takes place in the entrance examination that the sum of $10.00 be paid to the pupil from this county receiving the highest number of marks at the entrance examination for 1910, that is if all examination centres in the county remain in affiliation with Norwood.

That the sum of $400.00 be paid to Mr. R. Lees, school inspector, to cover travelling expenses and all printing and postage in connection with examinations and inspectorate work.

Respectfully submitted,
I. KNOX, Chairman.

County Property.

The committee on county property beg leave to report as follows

That Messrs. Nesbitt and Stewart be authorized to procure the necessary clothes for vagrants in the gaol.

That in view of the fact that our system of heating is out of date and our attention having been drawn to the same by the Provincial Inspector, that the Council proceed to install an up-to-date system, making the necessary changes and repairs consistent with the proper carrying out of the work.

That the whole Council visit different institutions for the purpose of acquiring information necessary before proceeding with the undertaking.

That the committee proceed to refurnish the Clerk of the Surrogate Court's office in a manner consistent with the requirements of the office.

That four sets of steel cases, according to sketch submitted by the Office Specialty Company, be procured from that company for the office of the Clerk of the County Court, at a cost of $435.00.

That the Chairman and Warden be a committee to procure a steel door for the vault in that office and to have the same fitted.

That the Office Specialty Company be requested to furnish an estimate of the cost of a skeleton steel top counter with the fittings and other furnishings required for the said office, giving the items of cost of each portion of such fittings, etc.

Respectfully submitted,
W. B. STEWART, Chairman.

Edmonton Players Make Good In Renfrew-Shamrock Game

Renfrew, Jan. 28.—Montreal Shamrocks proved an easy proposition for the Renfrew team in to-night's game. At half time it was 5 to 1 for Renfrew, and in the second half the teams scored a like number of goals making it 10 to 2 for the millionaires.

The match was far from exciting, the play lagging, despite the fact that the ice was as hard and as keen as steel. The fact was that Renfrew did not have to over exert themselves to win, the Shamrocks never appearing dangerous after the first ten minutes of play.

No less than four of the Edmonton challengers figured in the match. Jack Winchester and Bert Boulton playing for the Shamrocks, while Fred Whitcroft and Hay Miller made their first appearance in Renfrew uniforms. Curiously enough all four Edmonton men starred, Miller and Whitcroft adding both speed and brains to the Renfrew line. Fred Taylor and Frank Patrick also shone on the Renfrew team, Lindsay's sensational work in the nets being a feature.

The Renfrew team showed wonderful improvement and when Lester Patrick, who was out of the game with an injured eye, gets back in uniform they will make a great bid for the Stanley Cup. Their chief ambition is to beat Ottawa in the capital on February 12, which they may do. The line-up follows:

A Guaranteed Cure.

(meaning Jan. 22nd), and the night before. We require a good hot fire to keep warm, but out in the sun it was warm in the middle of the day. Poor Florida! I guess half of her crop still hangs on the trees worthless, and the trees are shedding most of their leaves, some all of them. Our grove did not suffer as much as most because we build fires. But when it freezes hard, fires won't save the fruit on trees. It is a great drawback. Then oranges were not bringing enough to pay for picking. Our 300 boxes so far have only netted us 20 cents per box. The grape fruit and tangerines did better. The grove yielded 830 boxes of fruit, being more than had been estimated it would be by 200 boxes."

RADIANT HAIR

New York Society Women's Hair Matched Only by Parisians.

While much attention is given to choicest gowns by New York society women, the turbulent fad just now is the care of the hair.

For many years the clever women of Paris have been famed for the magnificent beauty of their hair.

"Glorious hair," a Virginian calls it; "so radiant and luxuriant that it not only attracts but fascinates and compels unstinted admiration."

But now that the elite of New York, ever anxious to improve their beauty, have learned that Parisian Sage, a remarkable and almost marvellous hair nourisher and beautifier, is almost entirely responsible for the charming hair of the ladies of France the demand for it has become enormous.

Parisian Sage is now sold all over Canada and in Peterborough by Mr. Madill, who is glad to guarantee it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back. Large bottle, 50c.

BET MOTHER'S MONEY ON HOCKEY MATCH

But in Reality It Was His Own—He Lost It—Last Night.

A young man went home last night about six o'clock with the idea that he could pick up a little spare cash by betting on the hockey team. At the time he did not have any too much on hand so he asked his mother to make him a loan until the morning, and of course he would pay her back. His intentions were of the best, win or lose. His mother told him her purse was on the dresser and before leaving home he transferred four dollars to his trousers pocket and started down town whistling "I've got Rings on My Fingers" in the most piercing notes. He had but little trouble in finding someone to meet his money—well the story is told in another column. However, the reckoning came this morning. At the breakfast table he was silent as a mouse until his father asked him about the result of the game. He mumbled the score, but a little later gave vent to his feelings by calling down the umpire, who he said did not know a fair body check from a hand shake and put off the local defence players for an act that would get a smile at a pink tea. He was good and sore and his mother turned the knife in the wound when she asked him how much money he had taken. Four dollars. "I guess that's the money I took out of your good suit last Monday when the man called to have it pressed. I found it in the pocket and just put it in my purse for you."

"That was four dollars I had laid aside for a new hat, but I had forgotten that it was in that small pocket. Well I guess I'll have to wait another month or two for a new one" and he started out of the house, forcing himself to gaily sing Lew Dockstader's "Broke, broke, absolutely broke."

WRECK IN ENGLAND

Three Cars of Swifty-Moving Train Leap the Track and Crash Into the Station at Stoats Nest—Pullman Escapes, But Third-Class Cars Are Smashed to Pieces by the Falling Building.

London, Jan. 31.—One of the most serious railway accidents in England since the disaster to the steamer train at Salisbury in July, 1906, occurred at Stoats Nest Station, near London, on the London and Brighton Railway Saturday afternoon.

Eight dead and about thirty injured were taken from the wreck.

Two third-class cars and a Pullman of a train from Brighton, traveling at a speed of forty miles an hour, crashed into the station. The third-class cars were completely wrecked, and a part of the building was demolished. The Pullman was thrown violently into the air, but was comparatively little damaged. Its passengers escaped with minor injuries.

Accounts of the cause of the accident differ. One says that it was due to the derailment of a portion of the train, which jumped the points where the branch joins the line just outside the station. Another account attributes the cause to the breaking of the coupling between the first and second cars.

The two third-class cars reared almost on their ends and toppled over on the platform, bringing down a mass of iron girders and timbers from the station.

Robert J. Wynne, the former U. S. consul-general at London, who was in the Pullman, escaped uninjured. In describing the accident he said:

"We were passing through Stoats Nest at a rapid pace when suddenly a part of the train jumped the rails and began to tear along the track on its side. The car in which I was seated rocked so violently that many things were smashed. The passengers were preparing to escape when the car stopped with a crash.

"I looked out of the window and saw a man lying dead near the wheels. I got out and helped to pull another man from a ditch. He died before [illegible]. We found two more dead and a woman breathing her last. The third-class cars were lying on their sides, having been thrown against the stone embankments, and were smashed to tinder."

Fourteen Years For Smuggler.

Portland, Maine, Jan. 31.—Fourteen years in the federal prison at Atlanta was the sentence imposed Saturday upon William J. Kelley of Richmond, N.B., an alleged notorious smuggler, who for ten years defied the revenue officers. Kelley was captured last fall after a fight with deputy sheriffs and was convicted of shooting an officer in 1902.

Kelley is the man whose alleged "abduction" by U. S. officials from New Brunswick was brought up in the Dominion Parliament, and concerning whom F. B. Carvell, M.P., interviewed the state attorney. It was argued that Kelley had been lured close to the border and then seized and rushed into Uncle Sam's territory.

New York, Jan. 31.—Speculators in storage eggs in this city have lost from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 this season. Wholesale dealers say that the profits made last year in eggs had lured many to invest heavily last summer, but this year, although fresh eggs have been unusually high in price, the stored product has been a burden to the owners.

Murdered by Fire.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 31.—Her clothes saturated with oil, pieces of a lace curtain tied tightly about her neck, another piece binding her feet, the dead and scorched body of Mrs. Alice Vanzandt was found lying across a gas stove in the kitchen of her home.

Every indication points to murder, the police say.

PARIS IN DARKNESS

France's National Theatre Refuses to Close Its Doors — Boulevards Are Plunged In Darkness and Streets Are Deserted—Looters In Suburbs Are Being Shot at Sight by the Military Pickets.

Paris, Jan. 31.—While the most imminent peril is over, the fall of the Seine since Saturday morning has only measured 15 1-2 inches.

At this rate it would require a fortnight for the river to reach its normal level. Fortunately, tidings from the flooded sections above Paris give hope of a more rapid subsidence after today.

In the meantime, the situation in Paris, and in many places throughout the country, shows little improvement. Indeed, the ravages of the flood within the city seemed actually to increase yesterday. The water was higher in some parts, while the situation at the inundated towns between Paris and St. Germain was distinctly graver.

A stream of water 12 feet deep was rushing through Gennevilliers and Colombes, making the work of rescue more difficult even than on Saturday. Several of the houses collapsed, and many persons were taken off the roofs of their homes, where they had been clinging for days.

Hundreds are reported without food or shelter, and all day an army of troops and civilians worked in the flooded territory distributing provisions by boats to the thousands of victims who refused to quit their homes.

Last night the city was plunged in darkness, relieved only by the campfires of the soldiers at the water edges, or the flickering torch of some floating sentinel, reflected wierdly in the water-covered areas that once were streets and avenues. The Champ Elysees, the pathway of brilliant light, last night had hand lanterns strung along the curbs. The usually gay boulevards are wrapped in silence and darkness.

The restaurants and cafes are reduced to dim candles and Venetian lamps. Most of the theatres are closed, but the Comedie Francaise, with both its electricity and heat gone, was open, Jules Claretie, the manager, explaining to the meagre audience before the curtain rose, that he considered that the national theatre of France should not close its doors.

"We will give a performance," he said, "with candles, as in the days of Moliere, and show the world that Paris can be as heroic as in the time of revolution."

Although there is no intention on the part of the Government to declare martial law, the completely submerged districts, such as Javel, are in the hands of the military, to prevent pillaging. The soldiers have orders to give short shrift to criminals caught looting. Thus far there have been no such cases within the city, but the danger is great, as the French usually keep their money and valuables in their homes.

Outside of Paris, however, many deplorable instances of looting have been reported. A regular band of thieves have been at work in the vicinity of Charenton, but the soldiers have been shooting them at sight. The Zouaves Saturday night killed two of the pillagers at Ivry and two at Brie. These ghouls have now transferred their operations to the devastated parts below Paris, pillaging the deserted villas and homes.

News comes from the suburbs that there the apaches, despite the threat that no quarter will be given them by the soldiers, are trying to loot where there are signs of the greatest desolation.

At St. Maurice a band of apaches invaded a first aid post where several rescued persons were lying injured. After doing all possible damage to the articles in the place, apparently out of pure deviltry, they left, taking with them the clothing of the refugees. As soon as this was known at Vincennes a crowd hanged the first apache they could catch.

A serious incident occurred at the commissariat of police, which has been removed to the Quai de l'Horloge. Saturday night a legion of rats invaded the premises. The superintendent, believing the offices were attacked by hooligans, rushed to the rescue armed with a revolver. He had a terrible time saving himself from the hungry horde. After emptying his revolver he fought desperately with a stick and with his fists. He was badly bitten.

Everywhere special kiosks have been erected for the sale of picture postcards, since all France is anxious to see pictures of the condition of Paris.

Starts Huge Morse Petition.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Agents on Saturday began a house-to-house canvass in this city seeking signatures to a monster petition to be presented to President Taft for the pardon of Banker Morse, who has begun to serve a fifteen-year sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary.

Shot at Five Times.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 31.—Because he refused to contribute to a Black Hand fund, T. Bruno, a young member of the local Italian colony, was shot Saturday at midnight. Five bullets were fired at him by Dominic Marsten, a fellow countryman, who emptied his revolver at Bruno as the latter rushed up the stairway of the Klondike Hotel. Bruno was not seriously wounded.

PROPOSE COALITION

The Conservatives In the Old Land Are Hastening to Agree to Moderate Restrictions on the House of Lords Lest Worse Should Happen—John Burns and W. S. Churchill Will Move Up.

London, Jan. 31.—With Premier Asquith on the continent and Chancellor Lloyd-George closely following him, the politicians are all resting on their arms, discussing what lines of battle will be taken up in the new Parliament.

The moral generally drawn from the elections is that the country does not want radical conditions in the House of Lords or in the Government policies. The spirit of conciliation therefore, is abroad, and schemes for a compromise are being debated.

The Conservative papers propose the most interesting plan—that a joint Cabinet be chosen from the most moderate men of both parties to carry on the Government for about two years, and that a truce be declared on party questions in the meantime.

The newspaper scheme of coalition Government is not taken seriously by the Liberals, who, having won a victory, even if a very narrow one, object to having their opponents dictate the program. Lord Rosebery's name is put forward for the Premiership in the compromise Cabinet, but Rosebery has for a long time refused office, and his popularity now is at a low mark because of his course on the budget issues.

The reform of the House of Lords seems to be the one thing assured. Both parties support it now. The Conservatives and the Lords themselves are willing to adopt a moderate change immediately, lest reforms which would knock the foundations from the Upper House be carried.

The result is likely to be the abolition of the hereditary principle, and no longer shall these and succeeding generations be given a vote except those who shall prove their fitness to legislate by service in the House of Commons, in civil office, or in the army or navy.

The Conservatives are willing that the Lords shall be deprived of the power to hold up taxation bills, provided nothing which could be considered new legislation shall be included in those bills.

The Liberals want to deprive the House of Lords of the power to veto any bill whatsoever. They would compel the Lords to adopt any bill sent to them for the third time by the House of Commons, which, while making the House of Commons consider a rejected bill carefully, would give that body the power to pass in one session any legislation on which it had determined.

It is taken for granted that the House of Lords will pass the budget, but the Cabinet may be obliged to erase the whisky taxes in order to get the votes of the Irish members.

Beyond the reform of the House of Lords and the passing of the budget, Parliament is not likely to get far with anything. The Irish members probably will obtain the introduction of a home rule measure, but the Conservatives will oppose that solidly, and a number of Liberals are against home rule also.

Several Cabinet changes are probable when the new Government is formed. Reginald McKenna, who has been unpopular as First Lord of the Admiralty, will likely be dropped. He may be given a peerage. Richard B. Haldane, Secretary of State for War, may become head of the navy.

John Burns, President of the Local Government Board, will probably succeed Herbert J. Gladstone as Home Secretary. Winston Spencer Churchill will take the place vacanted by John Burns, and they will each receive $25,000, instead of $12,000, as salaries, the latter post having been raised by the last Parliament.

Preparing to Recover Bodies.

Cherry, Ill., Jan. 31.—This little town is steeling itself for the ordeal of exhumation that is expected this week, following the promised unsealing to-morrow of the St. Paul mine, in which the bodies of more than 200 coal miners have been entombed since Nov. 13, when fire caused the death of some 350 men.

A snowstorm is blowing up and the ozygen helmet men have not arrived from the University of Illinois, so the prospects are that the lid which has kept the mine closed for two months will not be pried off the shaft mouth before Tuesday. As it is not certain that the fire in the mine is extinguished, nothing definite towards the recovery of the bodies will be planned until experts, protected with ozygen helmets, have explored the shaft.

Walkerton, Jan. 31.—Some unknown party fired a shot through the back window of a Chinese laundry Friday night and struck the proprietor, Harry Wing, in the arm. He bled considerably and was taken to the hospital. The wound is not dangerous.

Fee In Mining Deal of $500,000.

Denver, Jan. 31.—John Hays Hammond, the noted mining engineer, and highest-salaried man in the world, has received a $500,000 fee for negotiating the sale of San Gertrude mine, in Mexico, to the Camp Bird, Limited, for something over $7,000,000.

PASTOR RUSSELL CONTINUES SERIES ON CHURCH UNION.

What the Episcopalians, Catholics and Lutherans Must Surrender In Order to Have a Solid Church Federation — Anglicans and Catholics Have Some Things In Common—Latter Have Most to Give Up.

Sunday, Jan. 30.—The third meeting for the consideration of Church Federation was held to-day. The spacious Brooklyn Academy of Music was crowded with Christian people of all denominations to attend the third of the series of four meetings called by the People's Pulpit Association. Pastor C. T. Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle addressed the large audience for an hour and a half. The deep interest felt was evidenced by the profound silence, as well as by the eagerness of face. The text was the same as on the two previous occasions, "Say ye not, A Federation, to all them to whom this people shall say, A Federation; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid" (Isaiah viii, 12). The speaker said:—

We meet to-day to consider what sacrifices would need to be made in the interests of Federation by the three oldest denominations of Christendom. Of these Lutherans have least to surrender. Their tenacity for the Word of God they may still maintain, even though others of the federated bodies might more and more abandon the Holy Scriptures, under leadership of the universities, colleges and seminaries teaching Higher-Criticism-Infidelity and the Evolution theory. The Federation nevertheless would still permit Lutherans and others to love and reverence the Word of God and yet be in fellowship. Almighty God, the Son of God and the Holy Spirit, firmly believed in by Lutherans, would all be acknowledged with more or less of mental reservation by all the denominations associated in the Federation. Nothing along these lines would need to be abandoned. Even Luther's plea of consubstantiation in the Eucharist may be held without objection. Even the honor of being the first denomination of the Reformation might still be held. We conclude then that Lutherans would not be required to sacrifice anything.

Episcopalians and Catholics have some things in common. They each claim to represent the original apostolic Church. They each claim (through their bishops in the laying on of hands) apostolic authority. Their common claim is that all other denominations of Christians whatsoever are false churches without Divine authority and hence not to be recognized or tolerated. Accordingly no minister of another denomination would be permitted to preach either in a Catholic or an Episcopalian pulpit. And if by mischance such a circumstance should occur it would be considered necessary to purge the sacred spot by a kind of re-consecration. From the standpoint of these denominations all others are heretics; but, they say, not willingly so, but ignorantly so.

Here note the fact that a cleavage is in process among Episcopalians. A minority, termed high-churchmen, are gradually separating Romeward, while the majority are sharing the sentiments of other Protestants, to the effect that the matter of "apostolic succession" is probably less important than their forefathers supposed. For the purposes of this discussion we may without offense ignore the high-church minority and say that the Scriptures which plainly foretell the perfecting of Church Federation indicate that it will include Episcopalians, but will not include Catholics. Nevertheless the intimation is that while the Federation will be a Protestant one, it will not be antr-catholic. On the contrary the two great systems, Catholic and Protestant, will fraternize and co-operate along various lines — especially in the manipulation of social and political influences.

The breadth of the Episcopal creed will not call for particular sacrifices in Federation, if only their pride on the subject of apostolic succession can be satisfied. They are all prepared to admit that no particular wisdom or holiness has been communicated from generation to generation, from bishop to bishop and from bishop to lower clergy through the laying on of hands. They are willing to admit that there have been men as wise and others as foolish outside as inside their Communion. They are willing to admit that no greater light upon the Word of God and its meaning has come down to humanity through its channels than through outside channels. They are willing to admit that their clergy have no more of Divine Grace and Truth, Wisdom and Power than have others of God's people, both clergy and laity, outside their boundaries. Hence they are willing, nay, anxious, for Federation, and ask only that their "face be saved," by some acknowledgment of the long-idolized thought that ability to expound the Scriptures and the Grace of God in expounding them could be had only through their channel. They have no desire to prove their claim to superior grace and truth by measuring swords of the Spirit with other ministers.

Up to the present time Episcopalians decline to be parties to the Federation unless their special claim be in some sense or degree recognized. Pride says it would never do to retract now all that the denomination has stood for in separation for centuries. They would urge Christians of the other denominations, especially the clergy, to consider the advantage which would accrue to the Federation by having all Protestant ministers accept their ordination. They do not claim that it would make them wiser or better men, nor more efficient teachers, either of truth or error. But they do claim that it would give them an authority in the eyes of the people and give color and reasonableness to the Federation of many churches with discordant creeds posing as one church in the Federation arrangement.

The argument is, "The common people, the laity, are disposed more than ever to think for themselves on religious subjects and to study the Bible for themselves. If, therefore, as ministers, you desire to hold the people in check so that they shall not think for themselves, you would do well to concede the claim of apostolic succession—that no one is permitted to interpret or teach the Bible except those who have received apostolic benediction. It was disregard of this claim of apostolic benediction which led to freedom of thought on religious subjects and ultimately led to the formation of the various sects. You should now seek to restrict further investigation of the Bible and further interpretation of it by accepting our theory, by permitting us to grant you recognition in some simple form of the rights of apostolic authority through our bishops. If you do not do so you will more and more lose your hold on the people, for we are coming more and more to a time of individual thought on every topic.

The Scriptures intimate that this argument will ultimately prevail and great Protestant denominations be thus vitalized and, in co-operation with Catholicism, for a short while dominate Christendom socially and politically, crushing out individual thought and negativing and black-listing all religious teachers outside the Federation and its Catholic Ally. From this standpoint the Episcopal system will lose nothing, but even be a gainer of prestige through the Federation.

For Catholics to join the Federation would signify the surrender of a great deal, and yet, in the light of the Twentieth Century, surely much could be surrendered without any sacrifice of manhood—merely with the sacrifice of a little pride. For the Church at Rome to federate with the Protestant Churches would mean that they ceased to protest and that she relinquished her peculiar claims:

(1) That she alone is the Church of Christ and has authority to instruct;

(2) That she is more than a Church or prospective Kingdom—that to her has been committed by God the rulership of the world in respect to all matters temporal and spiritual, hence that she is the reigning Kingdom of God.

(3) That her Pope is the authorized representative of Christ, anointed and commissioned of God to fulfill all the prophecies of the Scriptures respecting the reign of Christ, his Millennial Kingdom, etc. This claim of Papacy that the Pope's reign is de facto the reign of Christ is expressed in the declaration that he is the vice-gerent of Christ—the one reigning instead of Christ.

(4) The doctrine of trans-substantiation—that by the blessing of a priest the ordinary bread and wine are transmuted into the actual soul of Christ—(his flesh and his blood) for sacrifice afresh in each celebration of the Mass.

Whatever may have been true in the remote past, assuredly our Catholic friends can no longer claim that all the purity, all the faithfulness to God, all the sanctity of life amongst believers in Christ are to be found in her communion. St. Paul declares, "If any man have not the Spirit of Christ he is none of his." Surely all Christians admit this standard and the correctness of the Apostle's teaching. Hence the ignoring and setting aside of all creeds and barriers which have heretofore hindered the Unity of the Church of Christ might be possible. Thus the first Catholic objection might easily be removed in favor of Union. As our Episcopalian friends fail to prove that the apostolic succession to ordination gave either greater wisdom or more grace to their clergy than to other ministers of the Gospel, might not our Catholic friends reasonably admit the same?

The second claim that Papacy is God's Kingdom, that the Popes reign successively as Christ's Vice-gerent, should not be difficult for Catholics of our day to lay aside. However strongly it was held in the dark past it is surely little appreciated by Catholics to-day. No longer do the Popes dominate the civil rulers of Christendom. And no longer do the people consider it wise that they should do so. More and more the masses appreciate the fact that the original kingdom of earth was given to father Adam and that mankind as his children are the natural heirs of the inheritance. More and more the people are disposed to consider popes, czars, emperors and kings as merely figureheads, without any real title or authority from heaven to rule or to coerce the people. More and more the masses demand congresses, parliaments, reichstags and doumas. And more and more do they demand that these shall reflect the sentiments of the people in civil and religious matters. The day of darkness and ignorance in which the people believed that popes and kings were Divinely appointed to rule them with Divine authority has gone by. General intelligence has taught mankind that it is a mistake to suppose that one God-appointed king and kingdom were Divinely appointed to wipe another Divinely appointed king and kingdom off the face of the earth. Hence popes and kings now admit that they reign by a popular sufferance, and their appeals for money, for armies and navies, is no longer on the score that they were Divinely instructed to obliterate each other, but on the score of self-defence.

This claim, however, wholly destroys the argument that we are now or ever in the past have been under Christ's Kingdom, either direct or through the popes. Neither now nor at any other time in the world's history has there been a reign of righteousness such as the Scriptures declare Christ's Kingdom shall be. May we not, then, with good grace—Catholic and Protestants—admit that neither our Catholic popes, emperors and kings, nor our Protestant kings, emperors and heads of Churches are reigning with any Divine authority manifest to human judgement? Let us humbly admit the nonsense of the legends on our coins, Catholic and Protestant, to the effect that kings and popes reign by the grace of God—by Divine appointment. Let us rather say that they came into power through the exercise of brute force and in a time of common public ignorance. Nor by this do we mean any disrespect to the Governments of to-day—rather we have shown that to-day the people are ruling through their congresses, parliaments, reichstags, etc., and that the kings and emperors are mere figureheads of power, more or less useful and dependent upon the good-will of the people.

If it be asked how we shall account for the period of the dark ages and autocratic and devilish misrule, our reply would be to point to the Apostle's words. He declares that Satan is the god or ruler of this world, who now operates through the disobedient—through those not in harmony with God, who constitute the vast majority in Christendom and elsewhere. And we suppose none that our Lord Jesus also spoke of Satan as being the Prince of this world or age (John xii, 31), and of himself as the Prince or ruler of the coming Age, the Millennial Age (John xviii, 36).

Ah, yes! the sooner both Catholics and Protestants admit what they and all the world now see, the better—namely, that for a long time our great Adversary held us in a bondage of ignorance and superstition, in getting free from which many bright minds have reacted towards infidelity, because they did not see that many of the teachings of the past, both Catholic and Protestant, were not only irrational, but most positively unscriptural teachings of men, and, as St. Paul declared, "doctrines of demons"

In view of the fore-going—in view of the fact that the Divine titles of all kings and emperors are now abrogated, papacy need feel no special disgrace to her cause in similarly abrogating the claim that the popes reign as representatives of Christ or have authority so to do. Indeed such a claim is more safely denied than held, for in the light of our day papacy's best friends cannot look into the past and point with pride to any achievements as properly representing the reign of the Prince of Peace—Immanuel. In the light of the present all of God's people, Catholics and Protestants of every shade, should rejoice to join in the Lord's Prayer—"Thy Kingdom come; thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven." Surely this is what all saints of all denominations should desire and pray for and labor for.

Not that we can hope to bring it to pass of ourselves, however. Nearly nineteen centuries of efforts show to the contrary. Even our last century of great missionary endeavor, Catholic and Protestant, proves this. United States statistics show that in the year 1800 there were six hundred millions of heathens, and that in the year 1900 their numbers had doubled — there were twelve hundred millions of heathens. While continuing our exertions on behalf of the heathens abroad and at home, let us tie our faith to the Apostle's words and "wait for God's Son from heaven" (1. Thessalonians i, 10).

At the second coming of Christ and the glorification of his Church, "his elect," "his saints," gathered from all denominations. Catholic and Protestant (and some from outside of all of them)—only then will the glorious reign of Christ and the Church begin. Only then will the spiritual Seed of Abraham be complete and the work of blessing the unregenerate world begin—the Millennial Kingdom work—the overthrow of Satan and his empire—the scattering of darkness, ignorance and superstition which he fastered—the flooding of the earth with the light of the knowledge of the glory of God—the restoration of natural Israel to Divine favor—the bringing in of everlasting righteousness through a mental, physical and moral uplift. Whoever then shall refuse as those blessings and privileges will be destroyed from amongst the people. Thus eventually in the close of the Millennium God's will shall be "done on earth even as it is done in heaven"—as fully, as completely. This is the "Kingdom of God's dear Son" for which we wait and pray. And however good or bad other kingdoms, temporal or spiritual, have been, we need no longer consider them substitutes for this one which shall be the "desire of all nations" (Haggai ii, 7).

We are free to admit that the Catholic doctrines of Trans-substantiation, Masses and Purgatory would be difficult for our Catholic friends to abandon for the sake of Federation or for any other reason. Nevertheless we believe that in the light of our day there is more to be learned upon these important doctrines. Without agreeing with these doctrines—without claiming Catholic affiliation, let me here say that the Catholic doctrine of Purgatory, which lies at the foundation of these three, is in many respects more rational than our Protestant doctrine of eternal torture. It would surely be more God-like to provide some way of escape for the millions of humanity than to leave thousands of millions uselessly in untellable anguish to all eternity. However, the Lord willing, it is my intention to discuss this subject in a general Mass Meeting to Christian people of all denominations on Sunday, March 6. So many of you as desire to attend will be welcomed on that occasion.

Summing up, then, we find that Lutherans would have nothing to lose by Federation—nothing to surrender, except a little pride. Episcopalians likewise will find Federation to cost them little. They can well afford to join the Federation, especially on terms upon which they insist—the recognition of the apostolic succession. And this they can afford to concede in its very mildest form, realizing that it has never specially advantaged them anyway and is impossible of demonstration, in view of the fact that the Scriptures declare that there are but twelve apostles of the Lamb and symbolically show only a twelve-star crown to the Church during this Age and only twelve foundations to the New Jerusalem—the Church in glory. How then could bishops either possess or give apostolic blessings? (Revelation xii, 1; xxi, 14.)

Omitting the Catholic Church, being assured from the Scriptures that she will not be a member of the Federation, we conclude by advising the Protestant Christian Communions discussed to-day not to be content with Federation, but to go the entire length of Union—dropping all their pet ideas and acknowledging as fellow-Christians and fellow-members of the Body of Christ, the Church, all who acknowledge Jesus as their Saviour, their Redeemer, and who turn from the ways of sin and to the best of their ability walk in the path of righteousness, and who make full consecration of themselves to the Lord. These are and ever should be ONE in the most absolute sense possible, both now and beyond the veil.

INSURANCE COMPANY
OF CANADA
Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 19th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $25,270,000.00 an increase of $1,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $219,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $41,817.34.

The Assets now total $206,274.06, and, after allowing for Reserve for uncarned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.19.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President. — Hon. F. T. Frost.

The Home Beer

Beer, not properly aged—"green"—will make you bilious.

Beer, not pure or improperly brewed, will upset the stomach and be absolutely unhealthful.

O'KEEFE'S "Pilsener" Lager is brewed with filtered water, choicest hops and pure barley malt. It is always fully aged, filtered again before bottling and pasteurized.

It is the Ideal Beer for the Home.

As famous for purity, as for its delightful flavor.

Insist that your dealer always send O'KEEFE'S "PILSENER."

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Miss Alice Getty, the accomplished daughter of H. H. Getty of Chicago and the Avenue des Champs Elysees has startled Paris by formally joining the Buddhist religion.

Ida Lewis, the well known life saver and keeper of Lime Rock lighthouse at Newport, R. I., has been made an honorary member of the Newport Yacht club, the first woman to secure this honor.

Mrs. George W. Childs Drexel is one of the acknowledged social leaders of Philadelphia, and her palatial town house on Locust street is frequently the scene of elaborate entertainments during the season.

Miss Anna Heinrichsdorff of Moscow, after studying four years at the Berlin Polytechnical institute, passed the electrical engineer's examination in all its branches, receiving in each one the mark excellent.

Mrs. Richard Watson Gilder as president of the National League For the Civic Education of Woman has been asked to cause an investigation to be made of the conditions under which women work in the laundries in Greater New York.

Mrs. W. W. Armstrong of Rochester has been re-elected for a third term as president of the board of managers of the reformatory for women at Albion, N. Y. This is a mixed board, and the secretary and treasurer are men. Mrs. Armstrong is on the commission in charge of establishing the state farm for women.

"200 Days Not Out."

Every true Boy Scout in the country imagines himself to have grown an inch at least since Lieut.-Gen. Baden-Powell had the honor of knighthood conferred upon him by His Majesty the King.

Baden-Powell showed of what stuff he is made when, with only 1,200 irregulars, he held Mafeking against a siege, led by Cronje, which lasted from Oct. 13, 1899, till May 16, 1900.

That the hero of Mafeking and leader of Boy Scouts has a grim humor, the following letter, in reply to that of a Boer general who said he had heard that Baden-Powell's men played cricket-matches on Sunday, and proposed to send his Boers to take part, shows. He wrote:

"I have to thank you for your letter of yesterday, in which you propose that your men should come and play cricket with mine. I should like nothing better — after the "match" in which we are at present engaged is over; but just now we are still at our innings, 200 days, not out, against the bowling of Cronje, Snyman, Botha, and Eloff, and we are having a very enjoyable game.—I remain," etc.—London Answers.

My Nemesis.

The woman with the serpent's tongue.

She's deep of voice and stout of lung,
The woman with the serpent's tongue.

Her angry words are sharply flung.
She really has a serpent's tongue.

She vows that she will not be stung,
And to my baggage she has clung.

Why is her wrath upon me poured?
Because I owe for five weeks' board.
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Professional Advice.

Father Dooley had just tied the knot. He looked expectant, the bride looked sheepish, and Pat, shifting from one foot to another, looked guilty. At last he began, "I—I—don't like to be mane, father, but I changed me clothes in a hurry and left me wages in me other pants." Then he added in a whisper: "Take me down in the cellar. I'm a plumber, and I'll show ye how to fix the gas meter so 't won't register more than 40 per cent."—Success Magazine.

In Winter Quarters.

The north winds blow.
And we shall have snow.
What will the airship do then, poor thing?
It will rest in the shed
With a bag on its head
And get ready to fly in the spring, poor thing!
—Boston Herald.

One Reason or the Other.

"How long have you worked here?"

"Ten years."

"I suppose you started in as office boy?"

"No. I started in right where I am now."

"What's the matter? Aren't you any good or are the jobs above you all held by relatives of the president of the concern?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Everyone Thought She Was Going Into Consumption.

Mrs. Fred. Biggs, Kingston, Ont., writes:—"I was completely run down, my blood was out of order, and I used to get so weak I would be compelled to stay in bed for weeks at a time. I could not eat, was pale and thin; every one thought I was going into consumption. I tried everything and different doctors until a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did not have one bottle used when my appetite began to improve. I used six bottles. I gained ten pounds in two weeks. When I began to take it I only weighed ninety-three pounds. It just seemed to pull me from the grave as I never expected to be strong again. I will tell every sufferer of your wonderful medicine."

The blood reaches every portion of the body to distribute nutriment and remove effete matter and waste products. Clearly then, any influence, good or bad, affecting the blood, must necessarily affect the entire system for good or evil as the case may be.

Get pure blood and keep it pure by removing every trace of impure morbid matter from the system by using Burdock Blood Bitters. It exerts a curative influence unapproached by any other remedy.

STIRLING

Stirling is located on the Main Line of the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company, running south from Lethbridge to the American boundary at Coutts, where it meets the Great Northern. At Stirling a branch leaves this Main Line to run west to Cardston. At present it has four passenger trains daily, besides a number of freight trains.

No other line taps the American boundary for 400 miles farther east, and it is through Stirling that the majority of the people forming the American invasion of Sunny Alberta must come. There are two other lines now building to Stirling, so that by the end of this year it will have three in all.

Name to Fit the Trade.

Old newspapers give us many instances of men's names fitting their callings. Thus we have Last, a shoemaker of Exeter, and Treadway, who plied the same trade in Hammersmith. There was a Bristol schoolmaster named Rod. Dodge and Wynne, attorneys at law of Liverpool, must have been the butts of their fellow townsmen, while few could have a more appropriate name than the Primitive Methodist preacher River Jordan.—London Chronicle.

No Escape Via Temperament.

"Mabel is getting past the marriageable age, isn't she?"

"Yes, and it's too bad she hasn't any talents."

"Why?"

"She won't be able to tell her friends that temperament prompts her to give up matrimony and devote herself to art."—St. Louis Star.

A Foolish Question.

A reader of the New York World writes to that paper to ask whether it is proper for a young man to send candy to a girl whom he has met but once. What a question! Why, most young men begin handing a girl taffy as soon as they are introduced to her.—Washington Post.

Frills.

Mrs. Crabshaw—The new girl I have said she had taken a course in domestic science. Mrs. Crawford—Is she different from the other girls you've had? Mrs. Crabshaw—Only in one way; she wanted $5 a month more.—Lippincott's.

The Barrier.

"Yes, my husband and I quarrel incessantly."

"Why don't you get a divorce?"

Embroidered Net Bands.

Nets of all kinds are among the novelties of the season, and net bands handsomely embroidered in floss or straw, when on a waist of the same color, look as though the pattern were done on the waist itself. Another device is flowers embroidered in dull colors here and there on ecru lace. Old rose, delft blue and green are seen on the same design. Narrow stripes are the newest style for tailored waists, with net bands of the striped material and bow to match at the throat. Small neckties are also seen. The tie worn on waists which go under a jumper is a long narrow cravat caught at the neck with an ornament, the untied ends being finished with pendants.

White moire is at the moment a favorite fabric for photograph frames, upholstered boxes, letter cases, etc. The decorations used on this fabric are in ribbon work and chenille, in pink, pale blue, green and lavender, in pompadour combinations. The chenille and ribbon employed are all very narrow, and the designs are extremely delicate. Paillettes in gold and silver and crystal beads are also used for delicate quasi-momentary designs.

Nice Traveling Companions.

The railway station at Bragulia, Servia, is so infested with snakes that special precautions are taken when trains stop there to prevent the reptiles from entering the compartments. An Englishwoman coming from Constantinople was appalled to find a small snake coiled around the handle of her traveling bag. The consequent search resulted in the discovery of several other snakes among the passengers' rugs.—London Standard.

A Rap at the Fresh Air Theory.

If you want to purify your blood it is of little value to inflate your chest pouter pigeon fashion. The blood in your lungs takes up just as much oxygen as your muscles call for and no more. Exercise your legs instead of your diaphragm and chest. Even the inhalation of pure oxygen in diseases of the lungs has yielded disappointing results and is gravely questioned as to its theoretical basis.—Outing Magazine.

Flower and Tree.

A white pine will measure twenty-five feet at twenty years and gain twenty-five feet more in the next ten years.

The smallest tree in the world is the Greenland birch. Its height is less than three inches, yet it covers a radius of two or three feet.

The pest of British Columbia forests is a plant called the devil's club. It has spikes which when they enter the flesh break off and produce poisoned wounds, which fester.

INDIGESTION GAS-WATERY RISINGS,

Do you belch up gas?
Does your head feel light and dizzy?
Is your tongue coated?
Do you hawk and spit?
Have you distress after eating, and gnawing sensation in the stomach?
Is there a constant bad taste in the mouth, and a rush of blood to the head?

Do Not Despair

Nerviline is the best stomach tonic known to science—it cures every case promptly. By sending warmth and comfort to the tired organs that need assistance, Nerviline corrects fermentation and gas-belching, drives out dyspeptic pains, clears away bile and bilious feeling. The appetite grows enormous—you digest and assimilate all you eat—this means you gain reserve vigor and cast off depression.

NERVILINE will "set" you up—will make you well. Every doctor who has seen its formula is surprised how many ingredients of wonderful power it contains. Good for young and old, and safe to use at all times. Large 25c bottles, all dealers.

Planning His Career.

Seven-year-old Horace had a great desire to follow his father's career. He was overheard by his mother saying his prayers one night:

THE FALL of "JACK" BROUGHTON

FIRST Battle for the World's Championship, for Which Jeffries and Johnson Fight Next July, Was One of the Greatest in the History of the Ring

(Copyright, 1910, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.)

"YOU had best see 'Jack' Slack," said Captain Cleveland with a grin. "He has your name fighting for breath."

Broughton turned, frowning. "What has the butcher to say of me?" he demanded.

"That he's a better man than ever you were," said Cleveland. "He's over there at the rail with a court of his hangers on and to hear him he's beaten you thirty times within the hour."

Boughton made a gesture of impatience. "From all accounts he's a rare plucked one at the talking. Let's see how he will talk with me to listen." He shouldered a way through the throng in the direction indicated by Cleveland.

It was a day of racing at Hounslow and the course was lined by the thousands come from London for the day's sport. Gentility and commonalty were mingled on the green, gold lace hobnobbing with fustian. Broughton himself, for many years the undisputed champion of the "science of self-defence," had arrived in company with the Duke of Cumberland, he of Culloden, his friend and patron. It was that distinguished sportsman that Captain Cleveland now sought out. He found him standing near his coach.

"There's good game afoot, Your Highness," said Cleveland, eagerly. "What would you say to a match between Broughton and Slack, the butcher?"

"Now that was well thought of," said Duke William, warmly. "This fellow Slack is a hardy and courageous fighter. I know of no one, save only George Taylor, so likely to give Broughton a close brush. Have they come together?"

"They are together now," chuckled Cleveland, though what will come of it is not sure as yet. By great good luck I was near the rail when I heard Slack bawling fire and thunder, among his friends, you may be sure. He miscalled Broughton and I hastened to do our champion the good service of an informer. You know how quick he is to stand upon his name and reputation."

"Good," said the Duke. "Slack should find backers if he is minded to enter the ring."

"He will," answered Cleveland. "He has quite a following at Slaughter's. Your Highness will have no trouble finding takers for your money, though the odds may be long."

The Duke rubbed his hands cheerfully. "Rare sport and a big wager, Cleveland. What more can we ask? And for other reasons we should be glad to see Broughton put to it. He has had no serious contender these many years and the man was growing insufferable with his grumbling and his humors. This should set him on edge."

"He has a very small opinion of Slack," said Cleveland, "the more so that the butcher was but recently beaten by George Taylor."

"And a hard, clean fight it was," nodded the Duke. "Slack is promising and will mill until he cannot lift a hand."

"You have no doubt of Broughton's superiority?"

"What doubt could I have? Broughton has beaten Taylor and Taylor has whipped Slack. Broughton is invincible. The butcher is a slogging hitter, of good bottom and courage. I have seen him stand up with Dan Smith, the Suffolk champion, for a long hour when he was weaving on his legs and his second ready to cry the word, and he won in the end. But he can not stand to Broughton."

Broughton Like an Ox.

"Your Highness is undoubtedly right," said Cleveland, "though Slack's youth and strength will make him a worthy foeman. Here comes Broughton now, with battle in his eye."

The great boxer was shouldering his way through the crowd toward his royal patron, whom he saluted as he came up. He was a man of tremendous build, mighty limbs and erect pose, just under six feet in height and a figure of note in any gathering. Originally a Thames waterman, he had practised the "manly arts of foil play, back sword, cudgelling and boxing" since the days of Fig, the first great public fighter. From 1743, seven years before, his amphitheatre in Oxford road had been the acknowledged centre of pugilism, where he managed the best matches of the time and taught the young bloods of the town the games in which he was unchallenged master.

Broughton's following was numerous and aristocratic, and since the failure of George Taylor's rival establishment he had enjoyed uninterrupted prosperity. The Duke of Cumberland had taken him under his special protection and the pugilist had accompanied his royal friend during a tour of the Continent.

Through the same benefactor Broughton had been made a Yeoman of the Guard and had attained recognition in court circles. In appearance the champion was graceful and of great symmetry. His expression was frank and engaging, manly and dignified. His light eyes were remarkably keen and contributed no little to the impression of confidence and command felt by all who came in contact with him.

"Well, 'Jack,'" said the Duke, "Cleveland tells me you have met the butcher. What did you make with him?"

"Little enough," said Broughton, with the blunt, straightforward manner he adopted toward all, gentle and simple. "It sticks in my head that this Slack is a coward."

"I'll warrant he is none," cried the Duke. 'But what passed between you?"

"I found him crowing among his chickens. He was making free of me, that I was old and fat with high living and had lost my bottom and could not stand up like a man. I should have clouted the rogue on the spot save for having in mind the sport I could give Your Highness and the greater pleasure of milling him soundly.

"'What's this you've got to say to me?' I said, and laid a hand on his shoulder. He spun around where he stood and his jaw fell away. I was hot. 'A horse whip is what you need to teach you manners,' I said. He twisted away, but some of those about him began to murmur and he faced again.

"'Will you fight?' I asked him. He grumbled, 'Aye, I will.'

"'Then hold your tongue between your teeth come the time to misname the man who beats you,' I told him, the surly dog."

"You did well, Jack," said the Duke. "You will fight him in your amphitheatre?"

"Two weeks hence," said Broughton, "unless on sober thought he takes to his heels. To hold him I put up the whole house as a purse. If I can not thrash him I will have no losers' sweets to hold my stomach, with him fresh from beating by Georgie Taylor. He has friends to back him, £200 he says. I covered that as a side. Is Your Highness minded to venture on me?"

"Every farthing I can find a taker for," answered the Duke enthusiastically.

Bets on the Battle.

Captain Cleveland was watching the champion keenly. "Two weeks is none to long in which to lose some of the weight on that great body of yours, Broughton," he said.

The boxer flushed. "Slack will find me light and heavy enough, and you, too, Captain Cleveland, if you care to wager on the butcher's chances."

Cleveland held his peace, but he was not convinced. Broughton, to a careful eye, was a trifle too portly for fast work in company with a vigorous youngster like Slack. It was evident, moreover, that the champion despised his adversary and would make no efforts to bring himself to condition. The captain promised himself to have a look at Slack before he risked money on the outcome.

On April 10, 1750, the day before that set for the battle, Broughton sent one of his supporters to the inn where Slack had put up. The messenger carried ten guineas which he presented to the pugilist, explaining that Broughton desired to clinch the arrangement beyond any possible doubt.

"Does he think I shall fail to be there, then?" asked Slack, pocketing the coins.

"He feared you might draw out," said the envoy.

"Tell him I keep his money to bet against him," said Slack. "And let him rest easy. 'Jack' Broughton will have cause to know that I am knee to knee with him."

Slack, who was then at the height of his powers, had been a butcher in Norwich. He had fought a straight series of victories through the provinces and had come to London in he preceding January to try his fortune with the members of the notable group that gathered about Broughton. His first trial had ended in defeat at the hands of George Taylor after a desperate contest.

He was fully three inches shorter than Broughton, though his weight was nearly equal to the champion's in his prime. His build was rather compact than graceful, with thick ankles and wrists and extraordinary width of chest. He had learned the various blows and methods of guarding as first devised by Broughton, but had developed a style of his own, being remarkably agile and quick of eye. It was said of him that he never gave back in a rally and that he stood ready to meet a knockout blow if he could not stop it, rather than jump out of range.

For all Broughton's scorn of him Slack had not the slightest streak of the coward. He had stood up to Taylor until flesh and bone could do no more. After that crushing defeat, with his star checked and faltering in its upward course, the butcher had determined upon a plan that testified both to his shrewdness and to his undeterred ambition. Beaten by Taylor, he aspired to obtain a match with the conqueror of Taylor and snatch the laurels from the father of the science. His behavior had been directed to that end, and Broughton's fear of his withdrawal amused him mightily.

At nine o'clock of Wednesday morning the doors of Broughton's Amphitheatre were thrown open to the swarm of men and boys that had gathered in Oxford road. These early comers were the spectators of the pit. The champions were not to meet until noon, and the wealthier patrons of the sport never arrived until shortly before that time.

In the centre of the amphitheatre stood the stage, or ring, twenty-five feet square, and raised some five feet from the ground. The space about this was the pit. At the sides, roofed over, were the boxes, and above them was a gallery. The stage and pit were open to the air. Some three thousand spectators could be accommodated within the walls.

The Gladiators.

The Duke of Cumberland was among the first to appear in the boxes, and as acquaintances began to arrive his betting tablets were in requisition. He looked upon any wager on Slack as found money and gave five and six to one with great willingness. His alacrity did not meet with its proper response, however, since the company generally felt that the relative chances of the adversaries could be better judged after a round or two. Broughton's retirement and Slack's rather obscure record left little room for judgment. Captain Cleveland was on hand early, but ventured no money though the Duke made him several tempting offers.

A few minutes before noon there was a commotion in the crowd and the combatants, each followed by his second, entered the amphitheatre from the retiring rooms. They mounted the ladder to the stage, and clambering over the rails, chose their corners. The pit greeted them with roars of applause, the boxes and gallery with handclapping and bravos as they stood bowing.

Two finer gladiators never faced each other than these, one the man who had established the fundamental rules and principles of fistic combat, and the other the younger pupil of his school, who had come to dispute pre-eminence with the veteran. They were stripped to the waist, with light, belted breeches and pumps. They wore no gloves or bandages upon their hands, for "mufflers" were paraphernalia of the game considered proper only to tyros and exquisites.

Broughton, albeit showing some of the effects of soft living, had lost none of his impressiveness or ease. His muscles, to the discerning eye, might have seemed to run a trifle too smoothly and plumply, his shoulders to have lost some of their squareness, but his massive arms held as great a promise of tremendous blows as ever, he held his head as high and stepped as firmly. To the crowd that cheered him he was the peerless Broughton, the man of national renown, favorite of princes and of fortune.

Slack won his reception through his modest bearing, clean appearance and the reputation gained by his plucky showing against Taylor. His skin was pink and firm with youth and health, the muscles rippling and coiling with every movement. He turned away quickly to his corner. As the uproar died one of his enthusiastic supporters, a member of his own former calling, shouted a final admonition:—

"Hit 'un a slack 'un, Jack Slack!" This was meant as a subtly flattering allusion to the butcher's smashing right swing, which had brought his name into the vernacular of the time. Slack smiled and held up his hand in deprecation of the laughter and cheers that followed the sally.

Major Legrange and Mr. John Dudley were selected respectively by Broughton and Slack from among the occupants of the boxes as their umpires. These gentlemen did not enter the ring, since under Broughton's rules the stage was sacred to combatants and seconds during a battle. They took up their position in the same box and compared watches for the purpose of timing the half minutes between rounds allowed to the boxers in which to take their positions after a fall.

The preliminaries having been observed the men stepped forward and the amphitheatre fell suddenly silent. They moved with dignity toward the centre of the ring. On the flooring was chalked a square of a yard and each man, keeping watchful eyes upon the other, placed one foot at his side of the square.

"Bung His Peepers."

The contrasting styles of the two boxers were immediately apparent as they shook hands and stretched out their arms in readiness for the set to. Slack's position was poorly calculated for shifty tactics, which it was never his custom to rely upon. He stood upright, with the weight upon the broad of his feet, which were but slightly separated. From this attitude he could step forward with his body behind his arm, but could not yield readily. With his right fist he guarded the pit of his stomach, his left was advanced at the level of his mouth.

Broughton's pose was more easy and graceful. His stood on springy knees, well balanced for hitting and getting away, a practice that he had first introduced into the downright hammering of the early game. His fists were held forward and before his chest, his head well up and back. His superiority in weight, height and posture over his opponent was clear to every follower of the sport.

Slack waited for the veteran to open the contest, and Broughton, slashing out suddenly, sent his right home on his opponent's chin. Instantly the silence with which the spectators had awaited the first clash was broken by a wave of applause, and as Slack ripped in three ineffective blows the shouting swelled in volume. Slack's unwillingness to dodge or shift gave Broughton a chance to get in a battering jab to the face and the butcher staggered back, his right cheek cut wide open. Broughton followed up his advantage and closed with his adversary. For a breath they struggled, each trying for a cross buttock, when Broughton forced the other from his feet, landing uppermost in the fall.

The seconds hurried from their corners, each assisting his man to rise, encouraging him, blowing a spray of water into his eyes and ears and seating him on his knee. Broughton was without a scratch, but Slack's face was raw. Both men were fresh and lively when they approached their marks for the second round.

Broughton's friends were jubilant, the Duke of Cumberland leading the cheers. The Duke offered eight to one, but bettors were scarce, waiting for further proof of Slack's ability. Cleveland had not booked a single wager.

On being set for the next round Slack became suddenly the aggressor. He rushed in with one of his terrific right smashes, taking the check that Broughton launched at him. The veteran stepped back easily, catching the "slack 'un" on his arm and countering with his dreaded lunge under the left ear. Slack would not be denied and closed, but Broughton, slipping from his hold, hurled him to the floor with a clean, resounding blow on the chest.

The butcher picked himself up nimbly and retired to sit upon the knee of his second. There was no doubt left in the minds of the Broughton contingent that the veteran was the better man and the match a final triumph for the master. Slack's partisans shouted disapproval of his showing and his vociferous fellow tradesman was forward with advice.

Slack only smiled, and Captain Cleveland, who kept a careful watch upon him, could see that the man was scarcely breathed for all the rough handling he had been through. Broughton, on the other hand, found his second's knee a welcome resting place and was puffing with his exertions.

At the lapse of the half minute the boxers came to the centre for the third round. Slack seemed less willing to take his chance of Broughton's formidable blows and closed almost immediately. The veteran thrust his thigh over for a cross buttock, but the butcher eluded it and they fell together, Slack again underneath. At the fourth round the butcher wasted even less time in bringing about a fall. Cleveland, ever alert, began to understand. Slack's hard condition gave him little to fear from the struggle at close quarters and the crash to the stage.

Broughton, on the other hand, was safer when on his feet and at long range, plainly trying to avoid the falls and to knock down his opponent while keeping his own feet. The fifth and six rounds were fought almost with a blow, Slack slipping in to a hold and Broughton unable to avoid him. The sixth round ended with a desperate wrestle, in which the veteran landed heavily upon the butcher. Slack required his second's aid in rising.

The Desperate Fight.

The men had been fighting for eight minutes and bets were now flying fast among the spectators. The Duke had placed several minor wagers, but was anxiously seeking some one who would take him for a heavy sum. "Ten to one on Broughton!" he cried; "ten to one!"

Captain Cleveland was at his elbow. "How much will Your Highness venture?" he asked.

The Duke opened his tablets. "Ten thousand pounds," he said.

"Done," answered Cleveland carelessly, and made his note of the transaction. Slack, sitting on his second's knee, heard the offer of the Duke, which immediately became the ruling price among all the spectators, in pit and boxes.

"Jemmy," said the butcher, turning to his second with a grin, "take the ten guineas that Broughton sent and back me with them at the odds." The second nodded, and, calling one of his friends near the stage, gave him the commission.

Broughton's broad chest was rising and falling with deep, rapid breaths as the men came together for the seventh round. Slack, though he had suffered in the last fall, seemed to have no trouble with his wind and advanced smiling. Again the strong lunged partisan in the pit yelled his injunction:—

"Bung his peepers! Bung his peepers!"

Slack opened the round with a swift one two at the head. The second blow ripped the veteran's ear, but before the butcher could recover Broughton had smashed in his stomach blow, with which he had ended many a contest. It caught Slack fairly in the body and dropped him to his knees like a sack. He was all abroad for an instant and leaned heavily upon his second in retiring to the corner, but a whiff of spray braced him. To those who knew Broughton it was a matter for wonder that the butcher recovered from that deadly blow so quickly. They had looked to see him collapse, and when he sprang up ready for the next round they began to have more respect for the sturdy youngster.

At the eighth round Slack returned once more to his earlier tactics of closing. He got past Broughton's guard at the cost of a stunning clip on the neck, catching him fairly, whirled him with a mighty e and sent him spinning on his back. It was a c masterly fall, and the amphitheatre thundered the spontaneous roar of approval, in which the porters of Broughton joined as heartily as others, the first time the younger man had clearly prove right to be in the ring with the master and had the advantage of a round by skilful tactics. Bro ton was in some distress as he arose and sough corner.

When they came forward for the next r Broughton made a determined effort to land stomach punch again. Slack clubbed the blow with his left arm, and in the opening leaped in, ing a terrific smash between eyes. Broug was shaken and now it was he who closed sought a fall. He was on top i. the crash.

In the tenth and eleventh rounds it was still veteran who rushed quickly for a fall and his fr began to wonder. Not so Cleveland, who had the sledgehammer blow between the eyes and anxiety with which the veteran's second treated At the twelfth round Broughton walked forwar steadily, and instead of aiming a blow at his m trying a clean grip he reached out his arms as if ing for his adversary. The butcher began to face and body blows at will and Broughton gave apparently confused. A murmur of uneasines among the spectators. The Duke of Cumberland lowing his favorite's moves in alarm, shouted thr the quiet that had fallen:—

"What's the matter with you, Broughton? can't fight, you're beat!"

Strong Help For Weak Kidneys

If people only realized the danger of Weak Kidneys, and the value of "Fruit-a-tives", there would be practically no Kidney Disease in Canada.

When the kidneys become congested (too full of blood) or strained from overwork, they can quickly be made well and strong again by taking a box or two of "Fruit-a-tives".

Pain in the back, frequent headaches, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, coated tongue, constant desire to urinate—these are the common symptoms of congestion of the kidneys.

The only possible way to relieve this congestion, is to force the bowels and skin to rid the system of more waste matter and thus allow the inflamed kidneys to rest and grow strong again.

"Fruit-a-tives", being fruit juices, intensified, soothes and stimulates the kidneys, and at the same time rouses the bowels and skin to healthy action.

"Fruit-a-tives", by their prompt action on bowels and skin, almost instantly relieves the intense pain in back and promptly takes away every trace of Kidney Disease.

If you are suffering with your kidneys, begin at once to take "Fruit-a-tives" and you will quickly realize the value of these tablets.

At dealers—50c a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c—or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

FORGETMENOT APRON.

A Charmingly Dainty Gift For a Pretty Girl.

The daintiest apron that could be made as a gift is one of the new forgetmenot effects in sheer white lawn or Paris muslin, much befrilled and trimmed with blue baby ribbon and embroidered forgetmenots to match.

The apron shape is a small oval, reaching about to the knees and no wider than the front of the frock. This is edged with a ruffle two and a half inches deep, put on with a beading and baby ribbon.

The ruffle may be of fine lace, either left plain or with the figures picked out here and there with threads of blue silk to match the forgetmenots.

Quite as effective and cheaper is a ruffle of the material with tiny thread tucks run in by hand with blue silk to match embroidery. Sometimes this can be a fine brier stitching or a continuous back stitch.

On the body of the apron is the main decoration. Four rows of horizontal eyelets, rather small and worked in blue mercerized cotton or filo, are arranged lengthwise on apron from waistband to head of ruffle. The two inner rows, an inch or inch and a half to the side of the middle fold, are longer than the outer rows. These last are about the same distance away as the others are from the center. The length is gauged by slope of ruffle.

Through the eyelets is run blue baby ribbon or the next width wider if possible. It is taken from the bottom of one row to the top, over to outer row and down. It ends at bottom in embroidered clusters of forgetmenots, one at foot of each row of eyelets.

These flowers are worked in two shades of blue. Do not attempt to shade a flower, but make some of a bunch darker than others. The centers are of yellow French knots, the petals being padded slightly and done in satin stitch.

AN ORIGINAL DRESSING SACK.

A Holiday Present That Requires Little Time and Money in the Making.

This dainty dressing sack would make a mighty acceptable Christmas gift that is inexpensive and practical. For its manufacture is required one and one-fourth yards of material thirty-six inches wide, and it may be fashioned from a straight piece of goods. No pattern is necessary. The length of the goods is folded in the middle; slit the front from the bottom through to the center of the material, hollowed out in a circle for the neck, and, lo, the foundation is completed. Your folded piece will be square across the shoulders. But, never mind; that is what gives the graceful shape after the lace is applied. Ordinary ten cent challie was used to develop the sack pictured and wash ribbon for the binding brier stitched on. The waist shirring may be in big empire effect or drawn in at the normal line. The joining under the arms is made with wash ribbon, and the armholes are trimmed with a fall of lace.

DRESSING SACK IN ONE PIECE.

Fad For Miniatures Set in Rings.

It being established that fads are fashionable, it is a cause of thankfulness when the passing fancy is one that has charm. That of wearing miniature portraits in rings certainly is an attractive one. Bracelets containing miniatures were worn by fashionable women many years ago, and the ring fad itself really is only a revival of an old custom. That the rings are of necessity large is the only objection to the fad. This fashion is not confined to women, for men also have taken kindly to it.

How to Stuff Sweet Potatoes.

The housewife who neglects to serve sweet potatoes with a palatable stuffing for Christmas dinner will miss giving her family a delectable treat. They are made by choosing large extra sweet potatoes and baking them. After this cut a slit in the side of each and remove the pulp. Season it with butter, salt, pepper, a little lemon juice and a dash of sugar. Beat this together until it is quite light, put back into the skins and bake until the top is brown.

How to Make a Sewing Case.

A useful Christmas gift for any woman, young or old, would be a sewing case. Take a piece of cretonne 6 by 12 inches and line it with plain color, binding the edges with same; then fold it into an envelope shape with a clasp or tied with a ribbon. The inside space divide into small pockets for needles, pins, bodkins, thread, thimble and scissors.

Helping Him Out.

He was well groomed, sober, evidently intelligent, but he looked worried as he approached a policeman on Broadway, near Long Acre square.

"Officer, I know my name and all that sort of thing," said he, "but I don't know where I live. What'll I do about it?"

"Advertise," said the bluecoat with a stony stare. "What are you giving me?"

"Honest," continued the worried one, "I'm a stranger in New York. Got here this morning. Had the address of a boarding house on a slip of paper a friend gave me. Went there, engaged board, left my trunk and then went out on business. Now I've lost the strip of paper somehow, and I've forgotten the street and number. What'll I do?"

"Advertise," repeated the bluecoat, but less bluntly. "Then go to a hotel and wait for an answer. Another way is to write to the friend who gave you the address."

"Thank you," said the lost one gratefully.—New York Globe.

The Mullet in Gulf Waters.

The mullet has always attracted a goodly share of attention. His fame is not circumscribed by the boundaries of the gulf. Whether the visitor be from the Atlantic or the Pacific coast or from the shores of the Mediterranean or the Baltic, he wants to see, examine and feast on the mullet.

He is the best known fish that swims. Some have a prejudice against him; but, like all feelings of this nature, it rests on an unsubstantial foundation. It cannot bear investigation, for the mullet plays a greater part in appeasing the craving for sea foods than any fish that inhabits the waters of the gulf. He is here in summer and winter, in fall and in spring. When the fisherman contemplates his plight, when luck is against him and a feeling of depression creeps over him, the mullet, always ready to give him a helping hand, rushes into his seine and contributes to his fortune and to the gastronomic pleasure of the thousands of people to whom they are shipped. He is a regular standby. In prosperity and in adversity he is always here in abundance.—Pascagoula Chronicle.

"Sit" and "Set."

Some one who believes in teaching by example has concocted a lesson in the use of two little words which have been a source of mortification and trouble to many well meaning persons.

A man, or woman either, can set a hen, although they cannot sit her; neither can they set on her, although the hen might sit on them by the hour if they would allow it.

A man cannot set on the wash bench, but he could set the basin on it, and neither the basin nor the grammarians would object.

He could sit on the dog's tail, if the dog were willing, or he might set his foot on it. But if he should set on the aforesaid tail or sit his foot there the grammarians as well as the dog would howl—metaphorically at least.

And yet the man might set the tail aside and sit down and be assailed neither by the dog nor by the grammarians.

Queer Happenings.

Hey-diddle-de-diddle!
There runs an old riddle
That a cow jumped over the moon.
But if she did so
We would much like to know
How she ever got down so soon.

And in that same riddle
A cat's in a fiddle.
But how did she ever get there?
For no door has a fiddle
At end or at middle,
So that is most strange, I declare!

And that riddle does say
That on that same day
A dish ran away with a spoon.
But, alas and alack,
As they never came back,
They must have gone up to the moon!

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 31.—Cleveland was Saturday selected as the centre of the state-wide probe into the cost of living to be instituted early next week by the legislative investigating committee.

The Summit County grand jury, after a two-week session, adjourned, declaring that "A part at least of the increased prices is due to unlawful and artificial means caused by way of combinations and agreements to control prices. We refer to the large food packers, to the railroad and [illegible] transportation companies, cold storage concerns and wholesale dealers [illegible]

A decisive battle between the revolutionists and Government forces is expected in Nicaragua within the next ten days.

Their Majesties King Edward and Queen Alexandra have each subscribed $5,000 toward the French floods relief fund.

Fourteen Sicilians, convicted at Toledo, Ohio, of Black Hand crimes, were sentenced to terms ranging from two to sixteen years in prison.

Police searched the St. Petersburg apartment of Col. Manuiloff yesterday, formerly chief of the Russian secret police in Paris, and confiscated a large number of documents.

Prof. A. P. Coleman of Toronto University has been awarded the Murchison medal by the Royal Geological Society of London, Eng., for distinguished geological investigation. The Murchison medal was found by Sir Frederick Murchison.

John Raycroft, 20 Milton avenue, Hamilton, was caught in a shafting at the International Harvester Co.'s works Saturday night, and was whirled about, his head striking against the wall. He was taken in an unconscious condition to the City Hospital.

Lloyd Dixon, M.A., has been appointed Rhodes' scholar for New Brunswick for 1910. The appointment was made by Mount Allison University, Dixon being the choice from six candidates. The senate of Dalhousie College on Saturday selected John Erskine Read, B.A., ('09), son of Dr. H. H. Read of Halifax, for the Nova Scotia Rhodes' scholarship.

Couldn't Cross Unmarried.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 31.—Before Geo. E. Smith, 24 years old, and Evelyn Davidson, 26 years old, of Guelph, Ont., were permitted to enter the United States Saturday night, the immigration department compelled them to return to Canada and get married. This was done, the immigration officers say, in order that the couple would not be inconvenienced by the matrimonial laws of New York state.

The couple returned to this side, where they were married. On showing marriage certificate yesterday morning they were allowed to proceed to New York.

Beet Sugar Plan Failed.

London, Jan. 31.—Another attempt to establish the beet sugar industry in England has failed. Land owners, farmers and business men had co-operated extensively in an effort to raise capital for the erection of the first factory of that kind in this country at Sleaford, in Lincolnshire. Agriculturists in the district had bound themselves to grow certain quantities of sugar beets, but the plan finally has fallen through because but $100,000 of the estimated $630,000 wanted could be obtained by public subscription.

WRECK AT HAMILTON.

Engineer Is Killed and Fireman and Brakeman Are Hurt.

Hamilton, Jan. 31.—Henry Rumple, 196 Homewood avenue, an engineer, was killed, and James Hurdman, 207 South Locke street, a fireman, and George Beamsley, brakeman, were injured in a wreck in the T., H. & B. freight belt line, near the Jockey Club, yesterday morning about eight o'clock. The dead man had been married only seven weeks.

The crew had been engaged all night in gathering up the freight in the spur line, and were making their last trip when the accident occurred. The engine had just passed under the bridge of the main line of the G.T.R., some forty feet, when it jumped the rails and plunged into an embankment. It was thrown across the track, and two cars, loaded with pig iron, piled up on top of it. Some of the pig iron was shot into the cab of the engine, and a piece struck the engineer, killing him almost instantly. Fireman Hurdman was not seriously injured.

Brakeman Beamsley, who was lying flat on the top of the third car from the engine while the train was passing under the bridge, was shot along the car and into the pig iron, but was not badly hurt. The conductor, Thomas Kelly, 83 East Ferrie street, was on the back of the train and escaped uninjured.

The engine was a total wreck, and the cars caught fire from it, but the flames were extinguished by a bucket brigade from Crown Point.

Coroner Hoskins will hold an inquest. The funeral of Engineer Rumple will take place Wednesday afternoon.

Bogus Masons in Windsor.

Windsor, Jan 31.—A daring attempt by a small party of imposters to secure admission to a prominent Masonic lodge in this city was frustrated Friday night by the vigilance of the lodge officers, who had been notified in advance of the probable attempt to gain admission.

Information was received that a man known as Dr. Goodrich would apply at the Windsor Masonic temple and after registering in the usual manner, try to make his way into the lodge room without undergoing the usual preliminaries required of all strangers who claim Masonic affiliations.

The man made his appearance, and with him were two young men who gave their names as Milkins. All claimed to belong to Acacia Lodge of Wyandotte, Mich.

The two young men who accompanied Goodrich were astonished by their reception in Windsor. Both claimed to have paid Goodrich a sum of money, in return for which he agreed to administer the first three regular Masonic degrees.

These degrees, the young men asserted, had been given them by Goodrich in a small room in Wyandotte, which Goodrich had rented, and where he had informed them he would shortly organize a regular lodge of Free Masons to operate under the Grand Lodge of Scotland.

When informed that they had been duped and that their Masonic knowledge was "faked," the young men asked to be permitted to depart for home at once.

Manufacturers Dine In New York.

New York, Jan. 31.—Six hundred representative manufacturers, mostly men of wealth, ate a dinner Saturday at the Machinery Club, of nothing but vegetables and fruit. Wholesalers are agitating for a repeal of the duty on Canadian, Argentine and Mexican beef.

"Look at the London market," said one of them. "Free competition with the beef of Canada, the Argentines and even Russia rules the market, with the result that an Englishman can eat Canadian beef grown just across the border from us, cheaper than Americans can eat their own western steers."

"Eat no meat," in large letters, was pasted all over the west side Saturday on shop windows and in many private houses. Twelve of the posters are in butcher shops.

Allard Wins In Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—Robert Allard (Lib.) is the new member of Parliament for Ottawa, having been successful in Saturday's bye-election. His majority over Dr. Chabot (Con.) was 728, an increase, in a total vote of about 12,000. He won out in the French-Canadian section of the city.

The vacancy was caused by the resignation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who in the general elections was elected for two seats, and who not long since decided to stay with his Quebec constituents.

The big civil service vote here rendered the Conservative candidate's prospects gloomy from the start.

Jury Accepted the Joke Plea.

Saskatoon, Sask., Jan. 31.—A peculiar verdict in the Supreme Court has caused Judge Prendergast to dilate on the question of incapable juries and the advisability of doing away with the jury system.

A woman known as "Babe" Belanger was on trial for attempting to bribe a Northwest Mounted Policeman. It was proved that she wrote the latter offering $100 for [illegible] in keeping a house of ill-fame.

She admitted the letter, but stated it was a joke, and the jury, after five and a half hours' consideration, brought in a verdict of not guilty, to the amazement of the court.

Montreal Mayoralty Fight.

"The French-Canadians cannot and should not forget the unjust manner in which her fellow-countrymen are treated by the Irish in the New England states. They should, in fact, make their protestations known whenever an occasion offers. The Franco-Americans to whom the Irish bishops refuse to render justice are right in counting upon the spirit of solidarity. The French-Canadians of New England, whom the Irish bishops and priests compel to pray to God in English, look to us for assistance in the combat they are carrying on. And again, those valiant Acadians who have patiently and patriotically prepared their resurrection as a people are likewise under the yoke of the Irish episcopacy, who refuse them their rightful share of authority and prestige in the church to which they belong.

"In order, therefore, to avenge the wrongs of these people let us vote against Dr. Guerin. Compatriots remember!"

Fondling Babies Not Their Own.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—"There are in Chicago to-day fully three thousand men fondling infants that are not their own, but babies adopted by their wives—and the 'fathers' are none the wiser."

This was the statement made yesterday by Lyman W. Rogers, treasurer of the National Maternity Hospital, from which institution he says some two hundred and fifty infants are adopted into good homes every year.

Of these two hundred and fifty infants, more than one-half are believed by the "fathers" to be their own, he declared. A majority of the babies, he said, enter homes in stations high above those which they would otherwise occupy.

"It is rare," said Mr. Rogers, "that a husband wants a child that is not his own blood. If some husbands who are bringing up children knew the truth about them, I tremble to think what the consequences would be."

Finds "a Fish With Legs."

Allege Breach of Alien Labor Law.

Guelph, Jan. 31.—As the result of a mass meeting held in the Trades and Labor Hall, the attention of the Ottawa Government is to be called to the alleged violation of Canada's immigration laws in the importation of ten British weavers to take the places of striking weavers, who were employed by the Guelph Carpet Mills.

COATED TONGUE HEADACHE DIZZY SPELLS

Your overworked stomach is on strike. It refuses to secrete pepsin enough to act upon the food. Refuses also to secrete acid enough to enable the peptic secretion to do its work.

Give to the stomach the assistance it requires—or in other words try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Which cure more weak stomachs than any other medicine you know of.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills put the kind of life into a weak stomach that enables it to digest and assimilate all kinds of food.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills

Cured Mr. William Martin, a Well-known Lumberman in Parry Sound.

"I consider that Dr. Hamilton's Pills make the best all round medicine. My stomach got disordered and all kinds of complications set in. My blood grew thin, my color got pale, and had the worst kind of headaches. The food I ate all disagreed with me and was constantly bilious and suffering from acute dyspepsia. A wonderful change took place when I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they gave me appetite and strong digestion. I had no more bad dreams, no sick stomach or headache. I was in fact like a new man, and will always recommend and use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are sure to benefit at once. Try them, 25c per box, at all dealers, and insist on having only Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. In yellow boxes only.

CHARGE MAY BE MURDER

If One of the McPherson Sisters Succumbs to Injuries, Henderson Will Face Serious Crime —Not an Impressive Criminal.

INSIGNIFICANT APPEARANCE

Those who have seen the young man who is in custody on the charge of assaulting the McPherson sisters near Norwood, Thursday a.m., doing actual body harm, have expressed the greatest surprise at his appearance. From the fiendish manner in which he attacked them it might be supposed that he was of powerful build and cruel in feature and general appearance. There is none of the highwayman about Robert Henderson, if that is actually his name. He is built on diminutive lines, and while he might be able to frighten two elderly women he could not impress a good sized boy. Of course with an axe the situation is changed somewhat, but Henderson does not to the male mind make an impressive criminal or assailant. The exact charge which will be laid against the prisoner has not yet been determined. Magistrate Edmison told the Examiner that everything depended upon the condition of the more seriously injured woman. If she recovered the situation would be ameliorated for him, but if her injuries result in death the man will be confronted with a charge of murder. At present the paper reads "Assault, occasioning actual bodily harm."

Henderson as the acknowledged assailant of the two lonely spinsters has no sympathy in Peterborough, the expressions being of horror and wonder that he could be so utterly degenerate and flint-hearted as to commit the crime he has admitted. When he appears in the county police court on Thursday it is likely that he will be again remanded.

GRAND MUSIC

Massey Hall Talent, the Shepperly Sisters at the Crystal Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Edwards, proprietor of the Crystal, Peterborough's favourite place for clean, first class amusement, has secured the celebrated Shepperley Sisters, of London, Eng., for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. These talented musicians, who play in Massey Hall, Toronto, on February 5th, perform on many instruments including banjo, cornet, Japanese fiddle, violin, and mandolin. The young ladies are artists in the playing of each instrument. They have delighted scores of thousands in the best London music halls. The prices of admission will be 5c. in the afternoons and 10c. in the evenings. This is a treat that will appeal to the music lovers of Peterboorugh.

CHEMONG CONCERT

Large Attendance and Proceeds Amounted to $80.

The 63rd annual tea and concert of the Chemong Indian Reserve was held on Thursday evening last and proved to be one of the most successful in the history of the band. The attendance was exceptionally large and the proceeds amounted to between $75 and $80.

The chair was occupied by E. S. Clarry of Peterborough, and the programme consisted of solos, duologues, sparring, selections by the chairman, etc. Among those who assisted in the programme were Miss Lavina Whetung, Miss Hunter, Lakefield, Miss Copway, Miss Johnson and Messrs. Gilbert, Dan Whetung, jr., Bowman and others.

Tea was served in the hall from four o'clock to seven o'clock and the tea room was well patronized.

Altogether the affair was most successful, and the committee should feel highly satisfied.

PAYMENT OF ACCOUNTS

All accounts due the firm of H. LaBrum & Co., Clothiers, are required to be settled not later than the 1st day of February next, as our books must be closed on that date. Parties having accounts against this firm are requested to hand them in to H. LaBRUM & CO., Peterborough.

CANADA HAS MUCH TO LEARN FROM GREAT BRITAIN

Britain's Land and Social Problems are Full of Warning and Instruction to the Dominion---The Englishman's Pluck and High Sense of Honour Can Well be Imitated by Canadians---Dr. Macdonald's Eloquent Address Before the Canadian Club at Their First Gathering.

A VERY LARGE ATTENDANCE OF MEMBERS

That the present land situation in Britain and the social life existing there are full of instruction and warning for the people of Canada, were two of the main thoughts Dr. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, left with his hearers, in his address before the Canadian Club of this city, Saturday evening, on "Some lessons to be Learned from Britain by Canada."

Dr. Macdonald is a very powerful and eloquent speaker and holds the very marked attention of his audience by his most convincing and interesting manner of speaking. He also pointed out that Canada must have special care for its rural life. No nation was strong, he remarked that had not strength in its rural communities. The speaker spoke in admiring words of the Englishman's pluck. One other feature of English life that was deserving of imitation, he said, was what Dr. Macdonald called, honour in business and public relations.

About two hundred gentlemen of the Canadian Club sat down to their first dinner held this year, Saturday night, at the Hotel National. There was a very large attendance, probably the largest in the history of the Club. The many must have certainly been inspired and must have profited by what they heard. The dinner was up to the usual high mark of excellence provided by Mr. Dennison. After it had been partaken of, Mr. O'Connell, the retiring president called on Mr. D. Hughes-Charles to read the minutes of the annual meting at which the officers were elected. Mr. O'Connell then called on Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, the newly elected president to take the chair.

Mr. Kenner, in doing so, thanked the members for electing him president. He took a great interest in the club and felt it a privilege to be a member. Every member should be proud of his Canadian citizenship. Canadians should be thankful for the past and hopeful for the future. The president spoke in eloquent language of the splendid possibilities of Canada.

He was pleased to welcome Dr. Macdonald, who was a member of the Imperial Press Conference at London during the past year. He was a man who had brought credit both to himself and Canada.

THE ADDRESS

Dr. Macdonald in his address spoke as follows:—

"The subject on which I am to speak has the advantage of being quite within the scope and purpose of the Canadian Club. To improve the quality and the conditions of "Life in Canada," is the main objective of this club. Affairs in Britain at this moment are full of interest for Canadians, and if we but read the signs aright we shall find in the British elections both warning and encouragement for our life in Canada.

I do not pretend to any authority in speaking on things in Britain. The problem is too complex, the situation is too critical, for me or any other visitor from Canada to be dogmatic in discussing it. One needs to know not only the facts, but the history and background of the facts, before one speaks with confident assurance. Not even the exceptional opportunities enjoyed in connection with the Imperial Press Conference warrants one in disposing of the vexed questions of life in Britain with an easy wave of the hand.

I am reminded of an incident told me by Mr. Hamar Greenwood at the banquet of the Eighty Club to Mr. Asquith on the evening before I left London. There had been a bye-election in the Peak District that day. Mr. Greenwood had taken part in the campaign. He was speaking in one town where the ubiquitous "hackler," that interesting figure in English political campaigns, persisted in interrupting him. The fellow was partially intoxicated and his questions were inconvenient. Another man rose up in the audience and called out in dialect, "Mister Greenwood, don't you pye any attention to him, 'e's no good; 'e's let his wife go to wuk'us to-dye". The half drunken heckler pulled himself up and said, "Mister Greenwood, Mister Greenwood, don't you, don't you blime me—till you see the Missus." Now sir, in forming our judgments wait till we see the Missus. We should know the necessary facts.

But sir, while the native-born has advantage over the visitor in close personal knowledge of the situation here or there in Britain, familiarity may dull his senses to the significance of facts which strike and impress the stranger who comes with fresh eyes and has other experiences and conditions in mind. In what I have to say, I shall speak of things as I saw them. I shall try to present some points of instruction and of warning as they impressed me. I select only those that seem to yield lessons for life in Canada.

LESSON OF THE LAND

First I set the Lesson of the Land. The land situation in Britain is full of instruction and warning for the people of Canada. Broadly, the land is the main source of the nation's wealth. The land is the basis of the people's prosperity. All our great institutions of civilization have their roots either directly or indirectly in the soil. More than on any other one thing the comfort and prosperity of the people depend on the uses they make of the land. Land is limited in area and fixed in location. It cannot be increased. It cannot be transplanted. You can buy a half-dozen motor cars but your abundance does not prevent your neighbour from having his supply. New motor cars can be procured. But if you own or control all the land other people must go without, for more land cannot be made to meet the demand.

In Britain the land situation is made acute by reason of the very large population and very small land area. Nothing but the utmost wisdom could handle the land in Britain so as to deal justly with all the people. But instead of economic wisdom we have the utmost of economic folly. I need not tell you the history of the British land situation. You know how a century or more ago when men accumulated great wealth through investment in India, or in America, or elsewhere they found it necessary, in order to gain a social standing at home to acquire great estates. The aristocracy of Great Britain was a landed aristocracy. You know too, how great grants of land were made to favorities of the king in return for services in war. It was needful that these landed proprietors should have a large class of rotainers who could be pressed into service when the king went to war. Men of wealth bought the small farms and the farmers became tenants of the large estates. These tenant farmers were able to pay their land rent, partly out of the farms, and partly out of the small home industries which they conducted. In parts of Scotland the land situation was affected by the Clans System. When that system broke down after Culloden the chiefs of the clans became the landlords of the estates. We now have great Scottish landlords like the Duke of Sutherland, who owns a million and a quarter of land, the Duke of Buccleuch and the Marquis of Bute with their vast domains, and old clan chiefs like Argyle, the head of the Campbells, and Lochiel, the head of the Camerons. In some cases the men who followed their chiefs to the fields were, after the clan system broke down, compelled to leave the estates and make new homes for themselves beyond the seas. The landlords in England and Scotland, as well as in Ireland, when they got control of great estates, and when they were no longer required to provide hundreds of men for war, found it to their advantage to clear the glens and the moors from their human tenants and to stock them with deer and rabbits and grouse. It has been shown that eighty per cent. of all the land of Britain is held by three per cent. of the people. Is it any wonder the land problem is fixed and will not down? One quarter of all the land of Scotland is held by twelve persons. It it any wonder, in view of the action of the Lords in throwing out the Scottish Land Bills that the people of Scotland should be keen for the reform of the Lords?

But another influence was at work bearing on the land question. There came a time when the small tenant farmers were unable to pay their rents because of the failure of their home industries. The great industrial revolution, with its establishment of large factories with their industrial machinery, killed the hand weaving, the cobbling and other small industries. The people were compelled to leave their farms and follow other industries in the towns.

Then came the days of the sporting aristocracy. The great lauded proprietor found it more profitable to rent his land for shooting privileges than for agricultural purposes. As the leases fell due deer forests were created and grouse moors and rabbit warrens. To-day great areas of Britain are without human habitation. Within a period of five years, including the year 1900, 7,000,000 acres of moor and bog land in Germany were reclaimed for agriculture. During the same five years more than two million acres in Britain were withdrawn from agriculture and given over to grouse and to deer. Again, I ask, is it any wonder that the land problem in Britain is acute?

One of the campaign songs in Britain is, "God Made the Land for the People." The sentiment of that refrain needs to be brought home to the people of Canada. Our country is too young to feel the pressure and the pain of the landless people of Britain. But a century of history will make as great a difference in Canada as it has made in England and Scotland. If we squander the resources of land with which this young nation is so richly dowered a generation will arise whose curses on our heads will be as bitter as those that now fall on the Kings and Nobles who alienated from the people the lands in Britain a century or two ago.

And not the land only but all the great natural resources of the country, God made them for the people too. He who put fertility into the soil put elec-

CARNIVAL WILL BE EVENT OF SEASON

One of the principal events of the winter season will be the Carnival in Brock Street Rink to-morrow night, which promises to attract a very large crowd. Much interest has been taken in the announcement of the function, and a large number of young people have been busy for some time deciding the momentous question of what costume they are to wear. The result will be the most sumptuous display of costumes that has probably ever been seen at such an event in Peterborough. The prizes are out of the ordinary, and as the band will be present there will no doubt be a large attendance. Those taking part in costume are asked to write their name and the character they are representing on a card, and leave it at the door on their entrance in order to insure publication.

ARRESTED FIVE VAGS

Were Found "Running Loose" in Vicinity of Havelock by the Searchers for Henderson —Will be Dealt With Here.

FORMED A PROCESSION

If the results of the search for the man who assaulted the McPherson sisters Thursday, near Havelock, may be taken as a criterion of general conditions, the country must be overrun with tramps. No less than five "Weary-Willies" were turned out of their temporary winter quarters by posses of men who were searching for the man whom rumour had made even a murderer. The countryside east of Norwood and adjacent to Havelock was given a rather hurried fine-tooth combing on Friday, and five vagrants were unearthed and lodged in Havelock jail, if the railway town really has such a place. They were to be liberated the next morning, but County Constable Cochrane decided to bring them to Peterborough. Upon the arrival of the afternoon train here the procession of prisoners, no less than six, started up George street, with Mr. Cochrane master of ceremonies. They will be given a hearing on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

CAUSED SENSATION

Eloping Couple Who Were Stopped at Niagara Falls are Well Known in Guelph.

Special to The Examiner.

Guelph, Jan. 31.—George E. Smith and Miss Evelyn Davidson, whose elopement on Saturday was held up at Niagara Falls, N.Y., by United States authorities, until they were married on the Canadian side, are well known in Guelph, and the despatch in morning papers caused great surprise among friends. Miss Davidson managed the big Market Square furniture store for her invalid father, and Smith worked in the store, which was gutted by fire on Dec. 17th, and Smith's evidence at the fire inquest was so unsatisfactory that the jury recommended further investigation.

GOLF AND COUNTY CLUB MEMBERS

Meeting of the Shareholders on Saturday Night.

A meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club was held in the Bank of Montreal chambers on Saturday evening. It was decided that the receiving of the annual statement and reports of the captain and various committees would be left over to a meeting to be held during March, on a date to be decided upon by the President.

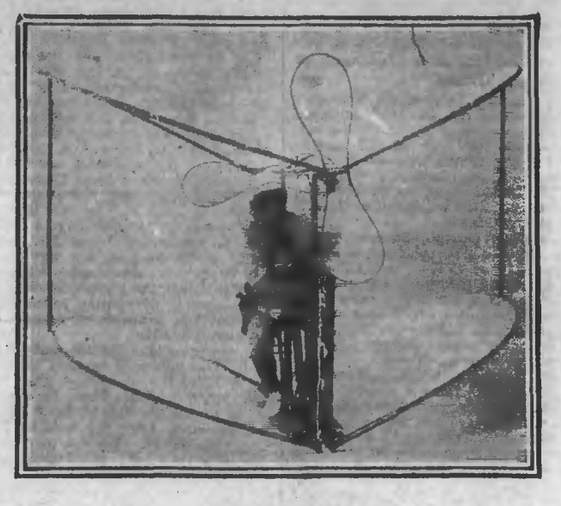
RECEPTION TO THE CONGREGATION

Enjoyable Affair Promised at St. Andrew's Church To-morrow Evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's church will tender a reception to the members and adherents tomorrow evening, beginning at eight o'clock. Refreshments will be served, a programme has been prepared, and the affair promises to be most enjoyable. A large attendance of members is expected as the ladies have arranged for every demand.

NO JUNIOR O. H. A. GAME TO-NIGHT

There will be no junior O.H.A. game in Peterborough to-night. Owing to the hockey excursion to Lindsay the Peterborough Colts-Collegiate junior O. H. A. game has been called off and the Collegiate thereby win the district. They will play Markham in Markham on Friday night, and meet the Pearceaunt town team here a week from to-night.



LEW DOCKSTADER,

Who comes to The Grand next Thursday, in his airship, in which he sails over the heads of the audience discoursing all the latest local topics in such a manner as to make his hearers scream with laughter. Seat Sale opens to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

This week, Thursday, Feb. 3, we are to have another big attraction with us, namely, Dockstader's Minstrels, which numbers nearly 100 people. Lew Dockstader is probably the oldest minstrel man in the business, and has an international reputation as being the greatest black face comedian on the stage. He has surrounded himself with such well known artists as Neil O'Brien, Eddie Mazier, Al Johnston and a host of others of unquestionable ability in their respective roles. Lew himself has for his act this year a practical airship in which he rides out over the heads of the audience discoursing all the latest local topics in such a manner as to cause his hearers to almost double up with laughter. On this and the many other novelties introduced into the productions, such as "Fighting the Flames," a comical sketch of black face fire department in the mythical town of Ungandi, Africa, the spectacular number, "The Sahara Belle," introducing some 20 expert dancers, and the "Human Flag," the Montread papers of last week devoted half a column. An orchestra of 16 skilled musicians is carried with the company so that the production is complete in every detail. The seat sale for the local engagement will open to-morrow (Tuesday) morning at 9 o'clock.

SOME PRACTICAL WAYS IN WHICH RELIGION MAKES SUNSHINE IN HOMES

Fourth Sermon of the Series on "Some Spheres and Services of Practical Religion" by Rev. Canon Davidson ---Greatest Services in the Homes are Rendered by the Housekeepers---Love the Sunshine of Home Life.

Rev. Canon Davidson continued his series of sermons at St. John's Church last evening on "Some Spheres and Services of Practical Religion," his subject being "The service and sunshine of home life." His remarks were based on the fourth verse of the fifth chapter of the first book of Timothy: "First learn to show piety at home."

Mr. Davidson began by showing that home life was one of the most natural spheres for the exercise of home religion. The human family was intended to be an earthly reproduction of the divine family. The two complementary sides of home life on which the speaker centred his attention were service and sunshine. The main point of the text was that piety found its first exercise in doing its duty in the home by the parents and the elders. It was a radical duty that past workers should be lovingly supported when their working powers were diminished. He went on to speak of the great effect of religion in inspiring love, shown in a God-like way, as a duty and independent of the actions of others. The homes should be preeminently abodes in which one could pass from the coldness of the world. Love was the sunshine of home life and should be received and cultivated as such.

The necessary observance of the Lord's Day was one of the helps to the ideal home life. On that day there should be a complete change of occupation and reading matter, the quiet enjoyment of home life. This divine connection should be continued during the week by family prayer, which might be reduced to the simplest form. The homes could be brightened by games and recreation, and more especially by the cultivation of the art of music, a most valuable adjunct. Each one should feel the duty of doing something for brightness. Neither should dress be disregarded. In this country people only dressed attractively when going out of the home, but in the older lands people dressed each evening for the home circle. The greatest services of home life were undoubtedly rendered by housekeepers, on whose work the physical well being and temper of the home so largely depended. It was most important that meals should be tastefully served, and more appreciation should be given those who excelled in these useful features. Good housekeeping was one of the most useful acts of life, and should be recognised as such. Artistic ability had no exclusive connection with the paint brush, or piano, but could be identified with the stove or ladle. The principles of practical religion should provide a good table, not alone for ourselves, but Christian hospitality should be exercised.

Such were some of the practical ways in which religion inspired the services and produced the sunshine of home life. The course of special sermons will be discontinued for next Sunday and then resumed during Lent.

The prayers and hymns last evening were in keeping with the sermon, and Mr. R. J. Devey played "Home, Sweet Home."

EXPLOSION OF NATURAL GAS

Twenty-one Persons Injured—The Genesee Hotel Totally Destroyed, While Two Sides of the House Were Blown Out.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Lercy, N.Y., Jan. 31.—An explosion of natural gas in the house occupied by James Derider and family, immediately following the total destruction of the Genessee Hotel, about 3 o'clock this morning, caused injuries to twenty-one persons, some of them being injured more or less seriously. A large crowd of people had followed an injured man into the Derider home when an explosion of gas occurred. Two sides of the house was blown out, and the people were blown through doors and windows.

A NEW FLOTATION

Offering of $1,750,000 Bonds, With 50 Per Cent. Stock Bonus, of the Sterling Coal Company, Limited, by A. E. Ames & Co., Limited, and F. H. Deacon & Co., Toronto, and R. Forget and Johnston, McConnell & Allison, Montreal.

Other Influential Toronto and Montreal People Interested.

A very important public offering of securities is being made in todays papers, relating to a new Canadian enterprise. A company is being formed, under the name of the "Sterling Coal Company of Canada," with incorporation under the laws of the Dominion, having an authorized capitalization of $2,500,000. Bonds and $3,500,000.00 stock. Of these amounts $1,750,000.00 bonds and $2,500,000.00 stock are now being issued.

The directors are: President, W. F. Tye, late Chief Engineer Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal; Vice-President, A. E. Ames, Toronto, of A. E. Ames & Co., Limited; N. Curry, President Canada Car and Foundry Co., Montreal; Rodolphe Forget, M.P., President Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co., Montreal, and President of the Quebec Light and Power Co.; J. W. McConnell, Director Pacific Pass Coal Co., Montreal; F. H. Deacon, Toronto, of F. H. Deacon & Co.; Andrew Squire, Cleveland, Ohio, Counsellor-at-Law; H. D. Hileman, Cleveland, General Manager of the Company.

The Company has been formed to buy the Hileman group of properties having four operating mines situated on the Pennsylvania and Erie Railroads, about 70 miles south-east of Cleveland; the Beckwith group, being the Cecil and Malta mining properties, located 7 and 30 miles, respectively, south of Grafton, West Virginia, and being on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Acadia property (subject to approval on six months test), located in Athens and Washington Counties, Ohio, on the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio South-Western System and about one-half mile south of the main line of the Toledo and Ohio Central Railroad.

Mr. Charles Fergie, the eminent Consulting Engineer on coal properties, estimates the tonnage which may be economically developed in these properties as 117,000,000 tons, which is equal to an output of 1,500,000 tons per annum for a period of 78 years. The securities are being offered under particularly good auspices, being vouched for by four recognised investment houses, viz., A. E. Ames & Co., Limited and F. H. Deacon & Co, Toronto, and Rodolphe Forget and Johnston, McConnell and Allison, of Montreal. It is said that a considerable portion of the bonds have been already sold, and that the four firms mentioned expect subscriptions to come in rapidly. Subscription books are now open and will close not later than 4 o'clock on Tuesday, the 8th of February. The right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription books without notice.

OTTAWA BYE-ELECTION.

The result of the by-election in Ottawa to fill the vacancy made by Sir Wilfrid electing to sit for Quebec East and resigning the Ottawa seat, to which he was elected, is a signal victory for the Liberal government. Mr. Albert Allard, the Liberal candidate secured a majority larger by 33 than that polled by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the general election. The result is also a signal vindication of the naval policy of the Laurier government, which was a direct issue in the contest and an answer to the demand that the question be submitted to the people. In addition to this there is further evidence that there is not that popular hostility to the naval proposals asserted by one of the many wings of the Conservative party, as further evidenced by the adoption at a meeting of farmers at Norwood Liberal convention of a resolution endorsing the government's naval policy and the hearty applause given a reference to it by one of the speakers. The result is besides a rebuke to that section of the Conservative party, which, against all fact and inference, sought to make the impeachment of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's loyalty to the empire an issue. Evidently the Conservatives are coming to the conclusion that the only way to beat Laurier is to invoke the aid of the undertaker. They are learning very slowly that the people know more than the Conservatives or a wing of them, credit them with knowing; that the people can distinguish great principles from the motives of ward politicians.

FARM PROSPERITY.

The farmers of Canada, with good crops generally, have the added benefit of good prices, and should not complain of their lot in this regard anyway. Prices for all principal farm products show a sharp advance over the prices generally prevalent last year. According to the last issue of the Dominion Census and Statistics Monthsly, the average value of horses at the end of the past year is $49 for those under one year as against $46 last year, for those from one to three years, $106 as against $100, and for those three years and over $150 as against $143 last year. For the latter class of horses the highest value obtains it the west—Manitoba, $187; Saskatchewan, $180; British Columbia, $165 and Alberta $150. In Ontario and Quebec they are $144 and in the Maritime provinces $126 to $137. The average value of horned cattle is $10 as against $9 last year, for those under one year; $23 as against $21, for those from one to three years and for those over three years $33 as against $32. The average value of swine per $100 pounds is $7.90 as against $5.86 a year ago. The lowest value is Manitoba, $7, and the highest in Quebec—$9.62 per hundred. Sheep have advaneed in general value from $5.23 last year to $5.89. The remarks of correspondents suggest that the wool growing industry is on the decrease owing to ravages of dogs in the eastern provinces and of wolves in the western provinces. The total value of farm animals in the Dominion has increased from 531 milions last year to 569 millions at present. The average value of farm lands throughout Canada has grown from $33.70 per acre last year to $36.80. The farmer is having his harvest of prosperity, and it is hoped that he is making hay while the sun shines. When he thrives we all thrive and though he may "wax fat and kick" it is the consumer that is doing the kicking, but general prosperity goes hand in hand with the high prices of farm products and the prosperity of the farmer.

WHERE IS THE NIGGER?

(Ottawa Free Press.)

For weeks past the Conservative press of the country has been busy attacking not only Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Mackenzie King, but the whole Government for the "failure to accept the opportunity which is offered" for the Dominion Government to establish a system of technical education in Canada.

It was in vain that Mr. Mackenzie King pointed out, as the Premier had emphasized many times before, that education was one of the subjects which are, by the Confederation act, assigned to the provinces.

But in this case, as in so many others, one side is good until the other side is heard.

Curiously enough, however, when the Minister of Labour essayed yesterday afternoon to read, in justification of his attitude towards the question, certain correspondence relative to the appointment of a Royal Commission, received from various provincial Premiers there came a protest from Mr. Boyce of Algoma.

The Leader of the Opposition, Mr. Borden, had given his consent to the reading of the correspondents, but Dr. Sproule and Mr. Boyce had objections and, once again, Parliament was treated to the spectacle of the Opposition leader being "turned down" by his followers.

Why should Messrs. Sproule and Boyce have objected to the opinion of Ontario's Premier on this question being placed on record? Who is the nigger in the woodpile?

Surely, Mr. Boyce would not stoop to the position of a blocker, merely to make a point of party advantage on a question which is not one of party politics.

There must be some other reason. Perhaps we will hear of it from Queen's Park, some of these days.

The Free Press is doubtless correct in assuming that the Ethropian it scents is at Toronto—somewhere in the eastern end of the Parliament buildings. Sir James Whitney is a tremendous stickler, verbally at least, in the matter of provincial rights. The slightest indication of invasion of this sacred domain raises the verbose bristles on Sir James back, like quills upon the fretful porcupine, that is, where he thinks he can make political capital out of exploiting the alleged raiding proclivities of a Liberal government at Ottawa; but when he wants this same government to "butt into' the sacred enclosure—to do a work which is ditinctly the duty of the Provincial government of Ontario, he puts away the provincial rights bogie and is willing for the Dominion government to spend money on, say, technical education. Sir James has made a demand upon the Dominion government to make a substantial grant for the promotion of technical education. This is something with which the provinces are especially and exclusively charged and the Dominion has no right to interfere. He still adheres to the neglect of his duty and in the speech from the throne at the opening of the Legislature he again invites the Dominion government to do the work which he has neglected and is still neglecting. The Whitney government has practically doubled the Provincial expenditure the past five years, but not one cent of the increase has been incurred in the promotion of the interests of technical education. Looking to Ottawa when it is sought to shirk a duty and evade a responsibility is in pretty sharp contrast with the shrieking protests against assumed invasion of provincial rights over matters of little comparative importance.

CONSTIPATION AND HEADACHE

Mrs. E. Morrow, Bracebridge, Ont., writes—"For years I was troubled almost constantly with constipation and never got anything to do me the lasting good that has been obtained from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Not only have they cured constipation but have also entirely cured the headaches from which I used to suffer terribly and have improved my health in every way."

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN QUIGLEY.

The death occurred at the House of Providence, this morning of Mrs. John Quigley. She was 82 years of age, and had been an inmate of the house for the past seven years.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock to St. Peter's cemetery.

JOHN JAMES FOLEY.

The many friends of Mrs. D. Foley, Perry St., will sympathize with her in the loss she has sustained by the death of her second youngest son, John James, who passed away last night. The child was four years old.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock to St. Peter's cemetery.

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE COMBINED

Travellers for Brandram-Henderson Limited Meet in Convention.

Discuss Advertising and Salesmanship

An enthusiastic convention of the travelling staff of Brandram-Henderson, Limited, Montreal, was held at the company's works, Mile End, Montreal, during the closing week of the old year. There were in attendance Mr. Joseph R. Henderson, president and general manager; Mr. George HendersonHenderson, manager of Maritime branches; Mr. Geo. M. Edwards, manager of Montreal Paint and Colour Works; Mr. John Irwin, Montreal sales manager, and Messrs. C. F. Smith (Halifax), A. H. Ellis (Maritime Provinces), W. A. Church (St. John, N.B.,) E. W. Charlton, (Quebec), Gaston Lemoine, (Eastern Townships), F. A. Markum(Montreal). W. H. Smart, (Eastern Ontario), H. V. Lawlor (Northern Ontario), and Neil Macdonald (Western Ontario).

The representatives were welcomed by the president. A trip was made through the leading corroding plant and paint factory, which was an eye-opener to those who had not been in Montreal since these works were completed. Luncheon followed in the clubhouse. In the afternoon addresses were made by Mr. George Henderson on "White Lead and Advertising in Connection With It," by Mr. George M. Edwards on "English Liquid Paint and Its Advertising," and Mr. John Irwin on "China-Lac, the New Varnish Stain," the advertising connected with it, and the general newspaper and magazine advertising in connection with the products of Brandram-Henderson Limited.

In the evening a theatre party was held. The following evening the social event of the convention, the banquet, was held at the Place Viger Hotel, at which Mr. Joseph R. Henderson, presided. After the toast to the King, Mr. E. W. Charlton proposed "The President." Mr. Henderson gave an interesting history of the rise and development of the house of Brandram-Henderson Limited, and the difficulties that had been surmounted were an encouragement to everyone. Mr. Henderson described how manufacturing operations were first started at Five Islands, N.S. In 1876 he joined forces with Mr. C. H. Potts, and in 1881 moved to Halifax. There the firm rapidly came to the front, and when an alliance was made with the English firm of Brandram Bros. & Co., gigantic strides were made. In 1897 the firm opened a branch in Montreal.

In 1906 the most important move of all was completed when Mr. Henderson formed Brandram-Henderson Limited, to take over the operation of Henderson & Potts and the Canadian interests of Brandram Bros. & Co., Limited, of London, England. The latter connection made possible the corroding of white lead in Montreal by the Brandram B.B. process. Mr. Henderson said there was no need of him mentioning the success which had attended the new firm—the corroding plant, giving an output of over 3,000 tons per annum, and the paint factory were sufficient illustrations.

They were now about to open a branch in Toronto, and the heavy export business was steadily increasing. Mr. Henderson spoke enthusiastically of his salesmen. He said he had sold paint himself and knew the difficulties and discouragements occasionally met with on the road. He thanked his staff for so materially aiding in the success of Brandram-Henderson Limited.

Mr. George Henderson proposed "The Salesman," and, alluding to the chairman's reference to the part taken by the salesmen in the building up of the firm, said he wished to drive home the appreciation of the hard task of the traveller. It must not be forgotten, he said, that the salesman is regarded by one-half of the customers as the "house itself." Upon the salesman depends much of the reputation of the firm, and therefore it could be seen how important a personage the salesman is. Mr. Irwin, replying to the toast, referred in glowing manner to the way in which the salesmen had been received by the management. They could also take example from their president, who had so successfully overcome so many difficulties. It must be a great measure of relief to him, said Mr. Irwin, that on coming to Montreal he could leave the business in Halifax in the capable hands of Mr. George Henderson. Remarks were made by Messrs. Smith, Macdonald, Ellis, Lawlor, Church, Lemoine and Markum.

Mr. George M. Edwards proposed the toast "The Press." A great deal of money, he said, was being spent by Brandram-Henderson Limited in advertising. They recognized its value and were going in for a bigger campaign than ever. Mr. J. N. McKim, of A. McKim, Limited, and Mr. F. J. Arrowsmith, of "Hardware and Metal," replied, voicing the great advantages which accrued from an active co-operation between the manufacturer and the press. The evening closed with a vote of thanks to the president for the entertainment and the great kindness displayed to the staff, and it was resolved that the success of the past would be more than duplicated in the future and that record results would be shown at the next convention.

CASE ADJOURNED

Police Court Hearing to Come Up This Afternoon.

"Nix didding," said one of the regulars at the police court after picking his way downstairs. Another of the familiar members of the "brigade" had slept in until 9.45 and was consequently late and disappointed, and it was in answer to his "What's doin' mate?" that the above answer was made. "It promised to be all right, too," he continued. "There were one or two little flashes in the fan as it was but it was laid over until 2.30 this afternoon." The case concerned the payment of wages and as there were a number of women connected with it the rail bird's experience told him there should be lively cross firing.

UNNATURAL THINNESS EASILY CORRECTED.

By Clever Prescription Which Can be Filled at Any Drug Store.

No Need to Be Thin Now as Reports Show This Method Effective.

People who are very thin and scrawny ought not to be so. Undoubtedly they are more subject to disease and contagions than the normally fleshy. Thinness is usually accompanied by weakness, and weakness subjects any one to colds, coughs, consumption, pneumonia, etc. It has been discovered, almost by accident, that tincture cadomene, when combined in a prescription with proper accelerative medicines, becomes one of the most valuable, effective, and reliable nutritive or flesh-making medicines known to science. It is especially beneficial to men and women between the ages of sixteen and fifty-five, who, from lack of proper nerve force and digestion, remain undeveloped in body limbs, arms and bust. A well rounded symmetrical figure in man or woman indicates health, magnetism, stamina and happiness.

The reader who wishes to add from ten to forty pounds should not fail to begin with this valuable prescription:

First, obtain of any well-stocked druggist, three ounces of essence of pepsin and three ounces of syrup of rhubarb in an 8 oz. bottle. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol. Shake and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom). Shake well and take one teaspoonful before each meal, one after each meal. Drink plenty of water between meals and when retiring. Keep up this treatment regularly and of a certainty from one to three pounds will be added to the weight each week, and the general health will also improve.

When last the young Orlando parted from you
He left a promise to return again
Within an hour, and pacing through the forest
Chewing the food of sweet and bitter fancy;
Lo! What befell! he threw his eye aside
And mark what object did present itself;
Under an oak whose boughs were moss'd with age
And high top bald with dry antiquity,
A wretched, ragged man, o'ergrown with hair,
Lay sleeping on his back. About his neck
A green and gilded snake had wreathed itself,
And with her head nimble in threats approached
The opening of his mouth; but suddenly
Seeing Orlando, it unlink'd itself,
And with indented glides did slip away
Into a bush; under whose bushes' shade
A lioness, with udders all drawn dry
Lay crouching, head on ground, with catlike watch,
When that the sleeping man should stir; for 'tis
The royal disposition of that beast
To prey on nothing that doth seem as dead;

The author must have known considerable about the habits of wild animals else how could he have given such a correct and minute description as the one I have quoted..

Shakespeare had also a perfectly poetical appreciation of nature with his knowledge of facts and sensibility to charm. He was not obtuse. These lines,

Daffodils,
That come from before the swallow dares, and take
The winds of March with beauty; violets dim,
But sweeter than the lids of Juno's eyes
Or Cytherea's breath."

taken from "A Winter's Tale," seem to show that he knew the feelings of youth to which beauty is more than a religion.

He writes like a man who has lived at Rome and undergone thorough training, studying with the best masters. He describes everything with that comes to hand, for he is prepared for it, whatever it may be and what he paints, he paints without an effort.

Shakespeare was a "man of men," not merely with men; he was not "a thing apart" with a clear intuition of what was in those around him, he had, in his own nature the germs and tendencies of the very elements which he described. If you will describe the people, if you will write for the people you must be one of the people. He knew what was in man for he felt it in himself. Throughout all his writings you see an amazing sympathy with the common people, rather an excessive tendency to dwell on the common feature of ordinary lives. He knew, too, that for most of the purposes of human life stupidity is a most valuable element. Coleridge has a nice criticism which deals with this point. He observes that in the narrations of uneducated people in Shakespeare, just as in real life, there is a want of prospectiveness and a superfluous amount of regressiveness. All through the works of Shakespeare you feel- that you are reading the successful man; not a trace can be found of "eating cares" or narrow and mind-contracting toil, but everywhere there is, in addition to a shrewd sagacity and boyish wisdom, a refining element of chastening sensibility which prevents sagacity from being too rough, and shrewdness from becoming cold. He liked music, too, for he has written;

The man that hath no music in himself
Nor is not mov'd by concord of sweet sounds,
Is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils.
The emotions of his spirit are dull as night,
And his affections dark as Erebus;
Let no such man be trusted."

From his English historical plays it distinctly appears that Shakespeare like everybody then, accepted the constitution of his country. He had a clear perception that, though it is possible to bribe a class as well as an individual and that personal obscurity is but an insecure guarantee for political disinterestedness, he everywhere speaks in praise of a tempered and ordered and qualified policy in with the pecuniary classes have a certain influence and shows in every page a keen sensibility to the large views and high-souled energies, the gentle refinements and disinterested desires in which those classes are likely to be especially deficient. He is particularly the poet of personal nobility. This passage from Julius Caesar helps to instance the foregoing idea. It is taken from the speech of Mark Antony, over Caesars bier;

"Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears,
I come to bury Caesar not to praise him,
The evil that men do lives after them
The good is oft interred with their bones;
So let it be with Caesar. The nobe Brutus
Hath said that Caesar was ambitious;
If it were so it was a grievous fault;
And grievously hath Caesar answered it.
Here, under leave of Brutus and the rest,
Come I to speak at Caesar's funeral,
He was my friend, faithful and just to me;
But Brutus says he was ambitious;
And Brutus is an honourable man.
Hi hath brought many captives home to Rome,
Whose ransoms did the general coffers fill,
Did this in Caesar seem ambitious?
When the poor have cried, Caesar hath wept;
Ambition should be made of sterner stuff.
Yet Brutus says he was ambitious;
And Brutus is a honourable man.
Moreover, he hath left you all his
His private arbours and new planted orchards
On this side Tiber, he hath left them to you,
And to your heirs forever; common pleasures,
To walk abroad and recreate yourselves.
Here was a Caesar, when comes such another?"

It has been doubted whether Shakespeare was a man much conversant with the intimate society of women. However, he possessed a great knowledge of them—a capital acquaintance with their excellence, faults and foibles. They are invariably high-souled, spirited and proud, ever zealous for their honour and exacting in the assertion of their rights. The language of Shakespeare's women is ever essentially female language. He could paint the moving essence of thoughtful feeling, which is the best refinement of the best women. An example of his eloquence in women can be found in "The Merchant of Venice," where Portia pleads for mercy with Shylock, the Jew.

On few subjects has more nonsense been written than on the learning of Shakespeare. He was not a hard student, yet he was a happy and pleased reader of interesting books. He was a natural reader; when book was dull he put it down, when it looked fascinating he took it up and we see that he remembered and mastered what he read. We have clear evidence that he had the ordinary grammar school education of his time, but he was not an elaborate scholar ,though his plays showed that he had a very powerful and educated mind. Max Muller, the German scholar, paid tribute to this learning of Shakespeare in his collection of essays, "Chips from a German Workship," and there is many a student in Germany who learned English solely in order to study Shakespeare in the original. Goethe was proud to call himself a student of Shakespeare, and indeed we owe a debt of gratitude to the poet of Stratford-on-Avon, not speaking of the poet only, and of his art, so perfect because so artless, but rather of the man with his large, warm heart, with his sympathy, with all that is genuine, unselfish, beautiful and good, with his contempt for all that is petty, mean and false. Great nations make great poets, great poets make great nations. Happy the nation that possesses a poet like Shakespeare. Happy the youth of England whose first ideas of the world in which he is to live are to sen from his plays, When we look at this small house, in a small street, in a small town of a small island and then think of the world—ennobling spirit that burst forth from that small garret, we have learned a lesson and carried off a blessing, for which no pilgrimage would be too great.

Shakespeare is of no age. He speaks a language that thrills in our blood in spite of the separation of more than 200 years. His thoughts his passions, his strains of fancy are all of this day as they were of his own, and his genius may be contemporary with the mind of every generation for a thousand years to come.

On April 23, 1616, Shakespeare died, having completed his 52nd year. Two days after the remains of the poet were interred in the chancel of the old church at Stratford. Over the grave there is a large flat stone on which you may read these lines;

"Good friend, for Jesus' sake forbear,
To dig the dust enclosed here.
Blest be the man that spares these stones
And cursed be he that moves my bones."

For three long centuries this epitaph has guarded Shakespjeare's sepulchre like the destroying angel's sword of flame. Protected by that awful imprecation the bard of Avon has slept undisturbed. In a sculptured frame above the tomb of Shakespeare, there has since been set a marble bust of him. In 1880 a Shakesperian memorial was completed at Stratford. It is a combination of theatre, library and museum. In 1887, Geo. W. Childs, of Philadelphia, presented the town with a splendid fountain, also a memorial to Shakespeare.

Shakespeare's widow died on August 6th, 1626, and was buried with him in the church.

The programme of the evening included an instrumental by Miss Kingsley and vocal solo by Miss Heenan.

The next meeting will take place on Friday, Feb. 11. All the members of the Committee are requested to attend the business meeting on Tuesday evening next, Feb. 1st.

FOR BABY'S SKIN TROUBLES

There are times in the life of nearly every child when Dr. Chase's Ointment proves itself a blessing. The tender skin chafes and is irritated by the clothing. Oftentimes baby eczema developes from this very cause. In a dozen ways Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used to sooth and heal the skin and prevent suffering of the little one. No treatment is so well suited for this purpose and none is so entirely satisfactory.

COMPANY'S BUSINESS

Having regard to the coal consumed in the central Provinces of Canada being so largely obtained from the neighboring States, and to Canadian capital having to some extent been interested in those fields for years, it has seemed appropriate that a strong coal company should be formed, with ample capital, in which Canadians should have an influential voice. It is felt that a company so formed could, through its special connection with the Canadian trade, supplement the local buying market in the States in a way tending to insure the steadiest possible market for its production year in and year out, thereby securing the greatest economy of operation. A favorable opportunity having presented itself, the Sterling Coal Company, limited, is being formed, with the object of acquiring certain mines of bituminous coal now operating under capacity, and further equipping them and developing others, all of these properties being well selected as to specially advantageous situations and conditions. The Directors intend acquiring, accordingly, under terms which have been arranged, the following three groups of coal properties in the States of Ohio and West Virginia, or any two of said groups, with or without additional coal properties, said three groups being:

THE HILEMAN GROUP (all operating), being:
The Sterling Mine, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Salineville, Carroll County, Ohio;
The Strip Vein Mine, adjoining the Sterling Mine;
The Ohio Coal and Clay Company property, located on the Erie Railroad, near Washingtonville, Mahoning County, Ohio;
The Delmore Mine, located on the Erie Railroad, near Leetonia, Columbiana County, Ohio (within about 200 yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and about six miles distant from the Ohio Coal Mine).

THE BECKWITH GROUP, being:
The Cecil Mine, located on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, in Taylor County, West Virginia, about seven miles south of Grafton, and the Malta Mining Property, also located on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, in Barbour County, West Virginia, 30 miles south of Grafton.

THE ACADIA property (subject to approval on six months' test), located in Athens and Washington Counties, Ohio, on the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern System, and about one-half mile south of the main line of the Toledo & Ohio Central Railroad.

The total area of all the properties amounts to 11,026 acres, of which the coal is owned outright on 8,879 acres, the balance being under very low leasing arrangements, the maximum rate being 5c per ton screened. The tonnage which may be economically developed in these properties, other than the Acadia, is estimated by Mr. Charles Fergie as over 75,000,000 tons, and in the Acadia over 42,000,000, the whole being equal to an output of 1,500,000 tons per annum for a period of 78 years.

The four mines of the Hilemar Group and the two properties of the Beckwith Group were visited and reported upon, on behalf of the purchasers, by Mr. W. F. Tye, recently Chief Engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and who had charge of all construction on that railway from 1899 to 1906, and, in addition, all other engineering from 1904 to 1906. Mr. Tye considered the properties especially from the standpoint of railway connection and markets available for the coal, and from a general business standpoint. All these properties were later visited and reported upon, on behalf of the purchasers, by Mr. Charles Fergie, formerly Manager of the Intercolonial Coal Mining Company, in Nova Scotia, and afterwards for several years Chief Engineer and Superintendent of Mines for the Dominion Coal Company, and since 1907 Consulting Engineer in Montreal. These properties were also visited by members of three of the firms now offering the securities. Mr. Tye also visited the Acadia property.

At the request of the Directors, Mr. Tye has consented to serve as President of the Company, giving the organization and conduct of its affairs his close and continuing attention.

Mr. Tye has furnished a report in great detail, copies of which may be seen at our offices. The following statement gives a digest of his opinion of the business and prospects of the Company:—

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

The Hileman Group consists of four working mines, which are particularly attractive and valuable because of their location. They are among the few remaining mines which get a freight rate of 70c a ton to Cleveland. This district has an advantage of at least 20c a ton on freight rates to Cleveland, and to all Lake Huron, Georgian Bay, Lake Michigan and Lake Superior ports over any other district in Ohio, and there are only a few remaining mines in the district. There is a continuous market in supplying fuel to the local railways.

Mr. Hileman, who has been the principal owner of these properties, was born in the district in which they are located, and thoroughly understands the coal business. The Directors regard themselves as fortunate in having him available for General Manager of the company. Mr. Hileman's policy having always been to keep out of debt, making his money before investing it in improvements, even where they were economically desirable, his properties have not yet been thoroughly equipped. It is intended to add to their equipmnet a once, so as to get the highest practical rate of production.

The net profits relating to the four mines now operating in the Hileman Group, which represent only one-third of the total purchase price, will within a few months, with additions to the equipment and costing more than $70,000, provide for 6% interest on the $1,300,000 of the $1,750,000 of the bonds now being issued.

It is intended to proceed immediately with the development of the two mines in the Beckwith Group, constructing, in addition to the coal mining equipment, 500 coke ovens.

The Directors have excellent engineering reports of the Acadia property, and believe it to be very valuable. In order, however, to make quite sure of the value of the property, the purchase has been made conditional upon tests by the Company's own engineers during a period of six months, the decision as to whether the tests result satisfactorily lying with the Company.

An important factor is that all the mines, being situated, broadly considered, in the industrial and railroad centre of the United States, each mine has a special local market for a considerable portion of its output.

The Company's consulting engineer estimates that on completion of the proposed equipment and development the net profits from production will exceed three times the interest on the full $1,750,000 of bonds.

After paying for the properties in full, the Company will have out of the proceeds of the sale of bonds $868,750 cash for equipment and development, and for working capital, which I regard as ample.

After long and careful consideration of the position and prospects of the Company, I believe that the net revenue of the Company should reach such a basis as would warrant declaration of dividends at the rate of 6% per annum upon the stock of the Company, during the year 1910.

W. F. TYE, President.

MR. FERGIE'S REPORT

A copy of Mr. Fergie's detailed report may be seen at our offices. He goes very thoroughly into the question involved. His report is to the following effect:—

The coal is of good steaming quality, and suitable for the markets available, the Beckwith properties coal being also good coking coal.

Operating conditions of the Hileman Group of four mines, all now producing, are very simple, and the capacity can be largely increased with very moderate expenditure. The Beckwith and Acadia properties are well situated as to labor and markets, and present no engineering difficulties.

The money required for equipment and to complete development of the three groups, after providing for unforeseen contingencies, is $866,050.

Estimated yearly profits, after equipment		$343,500 00
FIXED CHARGES:
Bonds, $1,750,000 at 6%	$105,000 00
Sinking Fund at 2%	35,000 00
Depreciation	20,000 00
Taxes, insurance, etc.	5,000 00
		$165,000 00
Available for dividends		$178,500 00

Or over 7% on $2,500,000 capitalisation.

Further equipment if decided upon later, such as additional coke ovens at the Cecil and Malta properties, and additional entries into coal beds, will result in considerably increased net profits.

MUSIC AT ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

At St. Andrew's Church yesterday morning Miss Ethel Winslow, of Toronto, sang a hymnal solo during the service. In the evening Miss Olive Howell sang "Angel Land," and a quartette, composed of members of the choir, were also heard in an appropriate offering. The Young People's Society meets to-night at eight o'clock. The subject will be "The Stranger Within the Gates."

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE LIBERALS OF EAST RIDING WAS MOST ENTHUSIASTIC

Representative Gathering Was Held at Norwood on Saturday at Which Officers Were Elected---Resolutions of Confidence in the Laurier Government and Approving of the Anti-Gambling Bill Were Unanimously Passed---Eloquent Speeches by Mr. J. B. McColl of West Northumberland, Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P.; R. R. Hall, Ex-M.P.; F. D. Kerr, J. J. Crowe and Others.

The highly successful annual meeting of the East Peterborough Liberal Association was held at the town hall, Norwood, on Saturday afternoon. There was a large attendance, consisting of about two hundred of the most intelligent and public spirited farmers of the riding, men with a substantial stake in the country, and a material interest in its welfare as affected by good or bad government. There were several short but excellent addresses delivered and complete arrangements made for effective organization. There is no doubt that the meeting will have an important bearing upon the promotion of Liberal interests in East Peterborough.

The chair was taken by Mr. John Lang, ex-M.P., of Keene, the president of the Association, who, in calling the meeting to order, stated that on account of ill health, he did not want his name brought forward again as an officer. He promised, however, that as long as he was able he would always support the Liberal party in the riding to the best of his ability.

Thanks to Mr. Lang.

At this point it was moved by Mr. Charles O'Reilly, seconded by Mr. Robert Burgess, that the thanks of this meeting, as representing the Liberals of East Peterborough be cordially extended to Mr. John Lang, ex-M.P., on the occasion of his retirement from the presidency of the Association, in which, as well as in his capacity of a representative he has given faithful and effective services, which are hereby heartily appreciated.

In moving the resolution, which was enthusiastically carried, he said that it was the least tribute that could be paid to Mr. Lang, who, he said, had always done everything in his power to attend to the business of the riding. As a representative Mr. Lang, he said, had given faithful and effective service and should be elected Honorary President of the Association.

Mr. O'Reilly made a motion to this effect, which was carried, amid great applause.

Mr. Lang, in reply, thanked the members of the Association present for their hearty support. The Riding could be redeemed to the Liberal cause.

"We have not lost it," he remarked emphatically, amid applause. "We can get it back if you say so." The Riding can be carried if we go at it the right way."

The election of officers was the next order of business, and nominations were called for for the office of president.

Mr. W. T. Buck, of Norwood, was nominated by Mr. George Payne, of Lakefield, and Mr. John Finlay, of Norwood.

Mr. Christopher J. Darling, of Dummer, was nminated by Mr. J. J. Crowe. Hon. J. R. Stratton suggested that a small committee be selected to choose the president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer, leaving the townships the right to select their own officers upon the Executive. The presidents of the township organizations could be made members of the executive of the Association.

The suggestion, on motion, was adopted, and President Lang named the following committee, Messrs. O'Reilly, of Norwood, C. J. Darling, of Dummer, Wm. Drummond, of Otonabee; John Sargent, of Asphodel; E. A. Tanner, of Lakefield, and Joseph Johnston, of Belmont.

President—Wm. T. Buck, of Norwood.

Hon. President—Mr. John Lang.

Vice-President—John Hull, of Lakefield.

Secretary-Treasurer—E. A. Tanner, of Lakefield.

The report of the committee was unanimously adopted.

The Failure of the Whitney Government.

It was moved by A. E. Kennedy, seconded by J. E. Richardson, that this meeting of East Peterborough Liberals, while, according due credit to the Conservative Government of Ontario for what it has accomplished in some directions, regards with regret the extravagant increase of Provincial expenditure, which has practically been doubled in the past five years; deplores the failure of the Government to deal with the matter of technical education, in the interests of our industrial preeminence, and its failure to take measures to provide for the home treatment of our Pulpwood and Minerals, and thereby furnish the largest measure of employment of Canadian labour and capital; deplores the failure of the Government to continue the policy of exploration of our undeveloped territory instituted by the late Liberal Government in order to discover and record the extent and location of the timber wealth we possess, as a preliminary of its effective conservation and protection, and also deplores the demoralizing legislative principle and practice that overrides judicial authority, impairs the integrity of property rights and adversely influences the employment of home and outside capital and discourages enterprise.

Carried unanimously, amid great applause.

The Three-Fifths Clause.

It was moved by Samuel Armstrong, Otonabee, seconded by J. L. Elliott, Asphodel, that in the opinion of this meeting, the Government of the Province of Ontario is deserving of censure on account of its neglect to implement the promises made in Opposition, to divest the administration of the License Law of partisan political influence and to provide an emphatic measure of License reform; that the Government is especially deserving of condemnation for its enactment of the most unjust law that requires what is known as the three-fifths majority in votes taken upon the question of Local Option, and that this meeting, as representing the larger mass of the intelligent moral sentiment of the Riding, demands the abolition of a handicap that ignores the principle of majority rule and outrages the principle of British fair play.

This resolution was unanimously carried.

Confidence in Premier.

William Sharp, Asphodel, and W. Millar, Otonabee, moved the following resolution, which was adopted without a dissenting voice:

That this annual meeting of the Liberals of the Riding of East Peterborough hereby records an emphatic expression of its confidence in the Right Honourable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and in the able Cabinet he so ably leads, and its hearty appreciation of the success that has attended their administration of the affairs of the Dominion, and their application of the broad, national, energetic and optimistic policy, under which Canada has thriven and prospered the past thirteen years, in a degree infinitely beyond what it has done at any similar or corresponding period of its history; under which it has grown and developed, not only in material resources and interests, but in its standing at home and abroad; in self respect, self reliance, in popular unification and harmony, in breadth and reach of outlook, in ambition and capacity of achievement and in all the ways that go to constitute material prosperity, strength of national equipment and character, and the elements of sound progress.

And that this meeting affirms its belief that Liberal principles, wisely, and prudently applied, represent the highest type of human Government and pledges itself to continued earnest effort to promote their success, to the end that Canada, as an incorporate element of the British Empire, may become as it is endowed to become, in greater degree than now, the right arm of the "Dominant Partner" and the foremost of "The Dominions Beyond the Seas."

Mr. F. D. Kerr.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, of Peterborough, said that he had not come down to the meeting for the purpose of making a speech, but rather to listen. The gathering, he said, was a representative and intelligent one, and he was sure indicated that there was enough brain, brawn and energy to put East Peterborough once more where it belonged, in the Liberal columns.

He understood that the riding had been presented to the present member in the House of Commons, as a wedding present, but was of the opinion that it had not been given to him but rather lent, and that it would soon be time to allow him to look after his other responsibilities.

Mr. Kerr stated that it had been his privilege in the past two years to visit every province in the Dominion. He had done this with the idea that Canadians should know as much as possible about their country, and he had come back feeling a better citizen of the Dominion and the Empire. Liberals should have that feeling and should take pride in the great man who is leading the destinies of Canada.

The great growth of railway facilities in the North West, under the Liberal Government was pointed out by Mr. Kerr. Forty years ago Alexander McKenzie laid down the route which was afterwards adopted through the Edmonton country. "That is what I call leadership," remarked Mr. Kerr amid much applause.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier had done more for Canada than any other premier in its history. With eight millions of people, a country larger than the United States, fifteen times bigger than Germany, twenty-one times as big as the great France there was no doubt that God had given Canada a heritage of which its people ought to be proud. It was incumbent on each citizen to work hand in hand with his brother to make Canada what God had intended it to be. That was the view that Sir Wilfrid and his Cabinet were taking, and as a result there was peace and prosperity throughout the land.

"If the Liberal party has gone back in East Peterborough," said Mr. Kerr, it is not because of these old white heads, who have worked so faithfully. Are the sons to be unworthy of the sires?" "Can't you put East Peterborough back into the Liberal columns?"

"Sure! Sure! Sure!" said the chairman.

"Then, with my blessing, go ahead and do it," returned Mr. Kerr, amid enthusiastic applause as he took his seat.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., who was very cordially received, next addressed the gathering. He spoke of the pleasure it gave him to again appear before his old friends in East Peterborough. The character of the audience before him and the interest they showed by being present in such large numbers was a happy augury for the fortunes of the Liberal party in this old Liberal riding, and a proof that it would not long remain in the cold shades of opposition, but for accidental conditions the riding would now be classed where it rightly belonged—in those represented by Liberal members. The prospects of its being redeemed were excellent, for, under Liberal Government the country was in a condition of all-round great prosperity. He briefly contrasted the present conditions with those which were prevalent in 1896. At that time they did not see so many new and commodious farm buildings, so many well-stocked and thrifty homesteads; did not see so many farmers and farmers' wives wearing fur coats; did not see so many evidences of prosperity, nor so many happy and hopeful people. The country at large had increased in population and importance, and the parliament of the country was concerned with many important enterprises and measures, of which the electors should be well informed. He thought it would be a good thing for everybody concerned to have the prominent public men, whom they have all read about, give addresses upon the public questions of the day throughout the riding. They would thus be brought face to face with those who were charged with the duty of making legislation in the interests of the country. Thus, they themselves would be led to feel a more enlightened concern in what affected them, and be able to further the objects with which this meeting was called, to prepare for effective organization in the promotion of Liberal interests, and inspire the Liberals of East Peterborough with greater zeal and enthusiasm. He referred to the necessity of being united in the cause of good government, so as to be able to present a solid front to the methods by which the riding had been deviated from its proper party allegiance. He referred to the secretive methods that had been employed by the present Dominion member of the riding, and to his hole-and-corner appeals to certain interests, which appeals he would not like openly reported. Success achieved by such means was not in the best interests of the country, for they obscured the real issues which should affect the choice of a representative, and tended to destroy the harmony which should exist between all classes of Canadians; who, no matter what their political or religious opinions might be, had a common patriotic interest in its good government; in measures looking to the development of its great resources and promoting the material welfare of the people as a whole. The member for the Local Legislature had, he was sorry to say, made a similar resort to appeals to prejudices and opinions, which, however laudable in themselves, were not factors that should have a deciding influence in deterring the administration of the affairs of the country. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had done much—in fact his whole political public life had been directed to this end—to restore and maintain harmony amongst the different peoples that make up our population. He does not make appeals to religious or racial prejudices, but appeals for public support on the merits of his policy, which is aimed to develop the resources of the Dominion and bring growth of its population and wealth and prosperity to its people. His rule had been attended with prosperity. Canada was never more prosperous than it is at the present time, and has been for the past ten or twelve years. Of course there has been large and increased expenditures, as there must be to meet the growing demands of a greatly increased population, and the increased requirements of a greatly expanded crop production. In this matter the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway was necessary in the interests of the marketting of the increasing crops of the North West. So successful had been the policy of the Liberal Government and so good its methods that the Opposition in parliament in lieu of legitimate criticism had to fall back upon a policy of slander and petty fault finding. No matter how completely one scandal or set of scandals was discredited they were ready with others, bound to meet a similar fate. Mr. Stratton pointed out how the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific would open new regions rich in timber and minerals in Northern Quebec andw Ontario, and promote the settlement of the West, increase its grain products and create greatly increased demands for the commercial and manufactured products of the east. A great deal had been said in the House about the low prices of wool, but the farmers of Ontario were not worrying about wool; they were growing something more profitable and getting better prices than they ever got before. Mr. Stratton said that East Peterborough should be Liberal; it should be behind the Government whose possession of power was essential to Canada's future growth. Our tall chimneys never before smoked as strongly as they had done during the past thirteen years. Labour has had full employment, higher wages had been paid, and there had been greater general prosperity. Trade had grown, population had grown, the revenue had grown, and this latter in the face of a lower average rate of customs duties; in spite of the protests of Opposition speakers the general condition of the country had vastly improved. Canals had been deepened, the St. Lawrence River navigation had been improved, Montreal had been made an ocean port, the advantage of which to all Canadians would be largely realized; and all lands, timbers, and water powers were being conserved and managed in the interests of the people. He would not detain thm by making any lengthy remarks. He was much encouraged by the character and quality of the audience present. He had no doubt that when the proper time came a candidate would be placed in the field who, with their united support, would place East Peterborough in the place she ought to occupy—as a supporter of a Liberal Government, the best that Canada or any other country ever had. They must have men with courage, men of action, men of faith in the future, men with broad outlook, if they desired to keep in the front ranks of Liberalism in Ontario, and East Peterborough must prepare as she was beginning to do to-day for sending to Ottawa a supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal Government.

At this point the report of the nominating committee was adopted.

Mr. E. A. Tanner, of Lakefield, the newly appointed secretary, remarked that he would be considered very ungrateful if he did not express his thanks for the honour conferred upon him, and also to the electors of East Peterborough, for the strenuous efforts they had put forth on his behalf in the last election, about which there were many features of which Liberals might well feel proud. A mistake had been made perhaps in delaying in choosing a candidate, and as a result the organization was affected. However, East Peterborough could easily be regained without any difficulty. It only required a turnover of five or six votes in each division to accomplish the result.

Mr. J. B. McColl, M.P.,

Mr. J. B. McColl, the member for West Northumberland in the House of Commons, was received with enthusiasm when he arose to speak. He said that he was pleased to have an opportunity of meeting the good Liberals of East Peterborough, and of renewing acquaintances with Mr. John Lang and Mr. John Finlay, of both of whom he had the most pleasant recollections of many enjoyable hours spent in the House of Commons.

"When I look over this audience to-day," remarked Mr. McColl, "it seems to me that it would be more appropriate to talk to you in a business way than to discuss the questions of the day. I think there are very few men here that I could enlighten on public questions. The object, however, of holding public meetings is not only to bring together such men as are here to-day, but also the rank and file of the people, a class that could be instructed and benefitted by such instructions."

"I have had quite a little experience in elections in this country. Before 1900 my riding had been in the Conservative ranks for twenty-two years. We succeeded in winning it back, but we did not do so by remaining idle. Organization of a complete nature is one of the most important things in winning and holding a constituency. There was, perhaps over confidence on the part of the Liberals of East Peterborough in the last election, which accounts for its loss. The proper course is to take such steps as are necessary to win it back. I have no doubt that the sentiment of Liberalism is strong enough to carry the riding."

"You should be thinking of a candidate, you should have your minds practically made up. Sometimes it is well to have a man in the field a year before the election; on other occasions, perhaps, it would be better to wait a while. But in any event the people and the candidate should know just who is going to be the man. The Liberals of the riding should be thinking continually about the different available men."

"I may be privileged to touch upon a few of the public questions. Our country is prosperous. We know it by experience. You will remember that when Sir Wilfrid was in the opposition Mr. Foster was endeavouring to show by figures that Canada was prosperous, and Sir Wilfrid made the statement: "When I get into power it will not be necessary to attempt to prove by figures that the country is prosperous; you will know it by the jingle of the coin in your pocket." That promise has been unmistakably fulfilled.

The Conservatives say that this is not due to any act of Government, but is rather due to the old National Policy. They don't believe that themselves. They know better than that, but they hope to persuade some of the electors to believe it. You have heard some criticisms of the fiscal policy. Mr. Foster says that we have increased the taxation and that therefore the Government should be condemned. That statement is made because there has been more revenue gone into the treasury. But we are getting that revenue on a lower rate of taxation. While we are getting more money it is because we are doing that much more business. I often wonder at the Conservatives advancing such an argument. When we ask Mr. Foster what he proposes his only answer was "Raise the tariff." He did not dare say to lower it because that was against their policy."

"If you have a tariff high enough to be protective it stops importation, and although the consumer pays more it goes into the pockets of the protected manufacturers. On the other hand, with a revenue tariff, the money derived goes into the public funds, where it is of use. Experience has shown us which is the better policy."

Naval Defence.

"The naval defence question is the only new question of the present period. There has been a feeling that Canada should keep away from expenditure either for naval or military purposes. The United States did so for a long period, until the time came when she had to act. There seems to come a time in the history of every country when it must take the means of protecting itself. That time seems to have come in the history of Canada. It is now time to commence to provide for naval defence. This opinion is opposed in some quarters, particularly by the Conservative party in Quebec, who oppose the expenditure. I believe, myself, it would be a great thing if such expenditure could be avoided. It has always seemed ridiculous to make large expenditures to be ready to fight. However, it appears that we have not reached that state when such expenditures are not necessary. All great countries are making such outlay and it is necessary for us to do the same thing if we are to become a nation.

"We don't know what the Opposition policy is to be. I may say a year ago a resolution was brought before the House of Commons and passed unanimously by Liberals and Conservatives alike favouring the principle of naval defence. I can't see yet what the Conservatives are going to do. They may say that we are not going far enough. I believe that the common sense of the people of Canada will make them agree to the policy of the Government. The matter should be commenced in a careful and economical way. We should establish ship yards, build the ships in our country and have the naval forces under our control. Some advocate a money contribution to the Mother Country. That would be violating the principle that our public men should have the say as to how our money is to be spent. I believe the people of Canada will agree with and heartily endorse the Government's programme."

Mr. McColl, in conclusion, paid a strong tribute to Sir Wilfrid Laurier for his treatment of the racial question. His efforts from the time he entered office as Premier of Canada had been to do everything he could to avoid clashes between the different elements in the country. To his exertions might be ascribed the kindly and peaceful feeling that existed between the different religions, which was one of the strongest features of his policy.

Mr. McColl was loudly applauded at the conclusion of his splendid address.

Elect Township Officers.

It was moved by John Doherty, of Norwood, and seconded by Mr. John A. Bennett, of Otonabee, that the Liberals of each municipality in the Riding be asked by the Secretary to hold meetings to elect officers and to get the municipalities organized, the president of the municipality to be a member of the Executive of the Riding Association.—Carried.

Mr. J. J. Crowe.

Mr. J. J. Crowe was called, and in a vigorous speech attacked the policy of the Whitney Government, particularly in connection with New Ontario. When in Opposition he said the Conservatives objected to a railway being built into the country. They had called it the land of the stunted poplar and the dwarf pine, and had claimed that a railway would not pay for the grease to lubricate its wheels. The wisdom of the pylicy laid down by the Liberal Government at that time was apparent to everyone.

Mr. Crowe deprecated the influence of secret societies in the last election in the East Riding.

"The man that calls upon the aid of secret societies to cut the throat of his friend and neighbour," he remarked, amid much applause, "is not worthy of sitting in parliament."

Mr. Crowe was confident that East Peterborough could be reclaimed by the Liberals at the next election, and that it would take its proper place in the Liberal columns in both provincial and Dominion houses.

Against Gambling.

It was moved by John Hull, Lakefield, seconded by John Sargent, Westwood, that this meeting of Liberals of East Peterborough desires to place upon record its approval of the bill now before the Dominion Parliament to prevent the business of gambling upon race tracks, or elsewhere, which leads to moral decay, and dishonest practices to obtain money for betting, and to hope that Parliament will pass a bill so evidently in the interests of good morals, such as every Christian country should encourage.—Carried.

Mr. R. R. Hall.

Mr. R. R. Hall, ex-M. P. of Peterborough was the last speaker. The country, he said, had taken immense strides forward since Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Government had come into power. No man could visit the North West and see the great railway facilities, the signs of development on every side without reaching the conclusion that the reign of the Liberal Government had been in the best interests of Canada. Cities had increased their population on every hand, and there was peace and prosperity in the land.

While the West had grown rapidly the fact must not be lost sight of that Ontario still produced one and one-half times as much as did Manitoba." Alberta and Saskatchewan together and its welfare must be looked after. In this connection if there was one thing more than another that was the very foundation upon which prosperity must be built up it was the security of property, and in this respect the Whitney Government was deserving of great censure. The Florence Mining Company had discovered a right in Cobalt Lake and when an attempt had been made to take this away from them the matter had been taken into the courts. The Whitney Government had taken the case out of the hands of the courts, and by that very act of injustice had hurt the influence and blasted the rights of the province. Men would not put their millions into the country if their interests were not to be protected.

Then there was the City of Galt by-law, which the Mayor had refused to sign on the ground that it was illegal. In this case the Ontario Government had passed an act making the measure legal.

Canada had two hundred millions more trade than Japan, and it was most important that it should be protected. If it were not for Great Britain any buccaneer could come along with a black flag and seize our merchant vessels and carry them off. What could Canada do? Nothing, but stand on the shore and say "It's too bad; it's too bad." The time had come when Canada should be no longer a crawling dependent, and would contribute something for her protection. The people of Britain were taxed eight dollars per head for this purpose, while the Canadians had not had to pay a dollar. The Liberal policy was to be able to protect our shores and our commerce with our own ships, built at our own ship yards. It was not necessary to give the money to other people to expend it. Let the Parliament of the country make the outlay. It was said England should be mainta tress of the seas. Her very depended upon it, and it wa eral consensus of opinion t important that the people should do their fair share bute towards their own pr tric energy in the waterfalls, and ore into the rocks, and timber in the woods, and fish in the waters. He made all these for the people. No King, No Parliament, no one generation has a right to alienate from the people's uses for all time these natural resources which God made for the people's good. I am not now talking government ownership, or municipal ownership, or private ownership, I am asserting the principle that, whoever may be given control and the right to operate, the objective of it all must be the interests of the many and not of the few. We in Canada to-day are on the eve of unexampled developments. If great corporations or syndicates are allowed to control our resources of land, or water, or mine, or wood, our children and our children's children will have to bear the curse of monoply and absentee landlordism that has vexed Britain for many generations. It is for this reason I press home my first point that the land situation in Britain is full of instruction and warning for the people of Canada.

In concluding, Mr. Hall s East Peterborough must con the Liberal columns at the tion with a larger major ever.

THE SOCIAL SITUATION

My second point is this, and it grows out of my first, that the social situation in British cities is a warning to Canada against allowing slum conditions in our Canadian cities. If the same conditions are allowed the same results will be inevitable. In Britain the slum is the outgrowth of the land situation. Just because the people were driven from the land, just because they were compelled to follow their industries in the towns, there were created those conditions which made the slum inevitable. The crowding of people into industrial centres produced unemployment and unemployment produced degeneracy. That forcing of industries in Britain resulted in over-production ,for which there was no market, because the people were not on the land. The depopulation of rural Britain destroyed the home market for the British mills and factories. In the United States thirty seven per cent. of those reported as employed in occupation are on the land, producing wealth from the land, and consuming the output of the factories. In Germany thirty-nine per cent of those employed are on the land, in France, forty-four per cent., but in Britain only ten per cent. of those employed in occupations are on the land. No wonder there is no home market; no wonder over-production in the factories produces congestion at home. No wonder congestion produces unemployment and by the law of life unemployment leads to degeneracy and to the slums.

That law holds for Canada as well as for Britain. We have the beginnings of slum conditions in every one of our large Canadian cities; all that is required is time. Time and the down grade tendency of life will produce in our midst the results deplored in the old land. For this reason the utmost offcial care should be taken in the planting of towns, in their surveys, the width of their streets, allotments for parks and gardens, and all those considerations for public health and happiness which reason and experience have approved. It will not do to allow the commercial enterprise of land speculators, or the cupidity of great corporations to determine the physical conditions under which coming generations shall be born and shall live. Some of the larger commercial centres like Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Fort William and Winnipeg, are not without their social perils. Have you read Ralph Connor's new book, "The Foreigner"? The situation in the foreign settlement of Winnipeg there described with all its disgusting animalism and vice is true in fact. Change the names and the language of the people and you have what is essential of other communities. And not in foreign settlements alone, but some in which is spoken the English tongue. Congestion, unemployment, drink and vice, these four wil lconvert any disrict into a slum in two generations. They say in Britain it is not more than three or at most four generations from the health and vigor of the moor and the glens to the fickleness and despair of the city slum.

And this is a question for your members of the Canadian Club. It concerns everyone of you. No man is safe. No class of the community is safe if there is allowed a festering and a fevered slum within the radius of your city. The down-town tenement is in daily touch with the uptown villa. Every man of you who cares for the good name and the good life of your city is under obligation to have concern for everything that makes for industrial efficiency, social happiness, and a high standard of life. Democracy means that we are all members, one of another, and that if one member suffers degeneracy and decay, all the other members suffer with him.

CARE FOR RURAL CANADA

My third point is this, that the decay of life in rural Britain is a warning to us to have special care for life in rural Canada. No nation is strong that has not strength in its rural communities. From the day that the murderous Cain built the first city until now, great centres of population have been artificial and have tended to social and moral decay. Life in the city is being constantly renewed and restored by the incoming from the country of new blood, new brains, new nerves, new muscles and new morals. For many generations the great cities of Britain, London, Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow and the rest have been hungry devourers of human life. They have been kept back from self destruction only by the annual recruitment from the moors and the glens. To a surprising degree the management of great enterprises and the leadership of great movements are in the hands of men born in the country homes and educated in country schools. I put it to the great captains of British Industry: 'What would you do if your supply of workmen and clerks and managers from the country was cut off?' I put it to the heads of the great universities: 'What would you do if you no longer received into your classes, the 'lad o' pairts, from the country parish?' I put it to men responsible for the army like General Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien at Aldershot: 'What would you do if there were no recruits from Devon, or from Yorkshire, or from the heather hills?' Their answer was the same. The nerve of all their enterprises would be cut; the pride of their achievements would be destroyed; the strength of their might would be gone forever. All the great callings of the Nation will suffer irreparable loss if the human breeding places in the country are destroyed and made to give place to the pheasants and the deer. The question for the army was put correctly by Kipling:—

"Will the rabbit war with yoemen—
The red deer horn them fore hire?
Your kept cock pheasant keep your—
He is master of many a shire."

I know quite well that it will be said that rural Britain cannot sustain a large population. A large population may not be needed; what is needed is a good population—good of heart, good of brain, good of blood—and enough for seed. Once there was such a population but from millions of acres it was swept away. What was left behind too often was the weaklings of the flock, enough only for ghillies and caddies and beaters for the sports.

I give one instance of a breeding place of men. It is a glen in the North of Scotland opening into Loch Ness. One side of that glen is a human habitation, the other is wholly given over to game. From the homes of that one side have come generations of men during more than four hundred years who have given lustre and distinction to British Arts and to British armies all over the world. When I visited the glen in July last the innkeeper gave voice to the pride of the parish. Not in its wealth or its popularity with the aristocrats of the South Country, but in its school. "We have 140 children in the school," he said, "We have three M.A.'s on the staff; We prepare the scholars for the university examinations; we are never without our representatives in the great universities of Scotland and England, we had seven firsts in one year. There's a record for you; there's the glory of the Highlands; 140 children in the school and seven firsts in the Universities in one year. And you ask about the spending of so much money on the schooling of the children of the glen. This is what the innkeeper said, "Of course they leave us; they go to the cities and they go to Canada, and we are proud of them. the only thing we have to export is educated people." Tell me, is not the maintenance of such an industry worth while? You men who are proud of Canada's exports of bacon and barley, and you who demand higher protection for your "infant industries" you who insist on State favors for woollens and breakfast foods, tell me, ought not the rearing of real infants into great men, to be encouraged and guarded for the Nation's great sake?

And if indeed you would guard and cherish what is best in the country we must join hands, all of us, in the country and town alike, to promote those conditions of life which will make country homes and country life attractive and satisfying. Hence transportation. Hence education. Hence al lthose gospels of social life which enrich the mind and encourage the heart. Not only great trans-continental railways and net work of electric lines, but also that still more important feature, good roads on all the concessions of all the counties. Every encouragement should be given to country schools and to country school teachers. Rural telephone lines and the supply of electric energy wherever it can be advantageously used should be within the scope of Dominion, Provincial and Municipal governments. The Church too, as well as the school must be made a centre of light and leading, not only in the towns but in the country districts as well. It is a duty incumbent on every good citizen, upon every man who cares for the nation's wealth that he take warning from experiences in Britain to do his share in promoting the vitality and happiness of country life in Canada.

THE LESSON OF HONOUR

One point more and I have done. Certain qualities and characteristics of life in Britain need emphasis in Canada. One of these is the pluck of an Englishman. I have no Saxon blood in my veins, but no one who admires independence of character and determination to succeed can fail to do honour to the quality of pluck in the typical Englishman. I do not mean pluck on the bridge of a man of war or in the front line of battle, but in all stations of life where confidence and independence are required Take one instance in trade. A few months ago Lord Charles Beresford, in an address to the Canadian Club of Toronto, made great complaint that the shoe industry of England had been destroyed by the competition from American Shoe factories. It is true that a half dozen years ago the great shoe factories in Leicester were threatened with foreign competition. The surplus output of the United States was dumped on the English market. Englishmen by the thousand bought American shoes, they preferred the American style. A great wail went up that the English industry had been killed. Now what did the Englishman do? Did he go to the Government and ask that this American competition be excluded from Britain by Parliament? Had he been a German he would have done that, or a Frenchman or an American or even a Canadian, but being an Englishman, he said, "By Jove, I'll do it myself," and he took that American shoe which found favour in London. He examined its style and quality. He judged his own shoe to be better quality and more comfortable in style, 'but," he said, it is their feet and it is their money and I'll make a shoe to fit their taste." He made that shoe on the American last and he imported from the United States the machinery required ofr the making of that shoe. That machinery he bought at 50 per cent. less than his American competitors had to pay for it. With that machinery and with his own skill and the manufacturing advantage he had in England he has not only held his own but has beaten his American competitors in the markets of Britain and of the world. That is what I mean by the pluck of an Englishman and that is the quality which Canada would do well to emulate.

One other feature of English life deserving of imitation is what I might call honour in business and in public relations. There is in Britain a fine sense of honour in public life. I do not mean that their election campaigns are devoid of excesses and absurdities equal to our own. I do not mean that among their public men there are no tricksters. What I do mean is that, taken for all in all, public life in Britain has a standard of honour and integrity which, so far as I know, is not equalled elsewhere in the world.

The same is true in matters of trade. Not that there is no shoddy turned out by their factories. There is abundance of shoddy, and it is called shoddy and paid for at shoddy prices. I have in mind one instance of honour ruling the market which I have told elsewhere and purpose telling again. It was at the great annual Wool Fair in Inverness. For nearly 100 years that wool fair has been an event in the North of Scotland. Farmers and wool growers of all the shires and islands gather at Inverness during the second week of July. They meet there with the buyers and brokers of wool from Glasgow and Alloa and Howick and Carlisle and other great centres of the wool industry in England. The Highlanders' English may be for you as difficult to understand as the Englishman's English, but between them they strike their bargain for the season's output of wool.

These transactions are made and no documents or signed contracts bind the bargains. After having watched that market for a day and a night asked a man from Dumfries if it was quite safe for him to depend on the Highlanders observing the contract and delivering the wool on time and up to the standard. "Absolutely safe," he said. "I can make all our arrangements with our mills and our customers. The wool will be delivered on time." A man from Badenoch, one of the MacPherson clan, overbearing my question asked, partly in dignified distain, "What would you be signing for? Have you not the word of the man who sold you the wool? What signed contract would hold if the word of a Highlander would break" For nearly a century a fair market has ben maintained on the foundations of personal honour as between man and man. A man whose word would require a bond was deemed unworthy of a place where honour rules the market.

And now, sir, there is conjoined with that experience one other that came to me on my return to Canada. Almost the first editorial I wrote after returning to Toronto was on "Dishonesty in the Canadian Apple Trade." That article was based on a report from Britain that the largest fruit merchant in the North of Scotland, with headquarters in Inverness, reported that it was found necessary to empty out completely all barrels of Canadian apples. While there was good fruit at the top and at the bottom windfalls and low per cent. grade were in the middle. I know quite well the good work that is being done by the officials of the government in enforcing the Fruit Marks Act. I know quite well the educational work that is being carried on by the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association. But something more, something that goes far deeper, is needed. There needs to be grafted, not in the minds and hearts o alone, but in the minds and hearts of all the people, such a sense of honour that would make a man ashamed and afraid to lo khimself in the face in the glass if he were conscious of dishonourable conduct on the market or in trade.

One of the perils of a new country, one of the special perils of Democracy, is the decay of the moral fibare. Britain's marvellous prestige on all the continents and among all the nations is in no small degree due to the fidelity to trust and sensitiveness of honour which has been such a characteristic of the race. If we would make Canada worthy of her place in the Empire and worthy of her position in the world we must see to it that all our relations of life, in business, in politics, in our special institutions, honour is made an obligation and an authority from which there is no appeal. The best men in Britain to-day are looking eagerly, almost hopefully, to this young Dominion. They know that for them and for their descendants in the old land the dors of opportunity and of achievement are neither as many nor as large as in these overseas Dominions of the Empire. Among all the nations under the Crown there is none that has such a chance as Canada, there is none that holds a position so strategic, there is none from which so much is expected. If Canada would measure up to her opportunity and would meet her responsibility then this generation of Canadians would do well to be warned by the history of Britain and to be encouraged to imitate those things by which Britain was made great and free.

THE VOTE OF THANKS

Mr. D. O'Connell very eloquently moved a vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening. He said that everyone must feel grateful to Mr. Macdonald for such a powerful and magnificent address. There was no body, Mr. O'Connell believed, to which the lessons mentioned were more instructive than to the Canadian Club. He had outlined the great principles of social life. If things were to be achieved, the conditions must be made proper. The speaker had told them of the great characteristics of the Scotch and English, but the mover of the vote of thanks said, he hadn't mentioned the Irish who lent enchantment and poetry to life. In conclusion, Mr. O'Connell remarked that iar farfarf to become a great nation, it must build up a code of ethics to follow. Honour should predominate in asknowledged by Dr. Macdonald the

The motion was very ably seconded by Dr. Morrison. After it had been acknowledged by rD. Macdonald the gathering dispersed with the singing of the National Anthem.

ALL YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE VANISHES

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin and realise not only immediate but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fulness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odours.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drugstore.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

EXCURSION TO LINDSAY FOR HOCKEY MATCH

Peterborough will invade Lindsay to-night when a big crowd of fans on a special train, leaving the G.T.R. station at 7 o'clock. The excursion promises to be very popular with fans, as all trips to Lindsay from here invariably are, and a couple of hundred enthusiastic rooters will make the pilgrimage, hoping to make things warm for the Stoddardites. Peterborough accomplished the feat of defeating Lindsay at home once already this season and although Lindsay turned the tables on Friday the fortunes of war may swing around to the other side again to-night. In any event it will be some game and the Midgets are not going to have any gilt-edged walk over. The team will go with the crowd on the special train and will line-up as follows:

Goal—Derocher.
Point—Glover or Campbell.
Cover—McDougall.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—Dobson.

The new sweaters and stockings arrived this morning and will be used for the first time to-night.

BEN DUSTY,

BEN DUSTY LEAVES FOR BRANTFORD

Ben Dusty, left wing of the Peterborough intermediate O. H. A. team and cover-point of the Strathconas' City League team, has jumped into professional company and left this morning to join the Brantford team of the Ontario Professional League. Manager Tyner of that club was after him earlier in the season, but Dusty at that time refused to take the jump. On Saturday, however, he received a telegram offering him much more advantageous terms, so tempting gthis time that he made up his mind to go and go he did this morning. He will make his first appearance in "paid" company to-night. Dusty will be greatly missed by the Peterborough Club, although he was off colour in Friday's gae and did not make his usual good showing. He has been a source of strength at left wing in the past couple of seasons, and the fans will be sorry to see him go although they will wish him every success.

The Strathconas will especially regret his departure. Since joining the Commissioners three seasons ago Dusty has never missed a game with the red and white team, the only one of the team who has played every game since he became connected with the club. He has been an important element in the victories of the Straths and his going will not improve their chances in the City League race.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

Peterboro' People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them.

Sick kidneys give many signals of distress.

The secretions are dark, contain a sediment.

Passages are frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is constant day and night.

Headaches and dizzy spells are frequent.

The weakened kidneys need quick help.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Mrs. George Hawes of 857 Water St., Peterborough, Ont., says:

"I suffered for some time with many painful and annoying symptoms of kidney trouble and although I had tried many remedies and doctors I found little or no relief. My back was weak and a dull bearing down pain had settled across the small of it and extended into my shoulders, and around my sides. I was weak and languid and the least exertion would tire me out. Dizzy spells were frequent and often I would awake with a severe headache. I tried Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement at Wm. Madill's Pharmacy and soon found them to benefit me. I continued their use and in a comparatively short time I was as well and strong as ever without a symptom of the painful and long standing disease."

ABSTAINERS OR STRATHS?

With the departure of Ben Dusty, from Peterborough the T.A.S. believe they have a royal chance to beat the Strathconas on Wednesday night in the City League series, and the Abstainers will make a big effort to accomplish the task. The two teams meet in the second game of the evening and the indications are that the contest will be one of the hardest in the history of the League. The Coldwater men have steadily improved during the season and gave the West Ends an awful argument last week, and as the Oldhamites are picked to beat the Straths with Dusty off it begins to look as if the T.A.S. might accomplish the feat on Wednesday.

The Strathconas, however, are fortunate in having the services of Allan Campbell, who will take Dusty's place on the defence and expect to have a team strong enough to make it warm for the T. A. S. The game will undoubtedly be one of the best of the season and will have a strong bearing on the result. If the T. A. S. win West Ends and T. A. S. will be tied and the championship will depend upon the next game between the two on Wednesday of next week.

On the other hand if the Strathconas win on Wednesday, a defeat at the hands of the West Ends will result in a tie and necessitate an extra game. On this account Wednesday's gae between the Abstainers and Commissioners will be one of the most important of the whole campaign.

The first game brings together the West Ends and Keene and although the villagers are not expected to win they say they will have a strong team on and expect to make things interesting for the cohorts of Oldham and Company.

Wednesday night's games will be the second last double header of the season, which will be wound up next week, provided no ties materialise.

MUSICAL "AT HOME"

Given at the Y. M. C. A. Parlours Was a Great Success.

The musical "At Home," given at the Y.M.C.A. parlours Friday night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary, was a most enjoyable event, with the single exception that, the attendance, was not what the merit of the programme presented, or the purpose of the occasion deserved. The chair was admirably occupied by His Honour Judge Huycke, who happily introduced an excellent musical programme. In a few preliminary remarks he explained that the purpose of the 'At Home' was to augment the funds available for the Auxiliary, which is charged, principally with attention to the housekeeping interests of the Y.M.C.A.—to see that the furnishings are kept in proper order and repair and that the dormitories are properly equipped and in a general way, to exercise the functions of the good housekeeper. The improved treatment of the first floor windows in which stained glass effects supplement, the ordinary curtains is one of the particular reasons for the strengthening of the treasury and the excellent results so far achieved go far to justify the demands of the auxiliary.

The programme was provided by Miss Logan and Miss Hope Miller, who supplied violin solos; Miss Pringle, Mr. Downey and Mr. Ferguson, who rendered much appreciated vocal solos; the ladies' quartette of the George St. Methodist church, Miss Reinor, Mrs. Greenslade, Miss Sanderson and Mrs. Rebill, Misses Reinor and Henderson were also heard in a duet. Miss McGee, who also supplied the accompaniments, performed a pianoforte solo and pianoforte duets were given by Misses Foy, and Sisson and Misses Gumpricht and Dillon. Mrs. Hopwood gave three well received, humourous recitations.

The Auxiliars wish to thank Messrs. Macfarlane Wilson, A. W. Cressman and the Y.W.C.A. for the loan of articles for the occasion.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. L. T. Harris Ardiel, of Toronto, spent the week end in Peterborough, the guest of friends in the city.

Miss Jean Robson is in Toronto this week. While in the city she will attend the Mendelssohn Choir concert.

Rev. Father Toner of the Cathedral staff, left for Quebec last night to visit some of the friends at his Alma Mater.

The engagement of Miss Elizabeth Veronica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelleher, of 275 Lake street, city, to William R. Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Higgins, of Chicago, Ills., is announced.

Mr. Rupert Gliddon, of the Conservatory of Music is in Toronto this week attending the concerts given by the Mendelssohn Choir. Since the series commenced Mr. Gliddon has attended eleven out of thirteen. During his absence from the city this week the rehearsal of the Madrigal Club will not be postponed as Mr. Edward Barton, of Toronto, has agreed to take charge of the classes.

"A marriage has been arranged between Miss Jennie Rae, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Rae, of Campbell St., Ayr, and Mr. Albert E. Borland, Royal Scots Fusiliers, Head-Master of the Military School, Ayr, Scotland, to take place on Good Friday, March 25th, at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. Borland is a native of Indian River, Ontario, and was educated at the Norwood High School. He joined the Royal Scots Fusiliers in 1904 and has since been connected with educational work in the Army, having been appointed to his present position in May, 1909, after passing through the great military centres of Aldershot, Tidworth and Dublin. It is remarkable that within five years he should be appointed to the charge of the school in which he obtained his first military certificate.

His many friends in the vicinity of Indian River and Peterborough will be pleased to hear of his approaching marriage."

"AN EMPIRE OF SMALL FARMS"

In the latest issue of Hampton's Magazine is an article entitled "An Empire of Small Farms," dealing withe charge tfiat has been wrought in a large area of land that up to a few years ago was almost worthless. The local interest in the article is the fact that Charles H. Sieg who has been heavily involved in the business and was one of the pioneers, was in partnership with G. B. Clementi, formerly of Peterborough. The firm's name was Sieg, Clementi Co., of Chicago, and Mr. Clementi bought largely for the company the acres they secured in Florida.

BOARD OF WORKS WILL ASK FOR AN APPROPRIATION OF $18,000

Ald. Hicks Briefly Outlines a Plan of Campaign Which Includes Permanent Work---Surface Drain on Simcoe Street Will be Laid This Year.

PREPARING FOR WORK

Eighteen thousand dollars is the sum the Board of Works will ask the Finance Committee to appropriate to them for their work this year.

Ald. Hicks, chairman of the Board, at a meeting held last night, briefly outlined the system that would be followed. The salaries of officials were known and could be taken from the whole appropriation, leaving the money with which to do city work. Ald. Hicks suggested the keeping of three separate accounts, one for permanent improvements, one for special improvements, and a third for incidentals. By frequent and regular reports from the Engineer, the Board would know at any time how much money they had spent in any of these lines, and how much was left. This would mean that permanent work would not be overlooked, and none of these departments would be neglected while another received all the attention.

The Chairman had lists of appropriations and expenditures for the past four years. The average amount expended by the Board was $17,000 or $18,000. Last year Ald. Phelan had $12,500 which, he said, had not been overdrawn, but he advised that the sum was altogether inadequate for the demands.

This was announced merely as a suggestion, but it is altogether likely that it will be accepted, as it commended itself to the members.

Simcoe Street Drain.

Ald. Phelan asked the Chairman not to forget the surface drain on Simcoe street. For some time this drain has merely been a mirage, last year lack of funds preventing its becoming an actuality. It is intended to place a catch basin at the corner of Bethune and Simcoe streets, the drain extending eastward to the creek. This is to carry off the water in the spring and after a heavy rainfall rushed down the Simcoe street hill from Rubidge, turning south at Bethune, inundating the latter street, between Charlotte and Simcoe streets. The drain on Charlotte street becomes choked by the flood, and is unable to carry the water away. The residents of the vicinity asked that the condition be remedied two years ago. Ald. Duncan also thought the work should be proceeded with and he seconded Ald. Phelan's motion to lay the drain this year.

FIERCE HOG ATTACKS AND KILLS A HORSE

Special to The Examiner.

Warsaw, Jan. 31.—That the common hog is not at all times the sleepy, indolent animal known to frequenters of country roads on warm summer days was exemplified in the farm yard of Mr. John R. Condon, situated about three miles west of here, this afternoon.

It appears that Mr. Daniel O'Shea, also a resident of Douro, drove with a fine team of horses to Mr. Condon's home, on a matter of business, and, after securing the animals by a halter, entered the house. In a short time one of Mr. Condon's sons was heard to shout to the inmates to come out, and on doing so they found a large hog attacking the horses, one of which was lying on the ground, struggling in the last stages of vitality with the major portion of its zootomy scattered about the yard. A horrible wound was inflicted in the body. There is no doubt the other horse would have met the same fate had the men not arrived on the scene in time to chase the frenzied brute off; as it was it will be many days before the wounds will be healed.

The loss of the horse, which was in part made good by Mr. Condon, will be about $150.00, as Mr. O'Shea was offered this price recently.

DRUNKS TO TELL WHO SOLD LIQUOR

One of the Twelve Suggested Amendments to the Liquor License Act—Close Bars on Holidays —Protection to Local Option Places.

TO PRESENT MEMORIAL

The Dominion Alliance Executive has submitted twelve requests for amendments to the Liquor License Act to the Provincial Secretary in the hope that they will receive some consideration. The memorial is as follows:

The safeguarding of local option elections—by making the penalties for corruption in municipal elections apply to these by-laws, as well as specifying clearly the form of oath to be used.

Safeguarding local option by-laws—by providing for the severe punishment of municipal officials who failed to comply with the law as to advertising, etc. It is suggested that the local municipal councils should have nothing to do with the by-law, by compelling the Clerk to hold the polling if a sufficient petition is presented.

Adjacent Licenses.

Protection of local option territory from adjacent licenses.—The good effect of local option is sometimes destroyed to some extent, the memorial says, by the establishment or maintenance of barrooms in border towns and villages. The license at Atherley, a local option town, is given as an instance which should be made impossible.

Extensions of local option area—"When contiguous municipalities vote upon the question of local option and the aggregate vote in all meets the legal requirement, local option should become law in all."

District option in cities — "Some provision should be made by which the electors in residential sections of a city could free their neighbourhood from licensed premises."

Curtailment of the club license evil—"Clubs should be subject to local option and to the provisions of the License Act regarding hours and conditions of sale the same as other licensed premises."

Reduce hours of sale.—"There is a practical unanimity of feeling throughout the Province in favour of earlier closing of licensed places. During the last two hours that bars are open the drinking is practically all unnecessary tippling."

No Sale on Holidays.

Prohibit sale on holidays—Christmas Day, Good Friday and some others, as in Quebec Province. Some in Ontario ore "occasions of disgraceful intoxication."

Limiting the number of licenses.—"There should be a population limit on the issue of licenses in municipalities, as well as 'urban municipalities.' The present proportion to population should be further limited."

Increase of penalties.—For selling to minors, keeping for sale without a license, and selling outside of what is allowed by license, should be treated as selling without a license.

Compelling drunks to testify.—If anyone arrested for drunkenness in no-license municipalities was compelled to divulge under oath the source of the intoxicant it would help in the detection and prevention of law violation.

Cancellation of license for persistent law-violation.—"If it were provided that the third conviction of a license holder for any offence against the Liquor License Act would without further process thereby cancel the license, there would be increased respect for the law by license holders."

This memorial was submitted by Mr. Miles Vokes and Mr. B. H. Spence for the executive.

DYNAMITED THE STATION

Through Ignorance of the Explosive Unknown Person Failed to do Much Damage to Cobalt Depot.

Special to The Examiner.

Cobalt, Feb. 1.—Some unknown person made an attempt to blow up the new T. & N. O. station with dynamite, this morning, but through ignorance of the explosive, only blew a hole in the front wall. The dynamite was packed against the wall with snow and the slight resistance of snow took the force of the explosion away from the building. Night Operator Wm. Norman, coming from a trip up the track, saw the burning fuse and fled, being at a safe distance when the explosion occurred.

GRAND MUSIC

Massey Hall Talent, the Shepperly Sisters at the Crystal Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Edwards, proprietor of the Crystal, Peterborough's favourite place for clean, first class amusement, has secured the celebrated Shepperley Sisters, of London, Eng., for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. These talented musicians, who play in Massey Hall, Toronto, on February 5th, perform on many instruments including banjo, cornet, Japanese fiddle, violin, and mandolin. The young ladies are artists in the playing of each instrument. They have delighted scores of thousands in the best London music halls. The prices of admission will be 5c. in the afternoons and 10c. in the evenings. This is a treat that will appeal to the music lovers of Peterboorugh.

THE PEOPLE AND THE NAVAL IDEA.

Conservative journals are parading a statement that David Marshal, M. P., East Elgin, sent out 5,000 letters to his constituents asking for an expression of opinion on the naval policy that Canada should adopt; and that the replies received were against the Government's proposal. This does not mean anything decisive. A great deal depends upon the manner in which the question was expressed. It may have been skillfully worded so as to suggest an answer favouring the result sought, and said to have been, obtained. And again, the people may not have understood the situation upon which they were asked to express an opinion. Possibly the majority never heard of the Imperial Defence Conference, in which the principle of the Dominions sharing in imperial naval defence was settled; never, of course, read the report of the conference. And many of them may never have heard of the resolution passed by the Canadian parliament last year, for which both Liberals and Conservatives solidly voted—without one dissenting voice—in favour of Canada establishing the beginnings of a navy. Without, for a moment reflecting upon the intelligence of Mr. Marshall's constituents, they were not well enough informed upon the subject to give an intelligent opinion, that wuuld weigh against the deliberate expression of opinion of the Dominion Parliament, fully informed of the circumstances, knowing every detail of the preliminary negotiations, and the decisions arrived at by the Defence Conference; against the well-studied course of men acting with the full sense of their responsibility. The people must thoroughly understand the situation before they can pronounce an unprejudiced and intelligent opinion, either for or against the naval policy of the Liberal Government, as reflecting the unanimous vote of parliament. If the vote on the Lloyd-George budget had been taken ten days after its promulgation, or even ten days after it had been rejected by the House of Lords, the people would have mercilessly slaughtered the Government that proposed and passed it. But when discussion came and the people understood the real import and meaning of the budget it was adopted as it would have been rejected if a vote had been taken before the people were educated to a knowledge of what the budget stood for. In like manner the people, when the case of the naval proposals is fully presented and explained, will be in a position to intelligently pronounce an opinion. If the matter were presented to them in a reasoning way, as it was presented by Mr. Hall at the Norwood meeting on Saturday, with necessarily additional detail and elaboration, the naval proposal would appeal to the people as it appealed to that meeting, which, composed as it was, of farmers, showed its approval by hearty applause, of the sentiments expressed in favour of a Canadian navy. The speaker showed that Canada had an annual trade of 700 million dollars per year, and that without the navy of Great Britain this trade would be entirely without protection on the high seas. He showed that Great Britain taxed its people $8 per head to build and maintain a navy, which was used to protect Canadian commerce, while, heretofore, Canada had not contributed one cent towards such protection. It was pointed out that the time had come when Canada should cease to be a cringing dependent upon the charity of the motherland, and should bear her fair share of the burden of the defense of her own commerce. When it is further explained that Canada's proposed navy must be built in Canada, thus establishing the nucleus of a great shipbuilding industry, the argument in favour of a Canadian navy is vastly strengthened. Canada has the iron deposits, Canada has the coal. Canada has the nickel—almost a monopoly—that with a proper beginning can be made tributary to the building in Canada of the steamers of the Allan Line the other Canadian lines, the steamers of the Canadian Pacific, the steamers of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern. This would lead to the employment of thousands of skilled workmen, the expenditure of millions of capital, of which the navy would require only a small proportion. Canadians then would get the full benefit of the development and utilization of her own resources, and advance in the scale of nationhood to an incalculable degree. When one looks to what, with proper initiative and following up the shipbuilding industry in Canada can be brought, the naval policy assumes small material proportions aside from its being made the starting point of a tremendous ship-building development. When the people seize the idea, when they become better informed, it will take more than the schemes of demagogues to mislead them to take the attitude of Little Canadians, and pronounce against progress and national up building.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Eight murders have been committed in the city of New York during the month of January. This is awful; but a worse thing is that no progress has been made in capturing the murderers.

An Ottawa shantyman has been fined $66 for infringing upon a woman's patent. He banked the proceeds of a cheque for $66 in his stocking, went to sleep in a hotel bar and had his money stolen.

The customs collections for the ten months ending Jan. 31, show an increase of $10,390,052 over the amount for the corresponding ten months of the preceding year. The collections for the month of January show an increase of $887,206.

Canada has a buoyant revenue, indicating wide-spread and great prosperity. France, the ally of Great Britain, and the mother land of a large portion of our population, is suffering from the effects of tremendous floods. Who would oppose Canada joining with other nations in contributing to a fund for the relief of the sufferers?

Peterborough shares in the great advance in customs collections. The collections for January are $3,000, more than double those for the same month last year—January 1910, they were $34,192.15 and January 1909 they were $15,997.55. These figures tell their own story, general prosperity. The people have money to buy and the merchants import largely to meet the large purchasing capacity.

If you have a cough, do not neglect it. Buy at once a bottle of Allen's Lung Balsam.

LIFE SAFEST IN CANADA.

(Brantford Expositor.)

From figures which are based on an average taken on eight years Dr. Andrew D. White gives the number of felonious homicides per year per million of population for various countries is as follows:

Canada, 3.
Germany, 4 to 5.
England, 10 to 11.
France, 10 to 15.
Belgium, 16.
United States, 129.

While this showing is favourable to Canada there would seem to be grave danger from the prevalence of serious crime in the United States. The figures indiacte that homicide is forty-three times greater in the States than in Canada, while it is seven times greater than in Belgium, which Dr. White considers the worst European state.

The same authority declares that the average criminals serve but seven years of a life sentence, while but one out of 64 murderers is convicted.

Under these circumstances it is indeed, reassuring to be told that the world is growing better, but what is needed insofar as the punishment of mburderers is concerned is a drastic enforcement of the capital penalty.

CUSTOMS RETURNS

For January More Than Double Those of Same Month Last Year.

The growing advancement in the amount of the returns at the Customs House continues most satisfactorily. In January, 1909, the returns totalled $15,997.55, as compared with $34,192.15, for the month just closed. This substantial increase is most gratifying.

KIDNEY OR BLADDER DISORDERS VANISH

A Few Doses Will Clean and Regulate the Kidneys and Make You Feel Fine.

A real surprise awaits every sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble who takes several doses of Pape's Diuretic. Misery in the back, sides or loins, sick headache, nervousness, rheumatism, pains, heart palpitation, dizziness, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, lack of energy and all symptoms of out-of-order kidneys vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, offensive and discoloured water and other bladder misery ends.

The moment you expect kidney or urinary disorder, or feel any rheumatism, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a 50-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

It is needless to feel miserable and worried, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the out-of-order kidneys and urinary system, distributing its cleansing, healing and strengthening influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treatment will make any one feel fine.

A TRAVEL TALK

People of Springville Presbyterian Church Had a Delightful Evening Last Night

Thanks to the kindness of Mr. W. M. McIlroy, of the C. P. R., the people of the Springville Presbyterian Church had a very enjoyable evening last night, when Rev. Dr. Marsh gave a travel talk, which was illustrated by many beautiful slides, furnished for the occasion by the C. P. R. There was a large attendance and the evening was greatly enjoyed. At the conclusion of the lecture a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. McIlroy, and to the C. P. R. on motion of Mr. McIntyre, seconded by Mr. Chas. Johnston.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

When you have written a letter red hot, roasting some chap in his tenderest spot — some one who's done you an underhand trick, some one who's wounded your pride to the quick; try to remember that writing abuse does no more good than the hiss of a goose; this is the meaning of all of your sass. "You are a villain—and I am an ass." Take up your letter and read it through thrice; put it on ice awhile, put it on ice! Maybe your wife isn't much of a cook; maybe she'd rather sit down with a book, than go fussing around making pies, doughnuts and cakes and things good to your eyes; you are preparing a withering speech, you are preparing to rear up and preach, telling your wife of the beautiful things cooked by your granny before she had wings; telling your wife that her duty's to stuff things in your tummy till it has enough. When you went courting that hausfrau of yours, swearing you'd love her while nature endures, did you get down on your knees and rave: "Dearest, I'm needing a drudge and a slave! Come to my cottage and sweep, cook and scrub. Clean up the dishes and sweat at the tub!" Can the reproaches you're planning to make; go to a baker when spoiling for cake. Cut out the sermon you think is so nice—put it on ice awhile, put it on ice!

SMALL BONDS

Popular Feature of the Issue of Sterling Coal Company Securities—Bonds in Denominations of $100 and $1000

A popular feature of the offering of Sterling Coal Company securities by A. E. Ames & Co., Limited, and F. H. Deacon & Co., of Toronto, and R. Forget and Johnston, McConnell & Allison, of Montreal, is that bonds may be had in denominations of $100, as well as $1,000. In European countries, government, municipal and other bonds are held by an immense number of small investors, in bonds of the par value of abou $100 each, the practice being for small farmers and wage-earners to save their money in moderate amounts and then invest in securities, rather than pile up large savings bank balances. This practice obtains, also, very largely, it is said, in Great Britain, applying more particularly, however, to shares than to bonds. The advantage of the situation in this regard in Europe has been making itself felt recently in England, and Hon. W. S. Fielding, recognizing the desirability of the development, incorporated in his arrangements for the last important Dominion Government loan a provision that bonds of £20 each should be available. It is stated, on behalf of the firm's offering the Sterling Coal Company securities, that there is frequent inquiry for bonds of $100 each.

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbus, Ohio.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during change of life. My doctor told me it was good, and since taking it I feel so much better that I can do all my work again. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fine remedy for all woman's troubles, and I never forget to tell my friends what it has done for me."—Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 East Long St., Columbus, Ohio.

Another Woman Helped.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."—Mrs. Charles Barclay, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Do you know it seems to me to be a law of nature that the day which starts grey and cloudy and then clears off almost always ends by being more beautiful than the day that started out pleasant.

Isn't that true?

Did you ever know anything more perfectly beautiful than the jewel days of spring and autumn that emerge from a morning shroud of mists and clouds and hazes?

Did you ever see anything fairer than a clear-off sunset at the end of a rainy summer day?

Did you ever see a winter afternoon more magnificent than the one that followed a morning of storm?

Just contrast?

Not wholly, I think.

Partly a compensatory law of nature.

And do you know I often fancy that this law of compensation extends into human affairs as well as nature's.

Are you blue to-day?

Has the day, the week, the month, even the New Year itself, been rather disappointing so far?

Cheer up.

Remember, it's the day that starts cloudy that ends by being the most beautiful day of all.

• • •

Do you allow your children to laugh at drunkenness in any form?

Again and again I have seen mothers actually joining with their children in smiling at some poor drunkard's antics and I have had far more disgust for their weakness than his.

If you want to make a child hate anything, you do not teach him to laugh at it.

If you want your boy to grow into the young man who thinks but lightly of the shame of drunkenness, smile with him when the drunkard on the street car says or does some silly thing.

Otherwise don't.

The other day I had the privilege of being in a living room which, while by no means the richest, seemed to me quite the most attractive I had ever seen.

In the first place there was an air of dignity without stiffness. The room had the appearance of being lived in although not lolled in.

In the second place every piece of furniture was evidently designed to give the acme of utility.

In the third place every ornament seemed to have a sort of significance, a peculiar dignity and personality about it.

But the chiefest charm of all was the fact that there was just enough and not one bit more in that room.

I do not think that of one room out of a hundred that I enter I can say that.

Whether it is that we live in too small quarters or have too many possessions, I do not know, but most of us certainly crowd our rooms altogether too much.

The Japanese have an interesting tale of a very wealthy man whose house was ornamented simply and solely by one beautiful vase.

With this vase he lived, studied it and absorbed its beauties, and when he tired of it, sent it away and had another one in its stead.

But never more than one at a time.

Of course that is an extreme, but isn't it interestingly suggestive for a good many of us who live in crowded rooms and between over-hung walls?

THE T. A. S. HAS PURCHASED THE OLD RICHARD HALL PROPERTY

Recently Bought by Hon. Mr. Stratton, M.P., From the City of Peterborough---Will be Modernly Fitted up for Assembly Hall, Library, Gymnasium and Bowling Alleys.

WAS SOLD YESTERDAY

The St. Peter's T.A.S. purchased yesterday from Hon. Mr. Stratton the property recently bought by him from the city of Peterborough and part of the premises formerly occupied by Messrs. R. Hall and Son, Simcoe St. It was some months ago given to the city for a public library.

It is understood that the pricepaid was $12,000. The intention of the T. A. S. is to fit the ground floor up as a lecture and concert hall, the second half will be occupied, one half as a billiard room and the other portion as a library and reading room. The third storey will be fitted, to be used as a gymnasium with all the latest improvements. The basement will be utilized for bowling alleys and baths It is said that the society intend spending between four and five thousand dollars in having the place appropriately fitted up.

This property is most conveniently situated and will make excellent premises for the above organization when the proposed changes have been effected.

THE WHIP AS CURE FOR AFFINITY NOTION

Cincinnati Woman Lashes Rival on Street and Attacks Her Husband.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 1.—That a horsewhip vigorously applied is a cure for the affinity craze is the belief expressed by Mrs. Anna Stark of Fairmount. She used one vigorously on her rival and finished off the treatment by pummeling her husband, Godfrey, in a jewelry store on Fourth St., where he is employed.

The victim of the lash is known to the outraged wife as "Mrs. Kramer," although Stark declares that she is the daughter of a prominent family. When the women met on Vine street near Sixth Mrs. Stark at once brought her whip into play. Her shoulders and face were crisscrossed with welts before spectators checked the attack.

Then she landed rights and lefts in her husband's face, smashed his spectacles, and left him bleeding from numerous cuts.

APPRECIATES THE KINDNESS OF FRIENDS

Mrs. Robert Herron, 112 Sophia St., desires to publicly thank the employees of the Quaker Oats Co. for their kind thoughtfulness in giving such substantial aid in her recent bereavement, the death last week of her husband, who was an employee of the above factory. She is most grateful to them and to all others who were so kind to her in her trouble. Being practically a stranger in Peterborough she appreciates the more, the goodness o fthose who came to her relief.

PAID COMPLAINANT'S WAY BACK TO TORONTO

The charge of assault against the wife of the proprietor of a local hotel, which came up at the police court yesterday, was dropped, the complainant being paid by the defendant, three dollars, sufficient money to take her back to Toronto. The assault took place on Friday night when the cook, the plaintiff in the case, as she stated was forcibly ejected from the house. The sleeve was torn from her waist, she said, and she was struck by the hotelkeeper's wife. After hearing several witnesses, the matter was settled as stated above.

Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defendant.

COMPANY'S BUSINESS

Having regard to the coal consumed in the central Provinces of Canada being so largely obtained from the neighboring States, and to Canadian capital having to some extent been interested in those fields for years, it has seemed appropriate that a strong coal company should be formed, with ample capital, in which Canadians should have an influential voice. It is felt that a company so formed could, through its special connection with the Canadian trade, supplement the local buying market in the States in a way tending to insure the steadiest possible market for its production year in and year out, thereby securing the greatest economy of operation. A favorable opportunity having presented itself, the Sterling Coal Company, limited, is being formed, with the object of acquiring certain mines of bituminous coal now operating under capacity, and further equipping them and developing others, all of these properties being well selected as to specially advantageous situations and conditions. The Directors intend acquiring, accordingly, under terms which have been arranged, the following three groups of coal properties in the States of Ohio and West Virginia, or any two of said groups, with or without additional coal properties, said three groups being:

THE HILEMAN GROUP (all operating), being:
The Sterling Mine, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Salineville, Carroll County, Ohio;
The Strip Vein Mine, adjoining the Sterling Mine;
The Ohio Coal and Clay Company property, located on the Erie Railroad, near Washingtonville, Mahoning County, Ohio;
The Delmore Mine, located on the Erie Railroad, near Leetonia, Columbiana County, Ohio (within about 200 yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and about six miles distant from the Ohio Coal Mine).

THE BECKWITH GROUP, being:
The Cecil Mine, located on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, in Taylor County, West Virginia, about seven miles south of Grafton, and the Malta Mining Property, also located on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, in Barbour County, West Virginia, 30 miles south of Grafton.

THE ACADIA property (subject to approval on six months' test), located in Athens and Washington Counties, Ohio, on the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern System, and about one-half mile south of the main line of the Toledo & Ohio Central Railroad.

The total area of all the properties amounts to 11,026 acres, of which the coal is owned outright on 8,879 acres, the balance being under very low leasing arrangements, the maximum rate being 5c per ton screened. The tonnage which may be economically developed in these properties, other than the Acadia, is estimated by Mr. Charles Fergie as over 75,000,000 tons, and in the Acadia over 42,000,000, the whole being equal to an output of 1,500,000 tons per annum for a period of 78 years.

The four mines of the Hileman Group and the two properties of the Beckwith Group were visited and reported upon, on behalf of the purchasers, by Mr. W. F. Tye, recently Chief Engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and who had charge of all construction on that railway from 1899 to 1906, and, in addition, all other engineering from 1904 to 1906. Mr. Tye considered the properties especially from the standpoint of railway connection and markets available for the coal, and from a general business standpoint. All these properties were later visited and reported upon, on behalf of the purchasers, by Mr. Charles Fergie, formerly Manager of the Intercolonial Coal Mining Company, in Nova Scotia, and afterwards for several years Chief Engineer and Superintendent of Mines for the Dominion Coal Company, and since 1907 Consulting Engineer in Montreal. These properties were also visited by members of three of the firms now offering the securities. Mr. Tye also visited the Acadia property.

At the request of the Directors, Mr. Tye has consented to serve as President of the Company, giving the organization and conduct of its affairs his close and continuing attention.

Mr. Tye has furnished a report in great detail, copies of which may be seen at our offices. The following statement gives a digest of his opinion of the business and prospects of the Company:—

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

The Hileman Group consists of four working mines, which are particularly attractive and valuable because of their location. They are among the few remaining mines which get a freight rate of 70c a ton to Cleveland. This district has an advantage of at least 20c a ton on freight rates to Cleveland, and to all Lake Huron, Georgian Bay, Lake Michigan and Lake Superior ports over any other district in Ohio, and there are only a few remaining mines in the district. There is a continuous market in supplying fuel to the local railways.

Mr. Hileman, who has been the principal owner of these properties, was born in the district in which they are located, and thoroughly understands the coal business. The Directors regard themselves as fortunate in having him available for General Manager of the company. Mr. Hileman's policy having always been to keep out of debt, making his money before investing it in improvements, even where they were economically desirable, his properties have not yet been thoroughly equipped. It is intended to add to their equipmnet a once, so as to get the highest practical rate of production.

The net profits relating to the four mines now operating in the Hileman Group, which represent only one-third of the total purchase price, will within a few months, with additions to the equipment and costing more than $70,000, provide for 6% interest on the $1,300,000 of the $1,750,000 of the bonds now being issued.

It is intended to proceed immediately with the development of the two mines in the Beckwith Group, constructing, in addition to the coal mining equipment, 500 coke ovens.

The Directors have excellent engineering reports of the Acadia property, and believe it to be very valuable. In order, however, to make quite sure of the value of the property, the purchase has been made conditional upon tests by the Company's own engineers during a period of six months, the decision as to whether the tests result satisfactorily lying with the Company.

An important factor is that all the mines, being situated, broadly considered, in the industrial and railroad centre of the United States, each mine has a special local market for a considerable portion of its output.

The Company's consulting engineer estimates that on completion of the proposed equipment and development the net profits from production will exceed three times the interest on the full $1,750,000 of bonds.

After paying for the properties in full, the Company will have out of the proceeds of the sale of bonds $868,750 cash for equipment and development, and for working capital, which I regard as ample.

After long and careful consideration of the position and prospects of the Company, I believe that the net revenue of the Company should reach such a basis as would warrant declaration of dividends at the rate of 6% per annum upon the stock of the Company during the year 1910.

W. F. TYE, President.

MR. FERGIE'S REPORT

A copy of Mr. Fergie's detailed report may be seen at our offices. He goes very thoroughly into the question involved. His report is to the following effect:—

The coal is of good steaming quality, and suitable for the markets available, the Beckwith properties coal being also good coking coal.

Operating conditions of the Hileman Group of four mines, all now producing, are very simple, and the capacity can be largely increased with very moderate expenditure. The Beckwith and Acadia properties are well situated as to labor and markets, and present no engineering difficulties.

The money required for equipment and to complete development of the three groups, after providing for unforeseen contingencies, is $966,050.

Estimated yearly profits, after equipment		$343,500 00
FIXED CHARGES:
Bonds, $1,750,000 at 6%	$105,000 00
Sinking Fund at 2%	35,000 00
Depreciation	20,000 00
Taxes, insurance, etc.	5,000 00
		$165,000 00
Available for dividends		$178,500 00

Or over 7% on $2,500,000 capitalization.

Further equipment if decided upon later, such as additional coke ovens at the Cecil and Malta properties, and additional entries into coal beds, will result in considerably increased net profits.

GUARDIANS OF THE BOUNDLESS WEST

Royal North West Mounted Police Had a Busy Year in 1909—Annual Report Showing a Few Details of Their Work—Long Journey Through the North.

IDEA OF THEIR WORK

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—The annual report of the Northwest Mounted Police tabled in the Commons yesterday contains the usual record of faithful and in many cases heroic service quietly and efficiently performed by "The finest Police Force in the World."

The strength of the force now stands at 51 officers and 600 non-commissioned officers and constables, or practically the same as in the previous year. They are stationed at ten divisional posts in 148 detachments. The farthest-flung detachment, on the Arctic ocean is 2,500 miles from headquarters and it takes two months to take the journey. Commissioner Perry states that the Governments of Alberta and Saskatchewan have asked that the present arrangement for the employment of the force, which expires on April 1st, 1911, shall be continued for five years, and he recommends that this be done.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE

During the last fiscal year fourteen cases of murder were dealt with by the Mounted Police and 5,849 cases of crime were registered as against 6,377 during the previous twelve months. There was a decided increase in the offences against women, eighty-one cases being entered, resulting in convictions. The crop of horse thieves was also large ,giving forty-four convictions during the year, as against twenty-nine for the preceding year. Crimes caused by excessive drinking accounted for 1,561 convictions. There were 129 convictions for prairie and forest fires. Some of these, caused by carelessness, were very destructive, and in some cases lives were sacrificed. During the year 1,940 prisoners were received and the guard rooms have been overcrowded. At Calgary prisoners were refused because they could not be accommodated.

A LONG PATROL

Perhaps the most interesting part of the report is the story of the special patrol made by Inspector Pelletier and three constables across the northern part of Canada from Fort Saskatchewan, via Athabasca Landing and Great Slave Lake, to Chesterfield Inlet on Hudson Bay, a total distance of 3,347 miles. During part of the journey the party had to subsist on raw deer meat and on the voyage from Fullerton to Fort Churchill their boat was wrecked and they safely arrived only after appalling hardships and narrow escapes both by sea and land. "Of the many and arduous patrols made by the force," says Commissioner Perry, "this has been the most extended and difficult."

A friend recommended Newbro's Herpicide. I confess that I doubted his story, but gave Herpicide a trial; now my hair is as thick as ever, and entirely free from dandruff." Board Of Works Had A Busy Session With General Work

Ald. Metheral Suggests Trying Crude Oil to Lay the Dust on Streets----New Grader to be Purchased---Septic Tank Question Not Settled Yet---Snow Plowing Contracts to be Made More Comprehensive---Large Bill of Business.

A meeting of the Board of Works was held last night, with Ald. Hicks in the chair and Ald. Duffus, Graham, Duncan, Metheral, Phelan, and Mayor Morrow were present. One of the first matters considered was a letter from Willis Chipman in regard to the claim of the Cameron Septic Tank Co., of Buffalo. This question has been before the Council for some time, and is not settled because of the fact that there are a number of cities concerned, and they have formed a committee to deal with the company. It will be remembered that under Mr. Chipman's direction the septic tank in the East Ward wast constructed some years ago as were others throughout the province. The Cameron Company claim that their patent was infringed upon, and stated that they had instructed their solicitors to act for them. The Company now asks the city to settle the matter by giving them five per cent. of the contract price as compensation. This would mean $150, as Peterborough's levy toward the company.

Mr. Chipman writes that a meeting of representatives of the municipalities concerned is to be held in the near future, and asked for instruction from this city.

It was moved by Ald. Duncan and Mayor Morrow that the Chairman and City Solicitor attend the meeting with power to represent the Council.

In regard to a communication from Mrs. M. Cadigan, James street, that the septic tank had contaminated the water in the well on her property. Engineer Hay stated that on investigation no leak had been found from the sewer, and he did not think that the trouble, if it existed, as claimed, arose from that source. He had asked Dr. McPherson to secure a sample of the water and have it tested, and the Board decided to wait until this report was received.

The supplies for the Engineer's office were, on motion of Ald. Duffus and Metheral, left to the chairman to be purchased.

Foreman of Sewer Work.

Martin Neary applied for the position of foreman of the sewer construction department for 1910. He stated that he had held the position during the past three years. William Maxwell and John Gibson also applied for the position. The Board decided not to take up the appointment until at a later meeting.

Purchasing Cement.

The purchasing of cement for the city's use this year was casually considered. Ald. Hicks thought it advisable not to take any action for a month or so. The Merger price now is $1.65, and the imported article costs $1.72. Cement cost the city last year $1.28, but it is not likely that any figure as favourable as that will be received this year.

On motion of Ald. Duffus and Duncan the crossing asked by Mr. Downer on Otonabee street, will receive the attention of the Department early in the Spring.

Nothing was done with a request from the Peterborough Canoe Co., to cross King street.

In regard to the Cranley accident, which occasioned a loss of $500 to the city, Street Commissioner Evans presented a statement from Mr. Fitzgerald to the effect that the railings had been carried off, and on the understanding that the city was to lay a cement walk on that street, (Roger street) during the summer, they were not replaced. It ultimately resulted that the cement walk could not be laid, and in the meantime the accident had happened. Had it been felt that the walk would not have been laid as expected the repairs would have been made immediately.

Permission was granted the Peterborough Light and Power Co. to change the location of a number of their poles at the corner of Dalhousie and Rubidge streets. The number is not increased, the only difference being that the new poles are longer to avoid the trees, which have grown up to the wires.

Cleaning the Sidewalks.

The time-worn question of cleaning the sidewalks of snow without leaving miniature toboggan slides here and there was brought up. Mr. Evans said it was practically impossible to clean off the snow thoroughly on account of the drifts, trees, etc. Ald. Duncan pointed out that the contract called for cleaning the walks, and with a winter such as this has been up to the present a good job should be made. Some of the aldermen thought the men should carry shovels with them and remove the snow the plows slid over. It was also stated that they might go over the walks during a thaw and remove the slush. There was in fact more than one "pointer" suggested by the aldermen, which they considered might receive the attention of the men behind the plows. Nothing will be done this year, however, but it is the intention to draw up a confract for next winter more clearly defining the duties of the men.

Ald. Duncan casually remarked that there is a cellar on King Edward St. that should be filled up.

Road Scraper.

The grader now used by the city has seen fourteen years' service, is antiquated and has other faults. A new six-foot grader, costing $60 may be brought to the city on approbation. On motion of Ald. Phelan and Metheral the matter was left to the chairman and engineer. The road roller will be put in good working condition and the "water waggons" will be painted and refurnished to look like "joy carts."

In regard to the stone required for use on the streets, it was decided, on motion of Ald. Metheral and Graham that the City Engineer and Ald. Hicks see Mr. J. H. Larmonth about getting the stone in the river bed for the crusher, and if that privilege cannot be obtained that the engineer purchase stone at $3.00 a cord from city teamsters.

Oil on Streets.

Ald. Metheral said he would like to see the experiment of oiling a street or two tried in Peterborough this summer and thought information should be obtained. Engineer Hay said Mr. Evans had secured complete details from Dr. Sheard, of Toronto, and at a future meeting the matter will be fully considered.

Will Advertise For Tenders For Dan Spence Ambulance

The Property Committee met last night, with Ald. Duncan in the chair, and Ald. Batten, Morgan, Bradburn, Graham and Mayor Morrow present.

The first matter taken up was a proposition from the Dickson Company, who wished to exchange a small piece of property on Dublin street for a triangular piece belonging to the city on the river reserve, and running down to the water's edge.

The chairman felt that the property asked for should bring the city at least $200.

Ald. Morgan thought that the city should get $400.

At any rate the city cannot sell the property or dispose of it until application was made to the government.

In the meantime it was decided to recommend that no action be taken.

The next matter brought up was the Dan Spence ambulance. The chairman said that Mr. Belleghem asked for some consideration for the use of his own ambulance, while the Dan Spence ambulance was away being repaired.

Ald. Batten gave the early history of the ambulance. He said when it came here some eight years ago no one in the city would give him storage room for it except Mr. Belleghem. That is how it came about that Mr. Belleghem got the ambulance.

Mr. Belleghem was present and was asked to address the committee. He said that he had nothing to say about charging for his ambulance while the other was being painted. He said he would leave the whole thing with the committee. He asked for nothing. It would take about six weeks to do the work, and he would not be able to take his ambulance out of the city during that time.

Mr. Belleghem recommended that the ambulance be painted a light drab instead of a dark colour, as the dark colours look too much like a dead waggon.

Finally, when Mr. Belleghem was asked how much he would take for the use of his own ambulance for the five weeks while the Dan Spence ambulance was being painted, he suggested 50c a day or $3.50 a week.

Ald. Duncan said that he got word from Mr. Comstock stating that he would give the use of his ambulance gratis while the Dan Spence was being painted.

Ald. Morgan moved that the committee advertise for tenders for the Dan Spence ambulance, tenders to be in before April 15th. Ald. Bradburn seconded the motion and it carried.

Peterborough Curlers Defeat Lindsay For District Cup

If the hockey team did not hold Lindsay to a close score the Scugog curlers lost the district cup yesterday afternoon with the games with the local rinks and great was the satisfaction. It was an exciting battle all the way with the locals nosing out one point to the good. "One's as good as a million," a prominent curler remarked afterwards. The two successful rinks are J. E. A. Fitzgerald's and Harry Foote's, whom not a few outside of the club will congratulate and join with the members in the rejoicing. Peterborough got away to a good lead, but Lindsay closed up the gap until Mr. iFtsgerald and Rev. Welsh were tied, and it remained for Mr. Foote's rink to cinch the game by defeating Mr. Carew's rink.

The rinks and scores were as follows:

Lindsay	Peterborough
W. Knowlson	W. G. Read
F. Thomas	R. Hicks
W. Williams	W. M. Lang
F. J. Carew—17	H. Foote—18
W. G. Ferguson	L. Hall
A. Terry	W. Taylor
J. A. Fisher	T. Brightman
Rev. Welsh—15	J.E.A. Fitzgerald-15

Peterborough went into the finals by defeating Keene on Saturday morning, both rinks securing a wide margin as follows:

Keene	Peterborough
R. J. McCamus	W. G. Read
G. Howson	R. Hicks
J. C. Read	W. M. Lang
W. Campbell-12	H. Foote—21

KNOX CHURCH

Young People's Guild Had An Enjoyable Evening

At the Literary programme of the Knox Church Young Peoples' Guild Mr. Roy Laing occupied the chair. An interesting paper was read by Mr. Andrew Robertson. There is no memoir of Dr. Horatio Bonar, he was a great hymn writer, living in stirring times. He was a diligent worker, always praying, visiting, working. He was once heard to say he had no record of the well known hymn "I heard the voice of Jesus say," but just a small piece of paper. The tract, "Be alive and live" brought about the circulation of 7,050 copies. He was an advocate o fthe free church of Scotland. A peculiar fact was, he was no singer, and could only recognize the familiar tunes. To know him, you had to put poem, life and verse together. After this biography, a quartette was sung by Misses Williamson and Morison and Messrs. Dickson and Reid. Next Monday, Feb. 7th, the guild will meet at the church at 7.30 p.m., when it will go in a body to Charlotte St. church, being the united meeting of the Young Peoples' Societies of the city.

MILK VENDORS MUST GET THEIR LICENSES

Chief Roszel states that there are a number of milk vendors who have not yet taken out their licenses for this year and he says that they must do so at once. If there is any further delay, he intends summonsing the negligent ones to the police court and they will have to pay more than the license fee.

WILL GIVE LECTURE

Dr. Marsh Will Address Astronomical Society This Evening

The meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society this evening in the Collegiate, will be particularly beneficial to the newest memebers, as the whole evening will be devoted to the elementary phases of the study.

Dr. Marsh will deliver the main address of the evening and illustrate it throughout with lantern slides. A number of these have been obtained during the past week. The aim of the lecture will be to show the means by which we earth-dwellers obtain information regarding other worlds and the great universe about us.

An interesting feature of the evening will be the consideration of the possible effect of the probable collision of the earth and the tail of Halley's Comet on May 18.

These meetings are always free and the public are cordially invited to take advantage of the privilege.

Was Weak and Nervous.

Heart Would Stop Beating.

Mr. Paul Poull, Cascapedia, Que., writes—"About five years ago I gave up all hope of getting better of heart trouble. I would nearly choke, and then my heart would stop beating. I could not lie on my left side, and became so nervous and weak I could not work. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before the first box was taken I was almost well, and the second box completed the cure. I have advised many others to try them, and they have all been cured of the same trouble. I have offered to pay for a box for anybody they do not cure."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all diseases or disorders arising from the heart or nerve system. They make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerves firm by imparting a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ, and tissue of the body and curing palpitation of the heart, dizziness, sleeplessness, anaemia, twitching of the muscles, sensation of "pins and needles," general debility, lack of vitality, etc.

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Prospects Of A Tie In The City Hockey League

Will the T. A. S. beat the Strathconas to-morrow night, and tie up the Commissioners and West Ends? That is the question that is disturbing the hockey fans just now, and it looks as if they would have to wait until to-morrow night before the question can be answered. A win for the Abstainers over the Straths would be greatly appreciated by the West Ends and by the great mass of the followers of the game and the Coldwater men will not lack for supporters. It promises to be a great game. The Commissioners will go into battle for the first time in three years without the services of Ben Dusty, who has played his best hockey at cover for the League leaders. His absence may help the T. A. S. a whole lot, and as the Abstainers are playing hockey all through the piece these days they will take a lot of beating to-morrow night.

The first game of the evening will be between the West Ends and Keene. While the Westerners are expected to win the game will be interesting, as the Oldhamites may be shy the services of some of their best men, while on the other hand Keene will be stronger than usual. A win for Keene might put West Ends out of the running, so that the yellow and black team will not take any chances.

Bill Rose will handle the games.

A Reply To The Complaint Made By "Hockey Fan"

To the Sporting Editor of the Review.

What happened to the Peterborough hockey team last night? To those that were there and saw for themselves the answer is simple. Not one of the home septet, after taking the puck down the whole length of the ice, could shoot. There does not seem to be a genuine good shooter on the team. Who is responsible in the organization for placing Glover on the team? This player has seen his day some time ago and it is now making a farce if the game to allow him to continue any longer. I can name a dozen at least that have him beaten forty ways in this game, but it looks as though the good players had not the "pull" with those choosing the team—of whom I understand Glover is one. Now gentlemen of the Peterborough Hockey Club take advice and put some young blood on the team, boys that can handle the stick to perfection, skate, and in particular can do some shooting. We have them and the public who go to see those games want to see them on the ice and not on the bleachers.

HOCKEY FAN.

Peterborough, Jan. 29th.

The above letter from a correspondent appeared in the Review last evening. I am not objecting in the slightest to its publication, but some of the statements are not correct, and for this reason I desire to say a few words.

I understand the writer to be Mr. George Giroux, but this is not confirmed by the Sporting Editor of the Review, and if I am mistaken I will apologize to Mr. Giroux for this assertion. As to his criticism of the play he has a right to his opinion as to how it happened, but we were beaten fairly on Friday evening by a team playing a more effective game, and if it is possible to improve on the style of game or in the players participating in the game in order to put on a winning team our object is to make the change. As to my ability or it might be put, inability, to play hockey. I might say that I have always endeavoured to do the very best I could, and can only add that while I do not now nor did I at any other time consider myself a finished player, yet at the same time I have played worse games than I did on Friday evening last. My only reason for taking any notice of the remarks of Mr. Giroux is that while taking a slap at me he has at the same time implicated every member of the Committee, namely, Messrs. Sam Ray, W. E. Wasson, Charlie Ray, W. Metheral, W. O'Brien, C. G. Graham, and Jos. Picard, making the assertion that these men were so narrow and crooked as to allow the interests of the Club to be jeopardized by playing men because of, as he says, a "pull," and not their ability to play the game. If any man can show that I ever used influence to get a position on any team in any line of sport I will say that Mr. Giroux might have some reason to complain about me, but, on the other hand, I know that if I was the same stamp of a man as Mr. Giroux appears to be, I could show that I have been made a convenience of all my sporting career, both to help finance the clubs and play the games. I do not look at it in this light, but considered everything I had to do with sport a pleasure, and was always in the game for this reason only.

Mr. Giroux's reason for the letter is a personal one and I am the one he blames for some fancied wrong. This is quite apparent.

If he will let the public know the real reason there is no doubt but that he can be put much wiser than he is at present, but he should be very careful not to state any thing that is not true, implicating, as he has done, eight or nine men about whom he might be sorry to say anything derogatory.

Yours truly.

R. M. GLOVER.

"The Power of the Press" Manifested In a community Where Kidney and Bladder Disorders Prevailed Owing to Contaminated Water.

Paper Published Free Prescription Which Attained Gratifying Results.

In an eastern city of over one hundred thousand population, nearly every case of kidney disease has disappeared and physicians marvel at the "power of the press." It seems that the local paper copied a prescription said to be used by a German specialist with great success in the treatment of kidney and bladder derangements. Such magnificent results attended the publication that the paper continued it week after week, giving the symptoms and prescription as follows: Deranged kidneys and bladder are indicated by dry parched skin, hot and cold sensations, frequent burning or scanty urination, (especially at night) with bad odour, tender spots in back, loss of weight, morning weariness, swollen feet and ankles, backache, headache, inflamed eyes, etc.

Any or all indicate trouble, misery and danger. This prescription can be filled by any well-stocked druggist: Fluid extract buchu 1 oz., compound fluid balmwort 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla compound 4 ozs. Shake well and take a teaspoonful before or after meals and one when retiring.

No one ever fails to get benefit and everybody who has used it praises it above anything else.

MEETS WITH SUCCESS

Peterborough Boy is Chosen as Registrar of Winnipeg University.

The following from the Winnipeg Telegram refers to a son of Mr. J. Spence, McDonel street, who is well known here: The committee of the University Council appointed to consider applications for the registrarship decided unanimously to nominate W. J. Spence assistant general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.. The vacancy was caused by the resignation of D. M. Duncan, who has accepted the principalship of the LaVerandrye Collegiate. This recommendation will be placed before the University Council at its regular meeting on Feb. 10. Mr. Spence was born in Peterborough, Ont., where he attended the public schools and collegiate institute. He is a graduate of Toronto University, taking honours as bachelor of arts. About nine years ago he came to Winnipeg as a lecturer in French, German and English in Wesley College, and for about six years was a member of the faculty of that college, afterwards taking up P. M. C. A. work as educational director and assistant-secretary.

APPEAL DISMISSED

(Toronto World.)

Re Hamilton Manufacturing Co.; the Ontario Bank (claimants) v. the Trusts & Guarantee Co., liquidator (contestant) appellant. W. D. Macpherson, K.C., for appellant, J. H. Moss, K.C., and L M. Hayes, K.C., for respondents, the bank.

This is an appeal from the order of Meredith, C.J., of 5th October, 1909, dismissing an appeal from the certificate of His Honour Judge Weller, L.M., at Peterborough, allowing the claim of the Ontario Bank. The company being indebted to the bank, assigned certain securities to them, which, after insolvency of company, were sold by the liquidator in the winding-up proceedings, with approval of the bank, and, as alleged by the bank, upon the understanding that the purchase price thereof was to be held by the liquidator and to stand in the place of the assets so transferred, and that the rights of the bank in respect of its securities were not to be prejudiced by such sale. The local master found in favour of the claimant as a preferred or secured creditor for $79,715.06, and as an ordinary or unsecured creditor for $134,-945.49. The liquidator appeals from that finding, which was sustained by the chief justice. Appeal dismissed, with costs.

KNOX CHURCH

Young People's Guild Had An Enjoyable Evening

At the Literary programme of the Knox Church Young Peoples' Guild Mr. Roy Laing occupied the chair. An interesting paper was read by Mr. Andrew Robertson. There is no memoir of Dr. Horatio Bonar, he was a great hymn writer, living in stirring times. He was a diligent worker, always praying, visiting, working. He was once heard to say he had no record of the well known hymn "I heard the voice of Jesus say," but just a small piece of paper. The tract, "Be alive and live" brought about the circulation of 7,050 copies. He was an advocate o fthe free church of Scotland. A peculiar fact was, he was no singer, and could only recognize the familiar tunes. To know him, you had to put poem, life and verse together. After this biography, a quartette was sung by Misses Williamson and Morison ,and Messrs. Dickson and Reid. Next Monday, Feb. 7th, the guild will meet at the church at 7.30 p.m., when it will go in a body to Charlotte St. church, being the united meeting of the Young Peoples' Societies of the city.

MILK VENDORS MUST GET THEIR LICENSES

Chief Roszel states that there are a number of milk vendors who have not yet taken out their licenses for this year and he says that they must do so at once. If there is any further delay, he intends summonsing the negligent ones to the police court and they will have to pay more than the license fee.

Dr. Marsh Will Address Astronomical Society This Evening

The meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society this evening in the Collegiate, will be particularly beneficial to the newest memebers, as the whole evening will be devoted to the elementary phases of the study.

Dr. Marsh will deliver the main address of the evening and illustrate it throughout with lantern slides. A number of these have been obtained during the past week. The aim of the lecture will be to show the means by which we earth-dwellers obtain information regarding other worlds and the great universe about us.

An interesting feature of the evening will be the consideration of the possible effect of the probable collision of the earth and the tail of Halley's Comet on May 18.

These meetings are always free and the public are cordially invited to take advantage of the privilege.

Prospects Of A Tie In The City Hockey League

Will the T. A. S. beat the Strathconas to-morrow night, and tie up the Commissioners and West Ends? That is the question that is disturbing the hockey fans just now, and it looks as if they would have to wait until to morrow night before the question can be answered. A win for the Abstainers over the Straths would be greatly appreciated by the West Ends and by the great mass of the followers of the game and the Coldwater men will not lack for supporters. It promises to be a great game. The Commissioners will go into battle for the first time in three years without the services of Ben Dusty, who has played his best hockey at cover for the League leaders. His absence may help the T. A. S. a whole lot, and as the Abstainers are playing hockey all through the piece these days they will take a lot of beating to-morrow night.

The first game of the evening will be between the West Ends and Keene. While the Westerners are expected to win the game will be interesting, as the Oldhamites may be shy the services of some of their best men, while on the other hand Keene will be stronger than usual. A win for Keene might put West Ends out of the running, so that the yellow and black team will not take any chances.

Bill Rose will handle the games.

A Reply To The Complaint Made By "Hockey Fan"

To the Sporting Editor of the Review.

What happened to the Peterborough hockey team last night? To those that were there and saw for themselves the answer is simple. Not one of the home septet, after taking the puck down the whole length of the ice, could shoot. There does not seem to be a genuine good shooter on the team. Who is responsible in the organization for placing Glover on the team? This player has seen his day some time ago and it is now making a farce if the game to allow him to continue any longer. I can name a dozen at least that have him beaten forty ways in this game, but it looks as though the good players had not the "pull" with those choosing the team—of whom I understand Glover is one. Now gentlemen of the Peterborough Hockey Club take advice and put some young blood on the team. boys that can handle the stick to perfection, skate, and in particular can do some shooting. We have them and the public who go to see those games want to see them on the ice and not on the bleachers.

HOCKEY FAN.

Peterborough, Jan. 29th.

The above letter from a correspondent appeared in the Review last evening. I am not objecting in the slightest to its publication, but some of the statements are not correct, and for this reason I desire to say a few words.

I understand the writer to be Mr. George Giroux, but this is not confirmed by the Sporting Editor of the Review, and if I am mistaken I will apologize to Mr. Giroux for this assertion. As to his criticism of the play he has a right to his opinion as to how it happened, but we were beaten fairly on Friday evening by a team playing a more effective game, and if it is possible to improve on the style of game or in the players participating in the game in order to put on a winning team our object is to make the change. As to my ability or it might be put, inability, to play hockey, I might say that I have always endeavoured to do the very best I could, and can only add that while I do not now nor did I at any other time consider myself a finished player, yet at the same time I have played worse games than I did on Friday evening last. My only reason for taking any notice of the remarks of Mr. Giroux is that while taking a slap at me he has at the same time implicated every member of the Committee, namely, Messrs. Sam Ray, W. E. Wasson, Charlie Ray, W. Metheral, W. O'Brien, C. G. Graham, and Jos. Picard, making the assertion that these men were so narrow and crooked as to allow the interests of the Club to be jeopardized by playing men because of, as he says, a "pull," and not their ability to play the game. If any man can show that I ever used influence to get a position on any team in any line of sport I will say that Mr. Giroux might have some reason to complain about me, but, on the other hand, I know that if I was the same stamp of a man as Mr. Giroux appears to be, I could show that I have been made a convenience of all my sporting career, both to help finance the clubs and play the games. I do not look at it in this light, but considered everything I had to do with sport a pleasure, and was always in the game for this reason only.

Mr. Giroux's reason for the letter is a personal one and I am the one he blames for some fancied wrong. This is quite apparent.

If he will let the public know the real reason there is no doubt but that he can be put much wiser than he is at present, but he should be very careful not to state any thing that is not true, implicating, as he has done, eight or nine men about whom he might be sorry to say anything derogatory.

Yours truly,

R. M. GLOVER.

"The Power of the Press" Manifested In a community Where Kidney and Bladder Disorders Prevailed Owing to Contaminated Water.

Paper Published Free Prescription Which Attained Gratifying Results.

In an eastern city of over one hundred thousand population, nearly every case of kidney disease has disappeared and physicians marvel at the "power of the press." It seems that the local paper copied a prescription said to be used by a German specialist with great success in the treatment of kidney and bladder derangements. Such magnificent results attended the publication that the paper continued it week after week, giving the symptoms and prescription as follows: Deranged kidneys and bladder are indicated by dry parched skin, hot and cold sensations, frequent burning or scanty urination, (especially at night) with bad odour, tender spots in back, loss of weight, morning weariness, swollen feet and ankles, backache, headache, inflamed eyes, etc.

Any or all indicate trouble, misery and danger. This prescription can be filled by any well-stocked druggist: Fluid extract buchu 1 oz., compound fluid balmwort 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla compound 4 ozs. Shake well and take a teaspoonful before or after meals and one when retiring.

No one ever fails to get benefit and everybody who has used it praises it above anything else.

MEETS WITH SUCCESS

Peterborough Boy is Chosen as Registrar of Winnipeg University.

The following from the Winnipeg Telegram refers to a son of Mr. J. Spence, McDonel street, who is well known here: The committee of the University Council appointed to consider applications for the registrarship decided unanimously to nominate W. J. Spence assistant general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The vacancy was caused by the resignation of D. M. Duncan, who has accepted the principalship of the LaVerandrye Collegiate. This recommendation will be placed before the University Council at its regular meeting on Feb. 10. Mr. Spence was born in Peterborough, Ont., where he attended the public schools and collegiate institute. He is a graduate of Toronto University, taking honours as bachelor of arts. About nine years ago he came to Winnipeg as a lecturer in French, German and English in Wesley College, and for about six years was a member of the faculty of that college, afterwards taking up P. M. C. A. work as educational director and assistant-secretary.

APPEAL DISMISSED

(Toronto World.)

Re Hamilton Manufacturing Co.; the Ontario Bank (claimants) v. the Trusts & Guarantee Co., liquidator (contestant) appellant. W. D. Macpherson, K.C., for appellant, J. H. Moss, K.C., and L M. Hayes, K.C., for respondents, the bank.

This is an appeal from the order of Meredith, C.J., of 15th October, 1909, dismissing an appeal from the certificate of His Honour Judge Weller, L.M., at Peterborough, allowing the claim of the Ontario Bank. The company being indebted to the bank, assigned certain securities to them, which, after insolvency of company, were sold by the liquidator in the winding-up proceedings, with approval of the bank, and, as alleged by the bank, upon the understanding that the purchase price thereof was to be held by the liquidator and to stand in the place of the assets so transferred, and that the rights of the bank in respect of its securities were not to be prejudiced by such sale. The local master found in favour of the claimant as a preferred or secured creditor for $79,715.06, and as an ordinary or unsecured creditor for $136,845.68. The liquidator appeals from that finding, which was sustained by the chief justice. Appeal dismissed, with costs.

Was Weak and Nervous.

Heart Would Stop Beating.

Mr. Paul Poull, Cascapedia, Que., writes:—"About five years ago I gave up all hope of getting better of heart trouble. I would nearly choke, and then my heart would stop beating. I could not lie on my left side, and became so nervous and weak I could not work. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before the first box was taken I was almost well, and the second box completed the cure. I have advised many others to try them, and they have all been cured of the same trouble. I have offered to pay for a box for anybody they do not cure."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all diseases or disorders arising from the heart or nerve system. They make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerves firm by imparting a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ, and tissue of the body and curing palpitation of the heart, dizziness, sleeplessness, anaemia, twitching of the muscles, sensation of "pins and needles," general debility, lack of vitality, etc.

BAD LEG FOR 60 Years

OLD LADY'S SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY TO ZAM-BUK.

(Photo of Mrs. Minnett)

Here is strong proof of how Zam-Buk cures long-standing sores, or chronic wounds. Mrs. J. Minnett, of 192 Thurbers Ave., Providence, Rhode Island, says:

"When a child of eight I was bitten on the leg by a dog. The wound never healed up soundly, and I have suffered with an ulcerated leg for over 60 years. At one time, I was an in-patient at the East Suffolk Hospital for a long period, and for three years I was in and out of hospitals with it. I was continually in pain, and the sore would not heal, but continued to discharge.

"Twelve months ago I came out here to my daughter, and as soon as she saw how bad the leg was she sent for a doctor. He gave me some ointment, but it did me no good. Doctors said my leg would never be healed.

"One day my youngest daughter brought home a box of Zam-Buk and induced me to try it. With the first application I seemed to find ease. I kept on with the Zam-Buk treatment, and soon saw that the wound was getting better. I persevered, and, to cut a long story short, Zam-Buk healed up the sore! It is marvellous to think that, after suffering for sixty years, Zam-Buk has been able to heal the wound."

Zam-Buk is superior because it is nature's own healer, composed entirely of pure herbal essences. For eczema, ulcers, cold sores, chaps, abscesses, piles, burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, rashes, etc., it is unequalled. All druggists and stores 50c box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

SYSTEM IS A FAIR ONE

Resolution In Favor of Keeping the Number of Members From the East Permanent Finds Little Favor With the Westerners—Existing System Is the Only Fair One, Says Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—That Parliament would not be justified in limiting the principle of representation based upon population laid down at Confederation until all the provinces had been consulted was the view expressed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the House of Commons last evening in closing a debate upon two resolutions urging the claim of the Maritime Provinces to special consideration. The resolution moved by Mr. Kyte, one of the Nova Scotia members, affirmed that the Maritime Provinces should have preserved to them the representation in the House of Commons that they now enjoy, but this plea was enlarged by an amendment proposed by Mr. Warburton of Prince Edward Island that the representation of the provinces by the sea should be restored to what it was at the time of Confederation.

J. W. Kyte (Richmond, N.S.) proposed this resolution: "That in the opinion of this House the Maritime Provinces of Canada should have preserved to them the representation in the House of Commons that they now enjoy; that in the redistribution of constituencies, to be made after the next decennial census, the number of representatives to be returned for the said provinces should not in any case be reduced."

Mr. Kyte said that the claim of the Maritime Provinces was based on considerations of equity and moral right. At the time of Confederation it was believed that the Maritime Provinces would keep pace with the other provinces in growth of population, and consequently there would be no decrease in representatives. As it turned out, immigration had gone to the western provinces. According to the population of Quebec, Mr. Kyte estimated that after the next census the unit of representation would be about 33,000. This would mean a further reduction of three members in the representation of the Maritime Provinces.

J. G. Turriff, as a western representative, objected to the proposal contained in the resolution to make a discrimination in favor of the provinces down by the sea. It would be a mistake, he argued, to make any alteration in the present system of representation according to population. If such resolution were carried, it would meet with the vigorous opposition of the people of western Canada, and would mark the beginning of the dismembershipment of the Dominion. He would be prepared to resign his seat if the resolution received the endorsation of Parliament.

Dr. Daniel urged that the Maritime Provinces had been discriminated against. While they of the east represented old settlers, Mr. Turriff represented a portion of the flotsam and jetsam of Europe.

Mr. McCraney (Saskatoon) declared himself against the resolution.

Dr. Pugsley suggested that the question might be settled by the holding of an inter-provincial conference. If all the provinces would agree that the smaller provinces should receive more generous treatment, it would then be a reasonable thing to ask the Federal Parliament to assent to the wishes of the provinces.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that the Maritime Provinces had no remedy in law, and that the only remedy was to apply to the other provinces, which would deal with this question as they dealt with British Columbia regarding the subsidy at the last provincial conference. However, he doubted if the provinces in conference would agree to any basis of representation other than by population. In his own view no principle could be fairer. He, therefore, moved the adjournment of the debate.

F. D. Monk requested that opportunity be given the House to send his bill respecting co-operative societies, and a similar bill by Lloyd Harris, respecting co-operation, to committees. Last year a similar bill of his, when it went to the Senate, was defeated by only one vote. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that if the request were granted the House could not refuse to extend the same privilege to other bills, but it might be possible to reach the bills without suspending the rules.

Col Hughes read a newspaper despatch dated from New York, in which Capt. Bernier was reported as having requested the Canadian Government to ask representatives of other nations, including Great Britain, to accompany him on his next polar expedition to delimit boundaries. Bernier was stated to have used the term "Canadian nation." Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that Bernier would go north to assert the sovereignty of Canada in northern waters, adding: "If Capt. Bernier has spoken as he is reported to have done, he had better keep to his deck."

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth made an explanation of a recent statement of his in reference to Government responsibility. The effect of it was that in capital cases the responsibility rests on the whole Government and the Governor-General, whereas in non-capital cases, the responsibility rests, not on the whole Government, but on the Minister concerned, almost invariably the Minister of Justice, and the Governor-General.

A. C. Goodeve (Kootenay) asked the Postmaster-General if he was prepared to have the postoffice at Campbell, B.C., removed from an hotel, where it is now located between the barroom and the cardroom. Mr. Lemieux said he would take the matter up at once.

R. L. Borden asked when the terms of the waterways treaty would be made public. The Premier said that some negotiations were still going on as to a subsidiary article.

Mr. Foster enquired when papers would be brought down relative to American vessels of war now on the great lakes, and with reference to the question of the Canadian flag, discussed at the naval defence conference. Sir Wilfrid promised to enquire.

Mr. Foster was informed that 234 applications had been received for positions in the proposed navy, including 59 from officers and six from ex-officers of the royal navy, 37 from officers of the royal navy reserve and 116 from Canadians.

Dr. Edwards was told that one of the conditions of the lease of Government lands occupied by Sir Richard Cartwright, near Kingston, was that timber could not be cut down except for improving the same.

The following bills were given a second reading: Respecting the royal guardian; to incorporate the Saskatchewan Central Railway Co.; respecting the Central Canada Manufacturers Mutual Fire Insurance Co.; respecting the G.T.P. Branch Lines Co.

PARIS IS REJOICING

Government Is Taking Steps to Mitigate the Sufferings of Those Who Lost Everything In the Deluge—Cleaning the City Will Be a Big Task—Hungry Dogs Are Proving a Menace to Public.

Paris, Feb. 1.—The improvement in the general situation continues, and the spirits of the Parisians are rising as the waters fall. Street hawkers are selling postcard pictures of the flood and the boulevards are once more gay with rejoicing thousands.

The papers are already sounding a note of warning that the lesson must not be forgotten; that measures must be taken to avoid a repetition of the disaster. This can be done by the construction of a cut-off, either in the way of a canal or a large underground conduit around Paris.

The prefect of the department of the Seine has issued instructions to the owners of flooded houses to clean and disinfect their premises within 24 hours after the subsidence of the waters. Otherwise the work will be done at the cost and risk of the owners. The Government has ordered the tax collectors to show the greatest leniency to delinquents, and the Monte de Piete is extending pawn tickets for three months.

Public and private benevolents continue to respond to the call of the sufferers. All the theatres and musical societies are organizing benefits, while the various racecourses are arranging a big meeting for the spring, the receipts of which will go to the poor.

A resolution has been introduced in the Chamber of Deputies, asking the Government to award special crosses of the Legion of Honor to those who have been conspicuous in the rescue work.

Many corpses have been swept down the river, and occasionally a coffin in a boat, which had probably broken away from a funeral procession.

Scores of half-famished families have been rescued from their homes, and hundreds still occupy their half submerged houses, waiting for the water to recede. A source of danger has been the starving dogs roaming around Alfortville and Ivry, and many of these have been shot in the fear that they might develop rabies.

The Government has arranged to loan money to the ruined house and shop owners, to enable them to rebuild immediately. These loans may be refunded by instalments.

NATURE OF BUSINESS

The Company manufactures John McIntosh's celebrated Toffees, the trade names of which are "Old English Toffees" "Treakle Toffee," "Vienna Toffee," "Butter Scotch" "Russian Toffee" and "Buttermild Toffee" as supplied to Queen Alexandra and the Empress of Russia. The business is particularly profitable, and possesses the advantage of being thoroughly established in Canada, as in all other large countries. An understanding of the profit and sale may be gleaned from the knowledge that over 22 tons daily or 8030 tons annually are consumed in Great Britain alone.

History of John MacIntosh's Toffee

The MacIntosh Toffee business was established some 40 years ago in the City of Halifax, England. Mr. MacIntosh commenced business absolutely without capital, boiling his celebrated Toffees in an ordinary kitchen pan on his cottage fire. To-day Mr. MacIntosh controls the largest and oldest Toffee manufacturing business in the world.

Imported From England and United States

Prior to the establishing of a factory in this country, over three cases or 2688 packages of MacIntosh's Toffee was consumed by Canadians daily. This business was done from England and the United States, without the assistance of advertising or local management.

BROCKVILLE WORKS

The Company's buildings at Brockville are large and commodious and are constructed and equipped in a manner suitable to the purposes of the business. The most modern machinery and special appliances installed guarantee a manufacturing capacity of 7 tons of John MacIntosh's Toffee daily or 2555 tons annually.

ACTUAL PROFITS

The cost of producing one case containing 896 packages of John MacIntosh's Toffee ready for sale is $14.00. Study these profits:

"It is Those Who Invest at Time of Flotation Who Reap Large Profits."—My Opinion.

"I visited Brockville on January 14th and remained there four days. My sole object in going there was to investigate the works and business of John MacIntosh's Toffee, Limited. I studied the details of the business carefully, and in addition to finding a magnificently equipped factory in active operation, I found a good business, managed by men of sterling worth and sound reputation, who have a thorough and practical understanding of the business, gained at the works of the parent Company of John MacIntosh, Limited, Halifax, England, the oldest and largest Toffee Manufacturers in the world. The future welfare of these men is centred in the business and the results of their determination and effort will be the building of a large and important enterprise in Canada.—ATHOL GEORGE ROBERTSON.

REMEMBER—These Shares bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, with the opportunity of earning additional interest.

How to Come to a Decision—You have read the contents of this prospectus and having done so must realize that this offering is particularly good, that it constitutes an investment with all the safeness of a parcel of REAL ESTATE, while containing the interest bearing ability of a good industrial. With this knowledge can you afford to ignore the investment, knowing that no better method can be adopted for the saving and increasing of your small capital.

The Peterboros After Holding Lindsay In First Half Were Overwhelmed In The Second

Score at Half Time in Last Night's Game at Lindsay Was 3 to 2, But the Midgets Ran Over the Peterboros in Second Half, Scoring Ten Counters to One---One Hundred Peterboro Fans Saw the Game.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Lindsay, January 31st. — Lindsay handed the Peterborough team an awful hooking here to-night beating the Quaker Oats team by 13 goals to 3. The figures might lead one to believe that the Petes were outclassed, but such was far from being the case, and with any kind of luck the score would have been decidedly closer. The half time figure was 3 to 2 in favour of Lindsay and the game up to that period was as close as could be desired with neither team having much on the other. At half time the Petes and their supporters were supremely satisfied with their showing and felt that with the fortunes of war favouring them in the second half they might repeat their performance of beating Lindsay at home.

The situation was utterly changed in the last period however and Midgets simply ran away with the Petes banging in ten counters, while the best the visitors could do was to sandwich in a score between the Stoddardites two bunches of fives. Lindsay seemed to have opened another barrel of speed at half time and aided ed and abetted by flagrant loafing and offside passing scored almost at will. Referee E. Cooke, of Toronto, seemed to forget iafter half time that he was there to do something else but get in the road of the players, and the musical clamouring of his bell never punctuated the howling of the crowd. Capt. Stoddard, of the Lindsay team, loafed around the centre of the ring all through the half, and was always ready to break away when one of his forwards came down and the result was that the Peterborough defence were all at sea trying to figure out the attack. Blomfield or McDougall would come shooting down the ice at top speed, draw out the defence and slam the rubber across the rink to the waiting Stoddard, who had nothing to do but skate in and score. Time after time in the second half was this stunt pulled off and Referee Cooke never blinked his eye. This was all the more strange when it is considered that in the first half he was calling both teams back for offsides that a Government surveyor might have had trouble in detecting.

There were two changes in the Peterborough team over the seven that met Lindsay at home last week. Dusty deserted the team yesterday for "pro" company, and Glover could not get away. Campbell was moved from centre to point. Dobson played the centre position and McMillan went over to left wing while his place on the other side of the boards was taken by Jack Seymour. The strength of the Petes was considerably impaired and the speedy Lindsay forwards given more chance to break away by an accident to Dobson early in the battle, which necessitated his retiring for the game. In a collision with Cote he received a bad slash above the mouth which required several stitches to close. Cain went with him and the game was finished six a side, the lesser number on the ice favouring the Midgets, who had more room to get away with the zag-zag stuff.

Lindsay deserved to win on the play, but not by such a score. There is not ten goals' difference between the teams and a referee that knows the meaning of loafing would not have alowed the Midgets so many opportunities. This looks like the usual howl of the beaten team against the referee, but really, Clotilda, in this case we are barely doing Mr. Cooke justice when we say that in the second half he did not come any nearer to seeing an offside than his illustrious namesake "Doc" did to reaching the North Pole. And you know that is some instance.

To do Lindsay justice it must be said that they took beautiful advantage of their openings. Their stick-handling and skating were grand, and the long range two-man combination that they adopted was peculiarly successful. They carried the rubber right in on Derocher and gave that gentleman a very busy evening and altogether conducted themselves like a real team. Their forward line looks better than the quartette of last year's champion team and their defence is effective if not finished.

Peterborough worked hard all the way but could not seem to get in right. They formed up well and came in together to a certain point, then threw the puck away or were rushed into the corners. The team work that distinguished their play at the start of a rush nearly always disappeared before it reached the desired point and while they passed often the passes were generally made to the wings in the neighbourhood of the goal instead of vice versa.

Stoddard was the Tungsten light in the Lindsay system last night and played grand hockey all the way. As has been said he loafed continually, but there are not more effective tactics when you can get away with it, and anyone that could not get away with it with Mr. Cooke, of Toronto, on the job, couldn't steal candy from a baby. Stoddard's speed and stick handling allowed him to take full advantage of his openings and his shooting was deadly. Blomfield was always prominent and played his usual brilliant, gentlemanly game. There is no better or cleaner player in these regions than the same Reggie. McDougall was good all through, but marred his work by a lot of hooking and chopping, some of which he was punished for. Green was effective, both on the defence and on the attack, and Gamble between the flags was as effective as he was here, his work in the first half being phenomenally good..

Everyone worked hard on the Peterborough line-up and no one shone over the others. Derocher handled a lot of hard shots in splendid manner, but had a couple of hard luck ones scored on him. Once in the second half he went out when Green had beaten the defence and bodied the Lindsay cover-point. The two went down in a heap, but the puck shot into the air and hitting Green as it came down rolled into the net. Campbell and McDougall checked and rushed in good fashion, but the long passing of the Lindsay in the second half was hard to puzzle out and often the mistake was made of both defence men going after the man with the rubber, leaving the other uncovered. On the forward line Dobson played a grand game and it was a bad thing for the Petes when he was hurt. He was decidedly aggressive and scored both Peterborough's goals in the first half. Ray played his usual effective, hard working game, and never let up for a moment, and the same is true of McMillan, who took kindly to the going at left wing and in the first half especially played grand hockey. Seymour, who has been playing defence all season and in addition was up against Blomfield, gave a good account of himself and never let up.

A good crowd saw the game, but it was not as big as might have been expected under the circumstances. The Lindsay management raised the prices to 50 cents general admission. Over one hundred fans took in the trip to Lindsay on the special G.T. R. train which left Peterborough at 7 o'clock.

The teams faced each other as follows:

	Derocher
	Campbell
	McDougall
	Ray
McMillan	Dobson	Seymour
Cain	McDougall	Blomfield
	Stoddard
	Green
	Cote.
	Gamble

Referee, E. Cooke, Toronto.

Play was very even on the start. McDougall rushed nicely for Peterborough and transferred to McMillan, whose shot, dead on the goal, was turned aside by Gamble. Lindsay came back and Derocher had to take care of two in succession from Blomfield. Lindsay scored amid wild howls of approval, but it was offside and the play was called back. Then McDougall made a pretty rush and passed to Stoddard, whose shot from close in beat Derocher in 2.30 mins. Lindsay 1, Peterborough 0.

Cain was penalized two minutes for loafing and was almost at once followed by the Peterborough McDougall for tripping the Lindsay man of the same name. Peterborough were having just as much of the play as Lindsay and finally Dobson on a neat rush placed the rubber behind Gamble. Time 2.30 mins. Lindsay 1, Peterborough 1.

McDougall bodied Cain into the boards and drew three minutes. Lindsay came down fast with the big cover point off and Derocher was kept busy for a few minutes. He stopped three long shots from Blomfield in succession and then Stoddard got clean through only to have the goalkeeper wade out and spoil the shot. McDougall came back and united with McMillan for a rush that looked like a score, but Gamble annexed the shot. Finally Stoddard broke away with a beautiful rush that fooled the Peterborough defence and tipped the rubber into the cage in 5.30 mins. Lindsay 2, Peterborough 1.

Cain was penalized for tripping, and Seymour followed for bodying Blomfield into the boards. The play was very even with both goals threatened in turn and both goal minders doing brilliant work. Peterborough evened up in ten minutes when Dobson hammered one in from a face off in front of the Lindsay nets. Lindsay 2, Peterborough 2.

Soon after Dobson collided with Cote and received a bad hook in the face, from which blood spurted freely. He had to be removed from the game, the Lindsay team dropping Cain, and the game was finished with six men aside.

The Lindsay McDougall got two minutes for hooking a Peterborough man and then Seymour was sent away for three minutes for cross-checking Blomfield put Lindsay ahead on a pass from Stoddard in 4 mins. Lindsay 3, Peterborough 2.

McMillan was sent away for tripping Green as he started a rush and Pacer McDougall followed him for slashing. Half time.

At the beginning of the second half it was discovered that the Lindsay McDougall had gone back on the ice without finishing his sentence and he was given another minute.

McMillan was sent away for interference. Lindsay increased their lead when Stoddard scored on a pass from McDougall. The play was a flagrant offside. Lindsay 4, Peterborough 2.

The Lindsay McDougall got five minutes for hooking Ray in the face and was followed by the Peterborough "Mac" for tripping Cote. Blomfield came down all alone in the nicest rush of the night and scored in six minutes. Lindsay 5, Peterborough 2.

Stoddard got the next in a minute on a pass from Green and Seymour was penalized for throwing his stick as the goal was scored. McDougall got the next on a wide off-side pass from Blomfield in two minutes. Lindsay 7, Peterborough 2.

Green scored in one minute for Lindsay. Derocher bodied him as he got round the defence and the two went down, but the puck rolled into the nets. Lindsay 8, Peterborough 2.

Stoddard made it 9 to 3 in six minutes on a pass from Green and McDougall got Lindsay's No. 10 on a pass from Stoddard. Stoddard and Blomfield united nicely, the former scoring from close in. Green was penalized, but Lindsay kept on scoring, Stoddard getting the next and Blomfield following with the last. The summary follows:

1 Lindsay, Stoddard 2.30 mins.
2 Peterborough, Dobson 2.30 mins.
3 Lindsay, Stoddard 5.30 mins.
4 Peterborough, Dobson 10 mins.
5 Lindsay, Blomfield 4 mins.
Half time—
6 Lindsay, Blomfield 6 mins.
7 Lindsay, Blomfield 6 mins.
8 Lindsay, Stoddard 1 min.
9 Lindsay, McDougall 2 mins.
10 Lindsay, Green 1 min.
11 Peterborough, Campbell 2 mins.
12 Lindsay, Stoddard 6 mins.
13 Lindsay, McDougall 2 mins.
14 Lindsay, Stoddard 2 mins.
15 Lindsay, Stoddard 1 min.
16 Lindsay, Blomfield 2 mins.

Penalties, Peterborough—McDougall 3, Seymour 3, McMillan 2. Total 25 mins.

A Lazy Liver

Upsets the Whole System. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Put Things Right Again.

His liver is to sluggish — his stomach bad.

A bitter taste in the mouth—coated tongue — dizziness on rising suddenly—bowels alternately loose and constipated—these mean that the liver is out of order.

Instead of flowing into the bowels, to regulate them and aid digestion, the bile has been going all through the system, upsetting digestion, leaving the bowels constipated, and making the sufferer perfectly miserable. This is biliousness.

The quick, safe and certain cure is Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills. They clear out the clogged-up system, stir up the lazy liver, cleanse the stomach and bowels and purify the blood. The bile returns to its normal course, the food is again digested properly and all the disagreeable symptoms vanish.

Doctors prescribe Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills and they are known throughout the world as a proven cure for all digestive troubles. They are equally effective in strengthening weak kidneys and curing rheumatism.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $36,270,000.00, an increase of $1,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $319,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $41,817.34.

The Assets now total $506,973.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.12.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

VICTIM OF ASSAULT IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

High Constable Cochrane received word at noon to-day that the elder of the two Misses McPherson, who was assaulted by 17-year-old Robert Henderson, near Norwood, on Friday, is in a very serious condition, and that her recovery is very doubtful. Miss McPherson was struck over the head with an axe, serious injuries being inflicted on her head. It was thought at first that her chances for recovery were good, but to-day she is in a high statement of fever and the physicians in attendance do not anticipate that she will survive her injuries.

In the case of Miss McPherson's death a charge of murder will be laid against Henderson, who is now a prisoner in the county jail here.

TIP TO CITIZENS

It may be given as a tip to the ratepayers who intend requesting the Council for sidewalks and sewers that they send in their petitions early. At the meeting of the Board of Works last night it was decided to consider the petitions en bloc on some night when a meeting will be called for that sole purpose, and the work for the year will practically be determined upon. Those who intend asking the Council for sidewalks, sewers, etc., should not delay too long, for in Council matters, as in many other things the early bird gets the best fare.

THE MYSTERIOUS NERVES

How like electricity is the mysterious nerve force which courses through the body, controlling the movement of every muscle and the working of every organ. The secret of keeping the marvellous nervous system in health and vigour is found in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorative.

ENJOYABLE BANQUET

Peace and goodwill reigned at the annual meeting and banquet of the Life Underwriters' Association of Central Ontario, held last night at Hooper's Cafe. The gathering was the largest in the history of the Association, eleven members joining.

Before repairing to the banquetting hall, the election for the coming year was held, which resulted as follows:

President—D. H. Moore, Peterborough.

First Vice-Pres.—J. I. Allen, Peterborough.

Second Vice-President—Capt. W. J. Robertson, Port Hope.

Secretary-Treasurer—T. Mark, Peterborough.

Executive Committee—W. R. Widdes, J. H. Acheson, S. E. Salls, F. H. Rogers, B. Madill, C. E. Barnett.

Marshalled by the genial President, Mr D. H. Moore, the members of the association and their guests gathered around the well-spread board, and satisfied the demands of the inner man.

E. R. Muchum, of St. John, N. B., the president of the Dominion Association, gave a stirring address, referring to the great future before Canada, and giving a vision of the life insurance in relation to the great expansion expected.

Mr. T. B. Parkinson, of London, Ont., Vice-President of the Life Underwriters of Canada, followed with a strong exposition of the benefits of the association to its individual members and urged the Central Ontario Association to do its share towards doubling the membership of the Canadian organization before the annual convention in Toronto in September next.

A telegram of regret for his absence from J. A. Tory, of Toronto, was read.

Short addresses were also given by Mr. D. H. Moore, the popular and able president; ex-President Widdes, of Lindsay, and Messrs. Allen, Lindsay, Bage and several others.

A fine musical programme, rendered by Messrs Leadbetter, Sherry and Halpany was very much appreciated by the members of the association.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speakers of the evening, and the retiring officers for their work during the past year, and the banquetters dispersed after singing the National Anthem.

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE IS ONE OF THE BEST IN PROVINCE

But a Gymnasium Must be Provided by the Board in Order to Secure Grant---Inspector J. E. Wetherill Makes Report---Dr. Morrison Thinks Too Much Time is Given to Science.

The Peterborough Collegiate Institute received a very complimentary report as a result of the recent visit of Inspector Wetherill. The local school now comes under the heading of approved ones and is one of the best in the Province.

The report of Mr. J. E. Wetherill was read before the Board of Education last evening and was received.

The grading of accommodations is marked Number One and the report in part says: "Since last inspection the accommodations have been improved in many respects But the Library needs further additions and the scientific apparatus should be still further increased.

The ratio of pupils to teachers is thirty to one. Form 2B is too large. The division of a subject between two teachers should be avoided in the lower school. The time table has been constructed with unusual skill. The tone of the school is remarkably good. The text books are all authorised and the registers are properly kept.

Four pictures have been purchased After 1910 first-class grading will not be given unless the rooms are suitably decorated. Fire drills should be organized.

I shall have pleasure in recommending that for the year 1910, this school should enjoy the rank of an improved school. It must be clearly understood that the approval of a school gives neither approval nor standing to any of its pupils. The principle of an approved school is a sole arbiter of the standing of individual teachers. I congratulate the principal and the Board on the marked change in the condition of this school as compared with those of a year ago. The accommodation and equipment are much improved. The organization is nearly the best possible. The staff on the whole, is one of the best in my district of inspection, the character of the pupils exhibits has been revolutionized, The attention of the staff is called to the new regulation regarding promotion examinations on page 12 of the amended regulations.

The attention of the Board is called to the new regulation on page 18 of the amended regulations. "After August 1911, a Collegiate Institute which has not provided a gymnasium satisfactory to the Minister of Education, shall forfeit its status." It should be clearly understood that the use neither of the Armouries or the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium can be accepted as satisfactory. Such an arrangement has been denied to other schools. I have pointed out to the trustees whom I have met that for a first grade gymnasium the regulations provide an annual grant of $160.00.

Signed, J. E. WETHERILL.

Dr. Morrison said that they had great reason to be thankful. It was an excellent one and he complimented the principal on such a high standing. In regard to improving the writing he thought that it was greatly needed. But it should be started with the primary classes.. In reference to what the inspector said about science he thought that there was too much time spent on that subject and that it should be brought to bear at the Provincial Teachers' Convention that it was not necessary for pupils to spend so much time on that subject. Dr. Morrison thought as long as the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium was at the disposal of the board it would not be right to put the ratepayers to additional expense in providing one. Representation to this effect should be made to the Minister of Education.

It was moved by Mr. Hill, seconded by Col. Miller, that the report of the Inspector be received and that the part referring to the gymnasium be taken up by the property committee, and that the conditions existing here be explained to the department.

OBITUARY.

MRS. CATHARINE CULLEN.

The many friends of Mrs. J. M. Brooks, will sympathize with her bereavement caused by the death of her mother, Mrs. Catharine Cullen, relict of the late Thomas Cullen. The deceased was in her 76th year and had been living with Mrs. Brooks for the past two years, She enjoyed good health until a few days ago when she was taken ill and passed away a quarter after two o'clock yesterday morning. The late Mrs. Cullen was born in the County Wicklow, Ireland, and she came to this country many years ago and settled in Oshawa where she resided until coming to Peterborough. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. J. M. Brooks and two sons, Peter of Oshawa, and Thomas, of Toronto.

The funeral will be held on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, 199 Dalhousie St., to St. Peter's Cathedral. The remains will be taken to Oshawa on the G. T. R. noon train for interment.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1910

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

The Examiner has received from the St. John's, N.B., Board of Trade a letter offering to supply for publication in these columns a weekly letter, dealing with New Brunswick matters, emphasizing the "growing importance of St. John's as a shipping centre, and the "hub of the Maritime provinces." The letters promise not to be coloured for "direct advertising" purposes. While the letters may not be of sufficient local interest to warrant their publication in the Examiner, they are of import inasmuch as they give evidence of an enterprise on the part of the St. John's Board of Trade, which may well be imitated by our own organization. Advertizing, judicious and effective, is the life of business, the indispensible essential to success in private, corporate and civic enterprises. The action of the St. John's Board also reveals the spirit of confidence, of advance, which seems, as a reflection of the general prosperity and the existence of Canadian resources and opportunity, to animate Canadians from one boundary of the country to the other. By the way, what are our City Council and Board of Trade doing in the way of a beginning of a systematic crusade of advertising the capabilities and resources of Peterborough? What progress is being madein the matter of selecting, appointing, and putting to work our proposed industrial commissioner? It is to be admitted that this is no easy matter; for everybody recognises the difficulty of getting a man for the position who is equipped with the necessary qualities. Everybody won't do; there must be found somebody that will do—some capable man that will fill the bill.

WHERE IS THE PARTY AT?

The Mail and Empire makes a hysterical demand, two columns wide, for an emergency contribution by Canada to the Imperial navy. What is the political emergency that induces this organ to make its demand? There must be something behind it, for we never knew the Mail to take a position that was in the interests of the country unless it was in the interest of the Conservative party. If any national proposal conflicts with party interest "so much the worse for national interest." Is the Mail and Empire speaking the mind of Mr. Borden or Mr. Foster or any other of the many leaders of the Conservative opposition? The smashing condemnation of the Dreadnought gift policy by the electors of Ottawa is no lesson to the Bourbon mind of the Mail. Last session the House unanimously adopted a resolution on the Canadian naval question, which has been reduced to concrete form in the government's naval bill now before the House. There was no partizan attitude in the resolution, both sides voted solidly for it,a very proper attitude upon a question of such national and even imperial importance. The Liberal members of the House, the Liberal press and the rank and file of the Liberal party have been consistent in maintaining the attitude expressed by the unanimous resolution. But the Conservative craft, the Conservative party, and press, seem to have gone to pieces on the rock of discord. Some are for the bill as a corollary of the resolution, some are for Dreadnoughts, to be presented, some are for a money contribution, to be spent in Great Britain, without the Canadian taxpayer having a voice, through his representatives, in its expenditure, some are for no naval contribution of any kind. It would take two or three royal commissions, it would even require the services of the special committee on Mr. Miller's anti-gambling bill to discover where the Conservative party is at.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

We do not share the terrors of those who are in dread of socialism, says the Montreal Witness. It is dangerous only to privileged despotism. There never was a social condition in which there was no socialism or communism and there never will be. Experiments in popular management are always being made, and the principle will gain or lose as it succeeds or fails.

The license laws, the Kingston Standard thinks, should be administered as Mr. Studholme demands, free from political influence. But why did the Liberals take so long to find this out They administered these laws for over thirty years without having non-political license commissioners. Give Mr. Whitney time and we have no doubt he will give us license commissioners not appointed because of their political leanings.

Sir James seems to need having more than time given him—a generous slice of eternity might be added.

The East Peterborough Liberals on Saturday, says the Brantford Expositor, at their annual convention, censured the Whitney Government for its partisan administration of the license law, and demanded the abolition of the three-fifths clause. In Peterborough the people have had some experience recently, both in license administration and local option, and the resolution indicates pretty clearly that the chances of reform, under the existing province law, are not particularly bright.

A despatch from Toronto states that from the absence of petitions to the Ontario Legislature against the three-fifths clause, it is evident that the three-fifths clause has won out. This is shallow reasoning. The more probable explanation of the absence of petitions against the three-fifths clause is that it is hopeless to ask for repeal of the clause from a government which ignores its duty and neglects its promises to improve license law administration and the moral reform it represents. Whitney, like Ephraim, is joined to his idols; let him alone.

THE LAW CRAZE.

Brantford Expositor.)

The truth of the matter is that many of the laws that are being placed on the statute books of this country, are both ill-advised and hastily considered. The modern drift is too much towards legislation. The public imagines that all evils may be legislated out of existence. Such is not always the case. In the interpretation of half-digested statutes, and in the enforcement of unreasonable ordinances, the gravest of administrative difficulties often present themselves. Abraham Lincoln used to say that the best way to get a bad law repealed is to enforce it strictly. But why such haste? The making of laws is a serious business. Why cannot legislators fully realize that fact and proceed cautiously and slowly? With the growth of democracy in this country, laws must be based on reason and justice. A law is valuable not because it is a law, but because there is right in it. Certain it is that we have too much law these days; if we had less of it, of a better type and with a strict enforcement, it would be to the lasting advantage of the Canadian people.

THE POLITICAL MAP.

(Toronto Star.)

The geographical distribution of parties, as shown in yesterday's Star, is an interesting feature of the British situation. In England alone are the parties somewhat evenly matched; the Unionists there having 237 members, the Liberals 186, the Labour and Socialist parties 33, and the Nationalists 1—a majority of seventeen for the Opposition against a total Government strength of 220. In Wales the Unionists have only three seats out of twenty-nine, in Scotland only eight out of fifty-six.

In the larger island the Liberals have 264 seats and their allies forty, against the Union strength of 248. The Liebrals out-number their opponents not only in Wales and Scotland, but in the north of England, while almost the whole strength of the Unionists lies in the middle and south of England.

The Liberals are sometimes described compassionately as "depending on the Irish vote." It is not always borne in mind that there are twenty-one Irish votes in the Unionist party; and that, leaving Ireland out of the calculation, the Unionists have only 248 representatives, as compared with 304 supporters of the Government.

PROTECTION IN PRACTICE.

(Hamilton Times.)

Coming on top of the demonstration of the greater cheapness of bread in Great Britain—bread made from our own wheat, shipped by rail and vessel over to the old country—we have a further illustration of the advantages which the free trade Briton enjoys over the protected Yankee in purchasing beef. A New York paper gives these figures of retail prices:

	In London	In New York
Loins	15 to 19c.	23 to 28c.
Round	16 to 20c.	20 to 24c.
Chuck	12 to 16c.	14 to 18c.

The British workman has reason for not being ready to put his neck under the "Tariff Reform" yoke. The paper from which the foregoing figures are taken proceeds to say:

"The London price of loins starts with Argentine frozen beef, at 10 cents. Argentine chilled beef comes next, at 15 cents. Then comes North American chilled at 15c to 19 cents, while North American town chilled brings from 21 to 28 cents, and English home grown from 24 to 28 cents a pound. Ribs cost from 10 to 18 cents a pound. Chuck ranges from 12 to 16 cents and round from 16 to 20 cents.

Those prices are for London. In many English centres lower rates prevail. A campaign of education on the effect of protection on the workingman's food could not be expected to help the cause of the so-called "Tariff Reform."

AN EXAMPLE FROM OTTAWA.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

The announcement was made in the house at Ottawa the other day that it is the intention of the Dominion government to issue a Commission for the purpose of investigating the state of technical education in other countries. The announcement was accompanied by the further statement that this would be done with the concurrence and approval of the various Provincial governments. The statement is further offered that the fear of appearing to intrude on Provincial rights was the cause of the prolonged delay.

The Government's solicitude for the preservation of Provincial rights can readily be understood. All educational matters under the constitution, are relegated to the various Provinces, and though the Provinces may not be always over-zealous in the discharge of their duties, they are usually anxious enough about the preservation of their privileges. Therefore the Dominion Government might have contended that as educational matters belonged to the Provinces the matter of an investigation of the state of technical education in other countries should be left to the Provinces. Fortunately in the interests of technical education the Dominion Government took the broader view and the wiser course.

When the county council of the county of Oxford appealed to a department of the Ontario Government for an investigation of certain county matters, the reply of the Minister of Public Works was that such an investigation was a matter for the county itself, and he did not feel like recommending the issuing of a commission. Yet the Provincial Government is quite as much interested, or should be, in the matter of good municipal management as the Dominion Government is in the matter of technical education, and the affairs of the county of Oxford are no more exclusively the business of the people of Oxford than education is the business of the various Provinces. More than that, the Provincial Government is very directly interested in the affairs of the County of Oxford, for the Provincial Government contributes largely to the good roads fund, the expenditure of which is one of the matters in regard to which an investigation is asked.

There is still reason to hope that the Ontario Government will take a broad and patriotic view of the situation, just as the Dominion Government has done in the matter of technical education. The character of Premier Whitney, and the evidence of a personal interest he has already given, afford ground for such a hope. For the realization of this hope much will depend on the people of the county of Oxford themselves. A united and earnest request for an investigation would probably not be allowed to pass unheeded.

Epilepsy, Spasms, St. Vitus' Dance

"I suffered for many years from what some people call epilepsy. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine cured me, and you can imagine how thankful I am."

M. I. COFFMAN,
Coldwater, Mich.

"My daughter was cured with Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, after having been afflicted with fits for five years."

PETER McAULEY,
Springfield, Mass.

"For a year my little boy had spasms every time he got a little cold. Since taking Dr. Miles' Nervine he has never had one of these spasms."

MRS. MYRTLE DAGUE,
Rochester, Ind.

"My daughter couldn't talk or walk from St. Vitus' dance. Seven bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine entirely cured her."

MRS. NANNIE LAND,
Ethel, Ind.

"Until my son was 30 years old he had fits right along. We gave him seven bottles of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. He has not had a fit since he began on the fifth bottle."

MRS. R. DUNTLEY,
Wautoma, Wis.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists. Give it a thorough trial. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

RHEUMATISM IN THE SYSTEM

SIX YEARS CURED IN SIX DAYS

TO MFRS. "NERVILINE."

"The suffering I endured for six years with Rheumatism is beyond description. Every time I was exposed to cold or dampness meant that I had to go to bed. My muscles stiffened, my joints swelled, and any attempt at exertion brought on excruciating twinges. The pain shifted from one part to another and I was scarcely ever free from misery and sleeplessness. I took all kinds of liquid medicines, but they nearly all depressed my heart and I had to stop them. Then I was told of the wonderful power of Nerviline.

Nerviline

"If Nerviline had been made specially for my case it couldn't have been more successful. It sank right into the core of the painful part, gave me ease, allowed me to sleep, gave me the use of my arms and limbs—in fact, made a new man of me. I urge all Rheumatics to use 'Nerviline.'

A. E. TRAYONER,
"Justice of the Peace, Lancaster."

The most wonderful pain-subduing substances in the world are in Nerviline—that's why it penetrates so quickly, why it instantly cures pain that other remedies can't even relieve. You'll be surprised how quickly sciatica, lumbago, or rheumatism are cured by Nerviline—seems almost magical the way it will cure a cold or sore throat. When the chest is sore and it hurts to draw a long breath, one rubbing with Nerviline is sufficient. So highly valued is Nerviline by those who use it, that many families consider it quite as good as a doctor for aches, pains, and minor ailments of every kind. Large 25c bottles are sold by all dealers.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE GROUNDHOG

The groundhog needs no gooseb one, no instruments of brass, no weather flags or other rags, or doodads made of glass. He is no cheap professor, with "specs" upon his nose; he doesn't scrap with chart and map, or talk of "highs" and "lows." He doesn't fill the papers with yarns, forevermore, about the gale of wind and hail along in '54. An unobtrusive prophet, the groundhog does his chores; to-day he'll rise and bat his eyes, and squint around outdoors; and if he sees his shadow, all summer bets are off; the wintry blast six weeks will last—though lesser prophets scoff; and if he sees no shadow, King Winter's in the soup, and forth he'll stroll from sheltered hole, and sound the loud kerwhoop. All other seers are futile, and blind, and vain, and dumb; the seventh sons of mantled ones are all upon the bum; the groundhog is the prophet whose work is sure and clear; no weather guys are half so wise—he works but once a year.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—Twenty-five thousand dollars is lying in the safe of the German Hospital, awaiting the finding of heirs to the estate of Mrs. Tindel, who died at that institution of apoplexy.

The money was in large bills, concealed in Mrs. Tindel's clothing, and was brought to light, together with her will, after her death.

Apoplexy claims hundreds of victims every year. Yet apoplexy is but an advanced stage of blood poisoning which manifests itself in headaches and backaches. Very frequently the cause is constipation.

Such a case as the above shows the importance of keeping the bowels active, the kidneys regular, the skin healthy, so that the blood will be always pure and rich.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Do you read with a pencil?

Not when you read novels or magazines I mean, but when you are trying to do any more serious thing.

I don't think serious reading is one-half—no, one-quarter — so valuable, done without a pencil as with one.

If you do not own the book the pencil is to jot down the thoughts you want to remember. It will doubtless seem a good deal of bother and a burden at the time, but some day you will probably be very glad to have a cubby hole in your desk filled with the cullings of your reading.

If you do own the book the pencil is merely for underlining, of course.

I know people who think it is a sin to mark a book Who say they will not spoil their books for loaning to other people in this way, or who proudly assert that they love their books too much to mutilate and insult them in this way.

Now, I feel just the opposite way about the matter.

I consider that my underlinings are the signs of my affection — the confidence between me and my books.

My best loved books are always the most profusely underlined. The volume for which I have little affection or understanding usually escapes with but a few marks or none at all.

And as to thinking that marking a book spoils it for others to whom you might wish to lend it—absurd.

I love to read a book that a friend has read and marked. It seems to me the next best thing to discussing it with him.

"And so he fancies that passage," I say to myself when I find a passage marked. And I read it over more carefully. And then again, "So he questions that statement," I wonder. "Why, I don't. I think it's perfectly clear. We must have a discussion about it the next time we meet."

Another delight is to read over, five or ten years later, a book that you once read and marked.

Of some passages you will wonder in hopeless puzzlement why you marked them at all.

Other passages will bring back the mood in which you read them before, with that same subtle sweet power that certain fragrances — the scent of Russian violets, the "smell of the wattle at Lictenburg riding in the rain"—bring back certain scenes to you.

For instance, when I read over my Emerson the other day, I found in the essay on Love this passage trebly underlined: "No man can ever forget the visitation of that power to his heart and brain which created all things new, when a single tone of one's voice could make the heart beat, and the most trivial circumstance associated with one form is put in the amber of memory; when we become all eye when one was present and all memory when one was gone." And as I looked at that underlining straightway I was carried back to the dear, romantic, college maiden mood in which I marked it.

Yes, on the whole I think a man is hardly worthy to have books who hasn't the sense to mark them.

And as for this talk of hurting them — why, it seems to me anyone must own that underlining a book is like nicknaming a friend, a mark of affection—not of disrespect.

Why, I'm sure if I were a book I'd prefer to be underlined just as being a human I am proud to be nicknamed.

Wouldn't you.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

During the next three or four weeks a number of splendid productions will be seen at the Grand Opera House, beginning with Dockstader's Minstrels to-morrow night. Cole and Johnston are billed for Monday night. G. P. Huntley appears in "Kitty Grey," a musical comedy that is claimed to be the best that has ever been hooked over this circuit. William T. Hodge will be seen in "The Man From Home," one of the most successful plays that has been presented in recent years on the American stage. This cluster of good ones should please the theatre-goers, as each in its different class is far above the ordinary. The progressiveness of the management in securing productions of this calibre will be appreciated by the patrons to whom the names of Hodge, Huntley, Dockstader, Cole and Johnston are sufficient to guarantee the merit of the vehicles in which they are starring.

"THE RED MOON"

Cole and Johnson, authors and composers of the production have evolved a form of entertainment, which in some respects is most amazingly new. Of the twain, Cole is the comedian, Johnson the musician. Cole wrote the book and lyrics; Johnson wrote the tunes. Their lines are most of them spontaneously funny; the music is always rhythmic and good to listen to. There is a well defined plot, but brief. The story opens in Swampton, Va., where Minnehaha, daughter of John Lowdog, an Indian, who was run out of the village fifteen years before, is about to graduate from school. Slim Brown and Plunk Green arrive on the scene posing as a lawyer and doctor respectively. Dr. Green falls in love with the pretty Indian maiden and determines to marry her. She has another admirer, Red Feather, an educated brave, who informs the father, Lowdog, of what is going on. Lowdog comes back a big chief and takes his daughter home to the land of the Setting Sun. This in spite of all the legal lore quoted by the false lawyer Brown. The doctor and the lawyer follow and eventually bring Minnehaha back to Virginia where all ends happily.

The situations are extremely ludicrous. Some of the best song numbers are: "The Big Red Shawl," "The Road to Monterey," "Sambo," "The Red Moon" has real glow, and theatre-goers seeking a real novelty will find some genuine comedy and pleasing songs in this play with Negro-Indian setting. A large company supports the stars, including Abbie Mitchell, the charming little coloured singer-soubrette, Fanny Wise with a voice of exceedingly high range, the veteran coloured actor Sam Lucas, Master Edgar Connor, three feet of ebony gracefulness, with a chorus of dancing and singing dusky damsels selected for their comeliness and cleverness. The "Red Moon" comes here direct from Toronto, where it is playing all this week.

PREVENTION IS WORTH WHILE.

When you consider the risk to life, the expense, the anxiety which is involved in an attack of appendicitis and a surgical operation, it is certainly worth while to avoid it by keeping the liver and bowels regular by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Doctors are now unanimously of the opinion that appendicitis comes from a neglect to keep the liver and bowels in a healthful condition.

QUEER CONDITION OF AFFAIRS IN WOODSTOCK

Assessment Roll Published But Was Not Distributed.

Hamilton's Board of Control recently appointed as Publicity Commissioner, William Mullis, city editor of the Spectator at a salary of $1,500 a year.

Eight cases of smallpox which comprised the epidemic recently stamped out in Stratford, has cost the municipality $240. Other expenses, however, will swell that amount. The suppression of the outbreak was brought about quietly.

Dr. Wodehouse has been appointed M. H. O. for Fort William at a salary of $750 a year.

Fort William Council recently enacted that vacant lands fronted by water mains be taxed four cents a foot.

New Industries For Guelph?

As the result of the visit of Mayor Hastings and Chairman Pequegnat, of the Railway and Manufacturers committee to Toronto yesterday, it is altogether likely that in the near future a new industry will be established in the city, in the unused portion of the electric power plant. The city representatives also called upon the Gold Medal Company while in Toronto, and they have to report that there is a strong probability of this concern becoming a permanent industry in the premises formerly occupied by the Morlock Manufacturing Company.—Guelph Mercury.

Firemen Get Increase.

Woodstock.—In order to retain the services of efficient men, the city council has decided to increase the wages of the members of the fire department. The following scale has been adopted: First year, $1.40 per day, was $1.23; second year, $1.50 per day, was $1.30; third year, $1.64 per day, was $1.37; foreman, $1.75 per day, was $1.48; assistant chief, $2.00 per day, was $1.64. The increase took effect yesterday.

Break Quarantine.

The prevalence of diphtheria in St. Thomas occupies the attention of the Board of Health and an hospital for infectious diseases may be built. The M. H. O. refers to the breaking of quarantine as follows:

"The chief cause of the outbreak of diphtheria, is owing to the fact that mild cases of diphtheria are called tonsilitis. These children with the so-called tonsilitis are allowed to roam at large or attend school, thus spreading the disease widely throughout the city. The unfortunate result has been that several children have succumbed to the disease. When a physician has been called in time and antixoin administered without delay there have been no fatal results and some very critical cases have recovered, even when the specific has been administered in the last stages of the disease.

"Placarding the house and effectually quarantining the members has ended the spread of the disease as far as that house is concerned, in every instance."

Chatham's Assessment Roll.

The publication of the assessment roll, which was not distributed was again referred to last evening when at No. Four committee Ald. Chant remarked that each alderman might quantity in the city hall which should be disposed of.

"They might come in handy as wrapping paper," he suggested, adding that the janitor might see to the matter.

Ald. McDonald thought they might better be distributed and Ald. Chant remarked that each aldreman might keep a copy as a memorial of a horrible example. The historical society might put a copy in the museum Chairman McCully said why not leave it to the council to appoint pall bearers.

Ald. Sanderson looked upon it seriously and thought the assessment rolls should be distributed and Ald. McDonald reminded the committee that the council have unanimously voted to have the roll published.

Ald. Sanderson moved that the billposter be given two dollars to distribute as many as he would for that money.

Ald. Sanderson suggested ten dollars, but no action was taken.

Muzzles For Dogs.

Chatham has decided that dogs within its boundaries must have muzzles.

The amendment to the by-law reads as follows, the following words being added to clause 3, viz.:

That no dog or bitch shall be suffered or permitted to run at large within the city limits without being securely muzzled, said muzzle to be of such kind and material as shall meet with the approval of the chief of police.

Moved by Ald. Morrow and seconded by Ald. Pritchard that Julius Leguile be appointed dog catcher and that the fee of 50c. for unclaimed dogs be given him by the city and $1 for claimed dogs be paid him by the owner; said dog catcher to be under the control of the chief of police.

Fire Alarm System.

Fort William's fire alarm and alarm telephone system, which have just been completed, are the most modern in the west, and they are equipped to answer the needs of a city of more than 50,000 population.

The private telephone system makes it possible for the firemen of one station to communicate with those of another without calling the telephone central office. In case a fire is reported to the telephone central, an alarm is sounded over the private telephone.

The alarms are sounded simultaneously in the central and Fort William stations and in the residence of Fire Chief A. D. Cameron.

Chief Cameron wishes to make it plain that to send in an alarm from any one of the boxes it is only necessary to break the glass, unlock the door with the key which is always in the lock, and pull down the hook once.—Fort William Times-Journal.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good."

It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. Five Tales Of Hard Luck Told To Magistrate Edmison To-day

Men Arrested as Vagrants at Havelock Appeared in County Court To-day—Two Brothers Given Freedom—Other Three Held for a Week.

THE DIFFERENT STORIES

According to the stories of the five so-called vagrants who were arrested last Friday at Havelock, possibly for the purpose of closing up every chance of Miss McPherson's assailant escaping, their only offence has been that they were out of work and were unable to obtain further employment.

Magistrate Edmison listened to their explanations and was impressed with the recital of two brothers who were given their liberty. The other three were remanded until next Tuesday. Constable Bennett of Havelock was present and created quite a favourable impression by his natty uniform. County Constable Cochrane was also present.

The first two men called proved to be brothers. They were William and A. Y. Smith, out from Scotland 18 months. They have considered Montreal their home and have worked considerably. They started out some time ago and walked to Carleton Place, thence to Ottawa and on to Smith's Falls. At all these places the employment they expected was not to be found. They attempted to ride to Havelock on a freight train, but were disturbed from the positions in which they had ensconced themselves. They walked the track to Havelock, and were promised work. While waiting at the station the men saw the posse assemble after Henderson had been captured, and as they were strangers they were arrested on suspicion. Thus they missed the job for which they had travelled far and insult was added to injury by the suggestion that they were in any way connected with Henderson. A. G. Smith said he had seventy dollars in a Montreal Bank, and showed letters from a brother there, referring to two five dollar bills which had been forwarded to him at Havelock. Receipts for board he had paid were also produced. The two brothers declared that they did not know any of the three other men who had been arrested with them.

Their appearance did not suggest criminal proclivities and Magistrate Edmison evidently was possessed of the same opinion. He told them they were free to leave the court, provided they went west and the brothers Smith accepted his offer, saying they would go to Toronto. If they keep on walking and do not soon get work they will find themselves on the coast. They have already picked out the ties from Montreal to Havelock. Constable Bennett has a knife and pipe in Havelock belonging to them, and asked them where he could forward the articles to, but the brothers remarked that he need not bother as they were hardly worth the trouble.

The Trio Next.

Thos. Connel, Thos. Clayton, and Bernard Rabone did not fare as well. Magistrate Edmison opened the proceedings by having the men introduce themselves. Mr. Connel was presented first.

"My home is in Digby, Nova Scotia and I was born in Ireland,' he commenced. "I had been working at Midland for some time; in fact I've worked there every summer, now, for three years. I've been arrested as a vagrant, but I want to say that I've worked all my life. I was going east from Toronto, where I spent about five days. I met these two men in Peterborough. I had $1.05 then. I bought tobacco and "grub" and had thirty cents left when arrested."

Constable Bennet declared he could not find the pieces of silver and Connel told him he had not searched the purse sufficiently.

Continuing his story Connel said he was a widower, and his four children were staying with his parents in Digby. He had always provided for them. They were 13, 11, and 7 years old, respectively. Somehow he did not mention the fourth child's age.

Had Five Cents.

Mr. Clayton acknowledged his name when it was called. He came from the north of England five years ago, and has been travelling up and down the country, working here and there. His last place was at Ridgetown, where he remained some time. He had never begged 1 is meals, he said. In Norwood, about a week ago, a farmer wanted him to work and gave him breakfast. A solitary nickel faintly jingled occasionally against his jacknife, otherwise he was absolutely broke.

Mr. Rabone scarcely looked the part of a tramp. His native home is in Shropshire, Eng. Swan Lake, 225 miles west of Winnipeg, was his destination, when he arrived in Canada, a few years ago. He afterwards moved to Winnipeg and left about six weeks ago to come east, despite Horace Greeley's advice. He had $183, at that time, having earned it following his trade, butchering. To-day he is not over-burdened by his finances. His pile faded rather quickly, and, from his own statements, he rolled the chariot along at a fast clip. He realizes that to get the $183 back again is like climbing to the top of a toboggan slide after the guy ride down the chute.

The trio were remanded until next Tuesday at 10 a.m., when it is felt that some evidence will be produced.

LITERARY SOCIETY HELD MEETING

An open meeting of the Literary Society of the Collegiate Institute was held last evening in the Assembly Hall. The audience was fairly large, and seemed to thoroughly enjoy the splendid programme.

Mr. Alex. Primeau, president of the Society, occupied the chair in his usual capable manner.

The first number on the programme was a selection "The Jolly Student," given by the Collegiate Glee Club. This club, under the able direction of Mr. McCann, is making excellent progress along musical lines, as was plainly evinced last evening.

The next number, a piano solo by Miss Edith Connor, was well-given. A humorous recitation by Miss Carol Johnson was then warmly received.

The delightful piece given by the Collegiate Orchestra, which was the next number on the programme, showed what great strides that musical organization has made in a year.

A dialogue, entitled "Nicely Caught," was received with great applause. The following took part in it —Miss Grace Burritt, Messrs. Garnet, Rankin, Roy, Dixon, Fred Dennison, and Alex. Primeau. All these young people deserve the greatest praise for the highly creditable manner in which they acted.

A vocal duet by Miss Bessie Read and Miss Mary Potter received the applause due to such a treat. The next number, a debate, "Resolved that a university education is not necessary for a business man to be a success," was warmly contested by both sides. The affirmative was held by Mr. Merton Adams and Miss Stella Shearer, while the negative was held by Mr. Ernest Langford and Miss Marjorie Mann. The judges, Miss Margaret Edwards, Miss Jean Neill, and Mr. D. Denham, decided in favour of the affirmative. All four spoke exceedingly well, especially Miss Stella Shearer, whose speech was, perhaps, the best of the evening. While the judges were arriving at their decision Miss Bernice Giroux and Miss Kathleen O'Brien played a duet, which received such an enthusiastic welcome that an encore had to be given.

A splendidly-given violin solo by Miss Laura Logan followed by the singing of the National Anthem, brought this delightful programme to an end.

"ON APPROVAL" ABUSES MUST BE STOPPED

Opera Cloaks Sent for Husbands to See Will be Tagged.

Chicago, Feb. 2nd.—No more buying of opera cloaks and party dresses "on approval" to wear them once or twice and then return them as "unsatisfactory"—no, not if department stores can help it. A general campaign against abuses of the "goods on approval" system is to be begun by the retailers.

The device which is intended to reduce the "on approval" abuses is a glaring red tag, about two inches wide and four inches long. On it is printed in large black letters:

"This article will not be accepted if this ticket is detached."

But instead of the tag being tied to the article it is attached in a conspicuous place by a lead seal similar to those used to close mail bags and money bags. The only way to get the tag off is to cut it, and this cannot be done without detection.

Why does Great Britian buy its oatmeal of us?

Certainly it seems like carrying coals to Newcastle to speak of exporting oatmeal to Scotland and yet, every year the Quaker Oats Company sends hundreds of thousands of cases of Quaker Oats to Great Britian and Europe.

The reason is simple; while the English and Scotch have for centuries eaten oatmeal in quantities and with regularity that has made them the most rugged physically, and active mentally of all people, the American has been eating oatmeal and trying all the time to improve the methods of manufacture so that he might get that desirable foreign trade.

How well he has succeeded would be seen at a glance at the export reports on Quaker Oats. This brand is recognized as without a rival in cleanliness and delicious flavor. 51

Majority Of The Public Schools Are Well Provided With Exits

Chief Howard made a careful inspection of all of the Public schools in the city for the purpose of ascertaining what escapes there were in case of fire in any of the buildings. The report was referred to the Property committee with power to act.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—As requested by a some members of your board, I have number of interested citizens and made a careful inspection of all the Public Schools in the city for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not your public schools should be equipped with fire escapes.

This inspection was made on January the 25th and 27th. I was accompanied by Mr. L. M. Hayes, chairman of your board, Mr. Robert Fair, and Mr. Mowat, inspector of Public schools. And I beg leave to report.

The majority of your buildings are so constructed that it will not be necessary to erect fire escapes on the outside of the buildings, The architect and builders of these schools have taken the precaution of providing a sufficient width to enable the teachers and scholars to get out of the buildings in a remarkably short space of time.

There are two exceptions, however, I refer to the school in Ashburnham, where an outside stairway or fire escape would aid in clearing the school in shorter time. This stairway or fire escape could be built on the west side of the building. And also at the West Ward school a fire escape could be built on the east side of the building with good effect.

The King Edward school is well provided with exits ,as at the present time only two stories of the building are in use. Should the Board of Education at any future time have occasion to complete the building and occupy the third story I would most strongly recommend that before doing so they equip the building with solid and substantial fire escapes.

If you will refer to my report of an inspection I made on October the 22nd, 1908, you will observe that I drew the attention of the Board to some of the doors in the school, which open inwards. This is contrary to law. Some of the altefations I suggested at that time have been carried out, but there are still a few doors that should be altered, and I sincerely hope these defects will be remedied at once.

At each of the schools we visited an alarm of fire was sounded, and it will be interesting to the public as well as the gentlemen of the board to learn that the fire drill in the city of Peterborough is far more efficient than it is in many other cities.

I submit herewith the time it took to clear the respective schools, and the number of scholars in each school as follows:

Central Annex — 150 scholars, 35 seconds.
Central School — 285 scholars, 45 seconds.
Ashburnham School—215 scholars, 40 seconds.
Queen Alexandria—285 scholars, 32 seconds.
West Ward — 150 scholars, 30 seconds.
South Central — 450 scholars, 50 seconds.
King Edward—325 scholars, 44 seconds.

This is remarkably good time, and your principals and teachers are to be commended for the interest they take in the fire drill, and they should be given every encouragement.

I also wish to say that I found the basements of all the schools entirely free from waste paper or combustible rubbish, as I did on previous visits.

With the consent of the board I will give a copy of this report to the public press in order that the parents of the pupils may feel assured that the proper precautions are being taken

All of which is respectively submitted. I have the honour to be,

Your obedient servant,
W. A. HOWARD,
Chief Fire Department.

OLD PEOPLE FEEL THE COLD KEENLY

because their blood is thin, sluggish and watery. There is not the same renewal of strength that constantly goes on in youth. Vinol is the ideal blood tonic and strength maker of old people. It creates an appetite, promotes digestion, enriches the blood, and invigorates the entire body.—McDermid & Jury, druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

THE SMALLEST MAN

Reuben Steere, 72 Years Old and Weighs 55 Pounds—Was With Barnum.

Putnam, Conn., Feb. 1.—Reuben Allen Steere, who Barnum said was the smallest man in the world, is dying of pneumonia at his home in Chepachet, R.I.

Steere is seventy-two years old. He weighs fifty-five pounds, and is forty-eight inches tall.

Steere and his brother William, who was three inches taller, travelled all over the country with Barnum. Reuben Steere married Miss Myer, a Lilliputian in 1887.

All old people suffer from attacks of sudden exhaustion, weak heart action and prostration. The best aid in such cases is Ferrovim, the invigorating tonic, which is prepared from fresh lean beef, Citrate of Iron and pure old Spanish Sherry Wine. It stimulates the digestion and strengthens the whole body. $1.00 a bottle.

EMPLOYEES WENT TO LAKEFIELD

A number of employees of Richard Hall and Son spent a very pleasant evening on Monday. They drove to Lakefield where after spending a few hours' skating at the rink there, they sat down to a sumptuous supper served at the Lakefield house. An exceeding enjoyable time was spent and the drive home being by no means the least delightful part of the affair.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS MADE IN THE STUDY OF ART AND MUSIC

Teachers of These Subjects Make Reports to the Board of Education--The Benefits and Training to be Derived From the Study of Art and Music by Children---Great Interest Taken by the Pupils.

At the meetng of th eBoard of Education last evening, reports from Miss J. C. McRae, teacher of Art and Miss Helen Davies, teacher of Music, in the public schools. The study of art and music in the City schools was introduced in September of 1908 and since that time th eprogress that has been made is most satisfactory. The reports which are published below will be of interest to the public.

TEACHING OF MUSIC

A. Mowat, Esq.,
Inspector of Public Schools,
Peterborough, Ontario.

Dear Sir,—I beg to submit a report of the teachin gof Music in the Public Schools of Peterborough.

The systematic study of Music was introduced into the Public Schools in October 1908, and I am able to say that the progress made has been eminently satisfactory and bears out the wisdom of the Board in adding Music to the curriculum.

The teaching staff, with few exceptions, have taken the subject up enthusiastically and have responded to the guidance given them with much fidelity.

The Educational benefits to be derived from the Musi ccourse are manifold and may be said to comprise:—

(a) To cultivate the voice, both in speaking and singing.

(b) To train the musical ear.

(c) To train the pupil in the use of music as a means of self expression.

The Tonic-Sol-Fa system is at present used throughout the schools, next notation will be used.

year in the higher grades the Staff

With the consistent application of the principles of Music to the students' daly routine of study it is but fair to assume that a pupil passing out of the Public Schools will have a fair knowledge of Music, be able to read Music at sight, and, if so disposed having had the ground work, to appropriate the higher grades of musical culture either as a profession or to his or her greatly enhanced enjoyment of the musical Art.

In the First Form the children are taught tone recognition, and suitable simple songs are used from which they derive pleasure and instruction. In the higher grades more time is given to voice production, and ear-training, more advanced songs are used and often two part harmony is taken up.

General enthusiasm pervades the schools in the subject of music, and I am sure the work of the past year and a half, has been productive of much good, and although the introduction of a new subject calls for some confusion at its inception, I am free to say that great headway has been made.

Yours truly,
HELEN DAVIES.

TEACHING OF ART

A. Mowat, Esq.,
Inspector of Public Schools,
Peterborough.

Dear Sir,—I beg to submit ae report on the teaching of Art in the Public Schools of Petearborough.

In September of 1908 we began in the Public Schools a systematic study of Art. This includes, drawing with charcoal, pencil and crayon, painting in water-colors, brush-work with ink, modeling in plasticine, illustration of nursery rhymes, stories, passages from the School Readers, original design, mechanical drawng, and picture study.

For many years in the Public Schools of Ontario, Art has been treated as a subject of minor importance among the branches of study that form our school curriculum, but to-day we have a much broader conception of this important subject, and it now forms a very valuable part of the Educational system of Ontario. We have many objects in view in Art Education; first of all we hope to train the aesthetic nature of the children in our care—to develop in them that love for the beautiful in the World about them, which will help to make them better men and women—to teach them to love and appreciate good pictures—to give them another means of expressing their ideas—to train their observation and imagination—to develop their creative powers, and to cultivate in them habits of neatness and carefulness.

In the past year and a half, with the able assistance of the teachers, the children have made a good beginning in the different branches of the Art work, and we hope have laid a sure foundation for much better work in the future. Art is so full of attraction for them, that, as they are led to see its beauty and nesfulness their Art lessons become a source of great delight. From the beginnig they have shown great interest in their work, and this year's work shows a marked improvement over that of last year.

Yours truly,
J. C. McRAE.

The reports were adopted.

COULD NOT KEEP THIS SECRET

"Six months ago I was cured of piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment," writes Mrs. O. A. Swayze, Copenhagen, Elgin Co. Ont. "I had been afflicted for over thirty years and tried all sorts of treatments in vain, so I was surprised and delighted to be cured. I don't care for publicity but would like to tell every one suffering from piles about Dr. Chase's Ointment."

WEDDING BELLS

DONNELLY—PITMAN.

On Saturday morning, Jan. 29th, by the Rev. Mr. Lutphen, of Cleveland, Ohio, Miss Mabel Pitman, of Peterborough, was married to Mr. J. Donnelly, of Cleveland.

The bride was dressed in a blue travelling suit and carried a beautiful bridal bouquet, the gift of her girl friends of Peterborough. Mr. Donnelly is known in Peterborough, and Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly's many friends join in wishing them many years of happy married life.

On the eve of her departure Mrs. Donnelly's girl friends, (about twenty-five in number) met at her home, and presented her with a dozen beautiful teaspoons. She also received many other useful presents.

in cubes

OXO in bottles has long been known the world over for its purity, its strength and its delicious flavour.

It has taken ten years to learn how to concentrate all OXO'S goodness into Cube form. Here it is at last—a boon to everybody.

OXO Cubes are so highly concentrated that it takes ¼ pound of choice lean beef to make each single cube. A tin of ten cubes, made from 2½ pounds of beefsteak, can be slipped into the vest pocket.

Each cube is just the right quantity for a generous cup of delicious, nourishing OXO. No ladling out with a spoon—no measuring—no guessing at the amount—no waste—no bother.

It's now as easy to make a cup of OXO as to sugar a cup of tea.

Small but Effective— A WANT AD IN THE EXAMINER

ONTARIO'S DEMANDS

Hon. Col. Matheson Makes Another Record by Bringing Down His Proposed Expenditures For the Session In Quick Time — Wants $2,500,000 to Pay For the Niagara Falls' Power Line.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—Things have never before gone with such a rush in the Ontario Legislature. When the public accounts were laid on the table the third day of the session, it seemed to be going some, but who ever heard of the estimates just one week after the opening day?

As the main estimates for the current year were passed last session, the supplementary estimates, brought down by Hon. Col. Matheson yesterday afternoon, are the financial feature of this session. A total expenditure of $3,866,013.50 is provided for, the large item in which is $2,500,000 for the Hydro-Electric transmission line from Niagara Falls. In addition to this $50,000 goes to the building of the Port Arthur transmission line.

The newly-organized provincial police account for the expenditure of $51,780, of which $43,000 is for the salaries of the provincial constables for the ten months from Jan. 1, 1910.

The Education Department will spend $59,580.55, of which $8,600 goes to agricultural and mining education, $3,000 being for agricultural training in high schools and $5,000 for mining education in the Sudbury High School; $8,000 will go to the work of public school inspection, $4,500 to departmental examiners and $6,000 to Queen's University, Kingston, for its faculty of education (second half year). The salary of the inspector of continuation schools is increased $100, of the inspector of technical schools $200, of the clerk of examinations $50, and $1,200 is set aside for a new clerk in the registrar's branch; $4,718 goes to the various normal and model schools and $5,200 to the high schools and collegiate institutes. For maintenance of the Education Department and miscellaneous expenses $6,300 is provided. The Belleville Institution for the Blind, $3,350.

Maintenance of the public institutions is set down as $17,250. Of this the sum of $2,000, for "farmer and assistants" for the Central Prison, is a foretaste of the new home of the institution near Guelph.

A butsar's clerk is to be provided for the Toronto Insane Asylum at a salary of $1,150. The salary of the assistant superintendent is increased $100. The assistant superintendents of the Brockville, Kingston, London and Mimico asylums are also increased $100, as is the salary of the medical superintendent of the Woodstock Asylum.

For maintenance of tuberculosis patients in municipal sanitaria $7,500 is set aside and $4,000 each for maintenance.

The total for the Department of Agriculture is $39,043. Of this sum $8,000 is for grants to agricultural societies, $5,000 is for additional on salaries at the Ontario Veterinary College. An all-round increase is given in the salaries of the staff of the Ontario Agricultural College and the Macdonald Institute.

For colonization and immigration $15,175 is provided. It includes bonuses to agents and organizations, including the Salvation Army, to assist in procuring domestic servants and farm laborers, $10,000. The expense of reconstructing and furnishing the Government building in London, England, is set down at $17,000.

The large item under maintenance and repairs of Government buildings is of course the reconstructing and fireproofing of the west wing of the Parliament buildings, destroyed in the recent fire. For this $200,000 is set apart, in addition to which there is a grant of $25,000 to the restoration of the library. Osgoode Hall will cost for repairs, etc., $20,425.18; the insane asylums, at Kingston $32,000; at Brockville $16,000, at Cobourg $8,300, at Hamilton $16,800, at London $16,576, at Mimico $19,400, at Orillia $14,000, at Penetang $14,500, at Toronto $9,000 and at Woodstock $6,500.

Under the head of "Central Prison, Toronto," is set down $130,000, of which nearly all ($125,000) is for the purchase of the land and erection of the buildings of the new provincial prison at Guelph; $5,000 is appropriated to the Mercer Reformatory.

In providing for the maintenance of the educational buildings of the province, the normal and model schools, Toronto, get the largest appropriation, $15,970. The Institution for the Blind, Brantford, accounts for $10,774; $18,000 will be spent on the Ontario Agricultural College building, while two grants of $1,000 each are made to the City of Guelph for additions to the winter fair building (balance of grant).

The completion of the addition to the court-house at North Bay calls for an expenditure of $3,600, and the erection of a new court-house at Kenora (part revote) for $25,000. A new building for the Victoria Industrial School will cost $10,000.

The total expenditure on public buildings is placed at $421,703.40.

The total Public Works expenditure, most of which is for bridges and improvements, is $175,697, of which $138,697 is new vote and $36,800 revoted.

Belleville's New Alderman.

Belleville, Feb. 2.—An aldermanic election to fill a vacancy in Bleecker Ward, was held yesterday. The candidates were Hope McGinnis and Joseph Templeton. The former won by 139 majority.

Brokers Charged With Larceny.

New York, Feb. 2.—Seven indictments, charging grand larceny, were filed by the grand jury yesterday against the members of the firm of Tracy & Co., which failed May 17, 1909, for $2,000,000.

GUERIN IS ELECTED

English and Irish Voters Were For the Successful Candidate to a Man —Guerin's Lead Will Amount to Several Thousands—Ald. Proulx Defeated and Loses Deposit—Payette Also Goes Down.

Montreal, Feb. 2.—The Montreal civic electorate, irrespective of race or creed, have emphatically repeated their splendid verdict of September, when a board of control was voted for, by a magnificent majority.

The grafters, however, died hard, yet yesterday finished their career as civic administrators. In the first place, Hon. J. P. B. Casgrain, although personally a good man, was condemned for the company he kept, and Dr. J. J. Guerin, ex-Minister in the Quebec Cabinet, and ex-M.P.P. for St. Ann's, is mayor of Montreal by many thousands majority, receiving a majority in almost every ward in the city. In fact, the majorities in the French wards, where the proprietors voted against their compatriots in order to emphasize their desire for clean government at the City Hall, were splendid. The English and Irish sections of the metropolis also went to a man for the successful candidate, and for the first time since the palmy days of James McShane, the Irish-Canadians have a representative of their race at the head of civic government.

The electors also did nobly in the way of reaffirming their verdict on the question of a board of control. The entire slate of the citizens' committee for the controllers are elected by a good majority, one feature being the handsome manner in which the French districts voted for F. L. Wanklyn, the English-speaking representative of the board.

H. Mercier, M.P.P., and a son of the late Premier Mercier, also polled a strong vote, and it looked at one time as if he would defeat Dr. Lachapelle, who was on the so-called official slate.

As a matter of fact, almost every aldermanic candidate endorsed by the citizens' committee was returned yesterday, mostly by large majorities. The famous Ald. Proulx, chairman of the police committee, went down in St. Jean Baptiste and loses his deposit, while Giroux, of roads fame, was likewise defeated in St. James.

Then Dr. Yates, who voted against the early closing of hotels, was run down by a new man in St. George's ward, and Ald. Joe Ward, who had supported the Carter bylaw, was re-elected in St. Andrew's by over 500. St. Ann's also rejected Ald. Dan Gallery, ex-M.P., electing O'Connell by over 1,000.

The stiffest fight was, however, in the west ward, where the liquor people endeavored to defeat Ald. Carter, but the latter came out six votes ahead of his opponent, Ald. Fraser, looked upon as a very strong opponent.

Ex-Mayor Payette as a candidate made a very poor showing for the board of control, and most people are glad of his civic downfall.

The following gentlemen compose the new council:

East—Lapointe, acclamation; Centre—Resther, acclamation; West—Carter; St. Ann—O'Connell; St. Joseph—Dandurand; St. Andrew—Ward; St. George—Boyd; St. Louis—Lamereux; St. Lawrence—Robinson; St. James—Brodeur; Lafontaine—Dubeau; Papineau—Gauvin; St. Mary's—Dr. Doux; Hochelaga—Carceau; St. Jean Baptiste—Leclair; Duvernay—Clement; Gabriel—Monaghen; St. Denis—Tetrau; St. Henri—Letourneau; St. Cunigonde—N. Lapointe; Mt. Royal—Proudhomme; Delorimier—Mayrand; Laurier—Turcot.

Of these, Proudhomme is the only one on the reform "Blacklist" to be re-elected. His offence was in voting with the rest of the infamous "23" for high contracts, in which it was believed "graft" to the contractors largely entered.

For Your Dough Hadn't the Courage to Rise

You remember, Madam, that Saturday a week back—or was it a month—when his folks were coming to dinner self-invited.

And you arose bright and early, and ran over to your mixing bowl to knead that glorious batch of shapely golden-domed loaves—

And astonish his folks with his wife's breadmaking.

You remember what was before you bought FIVE ROSES.

And how the dough had forgotten to rise!

Or had quickly risen overnight and fallen again, to rise nevermore.

How aggravating to be sure.

And how his mother gazed solicitously at him, saying in a stage whisper:

"Poor John! Don't you think he looks a little tired, emaciated?

Don't you remember?

* * * *

But the explanation is most simple, Madam.

Your flour was weak in gluten, erratic, ununiform, may be.

Never so with FIVE ROSES—because it's consistent flour, changeless as the sun or a mother's love.

It unvaryingly possesses that glutinous strength which makes it rise to the delight of the particular housewife—and stay risen, because it has the necessary consistency and elasticity.

And when you begin to knead it, Madam, you find the dough quite springy and you hear it squeak and crack as you work.

* * * *

And it gets whiter and whiter under your hand till at last it rivals our own dazzling Canadian snows.

Then think of it, Mistress Housewife, YOUR bread is never sour, never lumpy, never dark or discolored, nor soggy nor heavy.

No baking accidents when you most covet success.

Because you are using FIVE ROSES, and cannot help it.

And it keeps fresh for days—its delicious nutlike flavor grows until the last slice disappears by dint of second helpings and smacking of lips.

What, Madam, you don't use FIVE ROSES?

Well, you know, it's never too late to mend.

PETERBORO'S STRONG TEAM FOR GAME WITH LINDSAY

Changes in the Line-Up Expected That Will Give Lindsay the Hardest Battle of the Season on Friday Night---Peterboro' Needs the Game to Keep in the Running.

The second game of the season between the Lindsay and Peterborough teams will be played at Brock St. rink on Friday night and by all accounts will be the hardest fought and most interesting of the series. Peterborough must win the game in order to keep in the running in the district and the locals will have on the strongest team that has represented them this season. It would be premature to give any information as to the line-up at this stage, but there is a surprise or two for the fans as well as for the Lindsay team on Friday night and if the victory does not perch on the Peterborough banners it will be because she has forgotten how to perch.

Lindsay, of course, are confident of winning. The victory here last week followed by the big score which they piled up in Lindsay on Monday night makes them expect something easy on Friday, but that old problem in addition concerning chickens is brought to their attention. They will have the hardest game they have had this season, not excepting the battle in Lindsay two weeks ago when the Petes handed them a 3 to 2 defeat. The Midgets and their supporters will come down on a special train and a barrel of confidence, but the local team believe that they can turn the trick and tie up the district. It will be a game well worth seeing and should attract a big crowd.

GREAT ICE FOR TO-NIGHT'S GAMES IN CITY LEAGUE

Two Lively Games are Expected and the T.A.S.-Strathcona "Go" Promises to be the Event of the Season---A Win for the Abstainers Will Tie Up the West Ends and Commissioners.

With a fine sheet of ice ready for to-night's iCty Lengue double-header there is every reason to expect two lively games of hockey. As the season is drawing to the close the interest in the games increase and there will be a big crowd on hand to root for their resp ective favourites. To-night's games may have an important result on the standing and on that account will be of more than usual interest. The schedule will be completed next week and a win for the two leading games will leave the championship hinging on the game between the West Ends and Strathconas next week. Both are therefore anxious to win, but may run into a snag.

The West Ends and Keene clash for the second time this season in the first game, which is called at 8 o'clock as usual. The second game brings together the T. A. S. and Strathconas. and this game is expected to prove one of the most interesting of the season. With the pace the T. A. S. exhibited against the West Ends last week, they will give the oCmmissioners a merry battle to-night and the fans will get their money's worth.

The line-up of the West End and Keene teams for to-night have not been announced, but will likely be about the same as usual. Dobson will be off the Westerners' line-up owing to an injury received in Lindsay.

The T. A. S. will line-up as follows:
Goal—L. Giroux.
Point—Heffernan.
Cover—Quigley.
Rover—Coughlin.
Centre—T. Sabatino.
Right wing—Morin.
Letf wing—McNichol.

The Straths will have the following:
Goal—Derocher.
Point—Campbell.
Cover—Denison.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—Burrit.
Right wing—McMillan.

THE CARNIVAL LAST NIGHT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Many Beautiful Costumes Were Displayed and the Scene Was a Striking One—The Judges Had Difficulty in Making Selections.

THE PRIZE WINNERS

The carnival at Brock St. rink last night was a splendid success. The attendance was large and the number in costume above the average, while the costumes gave evidence of great care and taste in preparation. A large number of spectators were present and found the scene one of unusual interest.

The judges, Mr. and Mrs. R. Denne and Mr. and Mrs. E. N. McWilliams had a difficult time in making their awards, so good were the costumes. They awarded the prizes as follows:

To Be DYSPEPTIC Is To Be MISERABLE.

Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc.

Burdock Blood Bitters has an established reputation, extending over thirty-four years, as a positive cure for dyspepsia in all its forms, and from all diseases arising from it.

Can Eat Anything Now.

Mrs. Herman Dickenson, Benton, N.B., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such relief in dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was troubled for a number of years with dyspepsia and could get no relief until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. I took three bottles and became cured and I can now eat anything without it hurting me. I will highly recommend it to all who are troubled with stomach trouble."

WHITCROFT AND MILLER PLAY STAR GAME

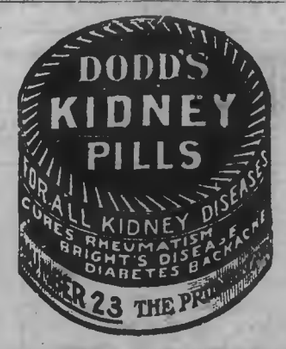
The Ottawa Citizen gives the following account of Whitcroft and Miller's playing in the recent Renfrew-Shamrock game, in Renfrew, in which the "Millionaires" trounced the Irishmen by 10 goals to 2.'

Whitcroft starred at rover, and in the opinion of the hockey experts was due for all the head-lines that should come his way. He was a decided improvement on the great Lester Patrick as rover. He was always up with the puck, checking hard and effectively, and assisting to a marked degree with the combination work. Whitcroft was possibly the pick of the forward men on the ice. A very fast skater, a clever stick handler, and a hard worker, he contributed in no small degree to the dash and spirit with which the Renfrewites went at their opponents. Hay Miller's form was vastly improved over anything he has shown so far this season. Miller is gradually rounding into shape, and with two or three more games will be holding his own with any one who comes along.

Those people who saw him holding down right wing for the Edmonton seven in the Stanley Cup games were utterly surprised in the difference in Miller's playing.

"Miller will be playing better hockey than ever within a few weeks," said one Ottawa fan. "All he needs now is a little more training and wind." Miller got two nice goals, and was indirectly responsible for two or three more, passing to Rowe for tallies more than once. Herbie Jordan was suffering from a sore arm, and up till six o'clock last night it was a question whether the doctor would not order him to stay out of the game. Jordan played first-class hockey, as he always does. He was quite at home with Whitcroft and Miller, and the three will make a great scoring trio when they get worked into the best of shape.

The one thing about the game that delighted the crowd more than anything else was the developing of combination work by the red and white forward line. Whitcroft and Miller passed repeatedly, neither being selfish, and Jordan didn't hug the puck at all.



NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Indigestion Causes It — Mi-o-na Will Cure It.

If you have indigestion, you don't get all the nutriment out of your food that you should.

Your worn-out stomach passes the food on without extracting enough nutritious substance to supply the blood and nerves.

And if the nerves are not supplied with nourishment, they begin to rebel. They kick up a great disturbance. They make you irritable and cranky, you worry about trifles, and you cannot sleep soundly at night, you have bad dreams, and you get up tired in the morning.

Try Mi-o-na tablets, the money back cure. Mi-o-na will cure your nervousness by driving out the cause. Mi-o-na will give you relief the first hour. It will cure acute cases in a few days, and chronic cases in a few weeks.

Belching of gas, heartburn, sour taste of food, waterbrash, foul breath and other dyspeptic symptoms vanish before the mighty power of Mi-o-na.

Try Mi-o-na, Wm. Madill sells it and will refund your money if it doesn't cure, and only 50 cents a large box.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Head Office : 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $26,270,000 00 an increase of $1,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $219,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $24,817.24.

The Assets now total $206,973.09, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.19.

Womanly Health

How to Preserve It

The good looks of every woman depend largely upon the proper working of her stomach and other internal organs.

If your stomach is strong and digestion is good, the cheeks flush with color, eyes dance and sparkle, breath will be pure and your hair smooth and glossy.

Let indigestion creep in, and the skin becomes sallow and rough, pimples break out, eyes get dark circles, ill-breath is all too apparent.

Get the stomach toned up with Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they increase the secretion of the gastric juices, promote vigorous digestion, increase the supply of blood, and thereby invigorate the entire system.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills

CURE WOMAN'S ILLS.

The system is quickly won back to a normal healthy condition by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and every girl or woman who uses this remedy will show it in a clear, wholesome complexion and a sound healthy body. Sold in 25c boxes by all dealers.

SOCIAL GATHERINGS

The first of a series of three social gatherings will be held in the Murray Street church on Friday evening, 11th inst. The congregation has been divided into three sections, first A to H, second, I to Q; and third R to Z. The to H's will entertain the congregation and their friends on the above date. A friendly but acute competition between these sections exists. The section A to H declares that no better evening has been presented in Peterborough than that prepared for next week.

STOMACH DISTRESS AND DYSPEPSIA GO

Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers from an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort and overcome a sour, gassy stomach, five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour undigested food, Nausea, Head aches, Dizziness, Constipation and other stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poison the breath with nauseous odours.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the stomach is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY

The meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society last evening, in the Collegiate, was well attended.

The new president, Mr. H. B. Collier, occupied the chair, and Rev. Dr. Marsh delivered the chief address of the evening.

Judging by the number of new members received last evening the society is in a flourishing condition and bids fair to eclipse all former records.

The new daylight comet, which has been so prominent during the last few evenings, was described by the president, and a number of interesting facts noted concerning it. It is a "tramp." It probably never visited us before and by the path it is now taking it will never return again. The tail of this comet on Saturday evening last reached the enormous length of over 60 million miles, extending from the horizon to almost 45 degrees of the heavens. This unexpected visit of a comet of such size, which does not belong to the "Union," is an event of no small interest to both astronomers and the public generally.

Dr. Marsh, in his lecture on "The Keys by Which the Heavens are unlocked," covered the various instruments by which the astronomer has been able to obtain our present knowledge of the worlds about us. The old-time telescopes of oldest construction were shown by lantern views, and their unique features described by the speaker. The transit instrument was exhibited and its operation explained minutely. The other instruments used by astronomers were shown, and their operation and use explained.

The lecture was most instructive, and proved very interesting as well.

A CHALLENGE

Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—Kindly insert the following challenge in your valuable and highly appreciated sporting page:

"The Pill-pounders hockey team challenge the hockey team of the Peterborough Normal School to play a game of the aforesaid hockey, or, if they feel more proficient in shinney, let them but speak the word and shinney it shall be; the game to take place in the Auditorium rink any night next week, preferably Wednesday, at such an hour as shall be agreed on by representatives of the two teams. The captain of the Normal school team is requested to reply to this challenge as soon as suits his convenience. We are given to understand that the girls of the Normal school surpass the boys both in number and valor, consequently let it be understood that this challenge is addressed to the male members alone.

Signed on behalf of the Pill-pounders, Tim Maguire, care McDermid & Jury.

RECEPTION TO THE CONGREGATION

At St. Andrew's Church Last Evening—An Enjoyable Time.

St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid Society were hostesses of the congregation last night at a reception given in the guild hall. The hall was very tastefully decorated, and presented the appearance of a large drawing room. A large number of the congregation were present and spent an enjoyable evening. An informal programme of vocal and instrumental music was given, and during the evening refreshments were served. Those taking part in the programme were Messrs. F. R. Clarke, Gordon Wright, Miss Winslow, of Toronto, Mrs. P. A. Kerr, Mrs. Chas. Gibson, Mr. George Lang, Miss Bessie Read, Miss Mary Potter and Miss Leary.

A vote of thanks was tendered the ladies, and on motion of Mr. G. A. Cornish, and Ald. Geo. A. Gillespie, Mr. Andrew McFarland responded on behalf of the ladies.

The evening was brought to a close by singing Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King.

JILTED LOVER 20 YEARS A HERMIT

Worcester, Feb. 1.—Jilted by the daughter of a rich banker in Sweden nearly half a century ago, Andrew P. Johnson, university graduate, doctor of medicine, musician of national reputation and teacher of recognized ability in his country, lost interest in life and became a hermit.

Wandering over his native country in sorrow, he gradually descended the social scale and came to America thirty years ago a physical and mental wreck. For twenty years he has lived the life of a hermit, amid squalor, in a small isolated shack on the Worcester and Auburn line, about two miles below Quinsigamond Village.

He has been known for many years as "the crazy hermit," and has sought solitude and silence. He seldom visited the small Swedish settlement of Quinsigamond and then only to beg food and clothes from the merchants with whom he was acquainted.

His only worship during all these years has been the memory of pretty Mary Olson, who jilted him in Molneoaka Buck, Sweden, when he was a young organist, with a position in the State Church, at Karlstad.

Such has been his physical and mental condition this Winter that the officials of Worcester and Auburn took charge of him, and he is now in the Worcester City Hospital for treatment.

Do You Realize What an Important Work the Kidneys Do?

Do you know that every drop of your blood goes to the kidneys hundreds of times every day? Do you know why?

To be filtered and purified from its impurities. That is the great work the kidneys have to do. They filter the blood. Then these impurities go to the bladder and are passed out of the body along with the urine.

Do you think it possible for you to be well, unless the kidneys do this work thoroughly?

It is these impurities—this unfiltered blood—that causes backaches, headaches, rheumatism, diabetes, Bright's disease, etc. They poison and interfere with the whole system.

If you have any kidney trouble let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others. They cure all forms of kidney trouble and they cure them to stay cured.

Mrs. Maurice Poiron, Charlottetown P.E.I., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad at times that I could not cross the floor for the pain. I went to a doctor, but he did me no good at all. I sent to the druggist and got five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to say that after taking them I was cured. I have had no trouble for nearly three years now."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering specify "Doan's."

NON-RESIDENT MEMBER OF ST. PETER'S T.A.S.

Read of Society's Work in Paper and Decided to Become a Member.

An interesting communication was read at Sunday's meeting of St. Peter's T.A.S. A man living in Renfrew county had read about the society a short time ago and decided that he would like to become a member. He wrote his request and it was decided to receive him into the membership. The brief pledge which is taken by each candidate was sent to him and he returned it signed with the nominal dues for one year. Further instructions have been forwarded and he is now enrolled as a member. This is only one instance of men from other towns joining and it is learned that not a few others are included in the society's ranks.

BIG YEAR FOR CANADA LIFE

Large Profits for Policyholders.

Toronto, Feb. 3, 1910.—It was announced at the Canada Life Annual Meeting to-day that the year 1909 had been a record one as to surplus earned, and that policyholders would be allotted over $2,000,000 profits. The new business paid for the assets and the income all showed substantial increases, while expenses were reduced.

It was stated that the Canada Life is stronger and better organized than ever before, and a great year in 1910 was predicted. The Canada Life was organized in 1847, and is now 63 years old.

STILL A MYSTERY

No Cause Can be Assigned for the Wreck at Spanish River.

Special to The Examiner.

Sudbury, Ont., Feb. 3. — At this morning's session of the inquest into the Spanish River wreck, Aime Le Point, a diver, said he did not think there were more bodies in the river. Those I found had not been moved by the current at all. They lay perfectly still on the bottom of the river and sand had settled around most of them. Frank Taylor Divisional Superintendent gave evidence illustrating with blue print diagram. General Superintendent Gutelius ata the beginning of the long examination, said that he had not been able to find a cause which might definitely be assigned as cause of wreck.

The act is well worth seeing and Mr. Egan's performance will be greeted with big houses during his visit to the Princess.

Committee Decides Not To Buy Chemical Engine This Year

Two Men Added to Fire Brigade But Salaries are Not Increased —Other Questions Dealt With and Some Left Over Until a Later Meeting.

DISCUSSION IN BRIEF

Owing to the Fire, Water and Light committee considering the cost of a chemical engine too great for the present, it was decided to take no action in regard to the question of buying one for the fire department. This decision was made last night at a meeting of the committee. Ald. Morgan was in the chair, and Ald. Batten, Graham, Metheral, Buller, Mayor Morrow and Chief Howard. The first item on the evening's programme was the purchasing of a chemical engine. The initial cost would be $2400 for the engine and an additional $1000 for horses, harness and four extra men. Chairman Morgan stated that if the Underwriters would give a reduction on theirrates for all classes of buildings, there would be practically no objection from any one in regard to the purchase of an engine.

Ald. Metheral showed receipts for insurance on Foresters' Hall which called for an increase in the rate.

Mayor Morrow and Chief Howard gave instances of people who had reductions in their artes. There is a cause for all increases and the chief said that he would like to get hold of all such cases and he would look into them, and try to get them reduced.

Ald. Buller thought it advisable for the chairman and chief to go to Toronto and interview the underwriters.

Finally, however, it was decided to let the matter drop for the present.

Increase the Staff.

Chief Howard's request for six additional men was taken up. He stated that it was really necessary to raise the strength of the brigade. It now consists of ten firemen and the Chief. He felt that the increase should be made now before anything might happen to cause regret for the indecision.

Ald. Metheral said that the volunteer brigade was only 16, and the chief said last year he could run it with ten men. The city has not grown much since.

The chief then suggested that two men be put on now and two in October.

The aldermen fell in with the idea of putting on two more men and if it was then found necessary to put on more the committee could do so.

Ald. Metheral moved that no additional men be added this year.

Ald. Graham seconded the motion.

Ald. Batten moved in amendment that two men be added. Ald. Morgan seconded it and it carried.

Increased Salaries.

Next on the list was the request for increased salaries for the men. Ald. Graham said that now the extra men are added the city cannot afford to give any increase. The committee thought that they could not afford to increase the salary.

The chief then asked that the third year men be given $600 and that would give them something to look forward to. The chief then said that if Engineer Rankin did not get an increase he was going to resign. He now gets $600, but he is a first-class man and can easily get a job at more money.

Ald. Metheral thought that the engineer should be given an increase.

It was moved by Ald. Batten and Ald. Buller that Engineer Rankin be given an increase of $50 per year.

Moved by Ald. Graham and Ald. Metheral that the scale of prices for the firemen remain the same for this year.—Carried.

Fire Alarm System.

Next came the requirements for telegraph alarm boxes on George street and in the West Ward.

PARENTS KEEP PAIR APART FOR 14 YEARS

Millionaire Obeys Family's Desire and Never Sees Bride After Honeymoon.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 3.—For fourteen years, David Boss, son of the late Christian Boss, a millionaire brewer of Cincinnati, lived here while his wife resided in Chicago. For fourteen years they never saw each other, though Boss maintained his wife in elegant apartments in that city.

A few days ago, the husband died, surrounded by his family, though his wife was in the Western metropolis and knew not that he was ill. The members of his family will not tell where his wife is in Chicago, though they say she is and has been there ever since a few days after the wedding.

The story of Boss's courtship reads like a romance. Fifteen years ago the young man left his parents' home at Ingleside place, Walnut Hills, and went to Chicago. His whereabouts there were unknown to his friends and relatives.

There he met the girl whom he later married, and there the courtship was carried on. After their wedding the young couple came to live in Cincinati and went to his home at Ingleside place.

His parents did not favor his weddiug and a conference between them and the pair was called. They told his wife that she could not remain there and that it would be best for her to go back to Chicago. Boss did not like the plan, but his father brought him around to his own way of thinking and so the young wife returned to Chicago.

The husband gave her a big allowance and remained here or near here for the rest of his life. Soon after the parting he was sent to the Oxford Sanitarium and remained there for a few years. Then he was brought here and kept at home under the care of an attendant.

Boss was one of three heirs to a valuable estae. His brother Charles died the same day also at his house on McMillan street, Walnut Hills.

A double funeral was held.

GUERIN BREAKS RECORD.

Citizens' League Mayor of Montreal Has 13,572 Majority.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—It goes without saying that all Montreal is rejoicing to-day over the crushing defeat meted out to the grafters by a city undivided by race or religious lines.

Correct returns give Mr. Guerin, mayor-elect, 28,806 votes, while Senator Casgrain received 15,234, leaving the splendid majority of 13,572, the largest ever obtained by a mayoralty candidate in this city.

For the controllers, Joe Ainey, the MAYOR GUERIN.

Labor representative on the slate, ran away ahead of his ticket, as the figures show. Ainey 30,805, Dupuis 24,055, Wanklyn 23,049, Lachapelle 20,564. Louis Coderre came next with about eight thousand votes, closely followed by E. W. Villaneuve and H. Mercier. The three just named were very popular men, but the feeling was so strong for the nominees of the citizens' committee, that everything had to give away before them.

SUBSCRIBERS HEARD FROM

In renewing her subscription to the Weekly Examiner, Mrs. T. A. Somerville, of Hartney, Manitoba, states that the winter in their district has been an exceptionally pleasant one. On numerous occasions the thermometer did not reach zero. They are looking forward to an early spring, and everything points to the West having a most successful and prosperous year.

Mr. J. G. Emerson, Kenlis, Sask., writes that the winter in this district has been most pleasant. The crops last year were good, turning out 25 bushels to the acre. He looks also for an early spring and a good year in Saskatchewan.

HIGHER EXPENDITURE.

In the Ontario Legislature the practice of increasing the expenditure goes merrily on and the demand for the current year is now over ten millions as opposed to three millions under the Liberal regime. The Toronto Globe says:

The supplementary estimates submitted to the Legislature bring the total demand of the Government for the current year up to $10,347,000. This does not include the various statutory expenditures made without an annual vote in the House and which may be regarded as certain to add a large sum to the year's outlay. The supposed necessities attendant on a change of the fiscal period from the calendar year to a year ending with October led the Government to vote the main estimates last year and the supplementaries during the present session.

The vote for colonization and immigration is $89,975 an amount which should certainly insure a very active year in this regard. This includes $10,000 as bonuses to agents, with an additional $5,000 for their expenses. There is also included a vote of $17,000 for reconstruction of the London office. The charge for printing is $20,000, and for the work and expenses of officials $25,000. If the Province gets adequate value for this expenditure there should be a large influx from Britain during the current year. The Provincial police are responsible for a comparatively new item of $51,780, which goes to show that the cost will continue to enlarge, however disappointing the service. The vote for the Hydro-electric power transmission line from Niagara is $2,500,000, and for the Port Arthur transmission line $50,000. The fire at the Parliament buildings necessitated a vote of $200,000 for reconstruction.

It is probable that other sums will be asked for before the close of the session, as the peculiar method of submitting estimates will create new necessities. The total supplementary estimates submitted are $3,866,013, and as this draws near the total vote, main and supplementary, of a more economical regime, it gives a striking proof of a change in the direction of what may be regarded as governmental liberality.

COAL PRODUCTION

Report of United States Geological Survey Showing Course of Production of Coal in the United States From 1814, the Date of the Earliest Record, to Close of 1907.

The sheet published by Mr. George Otis Smith, Director of the United States Geological Survey of the Department of the Interior, while having practically nothing on it but figures, illuminates in a most interesting way the course of coal production in the United States from the date of the first records. Of course, coal is mined in small quantities individually forming a considerable aggregate, which is not reported at all to the Department, but Mr. Smith's figures are large enough to stand on their own basis. Pennsylvania has a monopoly of the anthracite production, the output reported in 1880 having been, in round figures, 28,00,000 tons; in 1890, 46,000,000 tons; in 1900, 57,000,000 tons, and in 1907, 85,000,000 tons. Of the eight States producing over 10,000,000 tons of bituminous coal per year, Pennsylvania leads, with a production of 150,000,000 in 1907, having doubled the output since 1899. Illinois, the next largest, produced in 1907, 51,000,000 tons, having doubled since the year 1900. Next in production is West Virginia, with 48,000,000 tons in 1907, having doubled since 1901, West Virginia thus showing the largest rate of increase of any of the large producing States. Its output in 1896 was only slightly over one-quarter of the figures for 1907. In Ohio the production for 1907 was 32,000,000 tons, this State having doubled since 1898, the rate of increase, however, for the last few years having been much less than that of West Virginia. Consumption of coal by the enormous industries of Pittsburg and the Ohio River Valley generally is on so tremendous a scale that it is estimated that while the output of mines in that district may show further increases for the next four or five years, it is likely that the amount will begin to decrease after that time. This condition, it is said, accounts for a growing feeling that well bought coal mines in that belt will show steady appreciation in value, in addition to the operating profits.

The above information is particularly interesting, in view of the advertisement now being published in the daily papers of the offering of the portion that has not already been sold privately of $1,750,000. 6 per cent. First Mortgage Sinking Fund Bonds of the Sterling Coal Company, carrying a bonus of 50 per cent. in stock, by A. E. Ames & Co., Limited and F. H. Deacon & Co., Toronto, and Rodolphe Forget and Johnston, McConnell and Allison, of Montreal. The offering is reported to have excited wide interest, and a very long list of subscribers is expected. The subscription books close on or before Tuesday afternoon next, at 4 o'clock, the right being reserved to close them at any time.

SAVED HER HAIR

ZAM-BUK CURED SCALP ECZEMA.

If you have eczema, ringworm or any scalp sore, do not permit your hair to be cut off without first trying Zam-Buk. Mrs. David Monteith, of 93 Bertrand street, Norwood, Winnipeg, says: "My daughter contracted eczema of the scalp, and this broke out regularly for three years in succession. It would probably have been recurring yet each season had it not been for Zam-Buk. The eczema first started with an outbr ak of little red, watery pimples, which turned into large sores. We consulted a medical man, and tried lotions, powders, salves and all kinds of things but in vain.

"Each time the disease appeared her hair had to be cut off. When this had been done three times a friend suggested that, as other things had failed, I should try Zam-Buk, instead of again consulting a doctor and going through the old and ineffective programme. I acted on this advice, and obtained some Zam-Buk. Almost as soon as this was applied the child experienced relief. The itching and irritation seemed to be soothed, and in several places, after some days' treatment, there appeared marked signs of improvement so we thought we would not this time cut off the hair.

"We kept on applying Zam-Buk, until in a few weeks it was very evident a complete cure was being effected. In the end all the sores were healed, the hair over the affected parts had grown again, and at the present time her scalp is healthy and quite free from every trace of sore or eczema." The same healing virtue is responsible for cure of ulcers, abscesses, running sores, cuts, cracks, scalds, burns, piles, abrasions, etc. For children's rashes there is nothing to equal Zam-Buk, as it is so pure. All druggists and stores at 50 cents per box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

WEDDING BELLS

McDONELL-CROWLEY.

(Toronto Telegram.)

There was a pretty wedding at St. Peter's church this morning at seven o'clock, when Rev. Father Minehan solemnized the marriage of Anna, daughter of Mrs. Mary Crowley, to Mr. William Thomas McDonell, son of Mr. Charles McDonell, of Peterborough. The bride, who was escorted to the altar by Mr. William Blake, was attired in a handsome costume of amethyst chiffon velvet with Napoleon hat to match, adorned with plumes and roses and ermine furs, the gift of the groom. She carried a white prayer book in the place of the usual bouquet. Miss Marie Crowley, who attended her sister, was in a seal brown ladies cloth gown, with hat of brown and she wore a pearl crescent, the gift of the groom. Mr. Bert Dingwall was best man. After a wedding breakfast for the family and a few intimate friends at the residence of the bride's mother, the happy pair left for New York and Atlantic city. The bride travelled in a taupe suit with large rose-trimmed silver tissue hat. They will reside at 44 Pricefield, Rd., Rosedale.

MARTIN-DOXSEE.

The wedding was quietly solemnized at the Park St. Baptist parsonage last night of Mr. Thomas Bert Martin to Miss Viola May Doxsee. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. C. Riddiford. After a wedding trip to Hamilton and other points, they will take up their residence on Smith St.

CLARKE-ATCHISON.

At the Springville Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, a quiet wedding took place, when Mr. Matthew Clarke was married to Miss May Atchison, daughter of Mr. George Atchison. Rev. Dr. Marsh was the officiating clergyman.

ELEANOR ROBSON TO WED BELMONT

Well Known Actress to Become Bride of New York Millionaire—In Toronto This Week in "The Dawn of To-morrow."

New York, Feb. 2.—Once more the stage and multi-millionairedom of New York will have its romance when Eleanor Robson, the actress, marries August Belmont early in February. The long rumoured engagement, closely guarded by Miss Robson and Mr. Belmont, is at last authoritatively confirmed, George Tyler's star having notified him that she will close her stage career at the height of the most prosperous season she has ever had in "The Dawn of To-morrow."

The tattered Glad will in less than a month be the mistress of a palace in New York, a chateau in France, a magnificent country seat in Virginia, a Long Island residence and a stock firm in Lexington, Ky., to say nothing of the many millions Belmont controls in railroad and subway stocks.

The wedding will be conducted with the same secrecy that has marked the courtship of the actress and her suitor. They met two years ago on a steamer to Europe and from that time on gossip has linked their names more or less. Belmont wanted his fiancee to retire from the stage at the beginning of this season, but Miss Robson wanted to reimburse her manager, Tyler, who has been a suitor for her hand himself, in the first venture that proved a monetary as well as an artistic success. All her other starring ventures, while eminently artistic, never reached the profit mark.

Eleanor Robson is 30 years old. Her father was an English actor and her mother is Madge Carr, the "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Ten years ago Miss Robson was almost unknown to stage honour, doing small parts with the Frawley Stock Company in San Francisco. In her second season she played the parts of ingenue in a Milwaukee stock company and had immense success in roles like Sue in "Sweet Lavender" The company closed in the middle of the season, and Miss Robson went to St Louis through Chas. P. Salisbury and appeared in one-act plays at the Columbia Theatre, covering a period of six or eight weeks.

Miss Robson's first individual starring tour was made in "Audrey," dramatized by Eugene Presbery, and Harriet Ford from Mary Johnston's novel. Again Tyler's share in the venture was on the wrong side of the ledger, while the actress' climb on the ladder of fame was surely upward.

Belmont and his bride will go on a long honeymoon cruise on his yacht the Scout, immdiately after the marriage.

NEW SCALE OF WAGES UNDER DISCUSSION

The printing offices of the city have been in conference with the local Typographical Union for the past few days, having under discussion a new scale of wages, in which is asked an advance of two dollars a week for journeymen printers, but no agreement has yet been signed.

NASAL CATARRH

Responsible for Much Deafness, Hoarseness, Bronchitis and Stomach Trouble.

Medicated Air Will Cure

These are common diseases, but not less dangerous and difficult to cure on that account. In our climate the weather changes quickly. We are careless. Disease attacks us before we know it. A large majority of our people have nose, lung, or throat troubles, and find it hard to get cured.

It's remarkable with what tenacity both the medical profession and the laity adhere to the old theory that these diseases can be reached and combated by dosing. And this despite the fact that failure to cure in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred attends this mode of treatment.

STOMACH MEDICINE CAN'T CURE.

At best it is a roundabout way of trying to reach the disease which is in the air passages of the throat, nose, bronchial tubes and lungs. Leave the stomach alone—use a remedy that air will carry into the minutest air cells, into the tiniest cavities of the affected organs.

LIQUID REMEDIES DANGEROUS.

Doctors say only "Catarrhozone" can cure—you inhale it along with the air you breath—it goes where the living disease germs are gnawing into your system—it kills these germs—it heals, soothes. it CURES.

CATARRHOZONE GUARANTEED.

Wouldn't it be wise to use Catarrhozone now—to-day—and be cured permanently?

You can send the soothing vapor of the pine woods, the richest balsams and healing essences, right to the cause of your trouble by inhaling Catarrhozone.

Little drops of wonderful curative power are distributed through the whole breathing apparatus in two seconds.

Like a miracle, that's how Catarrhozone works in bronchitis, catarrh colds, and irritable throat. You simply breath its oily, fragrant vapor and every trace of congestion and disease flees as before fire.

So safe, infants can use it; so sure to cure, doctors prescribe it, so beneficial in preventing winter ills, no person can afford to do without Catarrhozone. Used in thousands of cases without failure. Try it yourself! 25c 50c, $1.00 sizes. Sold by all dealers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

Sad Russia's poor, and gaunt, and bare, that should be beastly rich; and everyone is stalking there the ghost of wantovitch; the discontented nobles fret, the monarch has a pain; the weary DARKEST RUSSIA peasants toil and sweat, and sweat and toil in vain And Russia still at progress sneers, greets freedom with a scoff, while shedding weak and futile tears of griefovitchokoff. The tsar is trembling at his meals and hardly dares to hope that his teardrines and soup and eels contain no knock-out dope. The statesmen carry guns and knives; the plumber makes their shirts; and husbands tremble lest their wives hide razors in their skirts. There Terror holds its ghastly sway, and Quiet never comes, and bombs are busted every day by scores of busted bums. Uneasy as a man who sighs beneath a dose of itch, poor Russia walks the floor and cries, in sadnessowakivitch. In this she violates no rules, nor from the record roams; 'tis always thus, where Terorr rules, in nations or in homes. Some guy may say that Russia, dead, on earth would ne'er be missed, then fill his humble home with dread, and fear and sorrowquist.

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Toronto, Canada.—"I shall endeavor to describe to you how I felt before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I scarcely knew what it was to be well. I had awful bearing-down pains and usually before my monthly periods I suffered terribly and had to go to bed. I was not able to walk across the floor the pain was so bad. I doctored for a long time, but the doctor's treatment did not do me any good. I gave up all hopes of ever being well again until one day my husband saw the Compound advertised in the paper. He decided to get me a bottle, and I am thankful he did. I had not taken one bottle before I began to feel better, and I kept on taking it until now I am a different woman. It also helped me during maternity and childbirth. I can thoroughly recommend your Vegetable Compound to any woman who is afflicted with female troubles."—Mrs. J. M. TWEEDALE, 138 Nassau St., Toronto, Canada.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

I wish people nowadays were less afraid of bare facts and more afraid of allusions.

There is nothing either indecent or amusing in the great facts of life. But by circling mysteriously around them, approaching and retreating, lifting the veil and then dropping it and running away, as if there were something to be afraid of, or laughing, as if there were something funny in our antics, we create the illusion of indecency and amusement.

We are like children playing peek-a-boo. We peek behind our self-erected screen and then laugh, not because we see anything funny, but just at our own antics.

The indecency and the humour are not in the things themselves, but in our way of hiding them and then going and taking forbidden peeks at what we have hidden.

A perfectly naked body is not half so immodest as a halfdraped body shrinking and trying to hide behind its draperies.

I once attended the performance of Isadore Duncan, the great classic dancer.

Miss Duncan, as one critic expresses it, "dances with limbs bare and uncorseted body, draped only with blowing gauze, which reveals when she moves every exquisite emotion she has trained herself to portray."

The chorus of the light opera that I saw the next evening wore a great many more clothes than she did, but they were far less modest.

One of the professors where I went to college used to tell his classes that there was a vast difference between nudeness and nakedness.

Nudeness, he said, was unconscious and unabashed, while nakedness was conscious and ashamed. The beautiful Greek statues, with absolutely no draperies, he explained, were nude, while many of the later works of art, although partially draped, were naked.

In the same way it seemed to me that Isadore Duncan, with her scant draperies, was less naked than the more extensively clothed, but more suggestive, ballet dancers. And in the same way it seems to me that a frankly faced fact is far more decent than an allusion however carefully clothed.

I would infinitely rather a young daughter of mine went to a play in which the facts of sex were dealt with frankly and fearlessly, than to a play or light opera filled with gracefully worded allusions.

I would rather she read the novel that has paragraphs in it that polite society would shudder at than the book that touches things more gracefully and lightly but leaves one laughing at sin.

As a newspaper woman I have sometimes been obliged to discuss with men, facts and situations that are not usually the subject of conversation between sexes. But if the men looked me in the eye and spoke simply and frankly I did not mind.

It was far, far worse to me if a man who did not understand me, made some suggestive allusion.

I wish the mothers of the present day would teach their daughters to dislike nothing so much as allusions, however amusing, to frown on nothing so much as suggestiveness, however carefully worded, and to shun frankly, have nothing in them to boo laughter at things that faced laugh at.

I fancy if mothers would cultivate such an attitude they would find they had created a better guard for their daughters' morals than any chaperonage or watchfulness, however careful, could possibly be.

FOR THE PUBLIC

New Formula Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Hoarseness in Five Hours.

Much is being done in these days to stop the ravages of consumption, but probably nothing has been so effective as teaching the public how to break up a cold and cure coughs, bronchitis, tonsilitis, etc., with simple home-mixed medicine. A laxative cough syrup, free from whiskey is the prime need. A cough indicates inflammation and congestion and these in turn are due to an excess of waste and poison in the system. A tonic laxative cough syrup rids the system of congestion, while relieving the painful coughing. Get the following and mix at home. One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every one-half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less, according to age. Cut this out and save it for some friend.

STUDENTS PLAY AT MARKHAM

The Peterborough Collegiate Junior O.H.A. team plays its first game in the second round to-morrow night when the students will journey to Markham to meet the Junior O.H.A. team of the Tournament town. The local team will leave on the 8.25 train to-morrow morning and will be as follows:

The garnet and gray team are in good shape and should give a creditable account of themselves. They had a great practice yesterday afternoon between 5 and 6 and showed fine form.

The return game will be played here on Monday night and should be one of the best games of the season. The students are a classy bunch of youngsters and should make a fine showing in the O. H. A. ranks this season. There will be a big crowd on hand to see them perform against the Markham bunch as the students have won a big bunch of admirers by reason of their grit and cleverness. Monday night's game will be well worth seeing

SHAMROCKS TIRED OF PROFESSIONALISM

Montreal Club Sighs for Amateur Day—May Go Back to Old Method.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—The time is not far distant, according to Tim Slattery, the President of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club, when Shamrocks will return to the straight amateur game in both lacrosse and hockey.

Shamrocks do not disguise the fact that the attempt to run professional teams is a burden to the flesh.

"We go up there and give our time and sometimes our money," said a Shamrock official only yesterday, "and for what? Simply to keep together a crowd of men who are looking after themselves and don't care two cents about the Association or its traditions."

The annual meeting of the lacrosse club comes off early in March and it is understood that there will be a wholesale shake-up in the executive. Tim Slattery, for one, declares that he will not get into harness again and the same thing is being said about many of the others.

Johnnie Howard is still in Montreal but is leaving in a few weeks for Vancouver. Jimmie Hogan, of the Shamrocks and brother Frankie, of Montreal, have both come under the covetous glances of those Western magnates. The Scott brothers, probably the most daring players in the game to-day, have been offered temptations to desert the champion Montreal team. McIlwaine, of the Shamrocks, is through with the game and will play no more. Same with Kavanagh, according to current gossip, while various others of the old stagers have about the same thing to say.

DUSTY IS MAKING GOOD

Brantford Feb. 2. — (Special.)— Brantford turned the tables on Berlin here to -night, administering the whitewash brush to the tune of 5 to 0. Lehman's remarkable goal keeping only saved a catastrophe, as the puck was in Berlin territory three-quarters of the time. The Berlin forwards were checked to a standstill by Brantford and could never break away.

Ben Dusty and Smith appeared with Brantford and greatly strengthened the line-up. At half-time the score was 1 to 0 and fine combination work gave four more to the homesters in the second half. Mercer and Bowden played star games for Brantford. Fred Waghorne gave a fine exhibition with the whistle. The penalties were few.

HOW IT LOOKED TO LINDSAY

If there is anything that distinguishes the hockey reports of the Lindsay Post more than their accuracy it is the beautiful display of modesty that runs through the accounts. You would almost fancy they had lost the game after reading the following effusion, would you not? You would—NOT. The Post says:

History states that a Roman emperor in learning of the defeat and annihilation of his troops by Herman, the deliverer of Germany, cried out in despair: "Oh, Quintillius Varus, give me back my legions!"

When the result of last night's hockey struggle reached the banks of the Otonabee, and was heralded from one end of the Quaker Oats settlement to the other, the weeping and lamentations were indescribable. Their valiant band had gone forth to battle with the determination of again defeating the Midgets on their own stumping ground. They returned crestfallen and discomfited, for the locals rose in their might and smote them. They are turning out Quaker Oats to-day in Peterborough with black border around the boxes.

Ye gods and little fishes, what a score! What an aeroplane ascension! What a slaughter! As the small boy would say: "Hully gee, who'd a thunk it?" However, it's sweet and honourable to die for one's country, and we must ever remember the admonition "Of the dead say only that which is good."

The Midgets evidently believe in the adage, "Do it well." The way they polished off things last night was a sight alike to men and angels. Their opponents faded from view, like a life-sized piece of watermelon in the hands of a hungry picaninny. They were swallowed up, body, soul and all. Let this be a warning to others. But it won't. Other teams will come forward just as confident, and just as brave, and they, too, will get it where Lucinda wears the necklet. We are out to defend the silverware against all comers, and on a fair field with no favours we are prepared to lick any other intermediate septette put of their bloomerettes. We have spoken.

Are not the Midgets a classy bunch? They turned on their steam valves at full cock and uncorked a quality of hockey that has rarely been seen on local ice.

And what of the defeated ones? Leonidous Derocher, the Franco-Irishmen, in the nets, is the cherries. He was kept dancing last night and although he allowed thirteen shots to find the nets he connected successfully with ten times that number.

Campbell, at point, is an aggressive player and holds down that position well, although last night he found shelter in the penalty box for actions that were not according to Hoyle.

(This is very funny inasmuch as Campbell was not penalized during the game.)

McDougall, at cover, was as reliable as ever, and is a capital man at that position. Ray was as brilliant as ever, and his work was a treat to witness. McMillan, Seymour, and Dobson were also a speedy trio, although Seymour spent too much time in the penalty box. The forwards at times introduced some nice combination, more especially in the first half.

Children's Aid Society Requires More Financial Assistance From County

Annual Meeting Held Yesterday at Which it Was Stated County Council Grants $250, While County Children Cost Society Last Year $613.00---Not as Many Juvenile Offenders in 1909 as in Other Years.

MR. GOODWILL'S REPORT

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the Council Chamber. It was of more than usual interest to the members from several standpoints. The attendance was most encouraging and the united enthusiasm that was manifested by the officers and members bespeaks another successful year, and may be given out as one of the primal reasons for the splendid results that have been achieved. The character of the work done by the society is undoubtedly the great incentive to those who are engaged in it, and likewise elicits the sympathy of a large number of the citizens to whose generosity the success of the organization is largely due. The President, Mr. T. F. Matthews, occupied the chair, and the routine business was transacted in the usual way. From the reports of the various officers there are a number of features connected with the past year which are of interest. They may be stated briefly as follows:

There was a marked decrease in the number of juveniles who appeared in the police court during the past year.

This condition, it was stated, was most gratifying, and has been a source of pleasure and encouragement to the officers as it will also be pleasing intelligence to the citizens at large.

The children from the county have cost the society during 1909 over $613 and the grant from the County Council is $250.

At the meeting of the County Council recently a deputation from the society asked for an increased grant, but the Council took no action. The result has been that the work has not been as extensive during the year as it might have been, as the county children had already been a heavy bill of expense and the finances were obtained for the most part from the citizens.

A special appeal made to the churches of the county was answered by but one little church in Apsley.

These are a few of the facts that are referred to in the reports that are given herewith.

MR. E. L. GOODWILL,
The Faithful and Energetic Secretary of the Children's Aid Society.

The Secretary's Report.

Mr. E. L. Goodwill, the secretary of the Society, presented his report, as follows:

I have the honour to present the annual report, as Secretary of your Society. Another year's work has been done, and a large number of children in the City and County have been cared for by the Society, and placed in foster homes. Also a large number, by reason of notices and warnings to parents to improve home conditions, have been materially benefitted. Perhaps, more has been done in this latter direction during the last year than in any former year, and, judging from the improvements already obtained, we have reason to believe that the following of this policy will give excellent results.

Mr. Cochrane, the energetic agent, has been kept busy investigating and reporting cases, serving notices and making visits to see that the warnings are being observed. Mr. Cochrane has devoted a large amount of time and attention to the work, and with a thorough knowledge of the methods of our Society, and, being sympathetic and tactful, he has performed his duties most efficiently.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry have continued to make improvements in the interior of the Shelter, and have also improved the grounds. The Shelter itself is maintained in the most satisfactory condition. Their work has been well and carefully performed. We have had a very large number of children in the Shelter continuously during the year, and all have been looked after by Mrs. Henry in a kind motherly way, and there has never been a complaint during the year.

Several Epidemics.

The outbreak of scarlet fever and chicken pox during the year in the Shelter, which necessitated a complete isolation for many weeks, made the work for our matron unusually heavy, and the extra work in nursing and extra expense incurred in supplying medicines and otherwise, should be recognized by the Society.

It is with regret we have to record the sad event of the death of Mary Rosebush, aged seven years, a native of Belmont Township, and who was the first patient in the Shelter with scarlet fever. This little girl was made a ward of the society by Police Magistrate Edmison, in Havelock, and, notwithstanding the untiring attention, nursing, and medical attendance, she passed away and was buried in the Society's lot in Little Lake cemetery.

Forty-five children have passed through the Shelter, there being a monthly average of ten during the year, while a large number of children have been dealt with direct, and without being entered in the Shelter books. The large number of children continuously in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Henry have made a severe inroad on the funds of this Society, and this inadequacy of funds was the subject of considerable discussion and of extra effort to raise same by your officers.

Appreciation of Services.

The Society is fortunate in having such an enthusiastic and energetic Treasurer. Mr. Campbell has been untiring in the management of the finances, involving, as it does, a large amount of his time, which he freely devotes to promoting the best interests of the Society.

We have to extend our warmest thanks to Dr. T. Hewitt Amys, who has devoted much time and professional skill to the children under our care. The physicians of the city have all been kind to us, but Dr. Amys has been particularly good.

As counsel for the Society, I have attended the trials of all juvenile offenders and have seen that the provisions relating to the Children's Court have been carried out, and I would, as in former years, acknowledge the kindness and co-operation extended by the Police Magistrates of the City and County, and the members of the police force. There has been a marked decrease in the number of juvenile trials, in the police court during the year, and there have been very few cases of a serious character. We, however, regret that we found it necessary to send this year again a little girl to the Industrial School, having exhausted all efforts for her reform.

A matter that calls for remark is the very large percentage of children placed in the Shelter during the year from the county, involving an expense to this Society of over $600.00. A delegation, composed of Messrs. Campbell, Cochrane and Henry, waited on the County Council, and urged that the annual grant from the county of $250.00 be increased in view of the above facts, but I understand the Council have not seen their way clear to accede to our request this year. The cases passing through our hands have been similar in nature to that of former years, and I will report verbally on a few of the most important.

A General Report.

Referring to the year's work Mr. Goodwill stated that there had been few cases in which actual proceedings had been taken against parents, and the children removed. Warnings were given, summonses served and Mr. Cochrane kept a close eye on the attention that was given the children. In this way not a few domestic disputes were patched up, and the difficulties smoothed over. Mr. Cochrane was responsible for many of the settlements that were thus peaceably effected.

There was a marked epidemic of domestic quarrels. For the most part, however, the parents were brought together and the children always received proper attention. The applications received have in the great majority of cases been for children between the ages of nine and fourteen years, while the children at the shelter are mostly between two and eight years. There were quite a number of children always at the shelter during 1909, and, owing to a congestion of children in Toronto not many were taken from here. Mr. J. H. Burnham was in Toronto yesterday, where he met Mr. Kelso, and telegraphed to the secretary that his efforts had been successful, and Mr. Kelso promised that he would relieve the local society of a number of children.

Mr. Goodwill placed in his report a vote of thanks to the Society's many friends, to the press, to Mr. J. H. Burnham and to those who are assisting the Society in carrying forward its work.

The report was on motion adopted.

Treasurer's Report.

Mr. Peter Campbell, treasurer, presented his report for the year which, was as follows:

Receipts.

Dec. 1, 1908—
Balance on hand	$ 312.55
Cash rec'd dur'g year	1440.23
	$ 1,752.78

Expenditures.

Nov. 30, 1909.
Total disbursements	$1670.23
Balance on hand	82.55
	$ 1,752.78

Rev. Canon Davidson moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Campbell and the other officers for the efficient services they have rendered. In the hopes that the Society's funds might be increased he suggested that the congregations of the city churches might give one special collection during the year to the society. Greate support would be given if the conditions were understood. Rev. J. R. Webb seconded the motion.

Agent's Report.

Mr. Cochrane made a verbal report on conditions as he found them during the year. Only the fringe of the north country has been toouched by the society and there remains considerable territory to be covered. This cannot be touched unless there are more funds received and Mr. Cochrane intimated that there was considerable work to be done in that locality. There is a by-law that states that each municipality shall care for its own children, but it has been the Society's endeavour in the past to look after them. However if the county does not make a greater allowance it is practically a matter of time until a change will be necessary. During the year Mr. Cochrane made 162 visits which had to do with 264 children.

Mr. Campbell stated that a letter had been sent to each of the churches throughout the county asking for assistance, but only one church in Apsley, with a membership of fifteen, forwarded a contribution.

On motion of Mr. Cochrane and Rev. J. R. Webb, an extra sum of $50 was granted Mrs. Henry for medical supplies, and attendance upon the children of the Shelter during the outbreak of scarlet fever and measles.

Mr. Webb stated that the ministers of the city churches would write to the ministers of their denominations in the county in regard to assisting the society. A motion for this purpose was not necessary, he stated.

Mr. Cochrane, in referring to the faithful services of Mr. Goodwill, as secretary, suggested that the expenses connected with the extra work be paid by the society but Mr. Goodwll replied that he would write out a bill for them if he ever needed it.

A discussion followed as to the preparing of clothes for the children. The ladies present took part in it, and it was finally moved by Mrs. R. F. McWilliams that a small committee be appointed with power to add to their numbers to look after the clothing for the children. The ladies selected were Mrs. Best, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. William Gibbs and Mrs. R. F. McWilliams.

Election of Officers.

The election of officers was then held and resulted as follows:

Hon. President—Mayor Morrow.
President—Mr. T. F. Matthews.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Birdsall.
2nd Vice President—Mr. R. W. Travers.
Secretary and Solicitor—Mr. E. L. Goodwill.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent—Mr. George Cochrane.
Honorary Physician—Dr. T. Hewitt Amys.

Board of Management—The officers of the society, the clergymen of the city, Mesdames Best, Peck, Garvin, Davis, Ward, O'Sullivan, Montgomery, Potter, Hughes-Charles, Harding, Lloyd, Dr. Jessie Bernie, Miss Gow, Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, Miss Halliday, Miss C. Dickson, Mrs. Hazen Ritchie, ex-Mayor Rush, Dr. Geo. Burnham, Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, John Butcher, Magistrate Edmison, and Magistrate Dumble.

Mr. Matthews considered that as he had been in office two years some one else should be appointed president but the members would not hear of it and he graciously accepted his unanimous election.

Grasshoppers, Grass And Flowers Near Lethbridge

(Lethbridge Herald.)

On Tuesday the Herald proudly announced that the first grasshopper of the season had been found and was lively and well in captivity in this office. Yesterday a note was received from H. S. Palmer, W. J. Jordan and D. McDonald, of Stirling, saying "Give this to the grasshopper to hop over. If this ain't enough send the grasshopper down to Stirling", and enclosed in the envelope was a bunch of prairie grass and everlasting pea, as green and fresh as one would expect to see in May or June. More than that the peas are out in bloom with their pretty little yellow flowers The grass is from four to eight inches high.

An old Herald reader may not believe these statements, it was hard for the Herald to believe its eyes when it saw the fresh grass and flowers in the last week in January, but there was no getting away from it, all of the senses by which man can learn of the outside world say that the articles touched, tasted, seen, or smelled, were fresh, green, grass and fresh flowers. And more than that the gentlemen of Stirling say that there is lots more where this came from.

THE PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

BEING RAPIDLY SUBSCRIBED FOR

The Bonds of the Sterling Coal Company Proving an Attractive Investment.

It is stated on behalf of the four firms offering Sterling Coal Company bonds, that subscriptions are coming in in good numbers. The amount that was sold prior to the public offering is stated to exceed $750,000, leaving less than $1,000,000 to be sold on this offer.

With regard to the question of closing the subscription books before Tuesday afternoon next, the policy in view is understood to be to close them as soon as the issue has been fully taken up, so as to guard against cutting down of allotments, at the same time it is desired to give sufficient time for investors to consider the matter fairly, and if there is any discrimination in allotment it will be in favour of the pure investment element. The bonds are being offered in the cities of Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, Hamilton, London, Halifax, and St. John, and the Amos, Forget, Deacon and McConnell firms expect a very long subscription list.

HAS MADE GREAT PROGRESS SINCE ITS ORGANIZATI

Annual Meeting of the Poultry Association Held Last Evening —Has Had a Most Prosperous Year—The Auditors' Report.

OFFICERS WERE ELECTED

The annual meeting of the Poultry Association was held last evening in the hall over Brown's store, Simcoe St. A large number of the members was present. The president, Mr. George Paxman was in the chair. The Association has every reason to feel proud of its success during the two years since organization. Two successful shows have been held and it now owns over $600 worth of coops. It is on a good, substantial basis, financially, and the progress it has made is no doubt due to the untiring efforts of President Paxman and his able assistants.

NEARING THE CAUSE

Experts Take a Look at the Approach to the Bridge—Something Must Have Loosened on the Truck Gear and While Dangling Caused the Derailment—The Railway Board Refuses Aid to the Coroner.

Sudbury, Feb. 3.—The coroner is at least getting closer to the nature of the derailment which precipitated the Spanish River wreck even if the actual cause be never learned.

The experts and counsel engaged in the inquest got their first real look at ties on the torn-up section yesterday afternoon. General Superintendent Gutelius sent an engine over the road-bed yesterday morning to melt the snow, so that the marks made by the wheel flanges could be seen. It seems pretty clear that the forward truck of the first-class coach (the fourth car) left the track first at a point 393 feet east of the bridge abutments. It trailed NNE at an angle until it got so far out of line that it pulled the rear truck of the second-class coach off, 270 feet east of the bridge.

Within 46 feet of the face of the abutment, the leading truck of the second-class car left the rails. The hind truck of this car was by this time considerably shifted north of the track and struck the bridge abutments, toppling over the bank. Relieved of this weight, together with the jolt of encountering the solid masonry, the car plunged diagonally across the bridge, tearing out a large bracing girder. The recoil from this impact drove the rear end back through the north side of the bridge. The car broke in two, and the half on the bridge caught fire. The first-class car started down the embankment at about 200 feet east of the bridge, dragging the diner and Pullman.

So much for the derailment. What caused it must be left to theory. The roadbed, tracks and wheels are conceded to be pretty fair, if not reasonably good. Eliminate these, and the only thing left would be for something to have become loosened on the truck gear, which might have dropped or remained dangling. The company are lending every assistance to the crown that could be possibly wished for.

The following letter was received by Crown Attorney Clary from the secretary of the Dominion Railway Board, explaining that the findings of that body have been denied counsel here because the matter is still under investigation by the board's officers, and, further, that "the reports of the board's officers in such matters are privileged, and are intended to lead the board in protecting public safety by ascertaining whether the accident are preventable. It is not the policy of the board to send its officials to disclose at inquests the information which it has so obtained for its own direction."

is generally the result of a cold caused by exposure to wet and inclement weather and may be recognised by a tightness across the chest, sharp pains and a difficulty in breathing, a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color coming from the bronchial tubes when coughing, especially the first thing in the morning. Cure the first symptoms of bronchitis by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Bronchitis Cured.

Miss Martha Bourget, Little Pabos, Que., writes: "Last spring I was very poorly, had a bad cough, sick headache, could not sleep, and was tired all the time. I consulted two doctors, and both told me I had bronchitis, and advised me to give up teaching. I tried almost everything but none of the medicines gave me any relief. One of my friends advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I had scarcely taken the first bottle when I began to get better and when I had taken the fourth bottle I felt as well as ever, my cough had left me and I could sleep well."

"Dr. Wood's" is the original Norway Pine Syrup. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three-pine trees the trade mark and the price 25 cents. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Slashes Wife; Tries to Die.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—"She worried me, she's been worrying me to death." This was the reason given by William Bell, for what may yet prove a successful attempt to murder his wife yesterday afternoon by cutting her throat in a vacant apartment over the Traders' Bank branch at Jones avenue and Gerrard street, at 2.30 yesterday. Bell afterwards tried to end his own life in a like manner with a knife.

Both are in the General Hospital where the woman is reported in a critical condition, but Bell is not seriously injured.

Bell is 43 years of age, an Englishman, a brickmaker by trade and separated from Emily, his wife, in July last. Since then he has been boarding at 159 Leslie street, while his wife who is a year or so younger than he, has been working as a domestic at 65 Wolfrey street.

Finds Hubby After 48 Years.

Wabash, Ind., Feb. 3.—In a wood shopper at work near home, Mrs. Albert Holly yesterday recognized her husband, whom she had not seen since he marched away as a soldier in the civil war, 48 years ago. She believed he was killed in battle and sold her home and moved away. He could not find her when he returned from the south, and became a wandering carpenter.

Mrs. Holly married James Stull a few years after the war. For 40 years they lived happily together. Stull was a motorman here. Then months ago he was thrown from his car and killed. Holly and his wife will now remarry.

ALL KIDNEY MISERY AND BACKACHE GOES

Out-of-Order Kidneys Are Regulated and Bladder Misery Ends After a Few Doses.

Hundreds of folks here are needlessly miserable and worried because of out-of-order kidneys, backaches or bladder trouble.

If you will take several doses of Pape's Diuretic, all misery from a lame back, rheumatism, painful stitches, inflamed or swollen eyelids, nervous headache, irritability, dizziness, worn-out, sick feeling and other symptoms of overworked or deranged kidneys will vanish.

Uncontrollable, smarting, frequent urination (especially at night) and all bladder misery ends.

This unusual preparation goes at once to the disordered kidneys, bladder and urinary system, and distributes its healing, cleansing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder, or feel rheumatism coming, begin taking this harmless medicine with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape of Cincinnati is a large and responsible medicine concern thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from Pape's Diuretic and a few days treatment means active, clean, healthy kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and you feel fine.

Railway Freight War.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 3—As a result of the reduction of the westward bound freight rate by the Erie and Lackawanna roads, and to avert a rate war among the trunk lines, the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad will raise its first-class rate from 69 to 75 cents per 100 pounds on its Canadian Pacific and Ontario and Western routes. It is now infringed the Erie and Lackawanna will return to the standard western rate.

Eighty-Six Die In This Mine.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 3.—A despatch to The Express from Eagle Pass says:

At nightfall, 68 bodies had been recovered from the Palau Mine of the C. Coahuila Coal Co., in the State of Coahuila, Mexico, where an explosion occurred yesterday.

Didn't Murder Her Husband.

Reno, Nev., Feb. 3.—Mrs. Mae Talbot, the former opera singer, was acquitted yesterday afternoon of the charge of murdering her husband, Albert E. Talbot. The deceased was a brother of Col. Talbot of the Canadian Parliament.

John Burns Impressed.

Paris, Feb. 3.—John Burns, President of the British Local Government Board, who came from England to examine the flood situation here, paid a tribute to the prodigies performed by the relief organizations.

He said yesterday that he had been particularly impressed by the splendid courage displayed by the poorer classes in the inundated districts.

Australia Wants Settlers.

London, Feb. 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—A despatch from Melbourne says the Victorian Cabinet has adopted a scheme for settling 40,000 British and American agriculturists on irrigation blocks within two years. It will be arranged that special steamers will bring these farmers and their families at low fares.

OPPOSITION IS DIVIDED

Amendment to Criminal Code Comes Up in Senate—Conservatives Are Completely Disorganized and Out of Control in Debate on Appointment of a Statistician—Majority of Seventy-Eight.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—A witless attack, initiated by some of the more reckless spirits of the Opposition, upon Hon. Mackenzie King and the Department over which he presides, ended in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon in the triumphant vindication of the young Minister of Labor, and in the utter discomfiture and disruption of the party from which the attack emanated. Seldom have the ineptitude, tactlessness and incohesion of the Opposition been more flagrantly revealed than in the spectacle they presented yesterday.

Starting out to bait the Minister of Labor, and to impress the country with the idea that for some occult reason he was attempting political suicide by opposing the interests of labor, they ended up by getting themselves badly tangled in their own snare, putting themselves into a position of practical obstruction to the 9-hour day bill, now before the special committee of the House, and finally forcing a vote in opposition to the stand taken by their leader and by a considerable proportion of their own members. The result was a Government majority of 78, with the Opposition leader shirking the vote which his own followers had precipitated.

Hon. Mackenzie King, Minister of Labor, moved a resolution calling for the appointment of Prof. Skelton of Queen's University, to get expert information for the purpose of the Government bill to restrict the hours of labor on public works to eight per day. This resolution was brought in by a special committee to whom the bill had been referred, and some opposition members who spoke declared the Department should be able to do his work. While R. L. Borden and some others admitted that the report of the committee should be received, according to custom, others refused to accept the report at all. On a vote the report was supported by 114 votes to 36.

Mr. King said the Labor Department had men efficient to do the work, but they were busy.

Mr. Blain argued that if the Labor Department did not already have the information the Department was a failure. Mr. King remarked that Prof. Skelton had "special information" regarding judgments in other countries which the committee desire to obtain. Mr. Blain thought the Justice Department would have these judgments. Mr. King considered that the officers of the Justice Department were not experts. An expert had been requisitioned in the case of the telephone investigation.

Mr. Lennox said the work of the Minister of Labor so far had not been well done. The Minister was supposed to be an expert himself. He felt afraid of the practice. For instance, much of the work of the conservation committee, he believed, would be utilized for the benefit of some person near the Government, and much of the money of the people would simply be devoted to making fortunes for a gentleman prominent in that committee.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said Mr. Lennox was making insinuations which he thought he would regret.

Mr. Foster thought it was time they knew what the Labor Department was doing, and what it proposed to do.

Mr. Henderson described it as a "Department to shirk labor," instead of a Department of Labor.

Mr. Verville supported the resolution, and Dr. Reid affirmed that it was simply a political question between Mr. King and Mr. Verville.

Col. Hughes called the officials of the Labor Department the political satellites of the Government "eclipsed by this young and brilliant luminary." The Minister of Labor had been engaged to do what any page in the House could do.

Mr. Borden thought the Department of Labor might very well do the work which Prof. Skelton was supposed to do. Some years ago, when he had asked for a special enquiry into a certain matter, he had been told that the Labor Department was quite capable.

E. B. Osler, considered that if they wanted unreliable information they should go, as a rule, to a young university professor. The experience of men of business was that nobody was utterly useless to give an opinion.

Mr. Goodeve said the Government was simply using the Labor Department as a buffer between it and the people.

Major Currie, who was in favor of an eight-hour day, said that the Labor Departemnt was a "cyclone cellar with a tin roof on it, built by Verville." It was another effort to sidetrack the whole question.

Mr. Magrath asked if the bill was going through this session or not, and Mr. King said his intention was to bring it forward as soon as possible.

Dr. Edwards opposed the resolution, and Dr. Sproule took the view that if the Department was incapable they should get the expert. Mr. Boyce considered that there was an Ethiopian in the woodpile somewhere.

The Conservatives who voted for the resolution were: Messrs. Bradet, Sproule, Doherty, Monk, Macdonnel, Barker, Blondin, Daniels, Herron, Maddin, Marshall, Nantel, Paquet, Richards, Sam Sharpe, Stanfield, Wilcox and Worthington.

In moving the second reading in the Senate yesterday of an amendment to the criminal code, making it a punishable offence for a person to have precious ore in his possession, without being able to give satisfactory explanation of how he obtained it, Sir Richard Scott stated that there was similar legislation on the statute books of South Africa and West Australia.

Senator Power noted the West Australia legislation provided that the possessor of ore must be "reasonably suspected," and the South African act provided that no one could deal in precious ores unless authorized by license. He thought Ontario could solve the trouble of Cobalt by enacting similar legislation, and requiring those who receive licenses to keep a record of their transactions.

Senator Lougheed did not seriously object if the law was restricted to Ontario, but there were deposits of low grade ore in British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta from which collections had been accumulated for many years, and he doubted if owners could in all cases satisfactorily explain where the specimens came from. In many cases this had been forgotten. Prospectors were going through British Columbia collecting specimens of ore, and it would hardly be desirable to make them explain in a Criminal Court the possession of their samples.

Senator G. W. Ross thought that an exaggerated view was being taken. Agents and collectors, he thought, would be able to explain possession of all samples. The bill was given a second reading.

BUSINESS.

Having regard to the coal consumed in the central Provinces of Canada being so largely obtained from the neighboring States, and to Canadian capital having to some extent been interested in those fields for years, the Sterling Coal Company has been formed, on a strong financial basis, with Canadians in its direction. The Company is acquiring certain mines of bituminous coal now operating in Ohio under capacity, and will further equip them and develop others, viz., two additional properties, one in Ohio, and the other in West Virginia. All of these properties are located upon lines of railroad, with favorable freight rates to convenient markets, via the Erie Railroad, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The properties have been fully investigated and reported upon by Mr. W. F. Tye, recently Chief Engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and who had charge of all construction on that railway from 1882 to 1906, and in addition, all other engineering from 1904 to 1906. They have also been reported upon fully (except the Acadia) by Mr. Charles Fergie, formerly Vice-President and General Manager of the Intercolonial Coal Mining Company in Nova Scotia, and afterwards for several years Chief Engineer and Superintendent of Mines for the Dominion Coal Company, and since 1907 Consulting Engineer in Montreal. Mr. Fergie will act as Consulting Engineer of the Sterling Coal Company. These properties, other than the Acadia, were also visited by members of three of the firms now offering the securities. The Acadia (which is likely to prove a valuable property) is partially proven, and the Sterling Coal Company has about five months longer for testing by diamond drill before finally deciding as to its purchase.

Full prospectuses have been published in the newspapers, and copies, with subscription forms, may be had on application at our offices.

CHARACTER OF SECURITY.

The bonds are 30-year 6% first mortgage bonds, with a sinking fund of 2% per annum on the amount of bonds issued, commencing January 1st, 1912. Bonds are redeemable at 105 at the company's option on any interest date. Bonds may be registered at the head office of the Company in Toronto.

PROFITS.

Mr. Charles Fergie, one of the most experienced and highest authorities on coal operation on the continent, estimates that on completion of the company's programme the net profits will be over three times the amount of the bond interest.

Mr. W. F. Tye, the President, states that the net profits relating to the four mines now operating in the Hileman Group, which represents only one-third of the total purchase price, will within a few months, with additions to the equipment not costing more than $70,000, provide for 6% interest on $1,300,000 of the $1,750,000 of the bonds now being issued.

Mr. Tye estimates, after long and careful consideration of the present position and prospects of the company, that the net revenue should reach such a basis as to warrant declaration of dividends at the rate of 6% per annum upon the stock of the company during the year 1912.

DIRECTORS.

Neighbors Good to Bereaved Man.

Galt, Feb. 3.—The finding of the coroner's jury is that the fatal gas explosion at the Bastine home was due to a defective main, and that the Dominion Natural Gas Co. is responsible. Suits for heavy damages will be entered by survivors of the three victims, and it is said leading citizens have subscribed funds to aid the claimants. Neighbors of James Bastine, whose wife and daughter lost their lives, secretly repaired and refurnished the home, and when the bereaved owner went to take up residence again he found the place comfortable and an inviting supper prepared.

SECOND DIVISION TEAMS CHASED LEADERS HARD

West Ends Nosed Out a Victory Over Keene by 8 to 6, and While the Commissioners Beat T. A. S. 9 to 3, the Score Was Tied With Only Eighteen Minutes to Play.

The expected happened in the City League double-header at Brock Street Rink last night, the West Ends trimming the Keene team, and the T. A. S. losing to the Strathconas, but the second teams gave the leaders two unexpectedly hard battles, and the crowd, which, by the way, was the smallest of the season, got their money's worth of fun and excitement.

The West Ends were shy Dobson and Short, while Keene had the strongest team they have had since the opening game and the McDougalites held the Westerners down to an 8 to 6 victory, and threw a scare into the supporters of the yellow and black. The Villagers showed surprising ginger and aggressiveness, and kept the Westerners going all the way to beat them. It took the West Ends thirteen minutes to score the first goal, but they followed with three more in quick succession and it began to look as if the usual slump had set in among the Keene players. However, they rallied quickly, scored the last goal of the period and followed with another at the beginning of the second half, which left the score 4 to 2 for the Occidental team. Once more the West Ends ran in a couple in a row, which seemed to cinch matters, but then came a Keene rally that caused great excitement. Within four minutes the Villagers had rattled in three goals and only one behind the Westerners were working their heads off. However, Crane slipped up alone and scored on a net shot, and then came back with Seymour and repeated the dose, putting West Ends on easy street again, although Keene scored the last goal.

The West Ends had a shifted lineup. Art. Hall played centre in place of Dobson, who was unable to play, owing to the injury he received in Lindsay, and Seymour was moved up to right wing, while the Oldhamites sprang a surprise on the Strathconas by sending out in a yellow and blue sweater to play cover point Amos McWilliams, who played point for the Commissioners last season. McWilliams played a good game considering that he has had little or no practice and added strength to the defence, while he rushed well. Hall fitted into the centre position nicely, playing good combination and shooting well. Seymour was always effective at right wing, and Giroux, over on the other side of the rink, gave a good account of himself. Crane was brilliant and useful, as usual, his rushing and shooting leaving nothing to be desired.

Keene had a new line-up, and played as good hockey as they have this season. The placing of Vince McCarthy, at point, strengthened the defence, while Dickson played a surprisingly hard-working and effective game on the wing. The team showed more inclination to play combination and work together than they did on any previous occasion, and this, with their speed and aggressiveness, made them no mean adversaries. They checked back fast, and with the exception of their shooting gave a good exhibition in all departments.

West Ends showed splendid combination in spots, but on the whole were not up to their usual form.

McDougall and McCarthy made an effective defence for Keene, while all the forwards worked hard throughout, their checking back being especially noticeable.

The teams were as follows:

Play lagged a little at the start with neither team working effectively and honours were about even. Crane got two minutes for bodying McDougall into the boards, and with the advantage of the odd man, Keene pressed; Lewis carried the puck from centre on a nice rush, but Halpin picked off his waist-high shot neatly when a score seemed certain. Wedlock went off for slashing, but was back on the ice when West Ends tallied the first goal in thirteen minutes, Giroux doing the trick on a combination rush.

Crane increased the lead two minutes afterwards on a long lift, which hit McCarthy and dropped behind Dinsdale.

West Ends, 2; Keene, 0.

A nice combination rush, culminating in a neat shot by Hall, scored No. 3, in thirty seconds.

West Ends,3; Keene, 0.

West Ends still pressed and Seymour lifted one in from the wings.

Dickson was penalized for loafing. McDougall bodied Seymour, who took the count and there was a delay for a few minutes. Keene were having a little better of the play at this stage and finally Lewis hoisted one past Halpin for their first goal. West Ends 4, Keene 1.

At the beginning of the second half Dickson shoved one through in a scrimmage and the score was West Ends 4, Keene 2.

West Ends commenced to get going again and Giroux took a pass from the wing nicely and scored. West Ends 5, Keene 2.

Hall and Crane came back together and the former scored on a pass close in. West Ends 6, Keene 2.

Keene took a dangerous rally at this stage and for a few minutes had the Westerners on the run. The forward line went down together and Weir pushed one through after a couple of nice passes. West Ends 6, Keene 4.

By this time nearly every one in the rink was cheering the villagers on, and they worked like beavers to tie the score. Their chances began to look bright when Weir slammed in another after a scrimmage in front of the nets. West Ends 6, Keene 5.

West Ends put an end to this dangerous spurt in short order, however, Crane rushed nicely and shooting from outside McCarthy fooled Dinsdale. West Ends 7, Keene 5.

Seymour and Crane broke away together and after a pass from the former to the latter at the net s mouth, Crane scored. West Ends 8, Keene 5.

This settled the matter, although Keene worked hard and annexed the last goal, Dickson turning the trick. West Ends 8, Keene 6. Following is the summary.

1 West Ends, Giroux 13 mins.
2 West Ends Crane 2 mins.
3 West Ends, Hall 30 secs.
4 West Ends, Seymour 5 mins.

STRATHS WON.

The close run that Keene gave West Ends was repeated in the second contest, when the T. A. S. chased the Strathconas through three quarters of the game on even terms and then blew up at the finish. The Abstainers were the first to score, and, although the Commissioners tied the count and forged ahead the T. A. S. drew up even again. Once more the Straths went out in front and led at half time by 3 to 2, but the Abstainers came back hard after the rest, and tied the score again. With only eighteen minutes to go and the teams on an even footing with three goals each, it looked like a battle down the stretch, but the Strathconas took a brace and ran in six goals in a row, winning on the bit what had looked like a tough fight for the honours.

It was not whirlwind hockey, by any means, but it was interesting. It was the fourth game in a week for most of the Straths, and they were not feeling very gingery. As a result there was no snap to their playing, for the greater part of the game, and the T. A. S. had nearly as much of the play as the Commissioners. The Abstainers checked vigorously and played havoc with the Straths' combination, while they worked down well themselves, and the play was remarkably even, until the last quarter, when the Coldwater men seemed to tire, and went back on the defensive for keeps.

The game was clean throughout, the penalty list being light. Weatherstone's work was one of the features of the game. The hard working left wing of the Commissioners was going at top speed all night, and only his aggressiveness kept the Straths in the lead in the first half. He scored two of the counters in that period and worked unceasingly. Ray played point the greater part of the game for the Commissioners, Campbell working at rover, while Denison was moved up to cover, in which position he will finish the season, taking Dusty's place. His work last night was gilt-edged. He checked vigorously and showed speed and good judgment in his rushes.

For T. A. S., Giroux in goal, Hefferman and McNicholl were the stars. Giroux stopped a number of hard shots from close in, while Hefferman's checking and rushing were, as usual, good. McNicholl, who, by the way, played his last game in the City League last night, shot in a fine burst of speed all the way, and never let up. He left the city this morning for Merrickville, where he has accepted a position.

The teams were:

T. A. S.—Goal, Giroux; point, Hefferman; cover, Quigley; rover, T. Sabatino; centre, Milloy; right wing, Morin; left wing, McNicholl.

Play was very even at the start. The Straths were the first to look dangerous. Denison broke away for a nice rush and combined with Burritt, but the shot was wide. Then Giroux pulled off a nice stop off a shot from McMillan. T. A. S. came back hard, and twice in succession Ray had to break up combination rushes.

Weatherstone saved another shot by fast checking back, but the T. A. S. came along with a nice combination rush, resulting in a goal from Quigley's stick in seven and one-half minutes.

T. A. S., 1; Straths, 0.

The Commissioners came back fast and the Abstainers were kept busy for a few minutes staving them off. Finally, Weatherstone came down the boards with a nice rush, and, circling out in front scooped one into the upper corner of the nets behind Giroux, and the score was tied.

T. A. S., 1; Strathconas, 1.

Burritt drew a minute for loafing. T. A. S. were working like beavers at this stage, and the Commissioners' defence were busy. It was the Strathconas who finally scored, however. Campbell, Burritt and Weatherstone came down three in a row and on a pass from Campbell, Weatherstone scored on a nice shot from the side.

Strathconas, 2; T. A. S., 1.

McNicholl was off for tripping, but no damage was done while he was off. The Straths went back at the Abstainers with a vengeance, and Giroux kicked out half a dozen shots in quick succession before Burritt scored from a scrimmage, putting the Red and White team in the lead again.

Strathconas, 3; T. A. S., 2. Half-time.

Ray moved up to rover position at the beginning of the second half. T. A. S. seemed to come back refreshed after their rest, and held the Abstainers off in good style. For twelve minutes the battle was even, and then McNicholl checked Campbell as he started a rush and went in and scored the tieing goal.

Strathconas, 3; T. A. S., 3.

The Commissioners went ahead again three and one-half minutes after. Denison started a nice rush, passed to Burritt, who transferred to Ray, and the latter scooped one past Giroux at close range. Strathconas, 4; T. A. S., 3.

Strathconas, 5; T. A. S., 3.

McMillan went off for tripping. It was a case of mistaken identity as Denison was the guilty party. However, the Straths still kept pressing Burritt took a pass from Ray and beat Giroux on a close range shot.

Strathconas, 6; T. A. S., 3.

The next goal also came from Burritt's stick, the little centre snapping one past Giroux after McMillan's shot had been blocked.

Strathconas, 7; T. A. S., 3.

McMillan increased the Straths' total to nine before the bell rang by two nice shots.

The Summary.

1—T. A. S., Quigley, 7 1-2 min.
2—Strathconas, Weatherstone, 6 1-2 minutes.
3—Strathconas, Weatherstone, 9 minutes.
4—T. A. S., Morin, 4 mins.
5—Strathconas, Burritt, 2 mins.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Had Given Up All Hope of Living.

Heart Trouble Cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. Andrew Savoy, Grattan's, N.B., writes:—"In the year 1905, I was taken sick and did not think I could live any length of time. My trouble was with my heart and people told me that nothing could be done for a case like mine. I consulted the very best doctors, but they could do me no good. For seven weeks I could hardly cross the floor. I had no pain, but was so weak nobody in the world can believe how I felt. I had given up all hopes of living and had given my little girl to my sister-in-law.

"One day a friend came to see me, and calling me by name, said, 'Lizzie, if I were you I would try a dose of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as they are good for heart trouble.' My husband got me a box, but for two days I was not feeling any better, but on the fourth day my husband said, 'I believe those pills are doing you good.' I was able to say, 'Yes, I feel a good deal better this morning.' He said, 'Well, I will get you another box right away.' I took two boxes and three doses out of the third one, and I was perfectly well and have not been sick since then.

"I will never be without them in my home for God knows if it had not been for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I would not have been alive now."

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $26,270,000.00 an increase of $1,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $219,741.76.

That, being an increase over the year 1908 of $4,817.24.

The Assets now total $396,974.09, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,437.13.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President
Noel Marshall, Vice-President.

GREAT INTEREST IN THE LINDSAY GAME

The Lindsay team is coming down to-morrow night with a big bunch of fans, hopeful of repeating last week's feat and defeating Peterborough on their own ice. If they do it is good-bye to the locals' chances of getting any further along in the race. Peterborough, however, do not expect them to turn the trick again and with a strengthened line-up are confident of turning the tables and tying up the district. The score at Lindsay on Monday is no criterion of the respective strength of the two teams, between whom there is very little difference. To-morrow night's game should be productive of any amount of excitement and there should be a big crowd on hand as the fans are taking keen interest in the result. The executive of the club will meet to-night for the purpose of selecting the team which will not be announced until after the meeting. The strongest seven that has yet represented Peterborough will, however, wear the blue and white, and if Lindsay wins it will only be after the hardest kind of a battle.

The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do well without a thought of fame. If it comes at all, it will come because it is deserved not because it is sought after. It is very indiscreet and troublesome ambition which cares so much about fame, about what the world says of us, as to be looking in the faces of others for approval to be always anxious about the effect of what we do or say, to be always shouting to hear the echoes of our own voices.

DANGEROUS DANDRUFF

Will Make Canada a Baldheaded Nation If Not Checked.

M. Pasteur, the great French Physician of Paris, once said: "I believe we shall one day rid the world of all diseases caused by germs."

Dandruff is caused by germs, a fact accepted by all physicians.

Dandruff is the root of all hair evils. If it were, not for the little destructive germs working with a persistency worthy of a better cause, there would be no baldness.

Parisian Sage will kill the dandruff germs and remove dandruff in two weeks or money back.

Wm. Madill guarantees it. It will stop itching scalp,, falling hair and make the hair grow thick and abundant.

It puts life and lustre into the hair and prevents it from turning gray.

It is the hair dressing par excellence, daintily perfumed and free from grease stickiness. It is the favourite with women of taste and culture, who know the social value of fascinating hair. A large bottle costs only 50 cents at leading druggists everywhere and in Peterborough by Wm. Madill. The girl with the auburn hair is on every package.

LOCAL CURLERS WILL HAVE BUSY WEEK

with the Neill-Shepherd trophy games are being played to-night, both in Peterborough and Orillia. The four rinks that have gone to the Northern town are skipped by the following players—R. Neill, Geo. W. Morrow, Wm. M. Lang and R. Sturgeon. They have in their rinks some of the city's best, and it is hoped that they will vanquish the Orillia players on their own ice. Four Orillia rinks will arrive on the nine o'clock train, and will play on the Charlotte St. ice the rinks skipped by S. T. Medd, R. M. Waddell, Dickson, Davidson, and Charlie Brown.

The Orillia curlers are the present holders of the Neill-Shepherd trophy, but they will have to be in the best of form, and assisted by horseshoes to keep it in their possession another year. After the games here to-night a reception will be tendered the visitors and a pleasant time is expected.

To-morrow night four rinks are coming down with the hockey excursion from Lindsay to play Peterborough for the Lindsay-Peterborough Cup. It was not known to-day who of the local rinks would oppose them, but it is a certainty that the friendly rivalry between these two towns will be maintained in these games and four stiff contests will ensue.

On Monday afternoon Peterborough plays off with Brockville in Belleville, the final games for the District Cup. The eastern group was united with this district this year and Brockville and Kingston played off for the eastern semi-finals yesterday, victory going to Brockville by the narrow margin of one point. Here's hoping the locals spread it over their contestants from down on the St. Lawrence.

In the meantime the inter-rink games are being played off, and the finals are approaching nearer. Last night the results were as follows:

FIREPLACE

Have you ever taken your pipe after an unusually good dinner, and snuggled into the chair that fits, to an evening of dreamy thoughts before a dancing log fire?

As you sit, with half closed eyes, the fire burns and twists the logs into a hundred fancied forms.

One log may take the form of a snubnosed school-mate, long forgotten: or as a charred knot is silhouetted against the bursting flames it may recall an inseparable companion of your early youth—a pet dog. As the fire settles itself into a bed of glowing coals and the logs sizzle and crack themselves into little charred squares—it is then your thoughts turn to more romantic memories.

Have you ever known this? If so, you are fortunate, for fireplace building is almost a lost art.

The dreaming has turned to swearing, and the smoking—well, the chimney does that.

If you are building a fireplace with a bungalow round it, you tell the stonemason just what you want. He will say—"But, you have a furnace." And then you will have to explain that it's just to make things look cheerful. The mason will look at you pityingly and proceed to build a fire place that fills the room with smoke.

Then you hold a consultation of masons, and they decide to tear down the bungalow and rebuild the fireplace.

The first cold night you invite a few friends to the christening of the doubly new fireplace. It burns all right now, but all the heat goes up the chimney, and then you understand that fireplace building is a lost art.

After you have all shivered for half an hour you sneak to the cellar and build a fire in the furnace.

Three or four suburban bungalow dwellers found themselves together in the car the other morning, when one of them remarked that he would like to find a mason who could build a fireplace that wouldn't smoke.

"You'll have your troubles there," answered another. "My fireplace smokes so that I can't use it."

"So does mine," chorused the other two cliff dwellers.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Mrs. A. Graham, of 547 Water St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "My back was so weak and tender that I could not turn in bed. A heavy dull pain had settled across the small of it and caused me almost constant suffering. I became weak and languid. I was run down generally and had little ambition to move around. Headaches were frequent and often accompanied by spells of dizziness. Spots would dazzle before my eyes and I would be unable to see. I had tried numerous remedies without getting results. Booth's Kidney Pills were advertised at Wm. Madill's Pharmacy, which I tried and soon found relief. The kidneys were quickly regulated and each symptom of kidney trouble was quickly cured. I am glad to recommend Booth's Kidney Pills as I believe them to be the best and most reliable of all kidney remedies."

What Is Home

The golden setting in which the brightest jewel is "mother."

A world of strife shut out, a world of love shut in.

An arbor which shades when the sunshine of prosperity becomes too dazzling; a harbor where the human bark finds shelter in the time of adversity.

Home is the blossom of which Heaven is the fruit.

Home is a person's estate obtained without injustice, kept without disquietude; a place where time is spent without repentance, and which is ruled by justice, mercy, and love.

A hive in which, like the industrious bee, youth garners the sweets and memories of life for age to meditate and feed upon.

The best place for a married man after working hours.

Home is the easiest, kindliest, sweetest place in all the world, the scene of our purest earthly joys and deepest sorrows.

The place where the great are sometimes small, and the small often great. The father's kingdom, the children's paradise, the mother's world.

The jewel casket containing the most precious of all jewels—domestic happiness.

Where you are treated best and grumble most.

The centre of our affections, around which our heart's best wishes twine.

A popular but paradoxical institution, in which woman works in the absence of man, and man rests in the presence of women.

Otonabee Agricultural Society Held Their Annual Meeting

Examiner Special.

The following are the minutes of the meeting of the Otonabee Agricultural Society, held in the town hall Friday afternoon.

The President, Mr. Robert Humphries occupied the chair. The minutes of the last meeting and of the directors' meeting were presented by the secretary, and on motion of William Drummond, seconded by R. A. Nelson, received and adopted.

The annual financial report showing a balance on hand of $274.89 was read and considered. On motion of Peter Drummond, seconded by W. J. Miller, the following officers were elected for the coming year.

President—Robert Humphries.
Vice-President—Peter Drummond.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Joshua Smithson.
Secretary-Treasurer—Andrew Shearer.
Auditors—J. C. Read and James McNeil.
Directors—J. H. Fife, J. Laing, J. J. Moore, W. J. Miller, G. Howson, W. Renwick, A. Stuart, W. W. Shearer, W. B. Stewart, W. Drummond, J. Miller, R. Weir, R. A. Nelson, D. Edwards, F. A. Easson, Edgar Wood Alex. Wood.

The secretary presented correspondence from the Agricultural Department, which was duly discussed and considered by the meeting.

On motion of W. Drummond, seconded by J. Lang, the president was appointed a delegate to the meeting of the Association of Fairs and Exhibitions to be held in Toronto.

On motion of Peter Drummond, seconded by William Drummond, the Society decided to request the department to appoint an expert judge for this year's fair.

The Fair will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 6th and 7th.

On motion of F. A. Easson, seconded by R. A. Nelson, it was decided that the Society have field crop competition the grain chosen being as last year, white oats.

No action was taken regarding the Childrens Sheaf Competition..

It was decided that the by-laws be amended, that officers should remove their badges while exhibiting their stock, also that judges may reject any animal offered for competition in any class to which they consider that it does not rightfully belong.

On motion of William Drummond, seconded by R. A. Nelson, the committee for care of the grounds was reappointed.

Last fair showed as usual a slight increase over the year before in every way with an increase in entries of 103, in members of 15, in prize money of $51.

There were also an increased attendance and consequent increased gate receipts.

The society is in a healthy state owning a valuable property with a good tract and ample buildings.

Orange Concert.

The Orangemen held their annual concert, oyster supper and dance in the town hall Friday evening. In spite of the rather inclement weather there was a good sized crowd and a very pleasant evening was spent. Following is the programme of the concert:

FOSTER'S WEATHER BULLETIN

Washington, D.C., Feb. 5.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent 5 to 9, warm wave 4 to 8, cool wave 7 to 11. This will be a radical storm of the February type. It will cause a warm wave and a cold wave with a range of temperatures running from a thaw to a freeze. It will be most severe in eastern provinces and northeastern states from 9 to 11.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about 12, cross Pacific slope by close of 13, great central valleys 14 to 16, eastern provinces and northeastern states 17. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about 12, great central valleys 14, eastern provinces and northeastern states 16. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about 15, great central valleys 17, eastern provinces and northeastern states 19.

This will be another radical Feb. disturbance with temperatures going higher and cold wave not so low as in previous disturbance. All the storm waves of Feb. will cause precipation, above normal amounts along a wide strip from St. Louis to Quebec while in other sections it will be below normal. Rainfall will be considerably short of the normal in the southern states, Cuba and Mexico. In middle and western provinces of Canada about normal precipitation is expected from these disturbances.

I am about ready to send my monthly weather charts to the newspapers for publication. These charts will be made for the several weather divisions of the States and Canada. I desire suggestions from the readers of these bulletins and will, for that purpose, send a copy of these monthyl charts to anyone who remits to me, at 28 T Street, N.E., Washington, D.C., a stamp to pay postage. I expect that the addition of these charts will make a great improvement in my weather work. A sample copy of these charts will be mailed to each newspaper that publishes my bulletins.

The Troy, N.Y., Press, Jan 22, said: "Foster hit right," was a common expression during the pendency of the blizzard yesterday. The bullseye will bear testimony to the fact that he is a great meterological marksman."

Many are asking if the comet will affect the weather and crops and I would say very little if any. If it has any effect on crops, the effect will be good. Plant food comes from the atmosphere and the comet might enrich the atmosphere along the plant food line. But that would be bad for animal and human health.

If the earth passes through the comet's tail, it will probably have no immediate effect but may cause epidemic of strange diseases and an increased growth of vegetation through the foreign gases that may come into our atmosphere.

GRIT AND LIME FOR HENS

From Farm and Dairy.

S. Short, Carleton Co., Ont.

There should be an unlimited supply of grit and oyster shell before laying hens at all times. This is very essential. The grit supplies the stones for the gizzard, through which all the grain passes, and is there ground up. As soon as the stones are worn smooth they are expelled and fresh, sharp ones are swallowed by the fowl to take the place of those discarded so that if no grit is supplied, the fowls are in danger of having indigestion which is sometimes fatal, and will always prevent the hens from laying. The oyster shell is also a necessity to supply lime for the shells of the eggs.

The layers are able to eat different substances containing lime and manufacture it into egg shell. If there is no lime supply the shells are very thin and are easily broken. If eggs are broken, the hens will invariably eat the eggs chiefly to get the shell and this forms the egg-eating habit, which soon spreads through the flock, and if so, is exceedingly hard to cure until the fowls leave the winter quarters and get out of doors again.

Did Mr. Bruin See His Shadow To-day?

Whether or not the "bear has seen his shadow" to-day there will be many cold days yet, when you will need an overcoat. You cannot afford to throw an opportunity such as this over your shoulder. Every overcoat must go now. Every top garment must leave our wardrobes this month. Styles that are staple and will be worn and in vogue next winter so why not make an investment, you'll save money and have the use of the coat this winter. Think this over and get our prices—they're most interesting.

TO-DAY'S EXAMINER.

Owing to the fact that the Local Typographical Union and the Peterborough publishers have not reached any mutual agreement as to the adoption of a scale to replace that just expired, the employees of the news and job rooms of all the papers in the city did not return to work this morning; and as a consequence the local papers are issued to-day in the manner in which you find them. Neither our advertisers or readers are receiving to-day the most up-to-date service, but we are doing the best we can under the circumstances. The business and editorial staff are at work to-day and any information that can be given from a business standpoint, and anything that we are called upon for that it is possible for us to do, will have our attention.

OLD COUNTRY ORDERS.

The Peterborough Lubricator Company, is very busy at their factory on Hunter St. East these days, turning out large numbers of the grease cups. Yesterday a three thousand dollar order was received from London, England.

C. G. E. CO. BUSY.

The Canadian General Electric Company have under consideration the expenditure of from $250,000 to $750,000 in extensions to their plant but there is some doubt as to whether the Canada Foundry in Toronto will be enlarged or whether the extensions will be made to the local plant. Mr. Frederic Nicholls Vice President and General Manager of the Company stated to an Examiner reporter this morning that the great increase in business demanded larger quarters but it is a matter now receiving the careful consideration of the company where the extensions will be made.

POLICE COURT.

Charles Henderson appeared before Magistrate Edmison, in the county police court, charged with assaulting the McPherson sisters at heir home near Norwood last Friday. The condition of one of them has not improved and small hopes for her recovery are entertained. Prisoner who is a mere youth was remanded for a week.

A young man was fined five dollars and costs amounting to $7.90, at the police court this morning for assaulting a clerk at the freight sheds. He pleaded guilty.

WED AND LIVE LONG ADVICE OF BERTILLON

French Statistics Show Bachelors and Spinsters Die Young—Widowers Should Re-marry if Under 60 Years of Age.

INSURING RIPE OLD AGE

Paris, Jan. 29.—Punch's famous advice to those about to get married—Don't—is vigorously opposed by Dr. Jacques Bertillon, who is possibly the greatest living authority on the sexes.

'Marry, if you want to live to a good old age," says Dr. Bertillon, and gives his reasons with statistics to back them up. "The married man or woman has," he says, "thrice as much chance of a good, long run of life as a bachelor or spinster."

Dr. Bertillon shows also that mortality among widowers is greater than the average among married men; so he recommends them to marry again, provided they are under 60 years of age.

The figures on which Dr. Bertillon bases his advice are not peculiar to France, for he explains that his father who also made a study of the question, got statistics from Germany, Austria, Italy, Sweden, Holland and Belgium, which completely bear out his opinion, while he himself has studied the matter in France. To young men Dr. Bertillon has this to say:

"Marry and you will do well even from a selfish standpoint; but watch carefully over your wife's health, as, even from this egotistical point of view, her loss will be a terrible misfortune; for your rifle depends in a great measure on her own."

To women his advice is:

"And to you, Mademoiselle, I give counsel to marry in your most selfish interest, as mortality among married women is less than among spinsters of the same age, at least after the age of 20, but the difference is less for women than for men. The mortality among spinsters is much greater than among married women, but it is not twice as great as in the case of men."

Next comes the widow: "Mortality among widows is distinctly much greater than among married women of the same age. The sweet state of widowhood is, on the contrary, fatal to young widows. Their death rate, from 20 to 25 years of age, is twice that of married women at the corresponding age."

Then Dr. Bertillon goes on gallantly to say that women have less need of men than the latter have of them. He says that the death rate is generally less among women than with men of the same age and station. What is the reason? Simply that they are steadier. And there is no doubt, for the same reason that matrimony conduces to longevity.

"Married people lead a more regular life," he says. "They are more controlled, discreet though this control may be, and it must be discreet if it is to be useful. Their physical life, like their moral life, is healthier, quieter and more natural.

"Other explanations may be assigned, but, in my opinion, they are not worth this one."

Valetudinarians, weaklings, drunkards and fast people do not marry so much as others, so matrimony, it is argued, gets the soundest recruits. But this is not a sufficient argument, says Dr. Bertillon. He says:

"If it were, widowers, who are also the elect of marriage, would retain the very low mortality of married men. Well, they have the same death rate as bachelors, and even higher, perhaps. They succumb to the trouble which their loss has caused them.

"Don't smile—that can—happen. I have seen instances of this."

Thus does Dr. Bertillon point the moral in French statistics: For one year which he has selected the deaths per 1,000 men among bachelors between 35 and 40 were 19; while those of married men were only 8; between 55 and 60 the figure was 41 for the former and 23 for the latter. With women at the same ages the mortality was correspondingly 12 and 8 between 35 and 40, and 24 and 18 between 55 and 60. The death rates among widows and divorcees were, respectively, 12 and 21 per 1,000.

HIGHER EXPENDITURE.

In the Ontario Legislature the practice of increasing the expenditure goes merrily on and the demand for the current year is now over ten millions as opposed to three millions under the Liberal regime. The Toronto Globe says:

The supplementary estimates submitted to the Legislature bring the total demand of the Government for the current year up to $10,347,000. This does not include the various statutory expenditures made without an annual vote in the House and which may be regarded as certain to add a large sum to the year's outlay. The supposed necessities attendant on a change of the fiscal period from the calendar year to a year ending with October led the Government to vote the main estimates last year and the supplementaries during the present session.

DEBATE ON BUDGET

Hon. Col. Matheson Outlines His Financial Report.

POWER IS TO CURB TRUSTS

Government Is Not Manufacturing Anything In Its Power Enterprises But Simply Taking Up a Weapon Against Combines—Mr. McDougall Reminds the Government That This Is a Boom Time.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—Hon. Col. Matheson, in rising in the legislature yesterday afternoon to move that the house go into committee of supply, congratulated the House and the people of the province on a prosperous financial year. He had expected, owing to the change in the fiscal year that there might have been a very large deficit. He was happy to be able to say that, owing to economy of administration and extra revenue received, they had been very near making ends meet, even for the ten months. There was an apparent deficit of $87,900, but it should be taken into account that a large proportion of the crown timber dues and most of the license dues were paid during the months of November and December. It should also be observed that an extra $35,000 has been paid in cash for railway aid, which might have been paid in certificates on account extending over forty years. The $15,000 had been spent on additions to the Parliament buildings.

Every item of the estimated receipts had been exceeded except one. Owing to the unparalleled development of New Ontario there had been an increase in the receipts from crown lands of $528,000 over the estimate. He thought it a good evidence of the prosperity of the country that the receipts of the Provincial Secretary's Department had gone $83,000 over the estimate.

The succession duties had shown an increase of $281,000. Nearly $600,000 had been received from this source since he had made his last budget speech on March 4, 1909.

"Then we took in $550,000 from the earnings of the T. & N. O. Railway. I am glad to say that the prospect is that this is likely to continue, so that soon the net earnings of the road will be quite sufficient to pay all the charges on the cost of construction.

"In nearly every item we have been able to keep the expenditure well within the estimates. I might say in regard to the public institutions that in every item there was not one cent in excess. This shows careful attention to detail."

"We are not manufacturing power. We are simply meeting the trusts. None but a Government could interfere. This Government has interfered and the result is that the people are saving money. Hamilton alone is saving a large amount yearly because we are going to give them cheap power, which will be well worth the capital expenditure of $1,000,000, and other places are in the same proportion. There will be no profits on watered stock."

J. D. McDougall (East Ottawa), who head off for the Opposition, claimed that the prosperity of the country was due to the legacy of the late Government. But, why should the expenditure have increased in four or five years from $5,267,000 to $10,374,000. No credit was due the Government for the increase in succession duties or the Dominion subsidy. Notwithstanding the prosperity of the province, the revenue from crown lands had remained at a standstill.

The Government seemed to forget that they were enjoying a "boom time," when they should save for a rainy day.

His main criticisms were three: The increased ordinary expenditure, the change in mining policy, and that 200,000 acres of the clay belt had been given to a railway company, despite the previous protestations of the Government.

Rev. T. W. Neal Called to Kingston.

Kingston, Feb. 4.—Rev. T. W. Neal of Newmarket, Ont., has been called to Sydenham street Methodist Church, Kingston, for the next conference year and has accepted. Rev. British Fleet on Practice Cruise.

London, Feb. 4.—It was stated at the Admiralty yesterday that the sailing yesterday of the British squadron from Malta was for practice cruise and had no bearing whatever upon the political situation in Greece and Crete.

It was officially said that the fleet was not going as far east as the Piraeus.

Selecting Fritch Jury.

Windsor, Feb. 4.—The work of selecting jurors for the trial of Dr. G. A. Fritch, formerly of Embro, Ont., charged with the murder of Maybelle Millman, is progressing slowly. Fritch, with notebook and pencil, is a close observer of every move on the preliminaries. He is confident of acquittal.

Londoners Control Textile Stock.

Montreal, Feb. 4.—A cable received by the Bank of Montreal says that the Canadian Investment Co. of London, Eng., have availed themselves of the balance of Dominion Textile Stock on which they had an option. This takes three millions out of the total issue of five millions of common stock.

New Treaty Hurts Revenue.

Montreal, Feb. 4.—One of the effects of the Franco-Canadian commercial treaty which has just gone into effect, will be the reduction of revenue of about $350,000 on the various schedules of silk importations.

A fifteen storey hotel at Quebec is said to be planned by the G. T. R. Railway.

President Daville of Honduras may be ousted by Congress. Condition is critical.

The Sellers-Gough Co., furriers, Toronto will open palatial salesroom in Montreal.

The wife of Gould Brokaw, a New York society leader, has secured a separation and $150,000 a year alimony.

Robert Densmore and Thomas McDonald were sentenced at London yesterday to three years each for highway robbery.

The big railroads of the U. S. practically own the express companies and, through granting them exclusive contracts over their lines, yield 55 per cent. of their net profits.

Sidney H. Kidner, well-known at the beaches in Toronto, by reason of his taking a daily dip in the lake during the winter, has joined the N.W.M.P. and leaves for the west tonight.

Break In N. Y. Stocks.

New York, Feb. 4.—The onslaughts of an aggressive bear party, together with gathering distrust of the industrial, business and political outlook brought about violent declines in the stock Exchange yesterday, with United States Steel heading the downward movement. In all, sales totalled 1,672,000 shares, with a fourth of this aggregate in steel shares, which broke to 78, the lowest since September last. At the low point, which came early in the final hour, declines ran all the way to eight points.

The violence of the movement caused the day to be regarded as a probable culmination of the decline, with a raversal likely to follow.

An Aeronaut's Suicide.

San Francisco, Feb. 4.—With his head thrust into the envelope of a balloon into which a stream of illuminating gas was pouring, C. A. Farrar, an aeronaut, aged 30 years, was found dead yesterday on the roof of the house where he lodged. Ill-health caused him to commit suicide.

NASAL CATARRH

Responsible for Much Deafness, Hoarseness, Bronchitis and Stomach Trouble.

Medicated Air Will Cure

These are common diseases, but not less dangerous and difficult to cure on that account. In our climate the weather changes quickly. We are careless. Disease attacks us before we know it. A large majority of our people have nose, lung, or throat troubles, and find it hard to get cured.

It's remarkable with what tenacity both the medical profession and the laity adhere to the old theory that these diseases can be reached and combated by dosing. And this despite the fact that failure to cure in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred attends this mode of treatment.

STOMACH MEDICINE CAN'T CURE.

At best it is a roundabout way of trying to reach the disease which is in the air passages of the throat, nose, bronchial tubes and lungs. Leave the stomach alone—use a remedy that air will carry into the minutest air cells, into the tiniest cavities of the affected organs.

LIQUID REMEDIES DANGEROUS.

Doctors say only "Catarrhozone" can cure—you inhale it along with the air you breath—it goes where the living disease germs are gnawing into your system—it kills these germs—it heals, soothes. it CURES.

CATARRHOZONE GUARANTEED.

Wouldn't it be wise to use Catarrhozone now—to-day—and be cured permanently?

You can send the soothing vapor of the pine woods, the richest balsams and healing essences, right to the cause of your trouble by inhaling Catarrhozone.

Little drops of wonderful curative power are distributed through the whole breathing apparatus in two seconds.

Like a miracle, that's how Catarrhozone works in bronchitis, catarrh colds, and irritable throat. You simply breath its oily, fragrant vapor and every trace of congestion and disease flees as before fire.

So safe, infants can use it; so sure to cure, doctors prescribe it, so beneficial in preventing winter ills, no person can afford to do without Catarrhozone. Used in thousands of cases without failure. Try it yourself's 25c. 50c. $1.00 sizes. Sold by all dealers or by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Toronto, Canada.—"I shall endeavor to describe to you how I felt before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I scarcely knew what it was to be well. I had awful bearing-down pains and usually before my monthly periods I suffered terribly and had to go to bed. I was not able to walk across the floor the pain was so bad. I doctored for a long time, but the doctor's treatment did not do me any good. I gave up all hopes of ever being well again until one day my husband saw the Compound advertised in the paper. He decided to get me a bottle, and I am thankful he did. I had not taken one bottle before I began to feel better, and I kept on taking it until now I am a different woman. It also helped me during [illegible] and childbirth. I can thoroughly recommend your Vegetable Compound to any woman who is afflicted with female troubles."—Mrs. J. M. TWEEDALE, 138 Nassau St., Toronto, Canada.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration

By RUTH CAMERON.

I wish people nowadays were less afraid of bare facts and more afraid of allusions.

There is nothing either indecent or amusing in the great facts of life. But by circling mysteriously around them, approaching and retreating, lifting the veil and then dropping it and running away, as if there were something to be afraid of, or laughing, as if there were something funny in our antics, we create the illusion of indecency and amusement.

We are like children playing peek-a-boo. We peek behind our self-erected screen and then laugh, not because we see anything funny, but just at our own antics.

The indecency and the humour are not in the things themselves, but in our way of hiding them and then going and taking forbidden peeks at what we have hidden.

A perfectly naked body is not half so immodest as a halfdraped body shrinking and trying to hide behind its draperies.

I once attended the performance of Isadore Duncan, the great classic dancer.

Miss Duncan, as one critic expresses it, "dances with limbs bare and uncorseted body, draped only with blowing gauze, which reveals when she moves every exquisite emotion she has trained herself to portray."

The chorus of the light opera that I saw the next evening wore a great many more clothes than she did, but they were far less modest.

One of the professors where I went to college used to tell his classes that there was a vast difference between nudeness and nakedness.

Nudeness, he said, was unconscious and unabashed, while nakedness was conscious and ashamed. The beautiful Greek statues, with absolutely no draperies, he explained, were nude, while many of the later works of art, although partially draped, were naked.

In the same way it seemed to me that Isadore Duncan, with her scant draperies, was less naked than the more extensively clothed, but more suggestive, ballet dancers. And in the same way it seems to me that a frankly faced fact is far more decent than an allusion however carefully clothed.

I would infinitely rather a young daughter of mine went to a play in which the facts of sex were dealt with frankly and fearlessly, than to a play or light opera filled with gracefully worded allusions.

I would rather she read the novel that has paragraphs in it that polite society would shudder at than the book that touches things more gracefully and lightly but leaves one laughing at sin.

As a newspaper woman I have sometimes been obliged to discuss with men, facts and situations that are not usually the subject of conversation between sexes. But if the men looked me in the eye and spoke simply and frankly I did not mind.

It was far, far worse to me if a man who did not understand me, made some suggestive allusion.

I wish the mothers of the present day would teach their daughters to dislike nothing so much as allusions, however amusing, to frown on nothing so much as suggestiveness, however carefully worded, and to shun frankly, have nothing in them to laugh at.

I fancy if mothers would cultivate such an attitude they would find they had created a better guard for their daughters' morals than any chaperonage or watchfulness, however careful, could possibly be.

PETERBOROUGH

FOR THE PUBLIC

New Formula Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Hoarseness in Five Hours.

Much is being done in these days to stop the ravages of consumption, but probably nothing has been so effective as teaching the public how to break up a cold and cure coughs, bronchitis, tonsilitis, etc., with simple home-mixed medicine. A laxative cough syrup, free from whiskey is the prime need. A cough indicates inflammation and congestion and these in turn are due to an excess of waste and poison in the system. A tonic laxative cough syrup rids the system of congestion, while relieving the painful coughing. Get the following and mix at home. One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every one-half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less, according to age. Cut this out and save it for some friend.

STUDENTS PLAY AT MARKHAM

The Peterborough Collegiate Junior O.H.A. team plays its first game in the second round to-morrow night when the students will journey to Markham to meet the Junior O.H.A. team of the Tournament town. The local team will leave on the 8.25 train to-morrow morning and will be as follows:

The garnet and gray team are in good shape and should give a creditable account of themselves. They had a great practice yesterday afternoon between 5 and 6 and showed fine form.

The return game will be played here on Monday night and should be one of the best games of the season. The students are a classy bunch of youngsters and should make a fine showing in the O. H. A. ranks this season. There will be a big crowd on hand to see them perform against the Markham bunch as the students have won a big bunch of admirers by reason of their grit and cleverness. Monday night's game will be well worth seeing

Montreal Club Sighs for Amateur Day—May Go Back to Old Method.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—The time is not far distant, according to Tim Slattery, the President of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club, when Shamrocks will return to the straight amateur game in both lacrosse and hockey.

Shamrocks do not disguise the fact that the attempt to run professional teams is a burden to the flesh.

"We go up there and give our time and sometimes our money," said a Shamrock official only yesterday, "and for what? Simply to keep together a crowd of men who are looking after themselves and don't care two cents about the Association or its traditions."

The annual meeting of the lacrosse club comes off early in March and it is understood that there will be a wholesale shake-up in the executive. Tim Slattery, for one, declares that he will not get into harness again and the same thing is being said about many of the others.

Johnnie Howard is still in Montreal but is leaving in a few weeks for Vancouver. Jimmie Hogan, of the Shamrocks and brother Frankie, of Montreal, have both come under the covetous glances of those Western magnates. The Scott brothers, probably the most daring players in the game to-day, have been offered temptations to desert the champion Montreal team. McIlwaine, of the Shamrocks, is through with the game and will play no more. Same with Kavanagh, according to current gossip, while various others of the old stagers have about the same thing to say.

DUSTY IS MAKING GOOD

Brantford Feb. 2. — (Special.)— Brantford turned the tables on Berlin here to -night, administering the whitewash brush to the tune of 5 to 0. Lehman's remarkable goal keeping only saved a catastrophe, as the puck was in Berlin territory three-quarters of the time. The Berlin forwards were checked to a standstill by Brantford and could never break away.

Ben Dusty and Smith appeared with Brantford and greatly strengthened the line-up. At half-time the score was 1 to 0 and fine combination work gave four more to the homesters in the second half. Mercer and Rowden played star games for Brantford. Fred Waghorne gave a fine exhibition with the whistle. The penalties were few.

HOW IT LOOKED TO LINDSAY

If there is anything that distinguishes the hockey reports of the Lindsay Post more than their accuracy it is the beautiful display of modesty that runs through the accounts. You would almost fancy they had lost the game after reading the following effusion, would you not? You would—NOT. The Post says:

History states that a Roman emperor in learning of the defeat and annihilation of his troops by Herman, the deliverer of Germany, cried out in despair: "Oh, Quintillius Varus, give me back my legions!"

When the result of last night's hockey struggle reached the banks of the Otonabee, and was heralded from one end of the Quaker Oats settlement to the other, the weeping and lamentations were indescribable. Their valiant band had gone forth to battle with the determination of again defeating the Midgets on their own stumping ground. They returned crestfallen and discomfited, for the locals rose in their might and smote them. They are turning out Quaker Oats to-day in Peterborough with black border around the boxes.

Ye gods and little fishes, what a score! What an aeroplane ascension! What a slaughter! As the small boy would say: "Hully gee, who'd a thunk it?" However, it's sweet and honourable to die for one's country, and we must ever remember the admonition "Of the dead say only that which is good."

The Midgets evidently believe in the adage, "Do it well." The way they polished off things last night was a sight alike to men and angels. Their opponents faded from view, like a life-sized piece of watermelon in the hands of a hungry picaninny. They were swallowed up, body, soul and all. Let this be a warning to others. But it won't. Other teams will come forward just as confident, and just as brave, and they, too, will get it where Lucinda wears the necklet. We are out to defend the silverware against all comers, and on a fair field with no favours we are prepared to lick any other intermediate septette out of their bloomerettes. We have spoken.

Are not the Midgets a classy bunch? They turned on their steam valves at full cock and uncorked a quality of hockey that has rarely been seen on local ice.

And what of the defeated ones? Leonidous Derocher, the Franco-Irishmen, in the nets, is the cherries. He was kept dancing last night and although he allowed thirteen shots to find the nets he connected successfully with ten times that number.

Campbell, at point, is an aggressive player and holds down that position well, although last night he found shelter in the penalty box for actions that were not according to Hoyle. (This is very funny inasmuch as Campbell was not penalized during the game.)

McDougall, at cover, was as reliable as ever, and is a capital man at that position. Ray was as brilliant as ever, and his work was a treat to witness. McMillan, Seymour, and Dobson were also a speedy trio, although Seymour spent too much time in the penalty box. The forwards at times introduced some nice combination, more especially in the first half.

The Best Eastern Stars Are Graduates Of O. H. A.

The following letter to the Toronto Star will be heartily endorsed here:

Sporting Editor Star.

I notice the following extract from the columns of the Montreal Star:

"Hockey is well organized in Ontario, and the men who worked out the scheme, mapped out the districts, arranged the classes and drew up the schedules, showed that they are statesmen, possessing the instinct and tradition of government," as the late Mr. Davin used to say of his party. There are great minds in hockey in Ontario. It is just possible that the statesmanship is a trifle better than the stick-handling."

The sting is supposed to be in the tail, but if the writer had been as well informed about the hockey that surrounds him on every side in the professional ranks he would not probably have spoiled a well-deserved compliment to a great and powerful association by adding the last sentence to the paragraph.

The class of hockey in Ontario is as good as any in the world; certainly better than in Quebec, of which Montreal is supposed to be the hockey centre. Toronto University has demonstrated this for years, and in the inter-city amateur games Toronto and Kingston teams easily hold their own and usually show superiority. Certainly M.A.A.A., McGill, Laval, Victorias cannot teach us anything, while, granting Ottawa to Quebec for purposes of argument, the Cliffsides have been beaten here by a team that does not over-shadow a number of other local teams.

The professionals, who thrive in the East, are mostly from Ontario and got their schooling in the O.H.A. Look at the Ottawa team, Stanley Cup holders and "champions of the world," as they delight to call themselves. Five of the seven players come from O. H. A. teams. Percy LeSueur got his hockey education in Smith's Falls, Mallen in Morrisburg, Marty Walsh in Kingston, Bruce Ridpath, in Toronto, and Albert Kerr in Brockville. Of the Renfrew diamond-studded team Fred Whitcroft first played hockey in Peterborough; so did Hay Miller. Both then went to Midland. Bobbie Rowe learnt his hockey in Barrie, and the great Fred Taylor once got as far as the Junior O. H. A. finals with the Listowel team, only to be beaten right here in Toronto by the Frontenac-Beechgroves from Kingston. Herb Clarke and Steve Vair, the best men on the Cobalt team, are O. H. A. products, Clarke being on the Kingston team that beat Listowel, and Vair learning the game in Barrie. Reddy McMillan came into prominence in the days of the old Wellingtons, when the Iron Dukes went to Cornwall and beat the Factory Town on their own ice in an O.H.A. fixture. Grindy Forrester, of the Shamrocks, played twelve years ago in the O.H.A. for Waterloo, and Jack Winchester of Toronto, kept goal for Belleville half that long ago. The rest of the team comes from Winnipeg, so that Quebec hasn't much to crow about there. Riley Hern, the Wanderers' goal-keeper, is a product of Stratford, and Eddie Lalonde, the star performer for Les Canadiens, comes from Cornwall and played his first hockey in the junior O. H. A. at Woodstock.

It seems to me that the Ontario Hockey Association not only controls and regulates the game as near to perfection as possible, but has also produced most of the great players in the game.

An Ontario Observer.

WHY SOME TOWNS GROW

The reason why some towns grow is because there are men of push and energy in it, who are not afraid to spend their time and money to boom their town. They erect substantial buildings and establish factories, secure railroads and use every means in their power to induce people to locate in their city. Wherever they go they tell of the advantages of their city, they write about them in every letter, they send circulars and newspapers to all whom they think they can get to visit the city, and when anyone visits them treats him so kindly that he falls in love with them and their city at once. It is enterprise and everyone pulling together that makes a progressive town and don't let the fact escape your memory.

To hear every person saying something pleasant about its people and its interests is the surest, quickest and easiest way to make a town attractive to a stranger. One of the best ways in which to make a town attractive with that sort of attraction that will draw other people to it is for every man and every woman to have a pleasant word for the people and the town generally. Talk up your town if you would have it do well. Talk up your town if you would have others come to you. Talk up your town if you would feel an interest in it and have its people feel an interest in you. There is no better way to do it. And many a time one little word of unpleasant reference to something that does not exactly suit you and not particularly concern you as to that matter, will turn a good man's influence away from your town and may even drive him away. At your own fireside, talk up your town. Among your neighbors talk up your town. When you come in contact with strangers, talk up your town. And at your own fireside among neighbors and coming in contact with strangers, talk up the most potent agency ever set in motion for helping your town.

THE INCUBATOR ON THE FARM

From Farm and Dairy.

The arrival of the catalogues issued by the manufacturers of incubators reminds one that the incubation season will soon be here. Already correspondents are asking advice about trying, whether a farmer can operate a machine and if so what is the best machine to buy, and so on.

I am not going to attempt to tell a man what machine he should buy and which not to buy any more perhaps than to say that so-called cheap machines are very often "cheap." There are several good makes of incubators on the market, any of which will do good work under most conditions, and these are manufactured by reliable firms. As a rule the low-priced machines guaranteed to be just as good as those costing twice as much are made to sell.

NOT FOR SPECIALISTS ALONE.

It has been said that incubators are as yet too complex for the average farmer, that it is only meant for the specialist. From what I have seen, I am of the opinion that the farmer who operates one or two machines can get just as good results as the man who makes a specialty of it. In many cases his hatches are better. This, however, may be accounted for by the condition of his flock more than in the operation of the machine. In fact, some of the first directions that manufacturers should insist upon are to have the breeding stock healthy and vigorous, given plenty of fresh air and exercise, that they be matured, free from lice, fed well on dry food without stimulants, mated with good, vigorous males and only normal eggs that have not been chilled used.

If such directions were carried out we would propose to operate the machine one year before we expected to set it and better results would be obtained. there would be less mortality among the chicks, and less blame would be attached to the incubators.

CONDITIONS FOUND ON FARMS

Most of these conditions can be obtained on the farm better than any other place. Where should hens be healthier than on the farm, where there is unlimited range during the summer and a good shed in which to scratch fine days in the winter? It is the farmer who will use the incubator and it is to the farm we must look for the future of the poultry industry.

A Canadian firm of incubator manufacturers last spring instituted what it called "The Peerless for Profit Poultry Club." To the users of its incubators and brooders it sent a circular stating that the firm was putting aside the sum of $510 to be given in prizes. Prizes were to be given according to the success of the operator. The report asked a number of questions such as name of operator, number of hatches, number of eggs put into machine, number fertile, number of chicks hatched, number alive at certain date, any sickness among chicks, any among parent stock, does poultry pay, suggest anything that might help the industry.

REPORTS OF SUCCESS.

There were over 100 of the reports that were complete and the writers of which were entered in the competition. Every province in the Dominion was represented, Ontario leading with 34, Saskatchewan and Alberta coming next, both having 18 to their credit, Manitoba 17, Quebec and Nova Scotia each four, British Columbia three, New Brunswick two and Prince Edward Island one. Thirty-three of the competitors were women, 11 coming from Ontario, eight from Manitoba, seven from Saskatchewan, four from Alberta and two from British Columbia.

The average percentage of the total eggs hatched was 64.9%, while the total alive by the first of July was 89%. By provinces the best hatch was in Prince Edward Island (only one competitor) with 84%, after which come Ontario, Nova Scotia and Alberta with an average each of 66%, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan 60%, Manitoba and British Columbia each 55%, Quebec 51%. In livability of chicks Nova Scotia came first with 98% and Saskatchewan lowest with 79%.

The best individual record was from Saskatchewan, where Jacob Whiting had a hatch of 99.6% and 96.8% of the chicks alive. Women came out ahead in Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia.

A REMARKABLE PROOF.

The whole competition was a most remarkable proof that the [illegible] could be successfully [illegible] on the average farm.

That some farmers are wide awake and know what the industry requires to make it more successful was evidenced by the suggestions offered. Most of them wished for better means of marketing produce. Many suggested some form of co-operation. This, however, does not belong to the subject and may be treated again.

TO STAND OR FALL

Sir Wilfrid Says Government Will Put Through Naval Bill.

PARLIAMENT TO CONTROL

In a Masterly Speech the Premier Makes Public the Government Policy—Will Build the Ships In This Country If Possible—Mr. R. L. Borden Introduces an Amendment In House Yesterday.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—In a speech unparalleled for breadth of vision, material handling of the fundamental principles on which the Empire is founded, eloquence and effectiveness Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday turned a new page in Canadian history. He defined the policy of the Government looking to the creation of the Canadian navy inaugurating with the navy which Canada in a two hours' address, which will rank as a classic in the annals of the Canadian Parliament, and when at its conclusion was marked by the inspiring spectacle of the whole House rising and singing the National Anthem. Sir Wilfrid has seldom if ever been heard to better advantage in the House.

Touching first on the discordant and divergent views expressed by the various wings of the Opposition, following an unanimous endorsation of the resolution passed last session, he drove home with incisive argument the inconsistencies and anomalies of their opposing attitudes, and in a succinct and brilliant review of the whole course of constitutional development in this country, and in the Empire at large, he drew the logical and incontrovertible moral that the permanency and cohesion of the Empire depended upon the adherence to the basic principle of local autonomy in matters of defence, as in all other matters over which the daughter states now asserted their right to self-government.

The Opposition leader's speech in reply is said to have been the best in his career.

Mr. Borden's amendment calls for a contribution of two Dreadnoughts to the imperial navy in the meantime, and a referendum to the people.

F. D. Monk opposed the whole proposal.

Sir Wilfrid was greeted with prolonged applause by his followers. The Premier said that the question of naval defence arose for the first time at the Imperial Conference of 1902, when it was revealed that between the advices of His Majesty in Great Britain and in the dominions beyond the seas there was a diversity of opinion. The Secretary for War suggested that the dominions should train and equip a force, to be controlled by the War Office, and that contributions be made to the plan of naval defence. Most of the colonies agreed, but the Canadian representatives put forward a policy from which for eight years the government had never deviated, and which had been embodied in the bill now before the House.

"By this policy the present Government stands or falls," said the Premier, "but we shall not fall." The policy would give to Canada the dignity and status of a nation within the British Empire.

Referring to the policy of the Conservative party, the Premier said he did not think he would be offensive or unjust in describing them as divided in council and divided in action. Yet the policy as outlined in the bill had received their tacit assent. Outside the House, the proposals had received the good [illegible] of the Nationalist party leaders, whom he described as afflicted with "plerisomia" of imperialism, had condemned the bill. Mr. Foster, who had criticized freely, was pledged to co-operation in the policy. In the House last year, he had been slow to move his resolution regarding naval defence.

"We are asked, why did you consent to such an insignificant navy as the one which you propose? Well, we considered it prudent. Two plans were proposed. One for a fleet of seven and the other for a fleet of eleven ships. We thought it better to have eleven. In this we acted on the advice of the Admiralty. We are blamed that we are not to have an armored vessel of the Dreadnought type. I could not give a more competent authority than Sir Charles Beresford, who is as good a seaman as there is in the British navy, and he has condemned this plan of Dreadnoughts being built by the colonies.

"It is our intention to have our ships built in Canada if possible. We are prepared to pay a little more for this, provided the difference is not extravagant. As soon as this bill passes, we intend to call for tenders to see whether we can have a plan established in Canada to build the ships.

"I may say that it would probably take one year to complete a plant to build ships in this country, and then probably four years to complete these eleven ships."

The Premier then referred to "those arraign our policy because we have by it sacrificed the interests of our native land for the interests of empire." This applied chiefly to F. D Monk and his supporters.

"Have these men been asleep for eight years? Are they Rip Van Winkles?" asked the Premier. He recalled the Imperial Conference of 1902, and said the navy was necessary because of the "state we had reached as a nation."

Mr. Borden noted that the Prime Minister had taken up almost three-fourths of his speech with something which had absolutely nothing to do with the present question. The question of autonomous rights and privileges had been settled 75 years ago.

"It is significant," he said, "that when my right honorable friend finds himself in circumstances of peculiar difficulty with his own party, he always goes back to the days of 1837 and quotes to us, not only from speeches of Lord Durham, but from the orations of Lafontaine and Baldwin. It is an old piece of tactics, and I sincerely condole with him to-day on the circumstances in which he finds himself. He told us, in the first place, that he had an absolutely united party behind him, and before long we found him dealing at great length with criticisms which had been made upon his course in the Province of Quebec, and presumably from members of his own party.

"His retrospective glance does not go back to some periods that perhaps he might be well inclined to forget. What was his own aspiration in the days of 1891-1892. Speaking in Boston in 1891 he said that Canada would never consent to imperial confederation, even on commercial lines alone, because the consequence would be participation of Canada in British wars, and Canada would never consent to participate therein."

Mr. Borden quoted several extracts from Hansard along the same line, noting especially Sir Wilfrid's declarations that he would always prefer a Yankee dollar to an English shilling, and that the goal of his inspirations was the independence of Canada.

"I am not aware," said Mr. Borden, "that he has ever publicly repented that aspiration."

"The question we have to consider is the organization of the forces of the empire for defensive purposes in naval warfare. In the first place the Premier has referred to a resolution of March, 1909. I want to say that I understood the clear terms of that resolution to be that any proposal of this Government should follow suggestions of the Admiralty made in 1907, and I say without hesitation, that in the most important respect of all, control of the naval force of the Empire in time of war, the bill of the Government absolutely departs from the suggestions of the Admiralty, and, therefore, from the unanimous resolution of this House."

Mr. Borden suggested that Sir Wilfrid should raise his estimate of the time which will be occupied in the construction of the navy in order that he might not incur the criticism of the character which have been made in the House with respect to his predictions concerning the N. T. Railway. He did not believe that a naval service could be effectively organized in less than fifteen or twenty years.

He recounted the delay which took place in connection with the decision to send troops to South Africa. A delay such as that might occur again, and it might spell ruin to the Empire if it took place with regard to the employment of our naval forces.

He would invite the Premier to consult the will of the people, and the will of the country to-day was that these different proposals ought to be submitted to the people to pass upon before any permanent policy of this kind is engaged in.

Detective Assists Man He Shot.

Detroit, Feb. 4.—John Kiward, who deserted his wife and child two years ago at Cornwall, Ont., and came to Detroit, later marrying Miss Heilde in this city, and who was shot by Detective Bedenus last November, while trying to escape after his arrest on a charge of bigamy, has hemorrhage of the lungs and is dependent upon charity. He is being assisted by Miss Heilde, and also by Bedenus.

Paulhan Nearly Killed.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 4.—Louis Paulhan had a narrow escape from death yesterday, when his Farman biplane collided with the fence guarding a racetrack at Overland Park, smashing through it and coming down in a heap of wreckage on the track. Paulhan got a severe shaking up.

CANADA LIFE'S

Most Successful Year.

LARGE GAIN IN SURPLUS—BUSINESS INCREASED —EXPENSES DECREASED.

The Directors' Report submitted at the Annual Meeting of the Canada Life yesterday was as follows:—

The Directors have pleasure in submitting their 63rd Annual Report showing the transactions of the Company for the past year, and setting forth the financial position as at 31st December, 1909.

The Year's Business. Applications to the number of 5,117 for assurances of $12,198,814 were received during the year, and the new policies paid for totalled $10,139,434.00, an increase over the new business paid for in 1908, which in turn was greater than that of 1907. It is very gratifying to note that the Canadian business has again shown a substantial increase. The business from the United Kingdom compared favorably with that of last year, while the business from the United States has been well maintained. The total business in force now amounts to $124,772,856, the increase for the year being over $4,000,000.

The Income and Payments. The income for the year was $5,697,319.59, being larger by $361,277.05 than that of 1908. The payments to policyholders totalled $2,032,332.16. Notwithstanding the constantly increasing volume of business transacted, the expenses of management decreased in 1909, as compared with those of the previous year. A similar reduction in the expenses of management was reported a year ago, the decrease in each year being not only in percentage but in actual amount.

The Assets. The total assets now stand at $39,686,063.57, having increased in 1909 by $2,972,948.33, the greatest gain in any year in the Company's history. The assets of the Company are increasing at the rate of nearly $10,000.00 for each business day of the year, and the safe and profitable investment of these rapidly growing funds is a serious responsibility which receives the constant care of the Directors.

The Surplus. The increase in surplus reported a year ago of $1,060,000 was up to that time the largest in the Company's history. The Directors are able to announce an even larger gain for 1909, the increase for the year being $1,195,125, bringing the total Surplus over all liabilities up to $3,322,764.65. Such a result could only be attained by a strict adherence to those principles of management which long experience has shown to be the essentials of success, namely, judicious economy in expenditures, prudent investment of funds and skilful selection of risks.

Allotment of Profits. The Directors are gratified to be able to announce that the surplus (included in the above) earned on quinquennial dividend policies issued prior to 1900 enables them to declare a bonus upon such policies as follows:—

Upon life policies a reversionary bonus addition of 1¼ per cent. per annum upon the sum assured, amounting to $62.50 per $1,000.00 of assurance (or its equivalent value in cash or reduction of premiums to policyholders so electing); upon endowment assurances the bonus addition will be not less than $50.00 for the quinquennium for each $1,000.00 of assurance, payable at the end of the endowment period or prior death (or the equivalent of such bonus addition in cash or premium reduction to policyholders so electing).

The profits now declared on these policies are on a cash basis from 30 per cent. to 40 per cent. greater than at the previous quinquennial division in 1905, when over $1,000,000.00 was allotted to such policies. As illustrating this, attention is drawn to the following actual examples from life policies, taken at random and showing the profits now declared, on a cash basis. The table also shows the large increase in profits now declared over those of the two previous quinquennial divisions:—

CASH PROFITS

Quinquennial Year.	Policy No. 64329 Issued 1895	Policy No. 30637 Issued 1885	Policy No. 17135 Issued 1875	Policy No. 4972 Issued 1865	Policy No. 1514 Issued 1854
1900	$164.50	$215.50	$224.50	$229.00	265.00
1905	265.50	334.20	345.50	351.20	394.80
1910	367.00	453.00	467.10	474.10	521.20

Basis for illustration in each case $10,000.

The Directors confidently anticipate that this announcement will be received with general satisfaction by the many persons who will share in the large amount of profits to be distributed on these policies.

Quinquennial dividend policies issued since 1900 receive their allotment of profits each five years from the date of issue, upon their premium due date in place of the fixed date (as at 31st December) for older policies. The premium rates and reserves for such policies are on a different basis from that for policies issued prior to 1900. For these more recent policies as well as deferred dividend policies a modified form of the Contribution System of allocation of profits has been adopted by the Company, and under this system the profits will vary with the plan of assurance and duration of the policy, as well as with the age of the assured.

The amount of surplus now to be allotted to quinquennial and maturing deferred dividend policies will, it is expected, exceed $2,000,000.

Our work is so well in hand that the Profit Certificates on all policies now entitled to participate will be mailed on this occasion at an earlier date than formerly.

Retirement of Directors. The following Directors retire by rotation:—Kenneth MacKenzie, Esq., Frank Sanderson, LL.D., Hon. Robert Jaffray, Adam Brown, Esq., and E. R. Wood, Esq., the first two representing the policyholders and the last three representing the shareholders, all of whom are eligible for re-election.

It is with pleasure that the Directors again record their appreciation of the efficiency and zeal with which the officers, staff and field representatives have performed their respective duties.

Toronto, January 31st, 1910. GEO. A. COX, President.

EVIDENCE CLASHES

Passengers in Spanish River Disaster Contradict Trainmen.

SPEED WAS "TREMENDOUS"

Traveler Says He Looked at His Watch Just Before the Crash and the Train Was Some Minutes Behind Time —Train Stopped at Nairn Says a Passenger, Contradicting the Engineer—Diver's Testimony.

Sudbury, Feb. 4.—A day's delay has been occasioned in the Spanish River wreck inquest by the failure of the C.P.R. to produce the forward truck of the first-class coach. The truck is at the bottom of the river. At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the experts, engineers, lawyers and officials made an examination of the result by applying oiled rags to the markings, it was discovered that it was the trucks of the diner they were working on.

Somewhat of a surprise was sprung last night when the evidence of two commercial travelers, who were examined in the hospital yesterday afternoon, was presented.

Russell E. Smith of Hamilton, representing the Regal Shirt Co., swore that he and a traveler named Saunders (deceased) of Orillia, were in the dining-car when the crash came. They had walked from the first-class coach about five minutes before. Saunders had asked him the time. Witness noted it was 1.10 p.m. He hadn't time to put his timepiece back because of the crash.

This conflicts with the evidence of the engineer that he was running on time and not more than 35 or 40 miles an hour. The train was due at Webb wood, eight miles further on, at 1.15. Smith also declared that the oscillation of the cars was so great on account of the "tremendous speed" that he and Saunders had difficulty in walking from the first-class coach to the diner.

A contradiction of Engineer Telford's statement that the train merely slowed up without stopping at Nairn to let Dr. Arthur hop off, came from Joseph Johnston, an injured traveler for F. H. Forward of Belleville. Johnston says that he got on the train at Nairn, and not only did she stop dead, but he took his time in getting aboard. He carried two grips.

Yesterday morning Engineer Frank Taylor of North Bay, who has been investigating the wreck for the C.P.R. presented a blue print and diagram of the condition of the tracks and roadbed noted Wednesday. He believed that the first truck of the first-class coach was the one first derailed.

Diver Lepointe swore that he believed no bodies had been swept away by the current, and that all were recovered.

According to Divisional Car Foreman Harris, who was recalled, the couplings on the cars will allow a lateral play of about five feet before they will break. Besides the couplings safety chains are used.

Essex County Needs Harbor.

Windsor, Feb. 4.—A delegation of representatives from Essex and Kent Counties will go to confer with the Dominion Government as to the establishing of harbor refuge at Two Creeks, on Lake Erie, near Wheatley. This is a natural landlocked harbor, east of Point Pelee, capable of sheltering hundreds of boats if a proper entrance is constructed. It is also the entrance to the proposed St. Clair and Erie Railway, which is being promoted by Duluth capitalists.

A deputation of delegates from municipalities in Essex County will wait on the Ontario Government to ask aid in opening the large outlets and watercourses in the county.

Premier Roblin's Illness.

Winnipeg, Feb. 4.—Premier Roblin, who has been confined to his home for the past week suffering from a severe attack of lumbago, is improving very slowly. His physician has ordered him south for his health, just as soon as he is able to travel.

He will be unable to attend the opening of the Legislature on Feb. 10.

Cats Save Woman's Life.

New York, Feb. 4.—Fifteen pet cats kept by Miss Teresa Mulvey, 63 years old, gave the alarm of fire yesterday, which probably saved the life of her sister Margaret, 60 years old. Miss Teresa herself was so badly burned that she will die. Four of the cats were suffocated.

London Cadets Coming.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—Ten boys from the Lord Roberts' Boys, an association of cadets in London, Eng., will visit Canada this summer and take part in the O. R. A. matches. They will attend the Toronto Exhibition.

MATHESON BREAKS ARM.

Colonel Falls While Walking Away From the Legislature

Toronto, Feb. 4.—Unfortunate indeed was the accident that befell Hon. Col. A. J. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, yesterday afternoon. After delivering the budget speech, the supreme effort of the session, and listening to the reply of the financial critic of the Opposition and the following remarks of one of the supporters of the Government, he left the Parliament Buildings shortly after the House rose.

As he started down the walk that stretches from the front door to the Macdonald monument, he slipped and fell, fracturing his left arm between the elbow and the shoulder.

Help was soon at hand, and the Treasurer was carried by two of the members into the room of Hon. Dr. Pyne, where the injured limb was set. He was subsequently removed to the Western Hospital, where the latest report was that he was doing well.

Col. Matheson is a man of 68, having been born in Perth, Ont., which is still his residence, in 1842. He has been in the Legislature since 1894, and in the Government since the accession to power of Sir James Whitney five years ago.

Jamaica Can't Give Preference.

Kingston, Jamaica, Feb. 4.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—All the witnesses before the royal commission for improving trade relations with Canada, have urged that Jamaica is unable to give a preference to Canadian goods. The U. S. is the island's best customer, taking three-quarters of the total banana output, duty free. A Canadian preference would lead to American retaliation. Representatives of the sugar industry denied that the Canadian preference had aided them.

The establishment of a fast and frequent steamship service might improve trade conditions, all said.

Tunnel Booms M.C.R.

St. Thomas, Feb. 4.—The impetus which the new tunnel between Windsor and Detroit will give to M.C.R. traffic will materially affect conditions at St. Thomas. In addition to the construction of a new roundhouse the yards here will be increased, and the M.C.R. has also decided to add another line of track from Buffalo to the tunnel.

Dr. Harrison In Charge.

London, Feb. 4.—Former Controller Dr. Harrison of Toronto, has been placed in charge of the office of W. C. Fitzgerald, high secretary of the Woodmen of the World, until the meeting of the Grand Encampment. Harrison was a former contestant for the office.

Cold Storage Eggs Seized.

New York, Feb. 4.—United States inspectors yesterday seized 300 cans of liquid eggs from a cold storage warehouse as unfit for food. The contents of the cans represented 80,000 eggs. In their liquid form they are sold to bakers for use in cake making.

Going to Edmonton.

Welland, Feb. 4.—E. A. Frowde, secretary of the Welland Y.M.C.A., has been appointed secretary at Edmonton. He will spend a few days at his home in Peterboro before going west.

Quarter Million Receiving Charity.

Paris, Feb. 4.—It is estimated that clothing and food is being supplied to a quarter of a million persons in Paris and the immediate vicinity.

Had Given All Hope of Living.

Heart Trouble Cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. Andrew Savoy, Grattan's, writes:—"In the year 1905, I was taken sick and did not think I could live length of time. My trouble was with heart and people told me that not could be done for a case like mine consulted the very best doctors, but could do me no good. For seven I could hardly cross the floor. I had pain, but was so weak nobody in the can believe how I felt. I had given all hopes of living and had given my girl to my sister-in-law.

"One day a friend came to see me, calling me by name, said, 'Lizzie, if you I would try a dose of Milburn's and Nerve Pills as they are good for trouble.' My husband got me a box for two days I was not feeling any better but on the fourth day my husband said 'I believe those pills are doing you good I was able to say, 'Yes, I feel a good better this morning.' He said, 'We will get you another box right away took two boxes and three doses out of third one, and I was perfectly well and have not been sick since then.

"I will never be without them in the home for God knows if it had not been Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I would not have been alive now."

What The Wiser Man Does.

Don't look for the flaws as you go thro' life,
And even when you find them,
It is wise and kind to be somewhat blind
And look for the virtues behind them.
For the cloudiest night has a hint of light
Somewhere in the shadows hiding;
It is better by far to hunt for a star
Than the spot on the sun abiding.
The world will never adjust itself
To suit your whims to the letter,
Some things must go wrong y'r whole life long;
And the sooner you know it the better.
It is folly to fight with the infinite,
And go under at last in the wrestle;
The wiser man shapes into God's good plan
As the water shapes into the vessel.

—E. Wheeler Wilcox.

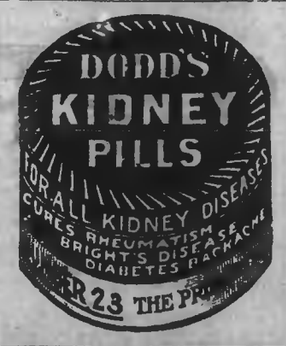
CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE, 163 Charlotte Street



SOME WEAK POINTS IN CANADIAN DAIRYING

From Farm and Dairy.

The first weak point in Canadian Dairying is the dairy cow. Farmers do not take sufficient time and pains to be sure that a cow is producing enough butter fat. This can only be ascertained by weighing and testing milk once a week at least. Some cows produce only 1,760 pounds of milk while others are producing 17,600 pounds a year. Many herds average from 10,000 to 14,000 pounds of milk per annum. If the milk sold for $1 a cwt., it is easy to see that one cow is making her owner only $17.60 a year, while the other ones are making their owner from $100 to $140 per annum per cow for feed, care and attention. One herd of 11 cows averaged 10,011 pounds of milk a year, the best cow giving 12,227 pounds and the poorest 8,528 pounds. It is easy to pick out neighboring dairies in any section of the country that are paying their owners, one $65 per annum per cow more than the other. These results are only possible through cow-testing carefully carried on. The best way to get the best cow is to breed only from the best sires.

The second weak spot is the cream gathering system imperfectly applied. If perfectly applied and if everyone would use care in handling the milk, the cream gathering would be all right, but where one farmer has his hand-separator set up in his stable where all the impure air generated there can work upon the milk for an hour or more, it is better to take the milk right away out and take it to the creamery without separating. I have watched Eastern Townships' butter for several years and it has steadily deteriorated in quality for the last six years. I think it is due to hand separators being used too extensively instead of leaving the separating to be done at the creamery where conditions are more sanitary and where a more expert man is generally at the helm.

Many farmers have manure pits behind their cattle and under their stables. This accounts for the fact that E. T. butter is coming into Montreal lately with the cow flavor still sticking to it. I advocate skimming the cream very thick and rich in order that it may ripen better. When it is 35 per cent. of butter fat, it makes better butter than to have a larger amount of cream at 17 per cent. The cream must be cooled to at least 50 degrees F. and kept that way until delivered at the creamery. The separator agents have a lot to answer for in telling purchasers that, in winter, the separators can go without washing after usage for twice or three times. Here again the creamery has better facilities for washing their one separator than do several different farm houses not fitted with steam heat. The solution of the good butter question depends largely upon getting larger factories with a bigger volume of goods. The creameryman then can afford higher class and higher priced help and can do better work. Any farm of 100 acres should support 20 cows.

The third weak point is the lack of cool curing rooms conected with cheese factories and cold storage connected with the creameries.

The fourth weak point is the employment of cheap labor in creameries and cheese factories. In 1911, every butter or cheese-maker in Ontario will be required by the Government to take out a certificate or license. Quebec introduced syndicate inspection and Ontario has copied it and gone away ahead of Quebec in putting it into force. They have government inspectors drawing all their salaries from the Public Funds who have the power to make a butter-maker or cheese-maker shut up his place, if he has unclean or filthy accessories to his establishment. The Inspector is perfectly independent of the farmer or maker and may thus make them come up to the mark better than under the Quebec system, where the Inspector is partially paid by the patrons and maker. The factories are larger in Western Ontario.

IN THE MARKET BUILDING

CUTTING BIG LIMBS FROM TREES

From Farm and Dairy.

"How soon will it do to cut big limbs of apple trees, some limbs being as much as eight to ten inches in diameter. We want to have the trees low enough to be easily sprayed for the control of the San Jose scale and other insect pests. Some of the trees are nearly 40 feet high. Do you think it safe to cut them, or would the cutting off of such large limbs be likely to kill the trees?"

The above was contained in a letter recently received by Professor H. A. Surface, State Zoologist of Pennsylvania. As this question is of direct interest to many Canadian fruit growers, they will be interested in Professor Surface's reply, as follows:

"This can be done at any time while the trees are dormant. Paint the stubs with oil paint, made as thick as for painting a building. It is safe to cut parts of the tops out of large trees. Cut them back and force them to throw out new limbs farther down. However, I do not think it best to remove all of the living top of an apple tree at one time. I should certainly prefer to cut it off at the upper branches rather than at the lower, and thus bring the top down. It will in part invigorate or renew the tree to prune it."

Three Deputations Waited On The Council At Last Meeting

Grocers Ask for Early Closing By-law — Horticultural Society Say They Need More Money—Council Asked to Consider Problem of Providing for the Poor.

THE DEMANDS AS MADE

At Monday night's meeting of the Council a number of deputations waited on the Council. Mr. Peter Campbell, Harry Beal and A. P. Poussette represented the Horticultural Society, and asked for an increased grant for the coming year's work. Last year $550 had been received, but it was pointed out that to keep the parks in proper condition during 1910 at least $1,000 would be necessary. The increased attention that must be given Victoria Park demands the engaging of another man, particularly during the summer months. Mr. Poussette dwelt upon the effects the parks have upon visitors stating that the city has already secured a good reputation through its parks. Many excursions make Peterborough their objective point in the summer, and hundreds of tourists visit or pass through the city and in the stop over they cannot but help visit one or more of the parks. The request of the society was handed over to the Finance Committee. Mr. Campbell, in his remarks, made a point when he said that the society was not gaining anything out of the city's expenditure for the beautifying of its parks. The money was simply spent by the Society in work which was necessary if the city desired to maintain the reputation it has obtained.

Rev. H. J. Keith, Dr. Halliday, and E. A. Peck were speakers for a deputation of citizens who are interested in the welfare of the poor of the city. Peterborough spends less than any other city in Ontario for its poor, Mr. Keith said. He asked that a by-law be submitted to the people providing for the erection of a House of Refuge in the city. Dr. Halliday thought that some definite system should be planned, and followed out by which the poor should receive proper care at the least outlay to the people. Rev. Mr. Keith stated that there were forty persons altogether in the Protestant Home, the House of Refuge and the gaol, persons who would be fit inmates for a House of Refuge. The request was on motion of Ald. Bradburn and Buller, referred to the Committee of the Whole Council.

Shorter Hours.

A number of prominent grocers appeared in support of a petition signed by over three-quarters of the grocers of the city, asking for a by-law to provide for the early closing of the grocery stores. The hour asked for closing is at 7.30 every evening during the week, except Saturday, when the hour, 10.30, is asked for. Special provision is made for days before holidays. The Council will deal with the matter.

Was Badly Cut About The Head And Two Watches And Money Gone

A young man, apparently from his accent an Englishman, was found in a drunken condition lying across the sidewalk opposite the old McAllister mill on Hunter St. east this morning about one o'clock. Another young man who was returning to his home in East City happened along and seeing the state the unfortunate fellow was in, took him across to the mill where he left him in the comfortable room of the night watchman. There evidently had been a mix-up and the young man picked up got the worst of the deal. His right eye was badly cut and his watch chain was hanging loosely without a watch. This morning he stated to the watchman that he had been robbed of two watches and a sum of money.

A COOL ASSERTION.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

The Toronto News, in its zeal for the British Conservatives, argues to the extent of nearly a column, to prove that Canada was misrepresented during the recent elections in Great Britain by the re-production of opinions of Liberal newspapers in the Dominion in favour of the policy of the British Liberals.

It asserts its inability to reconcile these press opinions with the official attitude of the Canadian Government that it is willing to extend our present preference in return for fiscal advantages in Great Britain; but it does not attempt to lay down the principle that every expression of opinion by a newspaper must be held to be binding upon the political party with which that newspaper is affiliated, probably for the reason that such a principle would be injurious to the Conservative party in Canada, with which all of the opinions of the News are not very popular.

But the News out-Newses itself when it says:

"It is only the truth to say that Unionists generally kept the colonies out of the contest."

Was there ever a case of such cool effrontery? Has the News forgotten the famous cablegram to Mr. A. J. Balfour imploring him to withdraw the Union Free Trader from the contest in Marylebone in favour of their friend, Mr. Richard Jebb?

Was that keeping the colonies out of the contest?

Was it not rather calculated to misrepresent Canada by making it appear that a few Imperialists in Toronto voiced the sentiment of the whole of Canada, and that the refusal to stand by Mr. Jebb would be resented by the people of Canada?

And yet the News declares that the "chief Liberal newspapers of Canada interfered unfairly and improperly in the election."

The fact is that the Liberal newspaper of Canada voiced the opinion of the mass of Canadians in supporting the policy which meant the ending of the hereditary privileges and the ensuring of the supremacy of the popular will. How that could be construed as "interfering" in the British elections is difficult to understand.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CITY UNION

Rev. J. G. Brown Appointed President on Monday Night.

The annual meeting of the City Young People's Union was held in the Charlotte St. Methodist church on Monday evening last. There was a good attendance, the church being almost filled. The President, Rev. J. R. Webb, occupied the chair, and Rev. Mr. Gregg, of Toronto, gave the annual address to the Union. The election of officers that followed resulted in Rev. Mr. Brown, of St. James' church, being elected president for the ensuing year and Mr. Wilfred Shiner was chosen secretary-treasurer. The meeting was in every respect a most successful one and bespeaks another year of achievement.

NO INDIGESTION OR STOMACH DISORDER

No Gas, Heartburn, Headache or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juice working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of gas, or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and dizziness and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odours.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of indigestion and upset stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines and besides one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as the sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When diapepsin works your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all stomach misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now you can get relief in five minutes.

SEVEN YEARS OF ECZEMA

Then After $500 Had Been Spent in Vain, Two Bottles of D. D. D. Cured.

Mrs. Horace Martin, of Sharbot Lake, Ont., writes:

"My husband had eczema for seven years. He spent hundreds of dollars but could not get cured. He was almost wild with the pain and itching.

I saw D.D.D. Prescription advertised in the paper. I sent and got a bottle and it gave my husband relief at once. He has used a second bottle and is entirely cured.

The two bottles of D.D.D. which my husband used have done him more good than the $5.00 he spent before."

Do you suffer the torments of skin disease or do any of your family or friends? What's the use? D. D. D. Prescription will do for anyone what it did for Mr. Martin.

For free trial bottle of D. D. D. Prescription write to the D.D.D. Laboratories, Department P.E., 23 Jordan St., Toronto.

M'GILL FREE

The Toronto Globe of Saturday says:

Looking cheerful and healthy, Chas. McGill, manager of the defunct Ontario Bank at the time of its collapse, returned to town yesterday a free man. Three years ago this week he was sentenced to serve five years in Kingston Penitentiary for theft, but part of the sentence has been commuted for good conduct and the remainder will be served on parole.

Mr. McGill travelled down from Kingston in company with his brother, on board the eastern flyer and reached Toronto at 4.30 p.m. He seemed a little nervous, but shook hands vigorously with the little band of newspapermen who greeted him on his arrival. He is now without the close-cropped, grey moustache he wore at the trial, and has aged but little under the confinement.

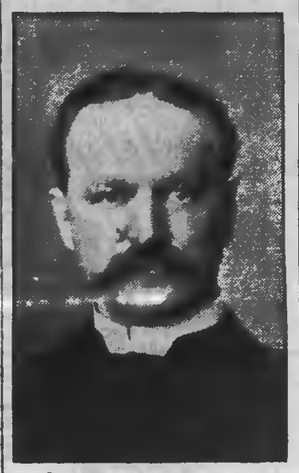
Asked about his plans for the future, Mr. McGill said he intended to stay in the city for awhile and rest, and expected to remain in Toronto. In regard to matters affecting the affairs of the Bank he pleaded that he was not in a position to make any statement, and did not think he would make any in the future. "I made my position plain at the trial, and I adhere to all I said then, but I do not think I will reopen the matter at all," he said.

RECEIVED CALL FROM HAMILTON

Official Board of Central Methodist Church, Hamilton, Wants Rev. E. A. Pearson as Pastor.

"The official board of the Central Methodist church this evening decided to extend a call to Rev. E. A. Pearson of the George St. Methodist church, Peterborough, formerly of Toronto, to succeed Rev. Dr. Tovell and Rev. Isaac Couch.

The above is a dispatch to the Toronto World from its Hamilton correspondent. The Examiner asked



REV. E. A. PEARSON,
Pastor of George Street Methodist Church, who has received call from Hamilton.

Rev. Mr. Pearson if he had received the call mentioned and he replied in the affirmative. He stated, however, that he was not in a position at present to give anything further for publication.

"FARM AND DAIRY" SPECIAL NUMBER

The first number of the second annual series of eight special magazine numbers of "Farm and Dairy," has been received. The issue is devoted especially to poultry. The names of such well known experts as A. G. Gilbert, of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Prof. W. R. Graham, of the O. A. C., Prof. F. C. Elford, of Macdonald College, J. W. Clark, Jamesville, and others, are coupled with the important articles featured in this number. Artificial and natural incubation chickens, ducks, geese and turkeys, each and all are dealt with. An article on marketing British Columbia eggs, by M. A. Jull, the poultry expert, British Columbia, is particularly timely and deals with improved methods of marketing eggs, as adopted in connection with the Cowichan Creamery at Duncans, B. C. An illustrated supplement of prize winning stock and other features of the recent Winter Fair at Ottawa, is also a part of this issue.

"Farm and Dairy" for 1910 will be the greatest dollars worth ever offered in an agricultural paper. In addition to the eight special magazine issues and various illustrated supplements, special essays and articles from those farmers who won on the Dairy Farms Competition conducted through Ontario last year, will be featured. "Farm and Dairy" is published weekly at only $1 a year. Subscriptions will be gladly forwarded through this office.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE FOOLISH HEN

An old black hen with yellow legs once "sat" three months on wooden eggs; for three long months she held them down, till all the other hens in town were cackling o'er the famous jest; she wore the feathers off her breast, and saw her blooming youth depart, and broke her fond and foolish heart, and shrunk till thinner than a match—and still the blamed eggs wouldn't hatch. Her owner said she was a fool, and ducked the poor thing in a pool, and then dismissed her from his dreams, and turned to nurse his little schemes. He got poor suckers to invest their cash in rainbows in the West; he sold a lot of polar ice; he cornered prunes and raised the price; he reached for dollars everywhere, and for the truth he had no care; and honesty possessed no charm; and virtue was a false alarm. And now he's wearing prison stripes; and when the warden's whistle pipes, he plies his task with shackled legs; his schemes were much like wooden eggs. O, dead game sport and other men, are you as foolish as that hen?

FROZEN TO DEATH

Indian Perishes While Crossing Gull Lake.

Word comes from Gull Lake that Jacob Henry, a Mississauga Indian, 72 years of age, was frozen to death at that place in Peterborough county. He was crossing the lake in company with another old man, Robert Sawyer, and became exhausted. Sawyer helped him as far as he could and then remained with him for the night. It was very cold, and the men had no fuel or matches, and had no means of keeping themselves warm. In the morning Sawyer went for assistance, but when help arrived Henry was dead. He was alive, Sawyer states, when he left him.

CAT TRIES TO HATCH EGGS

Shelbyville, Ind.—A rooster, owned by Mrs. John Leech, drove a sitting hen from her nest and tried the job himself. A cat ousted the rooster and is now taking the hen's place on the eggs.

The substitution of the rooster for the hen, and cat for rooster, will probably not affect the eggs.

Substitution, however, is dangerous where our health is concerned. There can be no excuse for a dealer offering something which is said to be "just as good" when "Fruit-a-tives" are asked for.

"Fruit-a-tives" have proved their great value in all cases of Indigestion and Dyspepsia, Constipation and Biliousness, and in troubles arising from disorders of the Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and skin.

They are the only remedy made of ripe fruit juices, and they tone up Liver and Kidneys, and regulate the Bowels, even more effectively than fruit itself. Thousands swear by them.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c.—At dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

"The inner side of every cloud is bright and shining,
I therefore turn my clouds about,
And always wear them inside out,
To show the lining."

—Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler.

A friend of mine, a successful poultry raiser, says that the most important feature in connection with the business is to have the yards where the birds range on the sunny side of a sandy slope.

Most of us at some time have had experience in trying to raise plants where there was no sun. They might, by careful attention exist, but they could not flourish.

Sun is as essential to the best development of our lives as it is to birds or plants.

A business friend of mine divides all people into two classes—sheep and wolves. My division is just as sweeping—optimists and pessimists. The optimist lives on the sunny slope—the pessimist in the shadow. Both have a right to live where they choose and both are correct in their view of life, and it is optional with us all which view we will take.

There is a lady I know who never leaves the house when there is a cloud in the sky without her umbrella and rubbers. To be sure she is never caught unprepared, but think of the trouble of always carrying that umbrella.

The optimistic person who always thinks that the clouds are going to clear up instead of grow bigger, and accordingly usually leaves her umbrella at home, may get caught occasionally, but I think on the whole she has the best of it.

I stopped to buy a paper from a little newsboy one bitterly cold morning. He had on a pair of gloves very much the worse for wear and I suggested that his fingers must be cold.

"Aw, gee, lady, that ain't nuttin'. My pal ain't got no mits at all," was his prompt reply.

There is no condition in life so good that it could not be improved, and none so bad that it might not be worse.

One thing, however, is certain, that we cannot improve a bad condition by living in the shadow and discontent of pessimism.

In these days of "new thought" almost every one admits that what we think about affects what we are.

One of Van Dyke's guide posts on the footpath of peace was to 'think seldom of your enemies, often of your friends, and every day of Christ."

If to-morrow you definitely try to think seldom of your troubles and often of the pleasant things that have happened or may happen to you, and to live all day on the sunny slope of your existence, I am pretty sure that the night time will find you in a happier frame of mind than if you had made no such effort.

As perhaps you have heard—

The difference between the optimist
And pessimist is droll,
The optimist sees the doughnut,
The pessimist the hole.

G. P. Huntley, The Famous Comedian, Here Saturday

Direct from the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York, comes G. P. Huntley, the famous English comedian and his London company in the latest musical comedy "Kitty Grey," which ran for three years in England. Gladys Claire, the beautiful and talented American girl appears in the title role as Mr. Huntley's principal support, Eva Kelly, the wife of Mr. Huntley, appears in one of the leading parts. "Kitty Grey" will be the attraction at the Grand next Saturday evening only, Feb. 12.

There is a large chorus, beautifully costumed, a magnificent scenic equipment, and a new lot of musical numbers that are destined to soon be popular. The company numbers three score of England's best entertainers.

Among the principals will be found Leslie Gaze, Charles Angelo, Percy Corray, James Byron, James M. Elhern, Robert Corray, Eva Kelly, Gladys Claire, Nellie Huntley and Nellie Daly.

The play deals with the adventures of the Earl of Dulston played by G. P. Huntley. In this character Mr. Huntley depicts the "silly fop" or "dude" as he is called in America. In his search for an American heiress he falls into all kinds of ludicrous situations and finally falls in love with the actress "Kitty Grey."

There are a number of catchy songs throughout, among them are: "Have you got another girl like Mary," "Look Aloft," "If the girl wants you, "Belle of the stage," "Strolling in the Gloaming," "Mr. Soldier," and "Kittys not built that way." The book is adapted from the French by J. W. Pigott. The music is by Paul Rubens, Lionel Monckton and Howard Talbot.

Underwriters To Give City Every Consideration

Fire Chief W. A. Howard has received the following very important letter from John A. Robertson, secretary of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association. It will be read with interest by citizens of Peterborough:

W. A. Howard, Esq., Chief, Fire Department, Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your favour of the 4th instant, stating that the Council of your City is desirous of sending a deputation to Toronto with a view of meeting with the Underwriters. I regret that such a meeting as you could give me some information as to risks, the rates on which have been increased by the recent re-rating so that we can have these looked into and probably an explanation might be furnished for the change.

proposed is almost impossible to be held during the present month, on account of the number of managers compelled to be away from this city at the present time. In the meantime, however, I should be glad if

The very substantial reduction in the key rate that was made for Peterborough, viz., from 60 per cent. to 35 per cent., was intended to make reduction in all risks unless there had been some change in conditions which had not been previously taken into account, and an examination of the Peterborough ratings shows that this reduction has actually been made, except in such cases. The wish of our members was to give Peterborough the fullest possible consideration for the improvements that have been effected in the fire protective service, and they would, I am sure, be well pleased if every risk in the city bore a low rate, as experience has shown that it is on deservedly low rated risks that there is the best chance of making a profit in the fire business. In the meantime, however, I shall be glad to hear further either from yourself or the City Clerk, giving me particulars of some risks where the rates have not been reduced.

Yours truly,

JOHN A. ROBERTSON,
Secretary.

THE RED MOON.

A fairly large house greeted Cole and Johnston in "The Red Moon" at the Grand Opera House Monday night and followed with appreciation and applause the bewildering activity of the red and black dancers in their strikingly pretty costumes. As negroes in "Swamptown" and as Indians in the land of the "setting sun," the action of the comedy moves fast and fierce, and some of the situations are very funny. All the songs got a favourable reception. "The Big Red Shawl" and "On the Road to Monterey" especially drawing rounds of applause. But through it all Messrs Cole and Johnston proved the drawing cards, and in the last act the songs by these two entitled "Hoola Woola" and "Run, Billy Possum, Run" drew forth encores that persisted through the beginning even of the next number.

The next attraction at the Grand Opera House will be on Saturday evening, when G. P. Huntley the English comedian, will appear in 'Kitty Grey."

CHURCH SERVICES

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

To-day is the first day of Lent, commonly called Ash Wednesday.

Morning Prayer, Litany, and Communion service were said in St. John's church this morning at 10.30 a.m.

To-night, at 8 p.m., the first Lenten Evening service will be held, and on Thursday and Saturday of this week short evening services at 5 p.m.

The Rev. F. J. Sowers, Rector of Lakefield, will conduct services in St. John's on Sunday next, the Rev. Canon Davidson taking services in Lakefield.

St. John's Choir will practise in the church on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

THE WEATHER.

Some quite severe cold snaps have been experienced during the last few days. On Sunday morning we had it 13 degrees below zero, while during the day the thermometer never went above zero. Monday morning was still lower, 18 degrees below zero being the official figures. During the day, however, the temperature moderated greatly. Tuesday morning zero was again reached, but the weather became quite mild later in the day.

Annual Meeting Of Law Association

Mr. E. H. D. Hall Elected President —Dr. Boucher Presents Picture of His Father, the Late Judge Boucher.

A LITTLE HISTORY

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Law Association was held recently in the offices of Bennet and Goodwill and was marked by a large attendance of members. The officers elected for 1910 were as follows:

President—E. H. D. Hall.
Vice-Pres.—J. W. Bennet.
Sec.—E. L. Goodwill.
Treas.—R. E. Wood.
Trustees—D O'Connell and F. D. Kerr.

Dr. Boucher presented the association with a large framed picture of his father the late Judge Boucher, who was one of the earlier judges of the County of Peterborough. The line of County Judges as stated to an Examiner reporter this morning is as follows: Judge MacKay and Judge Hall who had jurisdiction over the united counties of Victoria and Peterborough. Judge Hall was succeeded by Judge Boucher during whose term of office the two counties were divided and Judge Boucher was really the first judge of Peterborough County as it is to-day. Judge Dennistoun followed Judge Boucher and the late Judge Weller was appointed after Judge Dennistoun. Judge Huycke is the present wearer of the robes of Judge of the County of Peterborough.

The Law Association has been presented with the pictures of the past judges of this county and they have been hung on the walls of the Law Library at the Court House. The picture of the late Judge Boucher will be given a prominent position in the library.

IRON FOR THE BLOOD

Doctors agree that iron is an important element for the blood, and that its deficiency is the cause of anaemia, run-down conditions, and a general weakness. The best way to administer iron is in the form of VINOL, which is a combination of two world-famed tonics, the medicinal elements recovered from fresh cod's livers and Tonic Iron.—McDermid & Jury, druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW

Of Late Joseph Scott, Brother of Dr. Scott, Hunter Street.

The funeral of the late Joseph Scott of Souris, Man., son of the late George Scott, of Smith township, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the residence of his brother, Dr. W. D. Scott, Hunter St., to the Little Lake cemetery. The late Joseph Scott passed away on Thursday of last week of cerebal hemorrhage. He was 53 years of age and had spent the past 25 years in the west where he made a splendid success of farming. He was born in Smith and was educated in Peterborough schools. He is survived by his wife, five brothers and five sisters. The deceased was a member of the Masonic lodge in Souris.

IN AGONY WITH PILES

Mr. G. W. Cornell, with the Shaw Milling Co., St. Catharines, Ont., writes, "For six years I was a victim of itching, protruding piles and was in dreadful agony day and night. Doctors were unable to help me and I was about as miserable as any creature could be. My druggist advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I did and obtained relief from the first box and complete cure with the second. This ointment would be cheap at fifty dollars a box in view of what it did for me."

BURIED ON MONDAY

Remains of Late Mrs. Martin McManus Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late Mary Scanlon, wife of Mr. Martin McManus, Albert St., was held on Monday morning from the family residence to the Church of the Sacred Heart and to St. Peter's cemetery for interment. The deceased passe daway at St. Joseph's Hospital at an early hour on Saturday morning after a rather prolonged illness. Mr. McManus with his wife moved into the city a few years ago from Douro where he had spent years farming. The funeral was largely attended, many old friends from Douro being present.

MAYOR SAVED LINDSAY HOTELS

Aldermen Were Equally Divided on License Reduction.

Lindsay, Feb. 8.—A deputation representing the Citizens' League of Lindsay, waited on the town council last evening asking that the number of tavern licenses in Lindsay be reduced from eight to six, but their request was turned down on a vote being taken. The aldermen were equally divided on the question, but the Mayor's vote against the reduction decided the matter for this year. However, the members of the Citizens' League are not discouraged and will endeavour to have the question of reduction brought before the people at the municipal elections next January.

Yeas—Calvert, Lewis, Kylie, Campbell and Howkins.

Nays—Babcock, McLean, Jordan, Jackson, McCarty and Begg.

PRESENTATIONS TO MR. H. GARISH

By Employees of J. J. Turner & Son's and Teachers of St. Luke's Sunday School.

Mr. Herbert Garish left last evening for Moosejaw, where he will in future reside. Before going Mr. Garish was made the recipient of two presentations, one of a substantial purse from the employees of J. J. Turner and Sons, where he was employed and the other was from the teachers and officers of St. Luke's Sunday school. It was a handsomely bound hymn book. Mr. Garish was a faithful teacher at St. Luke's since coming to Peterborough and he will be much missed. His many friends join in extending him every success in the future.

SERVICE TO-NIGHT

Ash Wednesday Service Will be Held at St. Luke's.

Ash Wednesday service will be held to-night at St. Luke's, at 8 o'clock, when the Rector will preach a sermon suitable for the day, and its object on the text, Exodus 38:8, "And he made the laver of brass, and the foot of it of brass, of the looking glasses of the women assembling, which assembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

Holy Communion was celebrated this morning at 10.30.

OYSTER SUPPER AND ENTERTAINMENT

Held at Cold Springs S. S. Last Evening Was a Great Success.

A very enjoyable oyster supper and entertainment was that which was held last evening in the Coldaprings Sunday school, under the auspices of the young men. There was a large number in attendance, including two bus loads of young people from Peterborough. The chairman was Mr. Frank Kitney, and the following excellent programme was given:

Reading—"Buying a Piano," Miss Elsie Frost.

Recitation — "The Prairie Bell," Master Huston.

Solo—Miss Florence Kitney.

Comedy farce—Jumbo Jumbo.

The characters in the farce were as follows: "Mr. Gobbleton," Mr. Thos. Spiers, "Mrs. Gobbleton," Miss Edith Huston, "Adelaide Gobbleton Ward," Miss Mina Waldie, 'Lawyer Chegtum," Mr. Alex. Long, "Jumbo Jum," Mr. Herbert Peters, "Hannah," Miss Annie Peters, "Henry Merville," Mr. Fred Kitney.

The receipts amounted to fifty dollars, which will be donated to the decrease of the debt. on the hall.

INSPECTOR OF LOCAL AMUSEMENT PLACES

Mr. Geo. Cochrane has been appointed inspector of the amusement places in Peterborough. He has had the authority, but has been asked to enforce the powers he has been given. It is simply strengthening his hand. The purpose of the body of prominent citizens who have requested him to act is not to cause any unnecessary inconvenience to the proprietors of the various houses, but merely to safeguard the moral standard of the productions offered to the public in these places. His duties began to-day.

LENT BEGINS TO-DAY

To-day, Ash, Wednesday, marked the beginning of the Lenten season, extending through 40 days' commemorative as it is of the forty days' fast of Christ in the desert. Services were held this morning in the Anglican and Catholic churches and will also be held this evening.

WORK RECOGNIZED

Miss Katharine Wallis, of Peterborough, the well-known sculptress, has been signally honoured, and her work recognized in a most pleasing form. She has been requested by the directors of the Petit Palais, the municipal museum of Paris, France, to contribute two medallions for permanent exhibition there. This is an honour that is only extended to artists of the highest standing, and Miss Wallis' many friends in this city will hear with the greatest pleasure of her success.

DANCE A SUCCESS

The annual ball of the drivers of the city was held last night in the old Armouries and was a most successful and enjoyable affair. There was a large attendance, a number of outside people being present, and the arrangements were perfect. The committee in charge are to be congratulated upon the success of the event, which surpassed the high standard set in the past.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY
OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $36,270,000.00, an increase of $1,040,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $310,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $41,817.24.

The Assets now total $260,974.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premiums calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.19.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President.	Hon. F. T. Frost.
Noel Marshall, Vice-President.	R. Bickerdike.
Hon. Geo. A. Cox.	W. D. Robb.

Schools Are Deplorable

Liberal Member In Debate on the Budget Says the Public Schools of the Province Is at its Lowest Ebb in Fifty Years — Universities Getting Too Much Money—Should Stop Extravagance.

Toronto, Feb. 9.—On the resumption of the budget debate in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, J. W. McEwing (West Wellington), after expressing regret at the accident which would prevent the Provincial Treasurer from being present at the debate, and a hope for his speedy recovery, continued the criticism of the Government's financial policy along similar lines to those taken by the previous Opposition speaker.

His charge was extravagance and he advised a halt in the expenditure. This had increased from $6,396,000 in 1905, till in 1909 it was $8,825,712, and this was not for twelve months, but for ten. To go a little further, the estimated expenditure for 1910 had grown to the enormous sum of $12,364,744. The matter was of serious import to the province.

Mr. McEwing criticized the large expenditure of $2,500,000 on behalf of the Hydro-Electric scheme, as calculated to benefit one class of the community, the manufacturer, at the expense of the rest. He doubted the justification of the expenditure for such a purpose under such conditions.

Turning to the eulogiums of Governmental speakers on the Educational Department, he declared that never in the last fifty years had the public schools been in as deplorable a condition as to-day. In 1909, for the first time in twenty years, had untrained teachers been employed. The change in the school books had added more than the saving effected by the reduction in the price. The readers were not of good quality. The grade of teachers was no higher than six years ago. The cost per pupil for public school education had doubled in eight or nine years. The universities were getting an undue share of the outlay.

In the last connection he took occasion to score the conduct of university students. Those who were being educated largely at the public expense should at least act the part of gentlemen.

He opposed the reduction in mining royalties. Cobalt companies, which had paid $14,253,882 in dividends, or 43 per cent. of the total value of the mines, did not require reduction very badly.

And when he launched out into a denunciation of the expenditure on Government House, which he proposed to abolish, accommodating the Lieutenant-Governor with an office in the Parliament Buildings.

One hundred thousand dollars had been expended in six years. For what? To keep up an establishment to entertain the society people of the City of Toronto. This ill-suited a democrated age.

A. L. Norman (Prince Edward), who followed for the Government, declared that the criticisms on the score of increased expenditure had been sufficiently met by the verdict of the last general election. The Government had gone to the people with a rising barometer in the way of expenditure.

The last speaker's remarks on the low condition of the education system did not rhyme well with those of a previous speaker who claimed for his predecessors the credit for improved conditions.

The down-trodden farmer was a good election cry, but it didn't deceive the farmer. The Government had brought the system of farmers' education right down to their own doors by the appointment of agricultural instructors. He quoted from the experience in his own riding to show that the farmers were satisfied with the way they were being treated.

He was glad to know that a large sum was being spent on higher education. It would educate a class with wider earning capacity.

The cry of "Down with Government House," was an old worn-out dish-rag of a cry. He drew a picture of the gastronomic feats at Government House dinners of the protesting member, which convulsed the House.

A. Ferguson (S. Simcoe), spoke from the standpoint of the farmer. He resented the insinuations that they had not been treated fairly by the present Government.

In reply to criticisms which had been passed on the decrease in the wheat acreage of the province, he wished to say that stock-raising had increased in proportion as the other had decreased.

The farmers had also benefited by the improvement in the public schools and by the reduction in the price of school books. In regard to higher education, 50 per cent. of the university students came from the farm. The taking over of the veterinary college by the Government would also benefit the farming community.

In the Attorney-General's Department no greater boon had been conferred on the farmers than the measure of law reform of last session, by which contracting for fees had been allowed and the number of appeals limited.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Indigestion Causes It — Mi-o-na Will Cure It.

If you have indigestion, you don't get all the nutriment out of your food that you should.

Your worn-out stomach passes the food on without extracting enough nutritious substance to supply the blood and nerves.

And if the nerves are not supplied with nourishment, they begin to rebel. They kick up a great disturbance. They make you irritable and cranky, you worry about trifles, and you cannot sleep soundly at night, you have bad dreams, and you get up tired in the morning.

Try Mi-o-na tablets, the money back cure. Mi-o-na will cure your nervousness by driving out the cause, Mi-o-na will give you relief the first hour. It will cure acute cases in a few days, and chronic cases in a few weeks.

Belching of gas, heartburn, sour taste of food, waterbrash, foul breath and other dyspeptic symptoms vanish before the mighty power of Mi-o-na.

Try Mi-o-na, Wm. Madill sells it and will refund your money if it doesn't cure, and only 50 cents a large box.

TO RACE WITH SCOTT.

American Antarctic Dash May Commence in June.

Washington, Feb. 9.—The directors of the National Geographical Society yesterday accepted the invitation to join with the Peary Arctic Club in starting an expedition in search of the South Pole, provided sufficient funds can be raised. The expedition may start in June.

In an official statement the society says it "believes that it is of great importance to science that tidal, magnetic and meteorological observations shall be obtained at or in the vicinity of Coats Land during the same period that the British expedition under Capt. Robert F. Scott, R.N., is making similar observations on the other side of the Antarctic area, 1,800 miles distant, and at the same time that this recently discovered land shall be explored."

Prince's Effects Seized.

Vienna, Austria, Feb. 9.—The creditors of Prince Miguel of Braganza, who married Miss Anita Stewart of New York, last September, have seized the furniture and other effects in the prince's residence here, and removed them to an auction room. A large and boisterous crowd gathered yesterday to watch the men transferring the bric-a-brac and other belongings of the prince into a huge wagon.

Prince Miguel and his wife are now in Paris. The prince left the management of his affairs in the hands of a lawyer, who immediately after the wedding paid off most of the creditors, but several money-lenders are reported to have made such usurious demands, that the attorney refused to listen to them.

To Bar the "Mutuals."

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—The Senate banking and commerce committee resumed consideration of the insurance bill, taking up the fire clauses. The morning was devoted to argument against the proposition that unlicensed companies, such as the New England Mutuals, should be allowed to do business in Canada. Counsel for the fire companies pointed out that they paid taxes amounting to $260,000 and in wages and rentals expended six million dollars, while the unlicensed companies paid nothing and took the cream of the business.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrappers.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

Debate On Sault Power

Head of Dominion Conservation Commission Presents Many Reasons Why Canada Should Oppose Any Attempt to Put In the Big Dam and Canal at Cornwall—Montreal and Toronto Protest.

Toronto, Feb. 9.—Severe comments on the lack of information imparted by the plans of the Long Sault Rapids Co. marked the proceedings at the first session of the International Waterways Commission in the Queen's Hotel yesterday.

The commission, which is presided over by George C. Gibbons, K.C., London, consists of Eugene Coste, W. J. Stewart, representing Canadian interests, and Gen. Ernst, Washington; George H. Clinton, Buffalo, and Prof. Haskell, Detroit, have before them the proposition of the Long Sault Rapids Co., which seeks to dam the St. Lawrence River above the Long Sault Rapids, near Cornwall, and to develop initially 200,000 horsepower.

To protest against the scheme four deputations from Montreal, consisting of representatives from the Board of Trade, the shipping federation, the Board of Harbor Commissioners, and the Chambre du Commerce, are in the city. President W. J. Gage and Barlow Cumberland of the Toronto Board of Trade are also strongly opposed to the scheme. The strongest protest, however, was presented by J. N. White of Ottawa, who read Hon. Clifford Sifton's report on the view of the executive committee of the commission of conservation in regard to the application of the company.

Leighton McCarthy, K.C., who represented the company, in whose interests F. H. McGuigan and Henry Holgate were also present, delivered a skilful introductory speech, subsequently introducing the delegates from Brockville, Prescott, Morrisburg and Cornwall, who supported the company's proposition.

Hon. Adam Back pointed out that though the statement had been made that Western Ontario was robbing the east on the power question, the reverse was the case. Power at a price far lower than the Long Sault Rapids Co. had quoted had been offered to Eastern Ontario.

"We have submitted prices to these municipalities of Prescott and Morrisburg," he stated, "based on a twelve-dollar rate, and not on the fifteen-dollar rate as proposed by this company."

The work of the Hydro-Electric Commission covered the whole of Ontario. Port Arthur and Ottawa both benefited by it, and the original scheme which they had under contemplation was to give power from Brockville in the east to Windsor in the west.

He was glad that whatever arrangements were to be made the commission would reserve one-half of the power to Canada. At Niagara Falls two-thirds of the power was being exported.

He considered that the rate regulating clause was useless, the only solution being to own the power, as was done at Niagara. He concluded by stating that he took exception to the Dominion Government ignoring the Province of Ontario, whereas the U.S. Congress before taking action first consulted the State of New York.

The memorandum of the Dominion Commission of Conservation signed by Hon. Clifford Sifton, chairman, was read by James White, secretary. The objections to the project were, in part, as follows:

(1) It is quite possible that serious damage would result from the construction of the works.

(2) The proposed diversion of water by the dam between the Long Sault Island and Barnhart Island would take from the main navigable channel between Barnhart Island and the U. S. mainland about 50 per cent. of its water.

(3) The construction of the dams in question will result in competing navigation (other than by the Cornwall Canal) to follow a new route known as the South Sault Channel—inferior to that now followed.

(4) The time will undoubtedly arrive in the history of Canada when deeper navigation upon the St. Lawrence will require to be provided for by the Canadian Government.

(5) Looking at the whole scheme, it does not appear that any serious attempt can be made to show that Canadian requirements or Canadian interests are an appreciable factor in the plans of the company.

(10) Although not at present required for actual use, the power possibilities of the St. Lawrence at the Long Sault are very great, and the time will undoubtedly come when they will be of enormous value. The present proposition contemplates giving away this valuable asset without any substantial consideration to a foreign company for its private financial advantage.

(11)—The obvious conclusion from the facts above recited seems to be that the plain duty of Canada is to maintain her rights of ownership and jurisdiction absolutely unimpaired and untrammelled.

Leighton McCarthy submitted that the scheme would be for the benefit of Canada, and the company would undertake to do nothing which had not the approval of the two Governments.

All the company asked was for the benefit of both American and Canadian interests, and he concluded by saying that civilization was the only method of conservation.

West Ends And Straths Will Clash To-night

Second Game of the Season Between the Two Clubs Will be Played To-night---West Ends are Favoured by the Fans to Win, But Straths Say They Will Give Them the Hardest Kind of a Game---Lawson Whitehead Will Umpire.

With Peterborough's intermediate and junior O.H.A. teams out of the running, the hockey interest naturally comes back to the City League games and the probabilities are that one of the largest crowds of the season will see the clash between the West Ends and Strathconas, which is the second game on this evening's bill-of-fare. The contest has a direct bearing on the championship as a win will give them the title, while on the other hand a West End win will tie the two teams, and necessitate an extra game for the championship.

Indications, according to the greater part of the fans favour the West Ends to beat the Commissioners to-night. The last time out the Strathconas just managed to beat the Westerners by 5 goals to 3, but since that time the Strathconas have lost the services of Ben Dusty, their crack cover-point, while the Oldhamites have strengthened their team. The fans say that with Dusty off the West Ends should win on the bit. The Commissioners are not saying very much about the outcome. "We will give the hardest kind of a game," was all that one of the players would say. In any event it will be a game that the crowd cannot afford to miss. The last game between the two teams was one of the choicest exhibitions of the season and there is every reason to think that to-night's contest will be just as fast and exciting. The ice will be in good shape and it should be one grand game.

Lawson Whitehead, of Toronto, who gave so much satisfaction as referee in the Lindsay game here on Friday night will handle the game. The two teams could not agree upon a local referee, at least one that would accept the position, and the choice of an official was up to President Graham and Secretary Craig. They selected Whitehead, one of the best referees on the O.H.A. staff, and he consented to act after having secured the permission of Secretary Hewitt, of the O.H.A. The teams will have to play hockey all through the piece with Whitehead on the job.

The teams will line-up as follows:

West Ends—
Goal—Halpin.
Point—McWilliams.
Cover—Seymour.
Rover—Crane.
Centre—Dobson.
Right wing—Short.

Strathconas—
Goal—Derocher.
Point—Campbell.
Cover—Denison.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—Burritt.
Right wing—McMillan.

The curtain-raiser will bring together the Keene and T. A. S. teams, and should be an interesting exhibition. Keene will make a big effort to get into the win column by beating the T. A. S., while the latter are anxious to keep out of the cellar position themselves. The teams will be about the same as last week. Bill Rose will referee the first contest.

"BILL" STODDARD.

Captain of the Lindsay Midgets, Whose Team Beat Trenton 6 to 4 Last Night.

BOTH THE PETERBOROUGHS ARE OUT OF THE RUNNING

Intermediates Lost the Round to Lindsay and the Collegiate Junior O.H.A. Team Went Down at the Hands of Markham, Being Robbed by a Raw Decision on the Part of the Markham Goal Umpire.

There have been some changes in the local hockey situation since the Examiner was last published, both the Peterborough Intermediates and the Collegiate Junior O. H. A. teams having gone out of the running in that time.

The Peterborough Intermediates played Lindsay here on Friday night and were successful in trimming the fast visitors in the best game of the season by 8 goals to 3, easily earning their victory by their speed and aggressiveness. The team all round showed their best form of the year, and the exhibition they put up delighted the large crowd of fans present. One of the features of the game was the playing of Frank Heffernan, the young player of the T. A. S. City League team, who played point for Peterborough and made a grand showing in his debut in senior company. The score at half time was 3 to 3, but the Petes put it all over the visitors in the second half.

As the O. H. A. ruled that in spite of the agreement between Lindsay and Peterborough that games should count, that the majority of goals in the four games should decide the result Lindsay won the round by seven goals, their big lead in the second game at Lindsay giving them the district. The Petes won two of the four games, one at Lindsay and the other at home, and accordingly to the agreement were tied for the district, but on account of the decision of the O. H. A. Lindsay were awarded the district, a very unsatisfactory termination from a Peterborough standpoint.

Even more unsatisfactory was the result of the Collegiate-Markham series, in the second round of the junior O. H. A. The Students journeyed to Markham on Friday, and although handicapped by the strange rink, played excellent hockey and held the Tournament Town team down to a 6 to 4 victory, and the chances for winning the round appeared to be excellent. On their showing in Markham the Collegians looked capable of capturing the second game handily. The return game was played here on Monday night, and the result was a big disappointment to the local fans, more especially as a very raw decision on the part of the Markham goal umpire robbed the Collegiate of their chance of tying the round.

The Students were off colour decidedly on Monday night, and as Markham played a consistent, hard-checking game, without a let up, the expected deluge of Collegiate goals did not materialize. It was even going all through the first half, and at the half-way house the score was 2 to 2. The Collegiate showed improved form in the second half and soon scored again, putting them in the lead. Then came the hold-up game. A Markham forward came down and shot, Richardson stopping the puck with his pads, so that the rubber rolled into the corner of the rink. The Markham goal umpire at that end of the rink hoisted his hand and drew it down again. Denison secured the puck from the corner, started a rush, which after a pass to Crane and then to Burritt resulted in the prettiest goal of the night.

As the Referee was bringing the puck back to centre, the Markham Captain claimed a goal at the other end and the goal umpire backed up his claim. Referee Angus Campbell, of Varsity, counted the Markham goal and refused to allow the goal scored by Peterborough. This left the score 3 to 3 instead of 4 to 2, as it really should have been. Everybody at that end of the rink is willing to swear that the shot in question did not score, but the umpire's decision went. Peterborough protested vigorously and the crowd climbed over the boards on to the ice and argued for ten minutes, with no result. When the game was resumed Peterborough claimed a goal when the local umpire raised his hand, but the referee overruled the umpire and the game ended 3 to 3, which put Peterborough out of the running.

The game was not the best exhibition of hockey in the world. The checking was close and hard and neither team was given much opportunity to break away. The Collegiate got going nicely at times, but threw away a number of golden opportunities by wild shooting. Most of the team were off colour, Matthews and Geale being the only pair to play up to form. Both worked hard and never let up and did consistent work all through.

Reesor was the pick of the Markham team.

The teams were as follows:

Summary:
1—Markham, Reesor.
2—Collegiate, Matthews.
3—Markham, Birle.
4—Collegiate, Matthews.
Half-time.
5—Collegiate, Denison.
6—Markham, Birle.

Peterborough Curlers Won From Campbellford Last Night

Campbellford's Curling Club visited Peterborough last night thirty-five strong, and played an exhibition game with the locals in the Charlotte St. Rink. There were seven rinks with five men on a rink, thus making one of the largest groups of curlers ever seen on the local ice. The local rinks were up all along, except Dr. Greer and Rev. E. A. Pearson, who was defeated by five shots. He allowed Mr. Taid to score 13 shots in the last two ends, a record almost unheard of. The Campbellford players came up on the special hockey train from Trenton to Lindsay, and after the game refreshments were served in the club rooms, and the visitors caught the special again on the return. The scores were as follows:

Suffered Terrible Pains From His Kidneys.

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body, and most people are troubled with some kind of kidney complaint, but do not suspect it.

There is no way of getting the kidney poisons out of the system except through the kidneys, and no medicine so effective in taking them out as Doan's Kidney Pills.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages.

Doan's Kidney Pills are entirely vegetable, and may be safely taken by old and young.

Mr. Dougald A. McIsaac, Broad Cove Banks, N.S., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for nine months, and suffered with such terrible pains across the small of my back all the time that I could hardly get around. After taking two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I began to feel better, and by the time I had taken three I was completely cured."

Price 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HAVE WON THE DISTRICT CUP

Peterborough Curlers Defeated Brockville in Belleville on Monday and Bring Home the Handsome Trophy.

WON BY TEN SHOTS

The Belleville Intelligencer says: At the curling rink here, yesterday afternoon, an interesting curling competition took place between two rinks representing Peterborough Curling Club and two rinks representing the Brockville club. For a number of years past a handsome silver cup has been competed for by clubs in the Eastern Ontario Curling Association. It is designated as the district cup. Peterborough, in the primary competition, won in A district, and Brockville won in B district. The match yesterday between these clubs was for the purpose of deciding where the cup would remain for the next year. Peterborough was the winner of the silverware by 10 shots. The match was one of the best seen here for some time, as both rinks played with a determination to win. The ice was in first-class condition, and at times some superb playing was witnessed. During the progress of the match, many spectators were present, taking much interest in the proceedings. Peterborough, at first, took a decided lead, but Brockville overtook them and at one time the score was a tie. Eighteen ends were played, which is the regulation number. The players and scores were as follows:

Peterborough.	Brockville

At the conclusion of the match the visitors were entertained by the local club at the club room.

A Friendly Game.

Whilst the above match was in progress, a friendly match was taking place on two other rinks between two rinks from the local club. Our boys were defeated by the visitors by a score of 28 to 17. The following constituted the rinks:

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, Feb. 2, at 6 p.m., at the home of William Morrison, of Bensfort, when his only daughter, Annie, was united in marriage to Mr. R. Ormus Larmer, of Cavan. The bride was given away by her father, and entered the drawing room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, which was played by Mrs. Joseph Morrison, of Peterborough. The bride looked handsome in a gown of cream satin with a garniture of point lace, carrying a shower of bridal roses. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. A. McKenzie, B.A., of Centreville. After congratulations guests to the number of sixty partook of a dainty dejeuner. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and valuable gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Larmer have the best wishes of a large circle of friends for future happiness.

AUDITOR

PRESENTATION WAS MADE TO MR. G. R. BROWNING

At the St. Luke's A. Y. P. A. meeting on Friday evening last, the friends of Mr. G. R. Browning, availed themselves of the opportunity to present him with a chair and address, previous to his leaving for Havelock.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt read the following address:

G. R. Browning, Esq., Peterborough:

Dear Mr. Browning,—On the eve of your leaving Peterborough for another field of labour, separating thereby the happy relations which have bound us together for nearly six years, we, the members of St. Luke's church, desire to express to you our sincere appreciation of the good work which you have done for the church while being among us.

As a member of the choir, and as the People's Warden, you have manifested a true interest in the church, and you have never failed to show your eagerness for the welfare of the church. We feel it to be a great privilege to have the opportunity of giving you a tangible expression of our warm regards for you, and to ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a slight token of our affection for you and of our regret at the forthcoming separation.

We sincerely trust that your business venture in another locality will yield you much prosperity, and that you and Mrs. Browning will be crowned with all the success which your integrity and characteristic amiability warrant.

On behalf of St. Luke's church, we have the honour to be, very sincerely yours,

E. A. LANGFELDT, M.A., Ph.D. Rector.

G. L HAY, Rector's Warden

E. A. PECK, People's Warden.

Mr. Browning replied briefly, expressing his thanks for this kind token of appreciation.

The President, Mr. Chas. Crane, was in the chair. Rev. J. R. McLean, of Colborne, will give a lecture "Scenes of Scotland," under the auspices of St Luke's A.Y.P.A., on Thursday, Feb. 17. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting

Lawson Whitehead, of Toronto, who will referee the City League game between the West Ends and Strathconas arirved this morning from Lindsay, where he refereed the Lindsay-Trenton game last night.

C. G. E. Co. Must Secure More Power If Plant Is Enlarged

Mr. Frederic Nicholls, in an Interview With Examiner, Says Nassau Power House is Taxed to its Limit---Machine Shop is Not Spacious Enough for the Increased Work---Peterborough Establishment May be Enlarged or it May be Canada Foundry.

Several statements made by Mr. Frederic Nicholls, of the Canadian General Electric Company to an Examiner reporter a few days ago warrant more than passing attention, coming as they do from the Vice-President of the company. It is the intention to erect a building costing from $250,000 to $750,000 and the uestion of whether it will be added to the local plant or to the Canada Foundry, Toronto, has not yet been decided upon. While the entire factory here is very busy the machine shop is the particular hive of industry and is too small to accommodate the amount of work that is being pushed forward. Mr. Nicholls left no doubt as to the necessity of making an extension to either one of the two establishments, but he would not say what the chances were of either being favoured. It is known that the purchase of the property adjoining the company's grounds on Albert street some years ago, was to provide room for enlarging when the time should come, as expected. Measurements of this land were taken by the structural engineer of the company, and it seems unlikely that the company has made an offer to the city perty after purchasing it. If any addition is made in Peterborough it will likely be to the machine shop. Owing to the present crowding in this department Mr. Nicholls said that arrangements had to be made to take some of the work to the foundry in Toronto. This was occasioned by the rush orders that were received and by the large amount of business that has been secured during the past six months.

Mr. Nicholls stated that the C. G. E. power house at Nassau is already overloaded, and if the Peterborough plant is enlarged provision must be made for the obtaining of more power. It is understood that the company has made on offer to the city for the entire power that can be developed as the new waterworks dam. This, however, is not official. Mr. Nicholls also states that this city fails the company as a labour centre. It is difficult to secure skilled mechanics who have always to be brought into the city. This objection does not exist in regard to the foundry in Toronto. He also intimated that there was a feeling that the company felt to a certain extent that they had placed enough capital in the Peterborough establishment. "It is not wise to put all your eggs in the one basket, you know," he remarked.

There is still hope that the local plant will receive the addition referred to. The works here are very busy and the matter of real concern is to get the orders completed within the allotted time. Mr. Nicholls mentioned three large contracts that had been recently secured. They called for three machines each, making a total of 100,000 h. p., and are among the largest contracts of this kind that have ever been awarded. The large increase in the number of employees denotes the extent of the industrial activity in the local shop. There are now approximately 1300 names on the pay roll. The decision of the company in regard to the location of the proposed extensions will be awaited with eagerness by the citizens of Peterborough, who to a man are interested in the growth of the Canadian General Electric works in Peterborough.

Annual Meeting of Water Commission Closes a Flourishing Year—Prospects for Future are Bright—Have Satisfactory Balance and Extension of System Continues.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

The annual meeting of the Water Commissioners held recently evidenced another year of development of the system and of increased service to the citizens. A creditable balance remains after the year's work, and 1910 is begunu under most favourable conditions.

The Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. S. R. Armstrong presented the following report and statement:

The amount expended during the year laying mains and setting hydrant was $16,799.90, and in laying service pipes $4,866.65, making a total of $21,666.55 expended in ordinary construction work.

In addition to this there was expended on the construction of the new dam and pumping station, including the purchase of land, after deducting certain receipts in connection with that work, $89,167.38, making a grand total of $110,833.93, expended on construction work during the year.

A balance of $9,259.13, which was at the credit of Profit and Loss account on January 1st, 1909, has been transferred to the Contingent Fund, bringing the amount at the credit of that fund up to $33,649.63.

The net water rates for the year amounted to $38,684.78, including the special frontage rates. The expense accounts, including interest on debentures, sinking funds and amount written off tools and plant for depreciation, amounted to $28,979.08, showing the profits on the operation of the works, during the year to have been $9,705.70, which amount is at the credit of profit and loss account.

Special to The Examiner.

Winnipeg, Dec. 10.—Sir Daniel McMillan opened Manitoba legislature this afternoon. A speech from the throne forecasted that a substantial surplus from Government telephones would be shown. A most important measure to come before the House is an act authorizing the government to acquire or construct a system of grain elevators.

THE VALUE OF TURPENTINE

When all else fails the physician recommends his wealthy patient to take a trip to the turpentine groves as a cure for throat and lung troubles. The turpentine of commerce cannot very well be used but by adding linseed Dr. Chase succeeded in getting up the most effective treatment for throat and lung troubles that was ever discovered. It is known as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

GIVE CANADIANS ALL THE BENEFIT.

The Port Arthur Chronicle calls attention to a condition that, in turn, should claim the attention of the Whitney government. It relates that at Fort Frances, or rather opposite Fort Frances, on the Minnesota side of the river, there is a huge white brick building. This building is a pulp mill, of biggish size, said to be, like everything "Amurican," the largest in the world. In the fact of the pulp mill alone there is nothing to particularly concern the government, but what should wake up the government is the fact that most of the pulp wood manufactured in this largest mill in the world comes from Canada, and it would soon have to stop running if it were not that it gets its chief supply of logs from Canada—from Ontario. Of course it pays for them only from $5 to $7 per cord. That is all the pulp wood brings Ontario and Ontario citizens. If the wood were manufactured into pulp in Canada and then taken over the border, a cord, instead of being worth $5 or $7 would be worth $35, or if made into paper would be worth, according to the kind of paper made, from $50 to $100. The difference in value of a cord of pulp wood in a raw and manufactured condition arises from the employment of labour and machinery. So that in exporting pulp wood in a raw state, we are exporting the Canadian labour—Canadian bone and muscle. Now this is simply an outrage upon Canadian interests—an outrage upon the indisputably proper theory that Canada should enjoy the fullest benefit from the commercial exploitation of its resources—that nothing, as far as is practicable, should be allowed to leave the country, in a commercial way in a raw state—that this country should have the benefit, in the way of employment of labour and capital, that follows from the conversion of our natural resources into the greatest possible advanced condition of manufacture. If the pulp mill opposite Fort Frances were a saw mill, and depended upon Ontario saw logs, it could not cut an ounce of sawdust. Twenty years ago the then Liberal government of Ontario, forbade the export of saw logs in an unmanufactured condition. Consequently, it will be remembered, United States saw mills that had grown fat on Canadian logs were put out of commission, and were removed and set up in Canada; and Canadian labour was employed in converting the logs into lumber, but to not so great a proportionate extent as would be the case in the manufacture of pulp wood.. What is the Whitney government doing in the matter? Sir James Whitney on occasion, makes a tremendous verbal ado in the matter of the invasion of provincial rights—sets himself up as their chief champion. Here he has his chance. What provincial right is of greater importance, than the right of provincial labour and provincial capital, to the fullest opportunity of employment of both in dealing with our pulp wood resources. The Conservative government has had five years' time in which to protect provincial rights in the matter of pulp wood. The remedy is at its hand. The remedy applied by the Liberal government in the matter of saw logs was effective and safe—it gave rise to no international friction and served the desired end—secured to the Province of Ontario the fullest measure of advantage from the home manufacture of its saw logs and indirectly promoted conservation of our forest resources, by providing more careful cutting of timber. The air is full of conservation of our natural resources. Will the Whitney government fall into line in the matter of our pulp wood resources?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Whitney government in its short space of fewer than five years has doubled the annual expenditure of the province — increased it from $5,267,000 in 1905, to $12,364,744 in 1910. As the small boy, given to slang, would say, "that's going some."

SATISFACTORY REPORT.

Notwithstanding the growing competition in life insurance business, there are many points which must be highly encouraging in the thirty-eighth annual report of the Confederation Life Association. Elsewhere, will be found a condensed summary of the report presented at the annual meeting of the directors held last month. An examination shows that the applications for new policies during the year amounted to nearly $7,000,000. The total insurance now in force is nearly $52,000,000. The cash surplus of this association now amounts to $1,324,920. The active surplus earned during the year amounted to $352,596.00, the largest in any one year in the Company's history.

Fuller information as to the details of the annual meeting, as well as to policy contracts, may be obtained from Mr. H. Rush, cashier and district representative at his office over the Dominion Bank, in this city.

HOME LIFE MEETING

Satisfactory Progress in the Financial Statement.

In presenting to the shareholders of the Home Life Association the annual financial statement, Mr. J. R. Stratton, the president, congratulated them on the great progress made by the association during the past year. The annual report, he pointed out, reflected the general improvement in the financial and commercial world.

As will be seen in greater detail in another column, there has been considerable prosperity in every department of the Home Life Association business. Policyholders are secured now by assets of $1,868,847, being an increase of $116,386 over the assets at the end of the previous year. An increase of $113,632.95 in net ledger assets advances their total to $1,041,862.24. A further reduction of net outstanding and deferred premiums brings down the total from $32,393.89 to $27,545.14. The payments to policyholders during the year of $66,198.29 consisted of death claims, of $49,880.63 of matured endowments and cash surrenders, $16,044.06; the latter showing a substantial decrease and life annuities $273.60.

It was pointed out that advantage was taken of the growing prosperity in the West, and the favorable market conditions there, to largely increase the association's holdings of school and municipal debentures there.

ANOTHER GOOD YEAR

There was a good attendance of shareholders of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company at the nineteenth annual meeting, held at the company's office on Thursday, February 3rd. A good report was presented by the directors, showing a prosperous year. Out of the net earnings of $193,530.08, including the balance brought forward, after deducting $85,115.57 for payment of interest on debentures and deposits; $70,150.43 for payment of dividends, and writing off office furniture and premises, $867.75, there remained $37,396.33. Of this, $30,000 was added to the reserve fund, bringing its total up to $318,000, leaving a balance of $7,396.33 to be carried forward to profit and loss. The sum of $27,199.38 was added to the surplus of assets over liabilities, making this total $1,545,802.29. The total of these last year was $1,671,856.97, which, by the addition of $228,786.02 was advanced to the present figure, $1,900,642.99.

MAKES HAIR GROW

Mr. Wm. Madill Has an Invigorator That Makes Hair Grow in Abundantly or Money Back.

If your hair is thinning out gradually it won't be long before the bald spot appears.

The time to take care of the hair is when you have hair to take care of.

For thin falling hair the best remedy known to mankind is Parisian Sage. It is compounded on scientific principles and furnishes to the hair root a nourishment that acts quickly and promptly and causes the hair to grow.

But remember this: It kills the dandruff germ, the pest that appropriates all the natural nourishment that should go to the hair root.

Parisian Sage is sold by Wm. Madill, under a positive guarantee to banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

It gives to woman's hair a lustre and radiance that is most fascinating and causes it to grow abundantly.

Parisian Sage is now sold in every first-class town in Canada. A large, generous bottle costs 50 cents, and the girl with Auburn hair is on every bottle.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

There's room on the top for the fellow who's bound to land on the summit some day; the trail's pretty rough, and there's holes in the ground, and there's danger of going astray; but the top will be reached by the strong, patient soul, who ever is keeping his eyes on the goal, and always keeps pegging away. There's trouble to burn in this valley of grief, and the skies are oft sullen and gray, but a man never finds that it brings him relief to murmur and grumble and bray; he'll find that it lightens his burden of gloom, and chases his grievances clear up the flume, if he only keeps pegging away. It's tough to be poor when the insolent rich go past in their carriages gay, to jump from the high way and into the ditch, avoiding the wheels of their shay; but you in your auto or carriage may ride, and stir up the dust of a whole countryside, if you always keep pegging away. The men who are busy miss half of the woe that's hunting for victims to slay; they get all the cream in this valley below, while idlers subsist on the whey; while Fortune kicks others she'll give you a kiss, you'll win more applause, and you'll know more of bliss, if you always keep pegging away.

Suggestions To Want-Advertisers

USE your own name in "Want" Advertisements unless there is some particular reason why you wish it kept confidential.

Advertisements, the answers of which must be sent to an unknown party, are never as resultful as those where the advertiser is known. For instance: Workmen desiring to make a change, do not care to answer a "blind" advertisement, fearing that they may be writing to their own firm, and on the other hand, manufacturers or wholesale dealers can usually secure a better class of applications by publishing their own name.

This is a suggestion for the good of the users of The Examiner "Want" columns. If desired, however, avdertisements may be addressed care of the Examiner Office, in which case they will be forwarded promptly to advertisers.

THE BEST REMEDY

For Women—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Belleville, Ont.—"I was so weak and worn out from a female weakness that I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took several bottles of it, and I gained strength so rapidly that it seemed to make a new woman of me. I can do as good a day's work as I ever did. I sincerely bless the day that I made up my mind to take your medicine for female weakness, and I am exceedingly grateful to you for your kind letters, as I certainly profited by them. I give you permission to publish this any time you wish."—Mrs. ALBERT WICKETT, Belleville, Ontario, Canada.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will cure female weakness and so successfully carry women through the Change of Life as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

For 30 years it has been curing women from the worst forms of female ills—inflammation, ulceration, displacements, uterold tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and nervous prostration.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Did you ever realize that it is rather dangerous to be clever?

Dangerous, I mean, as far as attainment in life is concerned.

A woman who was toasted and feted as the best woman artist in her home community went to Paris to study painting under the greatest master living.

"The first time he came into my studio I was painting," she said, in speaking of him. "Of course I stopped and at once rose to receive him, but he insisted that I go on with my work, and he began to wanderabout the studio looking at my things.

"Finally he came to a halt and I could feel that he was standing in front of a certain head which I had done and which many people had told me was remarkably brilliant.

"He stood there for several minutes before he spoke, and then he said:—

"'How clever you are,' and then as my heart began to swell with pride. And how I can lift you out of your cleverness.'"

It seems to me that there are a great many people who need to be helped as she was to escape from the dangers of their own cleverness.

For the man who can do a thing easily and cleverly seldom does it as well as he can.

As almost everyone has learned from experience, when you have a great deal to do—much more than you think you can possibly get done—you usually manage to do most if not all of it. It's when you have only a little to do and plenty of time in which to do it, that your work drags and you get behind. In the same way the man who does a thing too easily is apt by reason of his facility to grow lazy and to fall behind the man who has to work very hard in order to attain.

The man who has to work hard for modest achievements frequently works so hard that he overshoots his original mark and attains far more than modest achievements.

My most successful term in college was the term in which I had a month's illness to make up. Conscious of my handicap I worked so hard to overcome it that I did better work that term than I ever did when I was unhampered.

So obstacles are often spurs to success and too great facility as often fatal to achievement.

In the race between the less talented man with ambition and the very clever man made lazy by his cleverness, my money is with the former every time.

Yes, I realize that it's just the old, old fable of the tortoise and his too clever friend, the hare, dressed up in 'highbrow" terms that I am telling, but won't it do you good to have it recalled?

The moral?

Why, just cheer up if you're the tortoise.

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY LETTER

Queen's University, Feb. 8,

For the space of the last two or three days the weatherman has presented this part of the country with the severest bit of weather we have experienced this winter. The icemen say it has happened along right in time, to assure Kingstonians a plentiful supply of ice for the hot summer months. But for the present, Queen's supporters are not discussing ice or any matters connected with it, with their customary fluency, for the McGill boys have demonstrated that the last season's holders of the Allan cup can be beaten on their own ice. Friday night hockey enthusiasts witnessed two of the fastest games seen on local ice for some time. McGill and Queen's seniors engaged the rink for the first couple of hours, then Royal Military College I and McGill II crossed sticks the first game resulting in McGill's victory 9-6, and the latter came out a tie, 10-10. The two teams from our sister college in Montreal are first rate stick handlers, and the McGill and Queen's engaged in a brilliant game of basketball. Here we record a victory for Queen's with the final tally 26-18.

This week the Science Faculty listens to a lecture by Prof. Warren, Professor of Mineralogy in the Massachusetts Technical Institute on the subject of calcium carbide. Scarcely a week passes during which Queen's students have not opportunities to hear men of repute on their respective specialties. Monday and Tuesday of this week Dr. Park, Director of the Research laboratories, of New York, deilvered two lectures in which medical students are specially interested. Dr. Park took for his subject "The Relation of Bovine to Human Tuberculosis" and "The Relation of Milk to the Public Health." These matters will be of interest to all since they are being brought before the public through the efforts of the Ontario Milk Commission, now concluding its labours.

The programme for next fall's Alumni Conference is now completed. The chie fspeakers will be President Falconer, Dr. Andrew McPhail, of McGill, Dr. Bonar, Master of the Mint, Dr. A. H. U. Colquhoun, Deputy Minister of Education in Ontario, while Dean Cappon will deliver a course of lectures under the Chancellor's Lectureship. Dr. W. J. Clark, of Westmount will discuss training for the ministry. This, the 19th annual conference, will hold its sessions from Oct. 24th to Oct. 28th.

One of the latest organizations around Queen's is the Classical Society, which has been addressed by various members of the staff. Friday afternoon the Theological Society listened to a most interesting lecture by Prof. Scott on the Theology of Tolstoi.

The Convocation service on Sunday afternoon was taken by the Rev. Canon Tucker, of Toronto, one of the most prominent divines of the Canadian Anglican church. And it may be mentioned here that an Anglican clergyman has been chosen to give the Baccalaureate sermon in the spring, Rev. Dr. Symonds, of Montreal.

Wednesday night of last week the Concursus Iniquitatis et Virtutis of the Arts Society held session and dealt out stern justice to all puny offenders who happened to fall within the jurisdiction of that high and noble court of many precedents. For the most part, the time of the noble court was taken up chiefly with erring freshmen, one of whom was charged with the offence of clipping articles from magazines. From the evidence brought in by the prosecution, no verdict but "guilty" could be returned. Chief Justice "Pete" Pilkey fined the prisoner one dollar and the other charges were dealt with in a similar fashion. Should occasion arise between now and spring, another session of the Court may be called to punish offenders.

Officers for the forthcoming year have been elected to the executive of the Y.M.C.A. as follows: President, B. M. Stewart; Vice-Pres., N. B. MacRostie; Librarian, R Whitehead; Recording Secretary, B. C. Batterson.

THE DOMINION PERMANENT LOAN COMPANY

NINETEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

The Nineteenth Annual Meeting of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company was held at the office of the company on Thursday, February 3, 1910. A large number of Shareholders were present. The President, the Hon. J. R. Stratton, occupied the chair, Mr. F. M. Holland acting as Secretary. The President presented the following report of the Directors for the year ending December 31, 1909:—

Your Directors herewith submit the Nineteenth Annual Report of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company, together with a Statement of Accounts for the twelve months ending December 31, 1909, duly certified to by the Auditors, both as to correctness of the accounts and the satisfactory result of their inspection of the securities of the Company.

Your Directors are pleased to state that ready employment was found for the funds of the Company during the past year, the demand being quite sufficient to call into requisition all the available funds of the Company.

During the past year the Company has declared and paid dividends amounting to $70,150.43 and has transferred $80,000 to the credit of the Reserve Fund of the Company. Besides paying dividends and transferring the above mentioned amount to Reserve Fund, and writing off of office furniture and premises $867.75, there remains to the credit of Profit and Loss Account for further distribution $7,396.33.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. R. STRATTON, President.

Chartered Accountants.

Toronto, January 14, 1910.

The Report was unanimously adopted.

Harry Vigeon, F.C.A., and Bryan Pontifex, C.A., were appointed Auditors of the Company for the current year.

The following Directors were then elected:—Hon. J. R. Stratton, President, Trusts & Guarantee Company; D. W. Karn, President Karn Piano & Organ Company, Woodstock; C. Kloepfer, Director Traders Bank of Canada; Wm. Findlay, Director Winnipeg Fire Insurance Company; George H. Cowan, K.C., M.P., City Solicitor, Vancouver, B.C., and F. M. Holland, Toronto.

The meeting then adjourned.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors the Hon. J. R. Stratton was elected President, and D. W. Karn, Vice-President.

HAVE YOU CHILBLAINS?

NOTHING LIKE ZAM-BUK FOR THEM!

If you are a victim to the itching of chilblains—that intolerable tickling as soon as they get warm, and that almost unbearable soreness when they are rubbed—try Zam-Buk.

Mrs. F. S. Sargent, of Quebec, says: 'For many winters I was troubled with chilblains. I tried first one remedy and then another, but could never get anything but temporary relief from the awful itching and burning. I at last procured a supply of Zam-Buk, and determined to give it a trial. I was so pleased with the result from the first application that I continued with the treatment, and in a short time my chilblains were quite cured."

Zam-Buk is equally good for chaps, cold-sores, frost-bite, etc. Mr B. Zanoli, of Dorland, Ont., says: "I had the big toe of my right foot badly frozen. I suffered great pain, and had to have a doctor. He lanced the toe and dressed it, but the pain continued to be very bad, and for several days I could not walk. I then used Zam-Buk, and the first few dressings gave me great relief. The wound healed up very quickly, and in a very short time the toe was quite right again." All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk. 50 cents box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

INCREASED THEIR DIVIDEND RATE

Stockholders in Quaker Oats Co. Receive Extra Dividends.

From the Daily Trade Bulletin, Chicago, February 8th, 1910, the following paragraph has been clipped: "Directors of the Quaker Oats Co., at their regular quarterly meeting held in Chicago to-day, increased the dividend rate on the common stock from 6 to an 8 per cent. annual basis, and declared the usual extra dividend, which puts the stock on a ten per cent. yearly basis. The common dividend declared for the quarter was 2 per cent. and an extra dividend of one-half of one per cent., both payable April 15, to stock of record April 1st. The regular quarterly dividend of 1 1-2 per cent. was declared on the preferred stock payable Feb. 28 to stock holders of record Feb. 15. The directors also declared the regular dividend of 1 1-2 per cent. on the preferred stock, payable May 31 to stock of record May 2nd."

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE HOME LIFE ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Home Life Association of Canada was held in the Head Office, Victoria Street, Toronto, on February 8th. Hon. Mr. Stratton, President, presented the Annual Financial Statement and, in so doing, congratulated all concerned upon the general improvement shown in the result of the past year's operations, and the improvement of the general standing of the interests of the Association, which had evidently shared in the general improvement of financial and commercial affairs. A distinct advance had been made in almost every department of the affairs of the Association.

The total Assets for the security of Policyholders reached the sum of $1,868,847.09, an increase of $116,386.08. These Assets are composed of Bonds and Debentures, $262,083.73; First Mortgages on Real Estate, $405,369.05; Loans and Liens on Policies, $155,276.88; Cash in Banks, $67,675.08; Home Life Building, $150,000.00; Collateral Loans, $1,300.00; Outstanding and Deferred Premiums (reserves and cost of collection provided for), $27,545.14; Interest and Rents due and accrued, $21,551.67; office furniture and accounts receivable, $3,453.41.

An increase of $113,032.95 in Net Ledger Assets advances their total to $1,041,802.24. A further reduction of net outstanding and deferred premiums brings down the total from $32,393.89 to $27,545.14. The payments to Policyholders during the year of $66,198.29, consisted of Death Claims, $49,880.63; of Matured Endowments and Cash Surrenders, $16,044.06, the latter showing a substantial decrease, and Life Annuities, $273.60.

The Bonds and Debentures are recorded at their cost value, which is far below the actual value at present market prices. The Mortgages are in excellent condition, with payments well met.

Of the Net Ledger Assets, totalling $1,041,862.24. First Mortgages amounting to $405,869.05 represent thirty-eight and nine-tenths per cent.; Debentures and Bonds, $262,083.73, and Cash in Banks, $67,675.00, thirty-one and six-tenths per cent.; Loans on Policies, $155,276.88, fourteen and four-tenths per cent. The balance to make 100 per cent. is represented by Cash and Investments on Call Loans. The excellent character of the investments of the Association is thus shown.

By the conversion of $44,530.00 inscribed Dominion of Canada Stock, bearing two and three-quarter per cent. interest rate, into Debentures at an increased rate, a present loss of $6,715.78 was sustained, but the new rate will wipe this out in five years and leave this security with a currency of about thirty years at the increased earning rate of five and one-half per cent.

Advantage was taken of the favorite market conditions to largely increase the Association's holdings of Municipal and School Debentures of the growing Provinces of the Canadian West, excellent securities of good earning powers. It was pointed out by the President in regard to the earning power of the securities, how greatly it had been advanced under the present Board, the present average interest rate of six per cent. placing the Association's investments in the front rank of Canadian Insurance Corporations.

The Home Life Building is to be regarded as an excellent Asset, it having last year reach its highest rental record, the year closing with no vacancies, and with rentals showing substantial increase over the income from this source, of the preceding year. During the year the Legal Reserves, calculated upon the stringent Government basis of valuation, increased by more than $100,000.00 and now totalled $924,536.14.

Taken as a whole, the Statement showed all-round excellent results, which indicate a satisfactory and healthy condition of the affairs of the Association, its recorded business being of a higher character and so well paid for that there is opportunity for little improvement in these respects.

The results of the past year, considered with what has been effected by the present Board, giving assurance of careful and competent administration, and, conjoined with the thriving conditions of The Home Life Association, and with the general national prosperity, justified the President in moving the adoption of the Report, and in anticipating for it a prosperous future.

After the unanimous adoption of the Repor tthe following Directors were elected:—

Messrs. J. R. Stratton, J. S. King, J. L. Hughes, D. W. Karn, Woodstock; J. S. Hough, K.C., Winnipeg; J. W. Lyon, Guelph; A. L. Gee, Ph.D., Brantford; George E. Amyot, Quebec; Thomas W. Boddy, Windsor; John Curtis, Port Hope; E. L. Goold, Brantford; J. H. Spencer, Medicine Hat; J. K. McCutcheon, Toronto; Professor J. F. Tufts, Wolfville; J. J. Warren, Charles E. Stevenson, John D. Sheridan and J. H. Hazlewood, D.D., Toronto.

Advisory Directors—Hon. J. W. Longley, Halifax, N.S.; James Maynard, Victoria, B.C.; Ashmore Kennedy and S. A. Bedford, Winnipeg, Man.; Charles May, Edmonton, Alta.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Hon. J. R. Stratton was elected President. Messrs. J. S. King and J. L. Hughes, Vice-Presidents, J. K. McCutcheon, Managing Director, and A. J. Walker, Secretary-Treasurer.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $36,870,000.00, an increase of $1,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $219,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $4,817.84.

The Assets now total $266,974.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.12.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President.	Hon. F. T. Frost.
Noel Marshall, Vice-President.	R. Bickerdike.
Hon. Geo. A. Cox.	W. D. Robb.
Elias Rogers.	J. J. Kenny.

BERLIN ASPIRES TO BECOME THE List Secured From Leading Grocers, Fruiterers and Butchers—In Almost Every Instance Figures Favour This City—Of Interest to the Consumer.

ALMOST COMPLETE LIST

In view of the fact that the cost of living is receiving particular attention throughout the country, and is one of the subjects of current importance the Examiner secured a few quotations from local merchants in order that they may be compared with the prices which are being paid in

Prices Of Food ared With Toronto's

Toronto. Under the general idea of the cost of living, foodstuffs receive practically all the attention and there is a movement throughout America to bring about a reduction in the prices with which the consumer is confronted. By a glance at the lists below it will be seen that particularly in meats the prices in this city are much lower than those demanded in Toronto. The figures for Peterborough were obtained from a number of the leading merchants along George St., and are as near correct as it is possible to secure.

WARNE DRUG COMPANY IN NEW PREMISES

Satisfactory Progress Being Made in Allocating and Arranging the Goods

The Warne Drug Co. will soon be comfortably installed in their new premises, a few doors north of the old stand. In these days business men are alive to the necessity of seeing that that their stocks are displayed such a manner as may appeal for the best and most possible patronage, and to have every portion of their premises and the necessary adjuncts of trade up-to-date. This appears to be the aim of the Warne Drug Co. The business is already well known in the city, and the active members of the firm are determined to "make good" in their new store, and to keep their business up to such a high standard of excellence that it will always deserve public patronage.

Attention is directed to their new advertisement in to-day's issue, announcing their special Saturday bargain. A mistake appeared yesterday, the wrong advertisement being inserted which applied to the previous Saturday.

RETURNED FROM TRIP TO BRANDON

Mr. Alf. Parker returned on Saturday night from a trip to Brandon, Man., where he had gone with a carload of horses. Mr. Parker states that the West is enjoying beautiful weather at the present time. A week ago Tuesday, he said, it was quite mild in Winnipeg and there was very little snow. In fact it did not feel as cold there as it does here.

An English Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair.

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing rats, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-looked-for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA, and is being sold with a guarantee to cure Dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant hair dressing. McDermid & Jury, your druggists, are the first to import this preparation into Peterborough, and a large generous bottle can be purchased for 50c.

OBITUARY.

MRS. J. H. BROWN.

The death occurred last night of Mrs. J. H. Brown, at her home on the sixth lot of the ninth concession of North Monaghan. The deceased was twenty-seven years of age. She was the daughter of Mr. John Thompson of the same township. She has been ill since last summer. She was a woman of many estimable qualities, and much sympathy is expressed for the sorrowing relatives.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

LENTEN SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

A large number was present at the first of the Wednesday evening Lenten services at St. John's Church last night. The rector preached an able sermon, urging his hearers to come apart from the pleasures of the world for the season of Lent, in prayer and service to God. The season of Lent called for a rest from worldly pursuits that at the end of that period people might come forth better and stronger men and women.

On the Wednesday evenings during Lent, special preachers will occupy the pulpit at St. John's Church.

BERLIN ASPIRES TO BECOME THE LEADING CENTRE

New City to Make an Effort to be Listed as Foremost Radial Railway Centre in the Province—Take Up Proposition.

LOOKING TO FUTURE

Berlin, Feb. 10.—Berlin's radial railway of facilities will be greatly increased during this year, and the new city is destined to become one of the leading radial railway centres in the province.

At the present time Berlin is connected with Waterloo by the Berlin & Waterloo Street Railway, with Bridgeport by the Berlin & Bridgeport Street Railway, with Preston by the Preston & Berlin Street Railway, with Hespeler and Galt by the Galt, Preston & Hespeler Street Railway, and with Paris and Brantford by the Grand Valley Street Railway.

Among the new propositions that have been brought to the attention of the Berlin authorities since the opening of the new year is the extension of the Waterloo branch of the Preston & Berlin Street Railway, the extension of the Berlin & Bridgeport Street Railway to Bloomingdale, and the construction of the People's Railway to New Dundee, Baden, Stratford and Wellesley.

In addition to these schemes Berlin will have direct connection with Hamilton by 1911 when the Hamilton & Waterloo radial line is completed, and the question of electrifying the Elmira branch of the Grand Trunk Railway will be seriously considered when Niagara power is delivered to Berlin.

The New Board of Trade Council is taking up the new proposition with great enthusiasm, and at its first meeting endorsed the extension of the Berlin & Bridgeport Street Railway to Bloomingdale by recommending to the town council that in consideration of the extension of its line to Bloomingdale the Berlin & Bridgeport Street Railway Company be granted running rights to the end of the term of its franchise on the street railway tracks on Water Street and King Street for a compensation amounting to a part of the maintenance charges of these tracks proportional to the passenger traffic operated on them by the said company.

VETERAN COLPORTEUR

Mr. Geo. Buskin is in the City in the Interests of His Work.

Mr. Geo. Buskin, the veteran Colporteur is in the city to day in the interests of his work. In this connection it might be mentoined that the 26th annual report of the Algoma and Northwest Evangelical and Colportage Mission has been published, showing approximately work done, and moneys received and paid out, from November 15th, 1908, to November 15th, 1909.

Donations from 85 towns and villages were $1,631.60 receipts from sales $186.12.

The supplies have been in twelve languages, and 815 copies have been taken account of. Journeys have been west to Sudbury and Copper Cliff, funds being too limited to go further.

There still remains an indebtedness of about $4,000.00.

Much time and material have been spent in vain in endeavouring to obtain $500.00 from the Legislature of Ontario towards the $1200.00 costs incurred in publishing the Ojibway Indian and English Dictionaries.

The Depot is still at 202 King St. E, Toronto, but better premises are necessary. The donation of Peterborough to the work of last year was $29.25, which is gratefully acknowledged.

By its antiseptic influence Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment prevents all danger from blood poisoning when applied to scalds, burns, sores and wounds.

It is soothing and healing.

Takes out the fire and inflammation, heals up the sore, forms new, soft skin.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is best known because of its wonderful record in curing eczema, piles and all sorts of itching skin diseases.

There are a score of other ways in which it is invaluable in the home.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment

has no substitute which can be compared to it as a means of stopping itching and healing the skin. Wherever its merits are known it is considered of utmost value in the cure of itching skin diseases.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for Dr. Chase's Portrait.

AMBULANCE CLASS WAS EXAMINED

The examination of the Ladies' division of St. John's Ambulance class was conducted last evening at the Y.W.C.A. Ten members from the class took the examination, conducted by Dr. A. W. McPherson. As soon as the results are received from the Provincial Secretary in Toronto, they will be forwarded to each candidate by the local secretary

"Kitty Grey" A Real Musical Comedy, Says The Herald

There is a real musical comedy at the Grand this week, and it delighted a large audience for over three hours last night. That is one thing about English musical shows—you get your money's worth as far as quantity is concerned, even though you don't always get the quality. In the case of Kitty Grey you get both the quantity and the quality. In addition to that you have an opportunity of seeing and enjoying G. P. Huntley, a comedian who is in a class by himself. There have been many types of the silly ass" Englishman given to the stage, and local theatre-goers have had an opportunity of seeing E. H. Sothern's Lord Dundreary and Lawrence d'Orsay's Earl of Pawtucket, two of the best of these types. They should now see Mr. Huntley for he presents a type different from either, but just as amusing and requiring just as much comedy skill to interpret. He is a cultured English gentleman, and no audience needs a better guarantee that there will be nothing to offend so long as he is on the stage.

MISS GLADYS CLAIRE

As "Kitty Grey," at "The Grand" next Saturday Evening Only. Seat Sale opened this morning.

The story of the comedy is easy to follow, and is not so improbable as some that have done service in shows of this kind. It even attempts to point a moral. The music is an olla podrida of sane English music and American ragtime, and the mixture is quite agreeable. First, and foremost, though is the cast of principals. Mr. Huntley has surrounded himself with clever comedians, pretty girls and good singers, which shows that he is not selfish. Gladys Claire is the Kitty Grey. She is an attractive young woman, with an unusually good voice and a very charming and accomplished actress. Miss Eva Kelly, who, in private life is Mrs. Huntley, is one of the prettiest women on the stage. She made a big hit and won her audience on the merit of her winsome personality alone, although she is a clever actress. Nellie Daly, in a soubrette role, out-Tanguayed the famous Eva, in her dancing and general restlessness and exuberance. The men were equally accomplished, and no topical song has ever made a more pronounced hit here than the one introduced by Charles Angelo, who has a particularly good tenor voice. Leslie Gaze and James McElhern were valuable members of the cast.

The scenery is on a very lavish scale, and the banquet room was an effective piece of staging and evoked tremendous applause. The costumes and the other appointments were complete and elaborate in every particular.

FAMILY COUGH SYRUP

Cures Any Cough in Five Hours. NEW PRESCRIPTION HERE.

Here is given the most effective cough prescription known to the medical world. It is a mild laxative, too, and this is what a body needs when suffering with cough and cold on the lungs. A cough or cold indicates poison in the system, causing inflammation and congestion. Nearly all cough syrups relieve, but make the trouble worse by their constipating effects. This prescription not only relieves quickly, but it cures any cough that is curable. Get one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Mix in a bottle. Take for acute cough or bronchitis twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. A few hours' treatment will cure and heal the throat and lungs of all but consumptives. Cut this out and give it to some friend who may need it to be saved from an early death by consumption.

AT GOSPEL HALL

Evangelist Roughly Will Conduct Special Services.

Evangelist E. Roughly, (who has for many years been preaching in the far north with headquarters at Bancroft), arrived in the city last night. Arrangements have been made for a public meeting to-morrow (Friday) night at eight o'clock in Gospel Hall, and Mr. Roughly will be in charge. He will also speak at the evangelistic meeting in the hall on Sunday night at seven o'clock. A hearty invitation is given to all to hear this old veteran preacher.

A COMMISSIONER

Has Not Yet Been Appointed By The Council.

The appointment of an industrial commissioner is the one question the Council has balked at in its work this year. There is a feeling among a number of the aldermen that this official is not necessary; others believe he would not be a success and say that in other cities he has not given the satisfaction expected. There are also a number who desire to appoint a man in order that everything possible may be done to advance the city at this stage of its growth. Last Monday night the matter was brought up, but it was looked at through telescopes and another meeting will be necessary before it receives sufficient attention to settle it one way or the other.

MASQUERADE BALL

Affair at Keene on Monday Was a Great Success.

Keene, Ont., Feb. 10.—The annual masquerade dance under the auspices of the skating rink management was held in the town Monday evening, February 7th and was a very successful affair. The ladies' prize was awarded to Miss Norma Logan, Peterborough, who represented an Oriental Queen and Mr. Albert Speirs as "Courtier of the time of Queen Mary" captured the gentleman's prize. The dance broke up at one o'clock. The following is a partial list of those in costume:

CONTROL OF PHONES

Member of Legislature Introduces a Measure, Placing the Telephone Companies Under the Jurisdiction of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board—All Contracts Must Be Submitted to People.

Toronto, Feb. 10.—Sam Charters, M.P.P. for Peel, is on the trail of the telephone monopoly. He will give notice of a bill by which it is hoped to chain up the forces which for so long have had control, though by no means an undisputed control, of the situation. The public will watch the outcome with interest.

The act will be known as the Ontario Telephone Act. It places the control of the telephone systems of the province under the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. Under the bill the board will have jurisdiction to enquire into, hear and determine all complaints and matters, whether of law or of fact, affecting the local and municipal telephone systems act, of 1908, or this act, or of any special act; to make orders and regulations, to prescribe penalties for violation of the provisions of any of these acts.

The board shall also have power and right to approve of all tolls to be charged by any company or person. Every company shall file with the board tariffs of any telephone tolls to be charged, and the board may determine the manner and form in which any tariff or tariffs of telephone tolls shall be published or kept open for public inspection.

Subject to the approval of the board, every company shall have power to enter into an agreement with any other company to provide for connection, joint operation or interchange and transmission of business between the systems owned or operated by such companies and make arrangements for the proper apportionment of expenditures, commissions, receipts and profits or other arrangements which may be necessary under any such agreement.

Where telephone systems or lines are adjacent to those of another company which refuses to enter into agreement the board has power to issue order providing for connection, joint operation or such other transmission of business upon such terms as it may deem advisable.

All contracts, agreements and arrangements between companies, and other companies having authority to construct or no matter whence their authority is derived, operate a telephone system or line, for the regulation and interchange of messages and lines or division of tolls, or in relation to the management, or operation of the systems or lines shall be subject to the approval of the board and shall be submitted to them before such contracts or agreements shall have any force or effect.

No company or person shall have power to enter into any contract or agreement with any other company or person having authority to construct or operate a telephone system or line, no matter whence the authority was derived, which shall increase the cost of telephone service to the public or restrict competition unless or until a bylaw setting forth the terms of such contract or agreement has been submitted to and received the assent of the electors of the municipalities as required by the consolidated municipal act of 1903.

On receipt of application from any person for telephone service, the company or person shall furnish same within a reasonable period of time upon the applicant complying with such terms and conditions as the company or person is authorized by law to require from such applicant; and no company or person shall be required to furnish telephone service in cases where the cost of installing the same exceeds $50.

Fritch to Prove Alibi.

Detroit, Feb. 10.—The defence of Dr. George A. Fritch, the surgeon charged with murder of a young woman, will be an alibi. The doctor will endeavor to show that at the time Jos. Leach, the chauffeur, alleges that he drove him and the ghastly load to Ecorse Creek, he (the doctor) was with friends in the city.

Palpitation of the Heart.

One of the first danger signals that announces something wrong with the heart is the irregular or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or, again, there may be a most violent beating, with flushings of the skin, and visible pulsations of the arteries.

There may also be experienced a smothering sensation, gasping for breath, and feeling as though about to die.

In all such cases the action of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart and restoring it to its normal beat, is, beyond all question marvellous, as our thousands of testimonials will show.

Mrs. Martha Mason, Maribank, Ont., writes:—"Just a few lines to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I have been troubled with weakness and palpitation of the heart, would have severe choking spells and could scarcely lie down at all. I tried many remedies but got none to answer my case like your pills did. I can recommend them highly to all with heart or nerve trouble."

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 9.—(Special.)—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market this morning receipts were 650 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 480 hogs and 150 calves. Supplies were comparatively small, demand good at firm prices.

There were really no choice beeves on the market and the top figure realized was 5c for best steers, while good sold at 5¼c to 5¾c; fairly good at 5c to 5¼c; fair, at 4½c to 4¾c, and common, at 4c to 4¼c per lb. There were some extra choice cows, with a good demand at 5c, while the lower grades brought from 3c to 4¼c per lb. Bulls of a good quality were in demand at 4c per lb.

The market for small meats was quiet, with continued small supplies coming. A firm feeling prevails. Lambs sold at 6¾c to 7c, and sheep at 4½c per lb. Calves brought from $3 to $3.10 each, as to quality, but there was no choice stock on the market. In hogs the feeling was easier, and sales of selected lots were made at $9.25 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

Railway Men Exonerated.

Ingersoll, Feb. 10.—The inquest into the death of Gordon Clark, the young surveyor who was killed by falling off a freight train between Woodstock and Ingersoll last Thursday night, was resumed yesterday evening, before Coroner Coleridge.

Fred. Biette of Toronto, a member of the same surveying party, was with young Clark from the time they left Ingersoll to go to the hockey match at Woodstock until they parted about 1.30 a.m. Friday morning, Clark catching a freight train bound for Ingersoll. He admitted that they had been drinking, but said they were not intoxicated.

The baggageman at Woodstock G.T.R. station swore that young Clark was drunk and fell off the seat as he sat in the station.

Several other witnesses, including the operator at Ingersoll, the G.T.R. constable and Dr. Neff of Ingersoll, who performed the post mortem examination, gave evidence.

After being out for some minutes the jury returned a verdict saying "We fully exonerate the G.T.R. from any blame whatever."

Australia's Notable Day.

London, Feb. 10.—The first unit of the Australian navy was launched at Govan, Scotland, yesterday, Mrs. Asquith being the honors. In christening the ship the Premier's wife said:

"First-born of the Commonwealth of Australia, I name you 'Parramatta.' God bless you. May you uphold the glorious traditions of the British navy in the dominions overseas."

The Parramatta is a torpedo boat-destroyer of the improved River class, and displaces 700 tons.

PANTRY TALKS

I am the Queen of the Flour Bin, the lady-in-chief of the Royal Pantry, the oracle of the Royal Household.

I want the attention of Big Folks and Little Folks, of Experienced housewives and Inexperienced—of Rich housewives and Poor—Young housewives and Old.

For I have stories to tell.

Secrets—flour secrets—to unfold.

And these secrets have come by Experience—by actual knowledge of flour, actual study of different grades of flour.

So I will ask your close and careful attention to my little stories about flour and bread and cakes and pies and things.

And I will promise you Profit as well as Pleasure from them.

If I can tell you the secret of making better Bread and Cakes and Pies and Pastry, that will be profitable to you.

And if I can tell you why one flour is more economical as well as more wholesome than another, that, too, will be profitable.

For I mean to go into the flour question deeply, giving Whys and Wherefores, Facts and Figures.

I hope to instruct and edify at the same time.

So if you follow my little stories from time to time, as they appear, you will learn lots of things about flour that nobody has told you before. These Pantry Talks of mine will be chiefly about so named because it was the flour selected for use in the Royal Household of Great Britain. It is the one flour in Canada which stands out head and shoulders above all the rest. It is made in Canada by the largest millers in the British Empire—The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co. Limited, Montreal, and, because of its high quality and absolute uniformity, has given the greatest satisfaction both for Bread and for Pastry.

Royal Household Flour

The RAYO LAMP is a high grade lamp sold at a low price. There are lamps that cost more but there is no better lamp at any price. The Burner, the Wick, the Chimney-Holder—all are vital things in a lamp; these parts of the RAYO LAMP are perfectly constructed and there is nothing known in the art of lamp-making that could add to the value of the RAYO as a light-giving device. West Ends Beat Strathconas Tie Now In The City League

Yellow and Black Team Outplayed the Commissioners and Won the Game on its Merits—The Back Checking of Their Forwards and Great Work of Their Defence Proved Too Much for the Strathconas, Who Slumped in the Second Half After Leading Right Up to Half-Time Call.

			Goals
	W	L	For	A'gt
West Ends	5	1	41	25
Strathconas	5	1	51	23
Keene	1	5	21	48
T. A. S.	1	5	21	38

It will take an extra game to decide the championship of the City Hockey League.

The West Ends turned the tables handsomely on the Strathconas in last night's game at Brock St. rink, beating the Commissioners by 6 goals to 4 after a game that was crammed full of excitement from start to finish and that was played at a pace that, considering the slow ice, was remarkably fast. Last time out the Commissioners won by 5 goals to 3, so that on the two games the teams have scored an equal number of goals.

West Ends earned their victory last night. They had a margin on the Straths on the play and although there was little to choose between the two teams, what little there was was in favour of the Westerners, who played sterling hockey all through the piece and deserved to win, although they had a hard fight for the honours. The winners had the better of the play at the opening and annexed the first goal, but the Straths came back hard and had a little of the advantage until half time, leading at the half by 2 goals to 1. The Commissioners usually come faster in the second half so that their supporters were very hopeful at the turn. The Oldhamites came back fast after the rest with all kinds of ginger and for the first ten minutes of the second half had the leaders on the run. They banged in the tieing goal in twelve seconds and although the Straths soon evened up, the Westerners shot back with two counters and were a pair in the lead with half the second half gone. The Commissioners made a desperate effort to pull down the lead. Both defence men moved up and they swarmed around the West End nets like bees around a blackberry bush, but the Westerners played a great defence game, and try as they might the Straths could not get the goals they were trying so hard to get. Weatherstone poked in one and the score was 5 to 4, but the Commissioners could not cram in the goal necessary to tie up the game. They kept the play in West End territory, but were giving few openings and although they banged away could not beat Halpin. With only one minute to play Crane made the game safe for the West Ends by beating Derocher from close in, and the Straths winning streak was broken.

The ice was not of the best and the players found it hard work carrying the rubber without skating over it, but in spite of the handicap there was nothing slow about the class of hockey that was dished out, and both teams worked their heads off. The checking was close and hard, but the game was not rough and the crowd enjoyed it immensely. The close checking made combination a difficult matter much times the teams showed some nice team work and the Westerners had a little better of the argument in this respect. Brilliant individual stunts there were, without number, however, and it was one of the best games of the season from a spectator's standpoint, as there was not a dull moment from start to finish. It was a see-saw contest which kept the crowd right on edge throughout and the result was in doubt until West End's sixth goal slipped by Derocher.

KEN. CRANE

Rover of the West Ends, Whose Great Work was a Decided Factor in the Defeat of the Strathconas.

LEN DOBSON

Captain of the West Ends, Who Played a Brilliant Game for the Yellow and Black Team Last Night..

As has been said the West Ends outscored and outplayed the Straths in the second half, getting five goals to two by the Commissioners. The yellow and black team showed their best form of the season. They were always working, tore off classy combination at times and gave a splendid exhibition of Canada's national pastime. They checked fast and were always going until they slowed up to play a defence game in the last stages of the contest. They came back at the heels of the Commissioners so that combination which has been responsible for so many goals for the Straths this season was pretty well broken up, while the defence played with skill and judgment, beating off many well meant attempts. The Commissioners have played better games than they did last night. They could not seem to get going and even when they did break away their passing was not as accurate or as clean cut as usual and they failed to show the same ginger in checking back as did the Westerners.

It was a repetition of the first game between the two teams, with the West Ends having about the same margin on the Commissioners as the latter had on them in the last contest.

The play off will take place next Wednesday night and should be the game of the season. The West Ends were slight favourites last night and will be picked to win next week's game by the fans. The teams are now on an even footing, with five wins and one loss each, and the play off will be a corker.

It would be hard to pick the stars of the West Ends, but Dobson and Crane on the forward line deserve special mention. They divided the scoring honours between them and played grand hockey all through, rushing, shooting and passing beautifully. Short played the best game he has this season and was always working, while Giroux on the other side of the rink was always prominent. Seymour and McWilliams made an almost impregnable defence. Their checking was splendid and they used their bodies to advantage in stalling off attacks, while both rushed well. Halpin let a couple of very easy ones slip past him, but otherwise performed well. Derocher played a grand game for the Straths, picking off a number of shots that looked like counters. Nearly all of the six that beat him were from close in. Campbell checked and rushed well and Denison played a magnificent game at cover. He chocked in fine fashion and his rushes, especially in the second half, were a feature.

Capt. Ray played his usual brilliant, effective game, his rushing being on a par with his great checking. Burritt was handicapped, perhaps more than anyone, by the sticky going, as he was the lightest man on the ice, but the youngster gave a good account of himself and as usual, figured in the scoring. McMillan and Weatherstone worked hard on the wings.

Referee Lawson Whitehead, of Toronto, gave general satisfaction as referee. He caught everything in the offside line and frowned at any attempt at roughness. The teams were as follows:

Play started at top speed with the Westerners having the better of the argument. Crane came down with Dobson and shot wild, and Denison relieved. Once more Crane got clean through, but shot over the nets, losing a fine chance. Giroux was caught loafing and drew the first penalty of the game. Burritt tore off a pretty rush, but his shot was blocked. Weatherstone was sent away for tripping. Giroux returned to the ice, but had just got back when he was banished again for bodying Ray into the end of the rink. Burritt was caught loafing and while he was being put off Ray tripped Dobson and the Straths were two men short. However, the five on the ice managed to hold the Westerners off until the pair were back. Then Seymour was chased for tripping Burritt and just before his time was up McWilliams followed for slashing. Crane was the next to go, being caught tripping Ray. The latter sought the timers soon after for a like offence. The play was of the up and down variety, with neither team having much on the other. Weatherstone got the hook for tripping, and with him off Crane cut loose with a nice rush, but Derocher blocked the shot. Finally after twelve minutes playing Crane scored, after a scrimmage around the Straths' nets.

West Ends, 1; Straths, 0.

The Straths evened up in quick fashion, Burritt going up alone and lobbing an easy one past Halpin, in one minute.

West Ends, 1; Straths, 1.

From now on to the end of the half the Straths had a little the better of the argument. Burritt was slashed over the lip and there was a short delay. Seymour bodied Ray into the end of the rink and was penalized again. The Straths were working hard and finally Burritt and McMillan got away together and on a pass from the centre man, McMillan scooped one past Halpin at close range, putting the Straths in the lead.

West Ends, 1; Straths, 2.

McWilliams drew another penalty before half-time for mixing it up. The West Ends came back with a great burst of speed in the second half, and their whirlwind efforts in the first few minutes had the Commissioners on the run. In exactly twelve seconds from the face Crane tied the score, after a neat combination rush.

West Ends, 2; Straths, 2.

The Commissioners came back with a bang. Ray did the Cubanola glide down the centre and passed to Burritt who beat Halpin on a side shot in two and one-half minutes.

West Ends, 2; Straths, 3.

Now came the undoing of the Straths and for the next ten minutes the Commissioners were badly outplayed. They could not seem to be able to get the rubber away from their nets, and Derocher pulled off some startling stops. Giroux and Crane got right through, but Derocher went out and met them, spoiling the shot. Giroux was hurt in the scrimmage that ensued, and there was a delay. Weatherstone drew his third penalty of the night, this time for slashing. Seymour drove a beautiful one from centre, which Derocher picked off neatly, and then grabbed a waist-high one from Short. Finally, Dobson took a pass from Short and scored, tieing the score again.

West Ends, 3; Straths, 3.

Denison was penalized for bodying Dobson. The latter united with Crane nicely for a goal in two minutes.

West Ends, 4; Straths, 3.

Two minutes after Dobson repeated with an easy shot that leaked through half a dozen players into the corner of the nets.

West Ends, 5; Straths, 3.

The Commissioners rallied at this stage, and for the balance of the game the Westerners were on the defence. Seymour drew a penalty for tripping and while he was off the Straths swarmed down on the nets, Weatherstone placing one behind Halpin on a shot from a scrimmage.

West Ends, 5; Straths, 4.

With over ten minutes to go and one goal needed to sew up the game, the red and white team made a desperate effort. Denison and Campbell both moved up and the six bunched around the West Ends territory, leaving Derocher all alone at the other end of the rink. The Oldhamites checked beautifully, while their defence made no mistakes, and although they worked like beavers the Straths could not score. West Ends made little effort to break away, contenting themselves with holding the Straths. Once Crane got loose with a clear run to the waiting Derocher, but Denison came back with a fine burst of speed, overtook the West End rover and grabbed the puck away from him. Back it came to the West End ground, where it remained until a minute of play, when the Oldhamites worked it up to the other end and Crane put the game on ice by scoring from close in.

The summary:

1—West Ends, Crane, 12 mins.
2—Strathconas, Burritt, 1 min.
3—Strathconas, McMillan, 6 mins. Half-time.
4—West Ends, Crane, 12 secs.
5—Strathconas, Burritt, 2.30 mins.
6—West Ends, Dobson, 8 mins.
7—West Ends, Dobson, 6 mins.
8—West Ends, Dobson, 2 mins.
9—Strathconas, Weatherstone, 2 mins.
10—West Ends, Crane, 10 mins.

"Caught Cold."

Had a Distressing, Tickling Sensation In The Throat.

Mr. Albert MacPhee, Chignecto Mines, N.S., writes: "In Oct., 1908, I caught cold by working in water, and had a very bad cough and that distressing, tickling sensation in my throat so that I could not sleep at night, and my lungs were so very sore I had to give up work. Our doctor gave me medicine but it did me no good so I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and by the time I had used two bottles I was entirely cured. I am always recommending it to my friends."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup combines the potent healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of recognized worth and is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Sore Throat, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

There are many imitations of "Dr. Wood's" so be sure and get the genuine when you ask for it.

Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

Peterboro' People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them.

Sick kidneys give many signals of distress.

The secretions are dark, contain a sediment.

Passages are frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is constant day and night.

Headaches and dizzy spells are frequent.

The weakened kidneys need quick help.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Mrs. George Hawes of 857 Water St., Peterborough, Ont., says:

"I suffered for some time with many painful and annoying symptoms of kidney trouble and although I had tried many remedies and doctors I found little or no relief. My back was weak and a dull bearing down pain had settled across the small of it and extended into my shoulders, and around my sides. I was weak and languid and the least exertion would tire me out. Dizzy spells were frequent and often I would awake with a severe headache. I tried Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement at Wm. Madill's Pharmacy and soon found them to benefit me. I continued their use and in a comparatively short time I was as well and strong as ever without a symptom of the painful and long standing disease."

CONFEDERATION LIFE ASSOCIATION

38th Annual Report Presented—A Most Successful Year.

The 38th Annual Report of the Confederation Life Association was presented at the annual meeting, which was held on Tuesday, the 25th inst.

The report was presented in the usual clear and definite form, showing the operations of the company for the past year, and the statement was made that "in no year in the company's history have the Directors been privileged to lay before the policyholders and shareholders a more satisfactory report."

The applications for new business were 3,889, for a total assurance of $6,994,422. Of these, 3,667 for $6,440,522 were approved and policies issued; 200 for $488,838 were declined, the lives not being up to the Company's standard; and the remainder regarding which further information was required, were incomplete at the close of the year. Adding Bonus Additions granted, the total new issue was $6,455,194, and the total insurance in force at the close of the year was $51,797,428, under 33,144 policies.

The claims arising from deaths among the insured were 255, calling for a total sum of $458,282, under 282 policies.

The sum of $1,141,561.17 was paid on the Policy-holders and Annuitants' account. Of that sum $823,840.70 was for Claims by Death and for Matured Endowments. If to this item is added the balance of the claims for the year, awaiting proof, it will make a total of $855,876.77 for the year. The measure of relief the payment of this sum will have brought to many homes can readily be imagined, and will serve to illustrate the great benefits of Life Insurance.

Notwithstanding the large increase in volume of the Company's business the actual expenses for the year were considerably less than for the previous year, showing that care has been exercised over the Company's expenditures, and the ratio of expenses to income shows a reduction of slightly over 1 1-4 per cent. as compared with the previous year.

A large increase was made in the cash surplus, which now amounts to $1,324,320.00, an increase of over $230,000 for the year, while the actual payments of cash profits to policy holders were considerably more than in the previous years. The actual surplus earned for the year amounted to $352,596.00, which was substantially the largest surplus earned in any year of the Company's history. The rate of interest which the Company earned on its invested funds for the year also shows a most satisfactory increase.

Full reports of the meeting are in the press and will shortly be issued.

A FAST GAME

Normal School Beat The Brinton Carpet Company's Team.

In a fast and exciting game of hockey last night at the Auditorium Rink the Normal School team defeated the Brinton Carpet Co's. team 7-5. There was not much to pick between either team, but the students had a shade the better of the argument. They handed out a neat brand of combination, while the weavers depended more on individual work. The boys from the seat of instruction on the hill played well together, and have a fast, well-balanced team. The students were out in force equipped with all sorts of noise-making apparatus and were given plenty of opportunities to use them. The line-up:

CLEAN THE KIDNEYS AND BACKACHE GOES

A Few Doses Now Will Regulate Your Kidneys and Make You Feel Fine.

Out-of-order kidneys act fine and backache or bladder misery is relieved after a few doses of Pape's Diuretic.

Pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, debilitating headache, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, worn-out feeling and many other symptoms of clogged, inactive kidneys simply vanish.

Frequent, painful, and uncontrollable urination due to a weak or irritable bladder is promptly overcome.

The moment you suspect any kidney, bladder, or urinary disorder, or feel rheumatism coming, begin taking this harmless remedy, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure, as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

This unusual preparation goes direct to the out-of-order kidneys, bladder and urinary system, cleaning, healing and strengthening these organs, and glands, and completes the cure before you realize it.

A few days' treatment with Pape's Diuretic means clean, active, healthy kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and you feel fine.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

KEENE TEAM BEAT THE T. A. S. BY 3 GOALS TO 2

The Keene team broke out of the maiden class last night by beating T. A. S. 3 to 2 in the first game of the double-header. The game was one of the closest of the season. It was even up at half-time, with two goals each, but the Villagers had the better of the going in the second half, and deserved to score more often. The first half was about as close a proposition as one could desire to see, but the McDougalites seemed to be in better shape and had the better of the going in the second half.

Weir got the first goal for Keene on a pretty rush, in four minutes, and Quigley evened up eleven minutes afterwards by a rink length expedition. Tony Sabatino put T. A. S. in the lead in two minutes. McDougall came down all alone, and, skating around the Abstainers' defence, beat Giroux with a beautiful shot, tying the score again.

Weir got the only goal in the second half after a nice individual stunt.

McDougall, Weir and Lewis starred for the winners, while Heffernan and Quigley were the best of the Abstainers.

"Bill" Rose refereed satisfactorily.

The teams were:

Keene—Goal, Dinsdale; point, McCarthy; cover, McDougall; rover, Lewis; centre, Weir; right wing, Dickson; left wing, Wedlock.

T. A. S.—Goal, Giroux; point, Cahill; cover, Heffernan; rover, Quigley; centre, T. Sabatino; right wing, Coughlin; left wing, Milloy.

Summary:

1—Keene, Weir, 4 mins.
2—T. A. S., Quigley, 11 mins.
3—T. A. S., T. Sabatino, 2 mins.
4—Keene, McDougall, 30 secs

ONE PERSON KILLED EACH 36 HOURS ON 2 CANADIAN ROADS

Army of 4027 Slain and 13,368 Injured on C. P. R. and G. T. R. in Twenty Years---Statistics Pertaining to Causes, Etc.----It is Cheaper to Pay for Certain Number of Deaths Than Put Service on Safety Basis.

Slain and Wounded on Two Railroads.

Killed in twenty years 4,027
Injured in twenty years 13,368
One killed every thirty-six hours.
One hurt every fourteen hours.

Greatest railroad tragedy — St. Hilaire, Que., in 1864, 83 killed and 200 wounded.

Worst Ontario tragedy — at Webbwood, January 21, 1910 — 43 killed, 100 injured.

On C. P. R. per year, average 3 employees killed to 1 passenger.

On G. T. R., same proportion.

Five Year Periods.

C.P.R.	Deaths	G.T.R.	Deaths
1890-1894....	6	1890-1894	3
1894-1899....	2	1894-1899	9
1899-1904....	9	1899-1904	28
1904-1909....	69	1904-1909	13

From all causes two of the principal Canadian railroads have, in the past twenty years, killed 4,027, and injured an army of 13,368 persons

Statistics compiled from official sources at Ottawa show that from the year 1890 to the year 1909, both inclusive, that on the C. P. R. 1,977 people were killed, and 5,786 injured, while on the G. T. R. 2,050 were killed and 7,582 were injured.

A Death Every 36 Hours.

This means that every 365 days of the year the operation of these two roads has put an end on the average to the lives of 201 people killed outright, and that in the same time 668 people are injured.

A death every thirty-six hours.

An injury every fourteen hours.

These total figures present not only the passenger victims of train collisions, derails and bridge disasters, but includes also employes of passenger and freight trains killed and hurt in wrecks, by being thrown off moving cars, or caught in freight yards between cars and also individuals killed at level crossings, jumping on or off trains, etc. A proportion of the accidents enumerated are caused by the carelessness or negligence of the victims, but a small proportion only.

Trainman is Near Death.

A study of the tables prepared, that show in convenient form the results of accidents from the last twenty years, shows that while the more prominence is naturally given in the public mind to the occurrence of a wreck such as the recent Webbwood disaster at Spanish River Bridge, that at the same time it is nearly 150 per cent more hazardous to be a train passenger. In the twenty years on the C. P. R. the figures show that 79 passengers were killed while 221 employees lost their lives.

On the Grand Trunk Railway almost the same proportion prevails. 53 passengers being killed and 247 employees meeting death in the twenty years from 1890 to 1909 inclusive.

Webbwood Worst Horror.

With the exception of the St. Hilaire, Que., accident on June 23, 1864, the Webbwood wreck on Jan. 21 last, is of record the worst tragedy in the annals of Canadian railroading The Quebec accident resulted in the deaths of 83 people and 200 were maimed and mangled, but were not killed. The Webbwood disaster thus takes its place as Ontario's worst railroad horror up to date.

The Causes of Wrecks.

As to the causes of this annual loss of life and injury to hundreds, they include "collisions" between trains due to misunderstood or improper orders, carelessness of operators or inefficiency of engineers or track service men, broken or spread rails, weakening of structures, due to atmospheric disturbances or storms, lack of efficient safety devices, engineers striving to keep up too fast schedule time under unfavourable conditions, and to other causes that with every care taken appear to have been unavoidable.

Percentage of Killed Jumps.

Dividing the twenty years into five-year periods, it would seem that the ratio of increase of collisions, derailments and parting of trains, with accompanying increased deaths, jumps alarmingly the further we get into the twentieth century.

On the C. P. R. from the year 1890 to the year 1904, there were but six passengers killed in accidents, or less than one a year.

In the next five-year period but two passengers were killed, while barely nine lost their lives within the next period.

From 1901 to 1909 inclusive, however, no less than 69 passengers met death in some terrible form in those five years, being over three times as many victims as lost their lives on the same road in the prior fifteen years.

Worst Fatal G.T.R. Period.

The worst period on the Grand Trunk was from 1900 to 1904 when twenty-eight passengers lost their lives. This is reduced by one hundred per cent. in the period between 1904 to 1909, when thirteen were killed. But this death toll of thirteen is over three times as many as were killed between 1890 and 1894.

What makes the average person gasp as he puts the question to himself is, if this ratio of fatal accidents continues to increase, what will be the death roll from 1910 to 1915?

On top of that might be asked, if the millions gained in melon cutting tactics for shareholders of one road were systematically applied to a determined betterment of every fabric of the service, would life in future be safer on the railroads of this country?

Would it Pay to Save Life?

Railroads are concerned, both from a financial and from a humanitarian standpoint, to reduce to minimum the inescapable total of passengers and employees killed or injured annually by the operation of their trains. Each big accident that occurs sets railroad men busy thinking how to avoid its re-occurrence. The question that the public is asking is, are they thinking hard enough, or has the oft-repeated process of killing and maiming resolved itself into Canada into this merciless and cold-blooded equation:

Saftey Costs Money.

One person killed represents average loss to railway ....$	2,500
One person injured represents average loss to railway	1,000
Twenty-five killed per year ..	62,000
Twenty-five injured per year ..	25,000
Reducing profits by	1 p. c.
Possible cost of latest safety devices and appliances, doubling force of inspectors, track walkers, section foremen, etc., maintaining rolling stock and equipment, and every branch of the service at top-notch efficiency, per annum	$250,000
Perfect safety standard, plus inescapable accidents, might cost	267,500
Reducing profits by	2½ p.c.

In other words it is possibly cheaper for a railroad to kill and wound not over a fixed number of people per year than it would be to put the system on the perfect safety standard.

CZAR'S BROTHER SECRETLY MARRIED

Woman Has Already Been Divorced Three Times—Nicholas is Angry.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 11.—An indignant flutter has been caused in court circles on its becoming known that Grand Duke Michael, the Czar's only brother, who, until the little Czarewitch was born, was heir to the throne, has secretly married a lady, who, during her adventurous career, has been divorced three times. The Grand Duke's attachment for her has been known for some time and they have been frequently seen together in fashionable restaurants and resorts in Moscow, but a morganatic alliance was not suspected by the public until to-day, although it was apparently known by the Imperial family.

The Czar is reported to be very angry over the affair, and the Dowager Czarina, who lately returned from Copenhagen, refused to see Michael when she arrived here. The Grand Duke is now commanding a cavalry regiment at Orel.

DECENCY OF DEBATE.

Membership of Parliament, which carries with it an idea of dignity and honour, involves corresponding obligations—to live up to the position in every respect. Membership of Parliament carries with it certain immunities in the House—among them immunity, from penalty in respect of statements which, if uttered elsewhere, would bring prosecution and punishment for libel. The amenities of parliament require that a gentleman does not abuse these privileges and that he always exercise a courtesy and respect for his colleagues, which is an absolute essential in our social relations and even our business relations. But there are some members of parliament upon the Opposition side of the House who disregard all social ethics and make it a practice to flout ministers, to treat them disrespectfully and with a coarseness of manner that would be condemned in the lowest circles. While common social culture demands that private members of Parliament treat each other courteously, ministers of the crown, considering whose authority they have, are especially entitled to courtesy. They have a triple representative capacity. As members of parliament they represent their constituents, as cabinet ministers they represent the majority of Parliament, and according to British usage Parliament itself—as ministers of the Crown they represent their sovereign. They are therefore triply entitled to respectful treatment. But certain members of the Opposition, who claim to be gentlemen and who would be offended if they were otherwise called, make it a practice to treat ministers with the utmost discourtesy, disrespect and even coarse rudeness. They especially select Mr. Mackenzie King, Minister of Labour—"he is only minister of Labour—he only represents in his official capacity the common working man"; and besides he is the youngest minister of the cabinet—in both years and office, and therefore he is a favourite object of baiting by the Opposition members referred to. But they sometimes over-reach themselves as they did the other day. Mr. King presented the unanimous report of the special committee appointed to investigate Mr. Verville's bill to provide for an eight hour day on government contracts. The report suggested the advisability of asking Prof. Skelton, of Queen's University, to prepare a statement of what had been done in other countries in recognition of an eight hour day. A stupid and vicious section of the Conservative Opposition imagining that the suggestion came from Mr. King, of course opposed the proposal wasting the time of parliament in so doing and in abusing the minister. And they hadn't even the grace to be thoroughly ashamed of themselves, when they were informed, that the motion to employ Prof. Skelton was made in committee by a respectable member of their own side of the House, Mr. Claude Macdonnell, of South Toronto. This did not restrain them, nor the fact that Mr. Borden, their leader, cuttingly, if indirectly reproved their inane course by pointing out how unusual it was to oppose an unanimous request, contained in an unanimous report of a committee. We need not expect from men who have so great a lack of self respect as to disregard the amenities and dignities of parliament as to treat discourteously their official superiors, that they will have a proper respect for their leader. They have not, as was not only shown in this case, but in another way on another occasion. A day or two previously Hon. Mr. King was proceeding to read some correspondence with provincial ministers, respecting technical education and two of the Opposition ministers objected, invoking a rule of the House. Technically they had a right to object, but Mr. Borden, their leader, saw there was no harm in waiving the rule and hearing the correspondence read. One would have thought that respect for their leader would have led the members to desist, especially as no principle was involved. Not at all; they flouted their leader and practically defied him, for they continued talking. These offenders were Dr. Sproule, who is everlastingly talking everlasting nothing, and Mr. Boyce. This disrespect, this practical contempt for Mr. Borden is shown in other ways; for instance—"but that" as Kipling would say "is another story." Mr. Borden is either thick skinned or long suffering, or he wouldn't stand this disregard of his person and opinion, the contempt of his authority and policy as party leader, with which he is visited from time to time and that time almost every day. But perhaps he regards the conduct of his followers towards the ministers and himself as outbreaks of boorishness, as natural results of constitutional infirmity of morals and manners. The dignity of debate must suffer from such practices.

A GENEROUS GIFT.

Professor Munyon has just issued a most beautiful, useful and complete almanac. It contains not only all the scientific information concerning the moon's phases, in all the latitudes, but has illustrated articles on how to read character by phrenology, palmistry and birth month. It also tells all about card reading, birth stones, and their meaning, and gives the interpretation of dreams. It teaches beauty culture, manicuring, gives weights and measures and antidotes for poison. In fact, it is a Magazine Almanac, that not only gives valuable information but will afford much amusement for every member of the family, especially for parties and evening entertainments. Farmers and people in the rural districts will find this Almanac almost invaluable.

It will be sent to anyone absolutely free on application to the Munyon Remedy Company, Philadelphia, Pa.

SATISFACTORY REPORT.

Notwithstanding the growing competition in life insurance business, there are many points which must be highly encouraging in the thirty-eighth annual report of the Confederation Life Association. Elsewhere, will be found a condensed summary of the report presented at the annual meeting of the directors held last month. An examination shows that the applications for new policies during the year amounted to nearly $7,000,000. The total insurance now in force is nearly $52,000,000. The cash surplus of this association now amounts to $1,324,320. The active surplus earned during the year amounted to $352,596.00, the largest in any one year in the Company's history.

Fuller information as to the details of the annual meeting, as well as to policy contracts, may be obtained from Mr. H. Rush, cashier and district representative at his office over the Dominion Bank, in this city.

COLD AT HAVELOCK

Thermometer Registered 33 Degrees Below Zero at 5 o'clock This Morning.

According to reports in the vicinity of the C. P. R. station this morning the railway men found the weather none too warm. A brakeman of a train that had just pulled in said the thermometer had registered 33 deg. below at Havelock, about five o'clock, and when they were passing through Norwood it was 26 deg. below. The thermomefer at the local station at that time was down to 20 deg., which is rather cold when compared with the weather on Wednesday. The mercury is rushing about like a woman preparing for a journey. It is so excited that it will drop so suddenly the bottom will be broken from the tube.

How Nervous Men Get Most Out of Life.

(From "Successful Men".)

Every normal minded man wishes to get all he can out of life—but many a man knows that he is falling far short.

The successful man works, eats and plays with the keenest enjoyment, because his nerves are keenly sensitive. He tastes, hears, sees and feels all with the highest emotions of vigorous healthy nerves. As a consequence he has stamina, endurance and personal magnetism, which makes those near and dear to him, worship his manliness, chivalry and strenuousness.

Without keen, sensitive, well-nourished nerves, such a man would be an object of pity, and not the brilliant success he is. All men should have well-nourished nerves, but if the blood and vital organs do not supply the chemical or substance known as nerve fluid, then the waste of the nerves is not renewed daily and hourly as it should be. The nerves become exhausted, giving rise to such symptoms as trembling hands and limbs, cold feet and hands, melancholia, hysteria, timidity, nervousness, sleeplessness, dizziness, heart palpitation, pains in the back, headache, langour and weariness at all times. A most valuable nerve treatment, restorative in every sense, is to be found in the following prescription, emanating it is said, from a brilliant and successful specialist on nervous ailments.

The treatment can be prepared in the privacy of home and thus causes no one any embarrassment. First, get three ounces of syrup of sarsaparilla compound in a six ounce bottle. To this add one ounce of compound fluid balmwort, shake well and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce of tincture cadomene compound (not cardomom) and one ounce of compound essence cardiol. Mix. Shake well and take a teaspoonful, after each meal and one when retiring.

It is astonishing to feel the new nerve force, the steadied nerves, and the control of every muscle in the body after using this. Overworked office men, and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will surely find in this the restorative, rejuvenating force they are sorely in need of. The ingredients are used in various prescriptions and any good druggist can supply them.

Work Will Begin on the New Club Rooms for the T. A. S.

The work of converting the old Richard Hall store on Simcoe street into club rooms for the T. A. S. will be commenced at once and hurried through so that it is expected that the Society will be enabled to move into its commodious new headquarters by the first of April The plans for the improvements include the transformation of the first storey of the exterior. The large plate glass windows there will be removed and sold, while the front will be built up of pressed stone and brick, with two entrances. The construction of the interior is such that few changes will have to be made there, the desired accommodation being provided by the building of a number of partitions. The work will be done by day labour.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE TIGHTWAD

The tightwad is a pleasant soul who freezes strongly to his roll, until he hasn't any; his bundle colours all his dreams, and when awake he's full of schemes to nail another penny. He counts his roubles day by day, and when a nickel gets away it nearly drives him dotty; he grovels to the man of biz who has a bigger roll than his; to the poor he's haughty. All things upon this earth are trash that can't be bought or sold for cash, in Tightwad's estimation; the summer breeze, because it turns the cranks of mills and pumps and churns, receives his toleration; the sun is useful in its way; it nourishes the wheat and hay—so let the world be sunny; he likes to hear the raindrops slosh; they help the pumpkin, beet and squash, and such things sell for money. The tightwad often is a bear around his home, and everywhere, and people hate or fear him; since kindness has no market price, it's waste of effort to be nice to victims who are near him. Methinks that when the tightwad dies, and to his retribution flies, his sentence will be funny; they'll load him with a silver hat, and boil him in a golden vat, and feed him red-hot money!

Every Meal Brought Agony

But Since Taking "Little Digesters" He Can Eat Heartily

From Osgoode Station, Ont., comes a story of five years of suffering from Indigestion and Dyspepsia—five years of doctoring in vain—then "Little Digesters" and a complete cure. Mr. R. H. Ralph tells the story—his own story—thus:

"I have been a sufferer from Indigestion and Stomach Trouble for five years. I had treatment from several doctors. I did not find a cure until I began using "Little Digesters."

"I can hardly describe how much I suffered at times. Every meal brought with it more or less agony and I seemed to have a complete distaste for food. I had almost begun to think my case incurable when I came across an advertisement in the papers about "Little Digesters." I decided to give them a trial. I am very thankful that I did so for I had not been taking them long when I found them helping me. I can now eat heartily and no longer feel pain and discomfort after eating."

Does Indigestion or Dyspepsia make your life miserable? Take "Little Digesters"—they will cure you or your money will be refunded.

THE SNELGROVE BROS. ARE SUCCESSORS TO "MAC"

New Firm of Tobacconists and Barbers —Successors to F. W. MacDonough

A recent business change has occurred on George St., by which the well known tobacco and barbering business formerly carried on by Mr. Thos. W. McDonough ("Mac") 329 George street, has been purchased by Snelgrove Bros., formerly of Brighton. Both gentlemen come to Peterborough having the advantage of a practical knowledge in both departments of the business, which should fit them for doing a successful trade. The tobacco store has received personal attention and a carefully selected stock of new pipes, tobaccos, cigars and smokers' wants put into stock. The barber shop will be under the special oversight of Mr. Robt. Snelgrove, whose thorough knowledge of the tonsorial art will be utilized for the benefit of the patrons of this end of the business. Both members of the firm are active young men, with affable manners, which should help them to 'make good" in their new venture.

GOING TO TORONTO

Mr. A. E. Wilson of C. G. E. Has Secured Good Position.

Mr. A. E. Wilson of the receiving department of the C. G. E., is leaving for Toronto, where he has secured a good position. Mr. Wilson, during his residence in Peterborough, was prominently identified with athletics, and devoted a great deal of attention to the Boys' Brigade of All Saints' church. He will be missed in more circles than one and his friends wish him every success in the Queen City.

Suggestions To Want-Advertisers

USE your own name in "Want" Advertisements unless there is some particular reason why you wish it kept confidential.

Advertisements, the answers of which must be sent to an unknown party, are never as resultful as those where the advertiser is known. For instance: Workmen desiring to make a change, do not care to answer a "blind" advertisement, fearing that they may be writing to their own firm, and on the other hand, manufacturers or wholesale dealers can usually secure a better class of applications by publishing their own name.

This is a suggestion for the good of the users of The Examiner "Want" columns. If desired, however, avdertisements may be addressed care of the Examiner Office, in which case they will be forwarded promptly to advertisers.

MUNYON.

GROW YOUNG instead of old is not a theory with me; it is a fact that I have proven in my own case, as can be attested by the thousands of people who know me. I am practically twenty years younger today than I was a year ago. I mean by this that I look younger, feel younger, and am enabled to do more work and better work than ever before. Every day I am asked by my friends what remedies I take to renew my youth. So general has this inquiry become that I here offer the formula to the public.

First, I have divested myself of all selfish ambitions. I have driven from my heart all enmity, all selfishness, all hatred, all envies, and in their place, I have housed sympathy, charity, hope, forgiveness.

Second, I have ceased to put into my stomach food that irritates and taxes my energies or drink that excites and burns up my vitality.

Third, I have discovered that nearly all ailments are due to an irritated or clogged condition of the bowels; that the bowels are simply incubators of microbes; that the bowels, being a sewer pipe for the human system, should be kept clean, clear and sanitary; that it is inconsistent with science and the intelligence of the Twentieth Century for one to carry around for several hours, or even days, quantities of decomposed matter, which is giving off poisonous gases and irritating all the nerves and delicates tissues of the whole system. I discovered that after the stomach and intestines had extracted all the nourishment from the food they had received, this waste matter should be gotten rid of at the earliest possible moment; like ashes or clinkers in a furnace, they should be removed. Some of the most learned scientists agree with me that nearly all ailments are traceable to the bowels. Metchnikoff, in a forcible article, states that old age is but another name for self-poisoning from absorption of foecal product from the colon.

Burgraeve, the noted founder of the Active Principle Method, is strongly of the opinion that life can be prolonged by keeping the alimentary canal clean and sanitary.

Working on this thought, I have had my chemist produce Munyon's Paw Paw Laxative Pills, which not only act as a digestive and liver panacea, but have the action of flushing the bowels, not as a purgative, but as an antiseptic cleanser. I claim that it is impossible for a person to have indigestion, dyspepsia, to be bilious or have any liver ailment, who will take a Paw Paw Pill every night. They enable the stomach to get all the nutriment from the food that is put into it, thus keeping the nerves and tissues of the body fed with the vital elements essential to life. I do not believe there is a better blood purifier than Munyon's Paw Paw Pills. They soon clear the complexion of sallowness, pimples and skin eruptions, and give the cheeks a youthful glow; in fact, they brighten the eye and give a vigorous force to the whole body.

In order that every one may use these pills, I have put them up in two sizes, a trial vial of ten pills for 10 cents, and about fifty to the bottle for 25 cents.

I most urgently ask every person who suffers from any form of indigestion, blood or liver ailment, especially those who are troubled with constipation, to give these pills a trial. They contain no calomel, no dope. They are soothing, healing and stimulating, and school the bowels to act without physic.

ATTACK ON THE HYDRO

Government Speakers In Legislature Declare That Liberals Are Doing All They Can Among the Farmers to Block the Power Policy—Mr. Proudfoot In Sharp Encounter With Sir James Whitney.

Toronto, Feb. 11.—Hydro-electric power and the development of New Ontario had the call in the discussion on the budget debate, which was resumed in the Legislature yesterday afternoon. In regard to the former question, J. A. Ross, the member for Monck, gave some pretty straight talk on the details of the Felker case, which aroused the wrath of W. Proudfoot (Centre Huron). The latter gentleman's fulminations drew forth a lively series of interjections from the Premier and Hon. Adam Beck. The air was quite charged with electricity at times, so to speak.

J. R. McCormick (E. Lambton), who took up the debate on behalf of the Opposition, declared his willingness to hold up both hands in favor of the increase of $30,000 in the grant asked by the deputation of the Ontario Fairs Association on Wednesday afternoon.

He renwed his plea of last session for the restoration of the old model schools system. The present system, which compelled attendance at the larger centres favored the richer classes at the expense of the poorer.

T. R. Shillington (Temiskaming), said that the T. & N. O. should not be looked on primarily as a money-making proposition, but as a colonization road. He would build that spur line right through from Charlton to Sudbury. He believed also that running rights should be given to both the G. T. R. and the C. P. R. over the line to the Grand Trunk Pacific.

In regard to the Department of Lands, he was sorry to say it had suffered from incompetent fire-rangers. He hoped this would be remedied.

Roads and bridges were needed in the north country. If a comprehensive drainage system were inaugurated, thousands of acres of land could be put in condition in a very short space of time.

J. G. Elliott (W. Middlesex), concurred in the remarks of the previous speaker in praise of the development of New Ontario. Mining should not, however, be so treated as industry of any country.

He was in favor of cheap power, but the hydro-electric would be of no benefit to the great mass of the people of the province for many years to come, and should not, therefore, be burdened or taxed for its support.

J. R. Ross (Monck), who delivered his maiden speech in the House, made a distinctly favorable impression with a vindication of the Hydro-Electric Commission against the Opposition cries of confiscation. A certain electric ring, certain legal luminaries, looking for a job and certain grit politicians were the leaders of the pitchfork brigade, which incited the farmers against the commission.

Much had been said about the oppression of the poor farmer, but some of the farmers were actually getting rich out of the power policy. Even Liberals in the section through which the tranamission line passed had told him that they had been paid more for easements than their lands were worth.

Honorable gentlemen opposite would surely pay some respect to the words of Hon. Clifford Sifton, who declared at Ottawa that the hydro-electric scheme was one of the greatest undertakings ever entered upon in Canada.

He then quoted from The Buffalo Courier which pointed out that Buffalo, right at Niagara Falls, paid $26 per h.p. because it was bled by an electric ring, and complimented Ontario on its progressive power policy.

Reverting to the easement question, he drew the attention of the House to the fact that in the Township of Gainsboro, from $150 to $1,500 had been paid for the privilege of erecting towers.

The necessity for a flat was criticised. But it was required in the case of the T. & N. O., and of the Intercolonial Railway. Why not than for the hydro. The commission would be responsible in case of accident. He knew all about the Felker case. Mrs. Felker had paid $1,000 for her 50-acre farm. For the privilege of erecting two towers, occupying about 19 square feet of land on a strip of the property across the road from the house, and on which there was no building, the commission had offered $500. And the owner had actually accepted the offer once, and had it not been for the legal luminaries referred to she would have had her $500 long ago.

W. Proudfoot (Centre Huron), had a little tilt with the Government about the new school books. The primer was no good. Forty schools in Lambton had thrown it out. It would have to be called in. The people wouldn't stand for it.

To repeated calls for "reason," "have you read it," "read us a chapter," from all over the House, Mr. Proudfoot reiterated that the book was "no good."

"Other provinces are about to issue the same books after negotiation with us," retorted the Premier.

He was not attacking the hydro electric policy, Mr. Proudfoot said, because he was strongly in favor of public ownership, but the Government should amend its method of dealing with easements.

The statement of the member for Monck that Grit politicians were inciting the farmers against the work of the commission was the most untruthful statement that had even been made in the House.

"It is the most truthful statement," retorted the Premier.

"The chairman of the commission knows that some of their own political friends are opposing the scheme," Mr. Proudfoot came back with.

"And so was the leader of the Opposition at the last election," put in Hon. Adam Beck, to which Sir James added, "The whole Opposition is lying awake at night trying to think up some way to ruin the scheme."

Here is a test which proves positively that Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills do cure kidney disease and urinary troubles.

Capt. Wm. Smith, a British Army veteran, living in Revelstoke, B. C., had his urine tested by his physician who pronounced his case a bad form of chronic kidney disease. After being cured by he again had an examination of the urine made and his physician stated that no trace of the old trouble remained.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney & Liver Pills

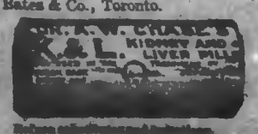
Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills are definite and certain in action and positively cure backache, kidney disease, Bright's disease (in early stages) and urinary troubles. One pill a dose, 25 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.



EIGHTY YEARS OF AGE SUFFERED 20 YEARS

Then Cured by Gin Pills

Remember, right at the start, that Gin Pills are not a "cure-all". If you have Small-Pox, Typhoid Fever or Consumption, there is no use in your taking Gin Pills because they probably would not do you any special good.

Gin Pills are not a "hit-or-miss" remedy. They are a scientific preparation for the Kidneys and Bladder—for Rheumatism, Lumbago and Lame Back, and are made and guaranteed by the largest wholesale drug house in Canada.

Annapolis, N. S., May 14th, 1909.

"I wish to give testimony to the benefits I have received from the use of Gin Pills. I am over eighty years of age and have been suffering from Kidney and Bladder Trouble for about fifteen years. I took doctors' medicines but got no help.

I want to thank you for sending me the sample box of Gin Pills which I took, and found it helped me.

I have taken six boxes of Gin Pills, but got relief before I had taken near that amount. I used to get up some nights every fifteen minutes and had to use an instrument before I could urinate. Now, I can lie in bed four or five hours without getting up. I can truthfully say that I am nearly cured and am still taking Gin Pills and shall always keep a box in the house." W. H. PIERCE.

If you are suffering with your Kidneys—with sharp, shooting pains through back and hips—if your Bladder is weak—if you are all crippled up with Rheumatism or Lumbago—Gin Pills will do you good. We give you a chance to test them. Write National Drug & Chem. Co. Limited Dept. B, Toronto, for free sample box and you will receive it by return mail. Regular size boxes are sold by dealers at 50c., 6 for $2.50. 33

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Fire did $400,000 damage in the business section of Lancaster, Pa., yesterday.

A high-level bridge will be built over the old canal at St. Catharines this year.

Andrew A. Allan, authorizes an emphatic denial to yesterday's cable from London saying, that the C.P.R. had acquired 70 per cent. of the Allan Line Co.'s stock.

At Seattle, Wash., Dr. Mary E. Green, widely known as a physician and lecturer on foods, and whose fight for the privilege of entering the medical profession won her fame 40 years ago, died aged 66.

Inspector A. Asquith of Auburn, paid an official visit to Seaforth yesterday and the proprietor of the Drick House was fined $40 for selling after hours, during which time, in a hamel, a resident had his leg fractured.

The Quebec Legislature will open March 15. A short session is expected.

Oxford County Council has awarded $1,500 to the family of Isaac Battler, killed by the collapse of a bridge under the weight of a threshing machine.

A stray Scotch terrier, frothing at the mouth, suffering from frequent convulsions and evidently affected with rabies, invaded the Pere Marquette shops yesterday, and created a panic among the employes, until one of the men killed the beast with a crow-bar.

James Stats is in the hospital at Niagara Falls, N.Y., with a self-inflicted bullet wound in his right breast, and a bullet in his left arm from the revolver of Patrolman Peter O'Dea. The policeman was shot in the right cheek by Stats, who opened fire when O'Dea entered his house to stop a fight between Stats and his brother-in-law.

Lightning Struck Ship's Mast.

Boston, Feb. 11.—The steamer Devonian, which arrived yesterday from Liverpool, was dismasted by a bolt of lightning off the entrance of Massachusetts Bay late Wednesday night.

The mainmast was split in halves and a big piece struck the deck, nearly demolishing the captain's cabin. No one was injured.

TO TRAIN GIRLS FOR THE COLONIES

Titled Lady Would Teach English Maids How to Rough It.

London, Feb. 10.—Lady Ernestine Hunt, daughter of the Marquis of Ailesbury, has founded a training school for girls at Cosham Park, near Portsmouth, which holds out the possibility of making an American Wild West show look like a mere side show. The school will devote its attention chiefly to young ladies of eighteen years and upwards who intend taking up life in the colonies.

Horsemanship will be a foremost factor in the curriculum, and pupils will be taught riding, both side saddle and astride, and single and pair driving, while it is further announced that those who desire may "learn stable work."

Lady Hunt personally will be the acting principal of this novel educational establishment, and she announces that students will be trained in those subjects which will practically prepare them so that they can "fend for themselves and their homes, whether in the colonies or in England."

These will include, aside from horsemanship, gardening, cooking, darning, first aid, home nursing and housewifery.

A portion of the seven acres of meadow and orchard that surround Cosham House will be utilized during the summer for a row of tents where the feminine students may enjoy the experience of sleeping under canvas nightly. No servants will be kept at Cosham aPrk, and the girls will do the menial as well as the more ornamental work.

The school terms will average from three to six months, and the fees, including everything but laundry and medical attendance, will be extremely moderate, in order to attract "pupils from the middle classes."

PRICES SECURED FROM MERCHANTS

The Examiner has received the following post card:

Peterborough, Feb. 11th.

"In your issue of the 10th you quote prices of meats, etc. "As it pays to advertise," kindly say where you can purchase beef, pork and poultry at such prices, and greatly assist a worried, HOUSEKEEPER.

In answer to the above it might be said that the prices for the complete list as printed in the Examiner were secured in the stores of S. A. Oke, A. Talbot's Delicatesson and White and Gillespie, and as obtained by the reporter, they were exactly the same as would be charged any customer that entered any of these stores.

BOY DISAPPEARS

Willie Duncan, a twelve-year-old Peterborough boy, has disappeared from his home, at 299 Louis street, and his parents believe that he is being harboured by some farmer in the vicinity. The boy has been accustomed to absent himself from home owing to a deep-rooted aversion to the monotony of school life, and his parents were not alarmed when he first disappeared. However, he has been away for over two weeks now, and no trace can be obtained of his whereabouts. It has been ascertained from some of his playmates that he was engaged by a farmer on the market to work at $4 per month, but there is no clue to the identity of the farmer. His parents are naturally very uneasy as he has never remained away from home so long, and the person who is keeping the boy is advised to return him to his home.

HAVELOCK PLEASED WITH 57TH CONCERT

The Havelock Standard says: The concert in the opera house on Monday night by the 57th Regt. Band of Peterborough, under the auspices of the Amity Club was a great treat to our citizens, and the Club is to be commended for their enterprise in bringing to Havelock such a splendid organization as the 57th. Under the direction of Mr. Gliddon, the Band delighted the crowded house with a lengthy but well balanced programme, of which a descriptive number, "The Forge in the Forest," probably was the favourite with the large audience. Mr. Jos. Halpany sang a humorous song, and was recalled several times. Master Mowat Garratt, of town, gave a cornet solo, which was exceptionally well rendered for a youngster of his age, and which pleased the audience very much indeed.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $26,270,000.00, an increase of $1,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $310,741.70.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $34,817.34.

The Assets now total $206,974.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $110,497.12.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President. Hon. F. T. Frost.
Noel Marshall, Vice-President. R. Bickerdike.
Hon. Geo. A. Cox. W. D Robb,
Elias Rogers. J. J. Kenny.
Dr. P. G. Goldsmith. S. Burrows.

AUXILIARY KETCH FOR DR. GRENFELL

Yale Association Will Make Gift for Labrador Work.

New Haven, N.Y., Feb. 11. — The Yale Grenfell Association will present to Dr. W. T. Grenfell this spring a new auxiliary ketch to aid him in his work among the Labrador fishermen.

The designs for this vessel have been drawn by Charles D. Mower, and building will be started very soon. A staunch, seaworthy craft was required because it is to be used in waters noted for storms and off one of the worst coasts on this continent.

The new boat will be forty-five feet over all, thirty-five feet on the water line, twelve feet extreme beam, and six feet six inches draught. The model shows a short overhang forward and a sharp curved stern with plenty of freeboard and good sheer. The lines were drawn to make a vessel easy in a seaway and easily driven under sail or power.

The interior arrangements provide for a main cabin which will be used for transferring patients to the hospitals and for carrying freight and supplies to the different stations. The galley and engine space are forward and in the bow are the crew's quarters. The interior fittings are to be simple and useful.

THE PAINS OF THE AGED

Are usually due to the tendency of the kidneys to wear out as age advances, giving rise to the accumulation of poisons in the blood and causing backache, lumbago, aching limbs and rheumatism. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are particularly prised by aged people because they can be relied upon to invigorate the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and so remove the cause of pains and aches.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer took a decided downward drop last night. This morning it indicated 25 degrees below zero as the lowest during the night. At daybreak it was 25 degrees below. This beats the lowest record last winter considerably. The 1st of February last winter was the coldest day that we had, with a temperature of 18 degrees below. The winter previous to that we had 29 degrees below on February 4th.

REV. A. E. ARMSTRONG AT KNOX CHURCH

Will Preach on Sunday—Prominent in Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Rev. A. E. Armstrong, of Toronto, Association Secretary of the Foreign Missionary Board of the Presbyterian Church, will occupy the pulpit at Knox church on Sunday next. He has travelled extensively east and west in the interests of the Laymen's Missionary Movement and has a strong optimistic message for the congregation of Knox church, particularly for the men. Mr. Armstrong has appeared in Peterborough before, having been one of the prominent men in connection with the Missionary Institute held here two years ago. There will no doubt be a large gathering, especially of men, to hear him on Sunday evening at Knox church.

Pleasant Social Gathering—Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Fife Good Entertainers.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Fife, of 597 Harvey street, were host and hostess last night to the employees of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., under Mr. Fife, who is the line foreman. a very enjoyable oyster supper and social gathering followed and the boys think there is no other man on earth as "white" as their foreman.

Mr. Fife entertained his men with a series of interesting stereopticon views taken by himself during a trip from the Atlantic to the Pacific Mr. Jos. Daignault also contributed to the pleasure of the evening on his gramaphone, and made the company hilarious with the rollicking records rolled off. Then came a recherche oyster supper prepared by Mrs. Fife, who delighted her guests with the toothsome manner in which the delicious bivalves were prepared.

She learned the arts of boiling and of baking,
Was taught the way to grill, and stew, and fry,
And had the very daintiest hand at making

CONFEDERATION LIFE ASSOCIATION

38th Annual Report Presented—A Most Successful Year.

The 39th Annual Report of the Confederation Life Association was presented at the annual meeting, which was held on Tuesday, the 25th inst.

The report was presented in the usual clear and definite form, showing the operations of the company for the past year, and the statement was made that "in no year in the company's history have the Directors been privileged to lay before the policyholders and shareholders a more satisfactory report."

The applications for new business were 3,880, for a total assurance of $6,994,422. Of these, 3,667 for $6,449,522 were approved and policies issued; 200 for $488,838 were declined, the lives not being up to the Company's standard; and the remainder regarding which further information was required, were incomplete at the close of the year. Adding Bonus Additions granted, the total new issue was $6,455,194, and the total insurance in force at the close of the year was $51,797,428, under 33,144 policies.

The claims arising from deaths among the insured were 255, calling for a total sum of $458,282, under 282 policies.

The sum of $1,141,561.17 was paid on the Policy-holders and Annuitants' account. Of that sum $823,340.70 was for Claims by Death and for Matured Endowments. If to this item is added the balance of the claims for the year, awaiting proof, it will make a total of $855,876.77 for the year. The measure of relief the payment of this sum will have brought to many homes can readily be imagined, and will serve to illustrate the great benefits of Life Insurance.

Notwithstanding the large increase in volume of the Company's business the actual expenses for the year were considerably less than for the previous year, showing that care has been exercised over the Company's expenditures, and the ratio of expenses to income shows a reduction of slightly over 1% per cent. as compared with the previous year.

A large increase was made in the cash surplus, which now amounts to $1,324,320.00, an increase of over $230,000 for the year, while the actual payments of cash profits to policy holders were considerably more than in the previous years. The actual surplus earned for the year amounted to $352,596.00, which was substantially the largest surplus earned in any year of the Company's history. The rate of interest which the Company earned on its invested funds for the year also shows a most satisfactory increase.

Full reports of the meeting are in the press and will shortly be issued.

Band at Street Railway Rink to-night.

IN POLICE COURT

Paddy McDonough, Former Peterborough Lacrosse Player, In Trouble.

Port Arthur, Ont., Feb. 10.—Paddy McDonough, captain of the Port Arthur hockey team, has been summoned to appear in the police court this morning on an information sworn to by John Feren, a spectator at last night's game, who alleges McDonough hit him. The story is that at full time, when the players gathered around the timekeepers' box discussing a play-off on account of a tie score Feren called McDonough a sorehead. McDonough then reached into the stand and hit Feren with his stick, though without doing any serious injury.

HER BABY HAD ECZEMA

Mrs. F. Clark, Belmont, Man., writes:—"My baby had eczema on her ear. The sore was very bad and nothing seemed to help her. Hearing of some remarkable cures by Chase's Ointment, I had made up my mind that if ever I had the opportunity I would try it. I began using it and the third application the sore began to heal. The cure was thorough and complete and we give all credit to Dr. Chase's Ointment."

BASKET SOCIAL

Very Successful Affair Was Held at Mount Julian.

Mt. Julian.—The members of Holy Trinity church held a basket social in the school house Thursday night, February 3rd, which was a most gratifying success in every way.

In spite of a heavy drifting snow storm during the day, the evening was fine and the attendance was very large Before the baskets were disposed of the chairman of the evening, Rev. C. Lord gave out the numbers of a good programme of recitation and dialogues, interspersed with selections from the choir, and on the phonograph by Mr. George Foster. Then the baskets, pretty in appearance and each containing a dainty lunch, were auctioned off by Mr. Israel Church and Mr. John Thompson and the very handsome sum of $52,10 was realized.

The committee in charge is to be congratulated on the success of the entertainment and the members of Holy Trinity church feel much indebted to the Rev. H. Garbutt, of Eden Methodist church and his congregation for their presence and hearty co-operation in the work.

Rev. C. Lord, the minister at Holy Trinity, has a very large district in his charge and is unremitting in his labours for the welfare of his people.

WAS IN MONTREAL

Rev. J. R. Webb Attended a Banquet in Wellington Street Church.

Rev. J. R. Webb was in Montreal on Tuesday night last attending the annual banquet of the Men's Society of the Wellington St. Baptist church, of which he was pastor before coming to the Murray St. Baptist church in this city. Rev. Mr. Webb was one of the speakers at the banquet, which was a most enjoyable and successful affair.

A LONG CHASE

Smith Farmer Had to Move to Follow Cows He Brought Into City.

Mr. Harry Milburn, of Smith, arrived at the market this morning with four fine cattle that had given him a merry chase on the way into the city. After leaving their own barnyard they took the lead and maintained a fast clip until they reached the city. It was probably a case of having to travel fast to keep warm and the cattle seemed to be particular eager to cause trouble. They found their way into many a farm yard, turned into wood sheds and hen houses, in fact made their drivers work all the time they were following them. Mr. Milburn and a companion looked as if they had come out of a Turkish bath and were as overheated as if they had just finished the Examiner road race. However, the cattle were of prime quality and were well worth the trouble of bringing them into the city.

FOUR OF ONE FAMILY BROUGHT TO HOSPITAL

The ambulance met the G. T. R. train from Hastings last evening and conveyed four members of one family, whose home is in Hastings to the Nicholls Hospital. The four persons are suffering from typhoid fever, and it is stated that two other members of the same family are ill with the disease at Hastings.

Thawed Pipes And Started a Blaze

Two Fires Called the Brigade Out This Morning — Houses Were Close Together—New Horse Jumped Through Harness.

STEPPED ON FIREMAN

The weather last night was so cold that a water pipe in the back kitchen of Mr. Chas. Brewer's residence, 59 Alfred street, froze solid, and Mrs. Brewer's efforts to melt the pipe this morning are said to have been the cause of a little blaze that necessitated a visit from the fire brigade. The damage was small, amounting to about $25. It is something of a coincidence that a call was received from a house within a stone throw from the above. It was to the residence of Frank Mills, 584 Chamberlain street. A chimney had become overheated by the extra fire to dispel the cold of the present Arctic snap. There was no damage sustained. When harnessing for the first run "Jerry," the new horse, was a little too eager to make his debut. With the characteristic eagerness and activity of a beginner he jumped into the harness, but threw too much zeal into his attempt. He practically went right through as he broke the tugs and several straps. A slight delay was occasioned until another set of harness was brought out. Not only did "Jerry" break in with a vengeance, as far as the harness was concerned, but he also stepped on one of the firemen, who required the attention of a doctor. Fireman Lebar was opening the street doors when the new horse reared on his hind feet to dash out, and in his impatience did not wait until the doors were opened. One of his hoofs struck the fireman in the middle of his back, cutting him about the loins and rather painfully bruising him. On the whole "Jerry" arrived all right, but he might have announced himself a little more modestly.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SPRINGVILLE CHURCH

On Monday evening of this week, the annual meeting of the Springville Presbyterian church was held. All the reports, in spite of the pastor's illness, three months at the beginning of the year, were splendid and showed much progress. The balances were all on the right side and there also has been a very large addition of membership. In fact since the pastor, Rev. Dr. Marsh, took charge four years ago, the congregation has trebled and the missionary givings this year were nearly four times that of last.

NOTICE

Owing to the very heavy advance sale of tickets for "Kitty Grey" which plays at "The Grand" to-morrow (Saturday) evening patrons are reminded that seats ordered and not paid for will be held until Saturday noon only. There will be no change in the admission to the upper gallery which has been fixed at 25c and no one will be admitted before the gallery doors open at 7.30 p.m.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

There is a certain kind of person, the harm done by whom is in exact proportion to his good intentions.

And that is the person who never can see a need or desire without promising to fulfill it, and, who, having promised, in nine cases out of ten never seems to think of the promise again.

You chance to visit one of them in the spring and admire her huge apple orchard.

"Yes," she says, "we really have more apples than we know what to do with. Now, if you are so fond of them we must send you a box next summer. Which do you prefer, the early ones or the winter apples? The early ones? Well, you can expect a box the last of August, then."

And if this is your first experience with her you do expect them. But that's all, of course.

You see a male member of the species taking some pictures, and you ask him to let you take the film when he is through with it so that you may have some printed.

"No, indeed," he says, "I will finish you up a set myself. No bother. I can just as well as not. I enjoy doing it."

You express your undying gratitude, naturally, and then proceed to live in hopes and eventually of course die in despair.

A feminine specimen of the class goes to see her washerwoman and discovering that the baby really has nothing fit to wear, asks the mother how old he is, "so I can get some clothes from some of my friends for him." She really means to at the time, but—well, you know how it is. Only, unless you've been a washerwoman with more babies than you just had the money to clothe, and had a promise and then a disappointment, you don't know how that end of it is.

Into one of the hospitals at the time of the Civil War an old darkey woman used to come bringing for each sick soldier a little pickled cucumber.

It sounds like a strange gift, doesn't it, but the surgeons say that there was nothing so much craved by the wounded, especially those who had lost much blood, as these sharp pickled cucumbers.

The book which told of old Mammy's visits went on to give this little anecdote showing that the class of ready promisers and equally ready disappointers is not a twentieth century growth.

"I have no idea why more of these pickles were not provided, when such complete provision was made for all hospital supplies," says the story teller. "My informant said that one of the highest ladies of the land had pickled cucumbers. She immediately told them that she would supply that want, and would order a whole barrel of the coveted delicacies from a wholesale grocery house. The pickles never came and the boys were cruelly disappointed. The lady probably forgot her promise, or found it inconvenient to keep it. 'Old mammy isn't much on promises,' said one of the wounded soldiers, 'but she always fetches the pickles.'"

The reason people promise future favours so readily is, of course, that while the gratitude they will arouse looms up big in the present, the effort it will cost them is dwarfed in the distance of the future.

The impulse to do a kind thing sometime in the future is usually ten times as strong as the impulse to do kind things right now.

But while the latter is an impulse to follow recklessly the former is an impulse to think over before you voice it.

They say Hell is paved with good intentions. I fancy some of the curbstones may be made of over ready promises.

You may not be able to do all the kind things for people that you would like to do, but you surely can avoid disappointing people by never promising what you are not absolutely sure you can and will fulfill.

New Proprietors Of Peterborough Bookstore Experienced Men

The Peterborough Bookstore, which for years has been conducted by Mr. A. H. Stratton and company has begun a new business era under the management of Messrs. Paul and Fred Trebilcock of Bowmanville, sons of Mr. P. Trebilcock, the well known bookseller and stationer of Bowmanville. While the change was effected a few days ago the new proprietors will not arrive in Peterborough for several weeks owing to the demands of the business they have been engaged in up to the present. They will visit Peterborough frequently, however, during the next few weeks after which they take up residence here and devote their entire attention to the business which has been developed under Mr. Stratton's management. Mr. M. G. Hay, of St. Thomas, has been appointed manager temporarily and having had many years' experience, the Peterborough Bookstore will be in good hands. The new proprietors are thorough business men and the experience they have acquired should serve them well in Peterborough. It is their intention to carry a stock of the best quality and it will be their every endeavour to maintain the reputation of the business they have acquired in this city. They intend to make large purchases in spring wall paper stock and will carry a high grade line in this respect. Further announcements will likely be made later. Trebilcock Bros. in an advertisement in another column make special offers to the public as an introductory stroke.

IS LOOKING FOR THOMAS CASEY

Chief of Police of Chillicothe, Mo., Writes to Find Him.

Chief Roszel received a communication from the Chief of Police at Chillicothe, Mo., asking him to be on the look out for Thomas Casey, a man who is wanted there in connection with the settlement of an estate.

The letter received is as follows:

Chillicothe, Mo., Jan. 15, '10.

I am in search of information that may lead to locating a man by the name of Thomas Casey. Casey left here about 1904, and the only information that we are able to learn is that he is now in your city working at the plumbing trade or possibly working as a day labourer on construction work.

Casey is an Irish Canadian, 39 years old, about 5 feet 11 inches in height, weight 150 pounds, slender build, hair dark, but streaked with gray, always went smooth shaved while here, high cheek bones and slim face. When living here was a man that drank freely and spent much of his time in such places. Casey was born and raised in Chillicothe.

It is very important that we find him, if living, on account of being an heir to a settlement in an estate.

MAURICE DORNEY,
Chief of Police.

ENJOYABLE BANQUET

Boys' Cabinet of the Y. M. C. A. Gathered Around the Festive Board.

Last night at 6 o'clock in the Board Room at the Y. M. C. A., about 20 boys and a few senior members, who are actively interested in boys' work, attended a banquet tendered by the Boys' Cabinet to those who participated in raising the fund to re-decorate and furnish the department.

Mrs. S. R. Armstrong and Mrs. J. J. Howden very kindly supervised preparations of the tea, which was served by several of the young ladies. The toast list was as follows: "The King"; "Boys' Cabinet," proposed by Mr. S. R. Hall and responded to by Harold Lees; "Boys' Department," by Dr. Middleton, Boys' Secretary; "The Ladies," by Wallace Armstrong, and responded to on behalf of the ladies by Mr. Hassard. The speeches were such as to inspire enthusiasm and fresh effort on the part of the boys, and, combined with the tea, constituted a pleasant event.

WILL ADDRESS THE LOCAL ASTRONOMERS

Prof. Stewart of Toronto University to Speak Here on Tuesday, 22nd.

The next meeting of the Peterborough centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada will be held at the Collegiate Institute on Tuesday evening, the twenty-second of this month. The Society has been successful in securing to lecture on that occasion, Mr. Louis B. Stewart, professor of Applied Science at the University of Toronto. His subject will be "How position is obtained in high latitudes," for an example, "How Peary would know when he was at the pole." Prof. Stewart will demonstrate the lecture by the use of instruments.

This contractor got results.

He knew how to feed his men.

Some years ago a contractor building a railroad in a warm climate was troubled a great deal by sickness among the laborers.

He turned his attention at once to their food and found that they were getting full rations of meat and were drinking water from a stream near by.

He issued orders to cut down the amount of meat and to increase greatly the quantity of Quaker Oats fed to the men.

He also boiled Quaker Oats and mixed the thin oatmeal water with their drinking water.

Almost instantly all signs of stomach disorders passed and his men showed a decided improvement in strength and spirits.

This contractor had experience that taught him the great value of good oatmeal.

DEFENCE OF THE NAVY

In Long Speech, Minister of Defence Goes Thoroughly Into the Plans of the British Government—Hon. Mr. Foster Tries Hard to Justify the Opposition's Change of Front In Matter of Dreadnoughts.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—The argument for a Canadian navy, as opposed to a direct contribution of twenty-five millions in cash to Great Britain, to be used at the discretion of the Admiralty for the purpose of naval defence, was put with compelling force and thoroughness in a speech of three and a half hours' duration in the Commons yesterday by Sir Frederick Borden.

Sir Frederick announced that an immediate start would be made to provide the personnel of the navy by the purchase of two training ships. The Rainbow, which has already been arranged for, will be placed in Pacific coast waters. A far larger vessel will be obtained for the Atlantic and if possible be obtained for the Atlantic, either the Niobe or a sister ship, the Sparliete.

Negotiations are now under way and the choice is likely to be the Niobe. This is a protected cruiser of eleven thousand tons, with a speed of over twenty knots and carrying sixteen six-inch and sixteen three-inch guns. The Niobe, in addition as a training ship for seamen, naval cadets, etc., will serve as a barracks, until shore accommodation is provided.

Asked as to how the fleet would be divided, Sir Frederick said that it was proposed to place two Bristol type cruisers on the Pacific coast and two Bristols and six destroyers on the Atlantic coast, with one training ship on each coast.

The consruction of the ships will cost $11,015,000, as compared with $11,670,000 under the plan which included the Boadicea. These estimates are based on British figures, and the cost will be greater if the vessels are constructed in Canada.

The estimated cost of the proposed naval college is $715,000.

The annual cost of upkeep at Canadian rates after the fleet is completed will be $3,680,000.

The estimated expenditure for the next four years is (1) $1,250,000; (2) $1,447,000; (3) $1,704,000; (4) $2,254,000.

Sir Frederick closed at 9 o'clock, having spoken for three hours and a half.

Describing Sir Frederick's speech as "Not very illuminating," Hon. Geo. E. Foster, passed on to a criticism of the Premier. He thought Sir Wilfrid's speech, after all, an apology, addressed to the two wings in this country. It bore the semblance of the speech made by a man who feared, on the one hand, that he was offering too much, and on the other hand, that he was offering too little, a man who tried the shifty waves of compromise.

Whatever he might have tried to persuade others to believe, the Premier himself knew that he was standing in an epochal period in Canada's history. Yet no great question has been less discussed, canvassed or understood by the intelligent electorate of this country than this. But the people were to get no opportunity to understand it.

Mr. Foster then drew attention to the fact that there was an unusual number of vacant seats on the Government side during Sir Frederick Borden's speech, and declared it showed either a total lack of heart or else a very deep disagreement.

Mr. Foster analyzed the resolution of March last and said that it left Canada perfectly free in case of an emergency to respond to it in an adequate manner. The Premier would meet such an emergency by "stumping" the Province of Quebec. If faith had been broken in respect to the resolution of last session, it had been broken by the leader of the Government.

Dealing with the attitude of Canadian representatives at the last three colonial conferences, Mr. Foster said that Canada ought to feel ashamed. They displayed lack of enthusiasm and interest in imperial concerns as compared with Australia and New Zealand. With defence was under consideration, they had given as the excuse for non-participation the reason that the Dominion was fully occupied with public works, railway building and internal development. The other colonies, he said, had also such works in progress and on hand.

Coaxed Him to Kill His Father.

Bartlesville, Okla., Feb. 11.—"My stepmother was my tempter to such an extent that I thought I loved her, and so I killed my father with an axe when she ordered me to."

Peter Brown made this admission on the witness stand in court yesterday. His stepmother listened with indifference.

GERMS USED TO MURDER?

Dr. B. C. Hyde Is Charged With Administering Strychnine to Christian Swope, the Millionaire—It Is Said He Tried to Kill the Whole Family by Giving Them Typhoid Germs — Robbed a Grave.

Kansas City, Md., Feb. 11.—As a climax to the lengthy investigation of the mysterious death of Col. Thomas H. Swope in Oct. 3, 1909, Dr. B. C. Hyde, husband of the late millionaire's niece, was arrested here yesterday charged with his murder in the first degree. The warrant charges that Hyde, with felonious intent, administered strychnine to Swope on the day of his death.

Hyde surrendered quietly. He learned that a warrant was being sought, and with his attorneys, went to the prosecutor's office to await the return of Mr. Conkling. He submitted to arrest without demanding to hear the warrant read. From here the party went to Independence, Mo., where Dr. Hyde was arraigned. He pleaded not guilty, and was released on a bond of $50,000. His preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 17.

Prosecutor Conkling originally planned $25,000 bail, but Hyde's attorney had arraigned for a $50,000 surety, and it was accepted.

The calmest man in the justice's office in Independence was Hyde. While attorneys busied themselves in making out papers, he sat near County Attorney Hayes, reading a paper that told of the developments in the Swope investigation.

"By the way, Mr. Hayes," he said, folding up the paper, "I wish you would call up my house and have my wife informed that I will be home for dinner. She will be worrying about me."

Just as soon as the bond was accepted, Dr. Hyde hurried to his home in an automobile.

The bodies of Col. Swope and Christian Swope then were disinterred. An analysis of the organs is said to have disclosed poison.

Dr. Hyde had prescribed for Col. Swope during the latter's illness. The patient was given a digestive capsule on Oct. 3. Twenty minutes later, while reading a newspaper, he went into convulsion and died a few minutes later.

On Dec. 2, the nurse attending Christian Swope, who was being treated for typhoid fever, were surprised when he also had convulsions and became unconscious, exactly as his uncle had done two months before, and died Dec. 6.

Miss Margaret Swope, Christian's sister, also had convulsions in a milder form. Her illness was diagnosed as typhoid fever.

On Dec. 4, Miss Cora Dixon, governess in the Swope house, and Miss Coppego, a negro servant, were both stricken with typhoid fever and successively, on Dec. 5, Stewart S. Fleming, nephew of Col. Swope; Dec. 9, Miss Sarah Swope, 14 years old, a niece of Col. Swope; Dec. 11, Miss Stella Swope, another niece, and Dec. 18, Miss Lucy Lee, daughter of Mrs. Logan Swope, all were afflicted with typhoid. Shortly thereafter Dr. Hyde himself was stricken.

When the bodies of Col. Swope and Christian Swope were exhumed for examination, Dr. Hyde, in a statement said: "Col. Swope died of apoplexy. There is no doubt about it. It was as plain a case of apoplexy as I have ever seen. Col. Swope was getting old and feeble. He had been sick for more than three months of old age, lack of appetite and senility. Only a few weeks before his death he had had a severe fall."

Dr. Bennett Clarke Hyde is the son of Rev. Dr. G. W. Hyde, a retired Baptist minister of Lexington, Missouri. He is 40 years old.

In August, 1897, Dr. Hyde, then police surgeon of Kansas City, was ousted from office because of alleged inhuman treatment of Anne Clements, a negress, who had attempted to commit suicide and who had come under his care at the police station.

Dr. Hyde's name was even more conspicuously in the newspapers in the winter of 1898-9, when he was charged with grave-robbing. At that time Dr. Hyde was demonstrator of anatomy at the University Medical College.

In 1905, Dr. Hyde clandestinely married Miss Frances Swope, a niece of Col. Thomas H. Swope, against the wishes of her mother, Mrs. Logan O. Swope. As a result of the marriage Dr. Hyde and his wife's family were alienated until a short time ago, when a reconciliation was brought about.

Dr. and Mrs. Hyde have a modest home in a fashionable part of the city and moved in the best circles. They have no children.

The estate of Col Thomas H. Swope was valued at $3,000,000. Ten nephews and nieces survived Col. Swope at the time his will was filed.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R.V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for women's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

In tablet form or liquid. Purges, purifies and strengthens Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Shot By Lover.

Watertown, N.Y., Feb. 11.—Albert Leeson, a New York Central brakeman, shot and fatally wounded Gladys Chargo, a stenographer, on the streets of Watertown last night, then turned the weapon on himself, sending a bullet through his heart and falling dead beside her. He was 23 years old; she was 19.

Leeson, whose home is in Antwerp, N.Y., had been jilted by the girl. Last night he attempted to bring about a reconciliation and telephoned her to meet him at a corner near her home. Evidently fearing trouble, the girl asked her 15-year-old brother to accompany her.

When they met Leeson, after a few words, shot Miss Chargo three times, the bullets taking effect in the arm, the breast and the abdomen. Little hope is expressed for her recovery.

Another Unionist Wins.

London, Feb. 11.—The result of the election for the Edinburgh and St. Andrew's Universities' seat was Sir Robert Finlay, Unionist, 5,205; Simpson, Liberal, 2,693. The Unionist majority in 1906 was 2,583.

INDIGESTION GOES IN FIVE MINUTES

Heartburn, Dyspepsia, Gas and Other Stomach Misery Vanishes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach troubles or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or Indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy; though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Biliousness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as many people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too if you ever try a little for Indigestion or Gastritis or any other Stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of Stomach Trouble and Indigestion.

Young Woman Commits Suicides.

Philadelphia, Feb. 11.—After calling her guardian on the telephone and telling him of her intentions, Frances Flosrecky, aged 22 years, committed suicide by shooting herself through the heart.

Six years ago her father, a veteran of the civil war, in which he commanded a Missouri regiment, killed his wife and himself. It was the anniversary of this tragedy, and she seemed much depressed all day.

Gaynor Looks For Trouble.

New York, Feb. 11.—Mayor Gaynor appointed a committee to enquire into the management of the city record, the official bulletin of the administration, and to report on the "abuses, extravagance and dishonesties" which have grown up in connection with the contracts for furnishing the city with stationery, etc.

Skin Diseases.

Under this name such troubles as Salt Rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Tetter, Shingles, Psoriasis, Scurf, Itching Rashes, Eruptions, Boils, Pimples, etc., are included. Skin diseases, as a rule, are not dangerous, but are unsightly, irritating and often terribly annoying to the sufferer; they depend mainly on bad blood, from one cause or another, for if the blood is pure and the circulation good no skin disease can exist, except it arise from lack of proper cleanliness or from contagion.

To get rid of skin diseases it is necessary to observe strictly all the laws of health; maintain regular action of the bowels; avoid high living, eating only plain nourishing food. Cleanse and keep the blood pure by taking Burdock Blood Bitters, which unlocks all the secretions, and makes new rich blood by acting on the entire system.

Had Salt Rheum Six Years.

Mrs. E. M. Myers, East Jeddore, N.S., writes:—"I don't think there is anyone in this Dominion can recommend Burdock Blood Bitters more than I can. I suffered terribly with Salt Rheum for six years, and did everything for it without relief. For curiosity sake I bought six bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, and it completely cured me. I would advise others to use it."

PETERBORO' CURLERS WIN THE DISTRICT CUP THIS MORNING

Defeated Toronto Granites by 18 Shots in Final Game This Morning---Big Celebration This Evening Upon Their Arrival on the Local---57th Band Has Been Engaged--Turn Out and Welcome the Victors!

Toronto, Feb. 11th.—In the final game for the District Cup this morning at Victoria Rink, Peterborough won from the Granites, of Toronto, by 18 shots. Rinks and scores as follows:

Peterborough's splendid victory this morning represents but one of the list of contests they have played in order to qualify for the finals. They defeated the teams in the local district and played off with Brockville in Belleville, defeating them by ten points. In the semi-finals they defeated Orillia and grabbed the District Cup with a secure hold this morning when they trimmed the Toronto Granites. The result is most gratifying to the local club and to the citizens as a whole. Lindsay won out in this district last year and two years ago the honours came to Peterborough. It remained for the curlers to bring the only athletic honours to Peterborough this year and in carrying off the District Cup they have had no easy task.

Celebration To-night.

The victorious rinks arrive home to-night on the local. The Curling Club executive have arranged for an adequate celebration to-night. The entire band of the 57th has been engaged and a big parade will accompany the winners from the station to the rink. The citizens are expected to turn out in large numbers to welcome home the visitors and to assist the club in the celebration that will mark their homecoming. The honours are of such a signal nature that a royal reception should be accorded the two rinks that have fought the good fight and have in the last stage excelled their previous efforts.

Pleased With the Win.

The Examiner was able to break the good news to the curlers at the rink this afternoon and to other prominent members of the club. In every case the tidings were received with a mild hurrah, which this evening will have developed into a marked lustiness.

FANS EXCITED OVER THE PLAY-OFF IN CITY LEAGUE

The tie in the City Hockey League between West Ends and Strathconas will be played off next Wednesday night at Brock Street rink, and should prove the premier hockey attraction of the season. The fans are wildly excited over the coming contest, and West Ends, on their showing Wednesday night will be warm favourites.

McWilliams, Seymour and Dobson of the West Ends, were on the Strathcona line-up last season.

Things have changed in the City League since its inception. At one stage in the League's history neither junior, intermediate or senior O. H. A. men were permitted to compete. Of the fourteen men who took part in Wednesday's game every one has had experience in either intermediate or junior O. H. A. hockey. Of the West Ends Seymour and Dobson have played intermediate O. H. A. with Peterborough, McWilliams junior O. H. A with Peterborough and Lindsay, and intermediate with Peterborough; Halpin, Giroux, and Short with the Peterborough Junior O. H. A. team, and Crane with the Collegiate Juniors. Of the Strathconas, Ray, Derocher, McMillan and Weatherstone have played intermediate O. H. A. with Peterborough, and senior Inter-Provincial with T. A. A. C. of Toronto, and Burritt and Denison junior O. H. A. with the Collegiate team.

Wednesday night's game was the second defeat for the Strathconas in our years of City League hockey and the first time that the Commissioners have lost with Charlie Ray on the team since he joined them three years ago.

It may be news to the fans who talk about the Strathconas sticking together so long that of the seven men who played for the Straths in the final game last year only one, McMillan, was on the line-up in Wednesday's game. The team against Lakefield last season consisted of Wilson, goal; McWilliams, point; Dusty, cover; Dobson, rover; Long, centre; Seymour, right wing; McMillan, left wing.

The West Ends, who are tied with the Straths for the championship of the City League, did not win a game last year.

The Commissioners have reached the finals again for the fourth year in succession.

There may be some changes in the Strathcona line-up in next week's game.

Keene's victory over T. A. S. the other night was popular as it would have been over any other of the league teams. The Villagers have shown themselves good sports this season, and the crowd was glad to see them win.

There will only be one game next week, the play-off between the two leading teams. The game ...

A WARM GAME

George Street Methodist Church Team Beat the Canadian General Five.

George Street Methodist 16
Canadian General Electric Co. .. 10

Line-up:

George Street	Can. Gen. El. Co.
	R. F.
Downing	Carniff
	L. F.
Miller	Elliott
	C.
Cressman	Turner
	R. G.
McCarroll	Armstrong
	L. G.
Payne	Flemming

Referee—H. A. McLaughlin. Timer. Scorer, Martin.

The game was the best this season, and good and clean, and there wasn't a mix-up in the whole game, and not a bit of hard feeling between the players, and talk about fast, the winning team played this fast short passing and the Can. Gen. didn't know where to look for the ball—half of the time. This is the first real team the Can. Gen. Electric-lights have played, and when the game ended they were somewhat surprised to find the score was locally and there is much speculation as to the result, the opinion being very evenly divided. The Oriental Hotel has made arrangements to get the returns of the game and no doubt will be the headquarters for the fans to-night.

Two good games were seen in the Church League last night when the champion St. Andrew's team beat the All Saints' team by 5 goals to 2, while George St. Methodist fell before Knox church by 5 goals to 2. Both games were hard fought and interesting. Mich. Quigley refereed satisfactorily. George St. were ahead 3 to 2 in the second game, but wilted in the second half. The teams were as follows:

St. Andrews—Goal, Staunton, point, Clarke; cover, Currie; centre, Rae; right wing, Sills; left wing, Leitch.

ATTENTION!

57th Band Meets at Armouries and Curlers at the Rink for Reception.

For the celebration of the winning of the District Cup by two rinks of local curlers the 57th band is asked to meet at the Armouries at 7.30, and will parade to the C.P.R. station. A meeting of the Curlers is called for at the rink at 7 o'clock, to complete the arrangements and every member is asked to turn out and give the winners a reception that will be worth while.

HOCKEY RETURNS

The Enelgrove Cigar Store has made arrangements to secure the returns of the Lindsay-Trenton hockey match to-night. The returns will come in with every goal scored. The fans are invited to hear the results.

TACT

There is nothing like tact, and sometimes it is exhibited by those from whom it might be least expected. "Talking about tact," said a woman who is just verging on middle age, "I never saw one get out of a difficult situation more deftly than did a man I met at a blacksmith's shop in a New England village I was driving through last summer. I was alone in the lanes with my friend, the horse, when I noticed that he limped a bit, so when we reached the next village I stopped at the door of the blacksmith's shop. A man was holding up the door post and to him I said: 'Will you please tell the blacksmith to come out. I want to see him.' After the manner of the village loafer, he did not stir, but smiled sweetly at me, and, lifting up his voice, cried: "Bill, come out. There's a lady wants to see you.' From the depths of the blacksmith's shop a voice roared: 'Is she young, John, or old? In the words of an old poem I looked at John and John looked at me. Then, still without moving, he called: "You'll be satisfied Bill, when you get out."

An English Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair.

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing rats, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-looked-for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale. This preparation is called SALVIA, and is being sold with a guarantee to cure Dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant hair dressing. McDermid & Jury, your druggists, are the first to import this preparation into Peterborough, and a large generous bottle can be purchased for 50c.

Clean Within!

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Purify the Blood and Prolong Life

Vigorous health at 70 due to Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

If as much intelligent care were given to keeping the body clean and pure within as well as without we would see more healthy, vigorous old men and women. The daily bath does its part by keeping the pores of the skin open so that they throw off much of the body's impurities, but it is even more important that the bowels and kidneys should be kept regular and active.

If the bowels fail, as they often do late in life, to move regularly at least once a day, the waste matter from the food accumulates, decays, poisons the system and upsets the stomach.

If the kidneys are sluggish the impurities which they should filter from the blood remain and cause rheumatism.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills regulate the bowels, stimulate the kidneys and open up the pores of the skin. The result is a body clean within—pure, red blood—good digestion—and a hale and hearty old age.

Three generations have proved the value of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, and their sale is steadily increasing all over the world.

OBITUARY

CATHERINE COLLINS.

The death occurred yesterday of Catherine Collins, aged 76, at the House of Providence. The remains were taken to Lindsay this morning for interment.

MRS. ROBT. N. JONES.

The death occurred very suddenly last night at eleven o'clock of Mrs. R. N. Jones, at her late residence, 568 Charlotte St. She had been ill for eight weeks, suffering from heart failure, but her death was unexpected. She had been talking to her husband, when without a moment's warning she succumbed. She was 39 years of age. Her maiden name was Lizzie Flack, she being a daughter of Mr. David Flack, of Manvers. She was married fifteen years ago. The late Mrs. Jones was a faithful member of All Saints' church and was a woman highly esteemed by all who knew her. Her husband and two sons, Earl and Arthur, are left to mourn her loss. She is also survived by her parents, one brother, Arthur, of Manvers, and one sister, Mrs. G. Wilson, of Yelverton.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late residence to All Saints Church and thence to the Little Lake cemetery.

CHEESE BOX FACTORY IN FULL OPERATION

The E. H. Mann Co. have taken over the Cheese Box and Saw Mill plant of The Mann Lumber and Cheese Box Co., Dublin street, which will be operated under separate management in future.

Both the cheese box factory and portable saw mill are now in full running order. The Company are buying large quantities of logs and sawing them up for headings and cheese boxes, as well as for cedar shingles and lumber. Custom sawing for farmers and others will be another line of their business, which will be pushed forward rapidly, while the sleighing and good roads last. See advertisement in another column.

MADE PRESENTATION

Before severing his connection with the Review, Mr. J. H. Burnham, who has filled the position of editor of that journal for the past two years, was presented with a handsome pipe by the editorial staff. The relations existing between Mr. Burnham and the reporters were always the most pleasant and his resignation is deeply regretted by them.

HANDCAR CRASHED INTO THE TRAIN

Three Men Suffered Serious Injury Near Byng Inlet.

Sudbury, Ont., Feb. 11.—While returning from French to Byng Inlet yesterday afternoon a section gang on a jigger ran head-on to the Toronto-Sudbury local train before they noticed it. The gang was composed of Albert Hodgman, foreman; Tiklena, a foreigner, and a third man named Criear. Criear managed to jump just before the impact, but was hit with a piece of the debris and is seriously cut about the face. Hodgman is painfully injured about the head, while Tiklena suffered a broken jaw and scalp and face wound.

The three were brought to Sudbury Hospital on the train, and all are expected to recover. The hand car was completely smashed.

HENDERSON WAS AGAIN REMANDED

Charles Henderson was, as expected, remanded this morning, when he re-appeared before Magistrate Edmison. The prosecution wished to secure definite word as to the condition of the woman who was the more seriously injured.

Had Weak Kidneys For Two Years.

Doctor Failed to Help. Doan's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Mr. Edmund Assels, New Carlisle, Que. writes:—"I feel it my duty to let you know of the great cure I have obtained by using Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled with my kidneys for two years. I tried a doctor, but he failed to help me. I read in the B.B.B. Almanac about Doan's Kidney Pills, and began using them, and after the first box I began to feel better. I only used four boxes and they completely cured me. I am very thankful to have found so speedy a cure, and would advise everyone suffering from kidney disease to try them."

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some kind of Kidney Complaint, but do not suspect it. It may have been in the system for some time. There may have been backache, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as brick dust deposit in the urine, highly colored scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent or suppressed urination, burning sensation when urinating, etc.

Do not neglect any of these symptoms for, if neglected they will eventually lead to Bright's Disease, Dropsy and Diabetes.

The Secret Of Our Success

in suiting the demands of exacting wearers of Glasses is that we not only use the best qualities of Lenses and Frames, but our examination of the eyes is so thorough as to investigate the irregularities and peculiarities of each case and give the greatest possible help by powers specially made to fully correct and relieve all these irregularities. There is usually more help possible than would be supposed, and those who put up merely with what they can manage to see with, endanger the eyes and miss much comfort and pleasure. Medical Examination Of The Children In Schools

Prof. Knight's Address on This Modern Question That Is Claiming the Attention of Educationists—Some of the Diseases Prevalent Among Children at School.

NECESSITY OF HEALTH

Medical examination of school children is one of the questions that is engaging the serious attention of present day educationists. For the proper mental development of children they must be physically sound and it is claimed that certain disabilities exist among young scholars and for numerous reasons the examination in schools is considered most satisfactory and is claimed to be productive of good results. Prof. A P. Knight, of Queen's University, who lectured at the Normal school recently dwelt upon this subject and presented facts that should be of interest to the ordinary reader.

In opening, Prof. Knight emphasized the difference between inspection and examination, the latter implying a careful investigation of the hearing, vision, height, weight and chest measurements of the children—a work requiring much time but which is amply justified by its importance to children, parents and the state.

What Examination Showed.

The lecturer submitted the following interesting table of the conditions found by a thorough medical examination of the school children of Bradford, England.

Ill nourished, 13 per cent.
Dirty and verminous, 25 per cent.
Having bad teeth, 50 to 60 per cent.
With catarrh of the nose, 28 per cent.
With defective eyesight, 20 to 50 per cent.
With defective hearing, 10 to 20 per cent.
While tests varied in Canada, with the exception of ill nourished and dirty and verminous children, the above figures have held good. Parents are naturally anxious to discover if their children have any of the defects tabulated, in order that they may be corrected wherever possible.

Some Dangerous Habits.

Prof. Knight pointed out the danger and cause of mouth-breathing. Mouth-breathers are more liable to have diseases of the throat and lungs than those who breathe naturally through the nostirs. The common cause of mouth breathing is the presence of adenoids—fleshy growths at the point where the two nostrils merge into a single opening into the upper part of the throat.

Round or stooped shoulders likewise tend to pulmonary and digestive derangements. Recognized in proper time, this physical condition can be corrected by proper training.

Defective eyesight in children may be from two causes: (1) where the eye ball from front to back is too long and the focus is thus in front of the retina; and (2) where the eyeball is too short and again the focus is not in proper place. Wrong vision means wrong brain impressions and hence defective thought and education.

So, too, with defective hearing. The auditory area of the brain gets wrong impressions, hence defective intellect and education.

Cause of Imbecility.

And so too with all the muscular action. The motor areas of the brain can only control the various parts of the body properly when the nerve impressions are correct. A person who cannot control his muscles because of inborn mental weakness is an imbecile. The imbecile is entirely different from the insane person, in that in the first case he or she is born with those mental weaknesses which make insanity a disease of the nervous system, in most cases contracted rather than inherited. No amount of training or treatment can cure imbecility, while insanity is frequently corrected.

People Classified.

Prof. Knight classified all human beings into ten divisions as follows:
1. Absolute imbeciles.
2. Low grade imbeciles.
3. Medium grade imbeciles.
4. High grade imbeciles.
5. Feeble minded persons.
6. Backward persons.
7. Normal persons with poor ability.
8. Normal persons with average ability.
9. People of talent.
10. People of real genius.

There is no average human being—there are vast differences in mental ability. People are born stamped with varying qualities of blood, brawn and brain.

The two great influences which mould life are: (1) heredity, and (2) environment. The latter includes such factors as light, air, food, clothing, housing occupation, cleanliness, home, school and church life. It is, of course, with environment that medical examination and correction must deal.

Progress of Movement.

Touching in conclusion on the progress of medical examination, Prof. Knight stated that in 1907 Great Britain had adopted the plan. The teachers do a large part of the work of examination, being assisted by nurses and in needed cases by the family doctor or an appointed physician.

Austria, Sweden, Argentine, Hungary, Norway, Switzerland, France, Servia, Roumania and other countries all preceded Great Britain or America in introducing medical inspection. Ottawa is the only city in Canada where entire and continual medical inspection is carried on in Canada.

The Song With A Soul Wanted By True Lovers Of Good Music

Did you ever sit in the theatre listening to the best songs, the most catchy lyrics of modern light opera and then suddenly be filled with a heart-hunger for a song with a soul in it—a song in which tender, witching melody is not married to words of sickening, grotesque sentimentality or salacious suggestions? I have until it hurt! And, curiously, this revulsion has been quickest aroused, in my own case, not by blatantly nonsensical song, but by the lyric that had a thread of the real running through the shoddy—just enough trace of the genuine to make the counterfeit seem all the more abhorrent. At such times a mellow loneliness has crept over me, and I have longed to hear a real song, ringing true and clear and breathing a spirit instead of a sound—longed for it as for an absent friend, or as for "the days that are no more."

And out of such moments and moods has grown the question: How long shall we suffer under the scourge of the vapid, the puerile, the suggestive in the songs of the day? Is the generation which places the laurel of popularity upon "Gee, Be Sweet to Me Kid," and fills streets and homes with the multiplied repetitions of "I Simply Cannot Make My Eyes Behave," beyond the appreciation of honest sentiment? And if a new G. Clifton Bingham were to arise and give us a peer to "Love's Old Sweet Song," would it fall upon dead ears? I put the question, only the other day, to a publisher of popular music of the better sort. Here is his reply: "I believe that the people are hungry for songs that ring true, songs that go straight to the heart, songs that have the glow of honest sentiment instead of opera bouffe sentimentality. Human nature has not, at bottom, greatly changed since John Howard Payne gave us "Home, Sweet Home" or Samuel Woodworth wrote "The Old Oaken Bucket" or Stephen C. Foster set the world singing "The Old Folks at Home."

And what do you think would be the loss to American family life if "Home, Sweet Home," "The Old Folks at Home," "The Old Oaken Bucket," and the other immortal hymns of the hearthstone were stricken from our speech? Would it be small? How many children have caught the home ideal as these songs have warmed their hearts to a new and glowing understanding—caught it never to be wholly lost again! Think of an American home the walls of which have never echoed one of these tender songs to make memories and hopes of the best and dearest that any life may hold—the mind shrinks from so forbidding, so destitute a picture.

There is one curious feature in connection with these famous old home songs which should not be passed without comment. The homes about which the authors of our greatest hearthstone hymns were thinking when they wrote their immortal songs were of a sort to fill and satisfy the eye as completely as the songs themselves fill and overflow the heart? To look upon the quaint little cottage, at East Hampton, Long Island, in which John Howard Payne spent his boyhood days—or even to see an adequate picture of it—is to gain a clearer and more intimate understanding of why, in the garish scenes of Parisian life, his heart hungered for the roof of his childhood, and he wrote:

A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there,
Which seek through the world, is ne'er met with elsewhere.
Home! Home! Sweet, sweet home.
No more from that cottage again will I roam,
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home!

SOCIETY WOMEN'S HAIR

A Simple Treatment That Will Make It Truly Fascinating—Wm. Madill Guarantees It.

Nowadays every up-to-date woman has radiant hair.

What a foolish creature a woman would be if she lost the opportunity to add to her attractions.

Yet in Canada to-day there are hundreds of thousands of women with harsh, faded, characterless hair who do not make any attempt to improve it.

In Paris most women have beautiful hair, and in Canada all women who use Parisian Sage have lustrous and luxuriant hair.

And any woman reader of the Examiner can have attractive and lustrous hair in a few days' time by using this great hair rejuvenator, Parisian Sage.

Wm. Madill sells a large bottle for 50 cents and he guarantees it to banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

Parisian Sage is an ideal hair tonic not sticky or greasy.

EVERY HUMAN MIND NATURAL GYMNASIUM

By Frank Gotch.

You can get as much exercise from lifting a match as from hard day labour on the streets with pick and shovel. It's all in the mind — a mental control over your muscles. It is a case of mind over matter.

For two hours every day I practise control of my muscles by my mind. I have found it far more beneficial to my strength and stamina than any other sort of outdoor or indoor work. Of course it must be supplemented with other styles of less violent exercise. For truly after a period of muscle exercise by mental control the body will be found physically exhausted.

Modern athletics are trending strongly toward the mental side these days. I was a big, husky fellow — nothing extraordinary though—but my parents decided to give me a good education. I graduated from Highland Park College in Des Moines. My mind was growing with my body and when I tackled some of the big guns I used my brains and beat them.

I won the championship by combining will and physical power. If I had not had absolute control of mind over muscle Hackenschmidt would still be the invincible Russian Lion. He's a finely built fellow, but has no head. Every time he'd make a move he'd literally tell me about it the day before. I could feel his hand creeping up my arm and I would know exactly what to do and by making a counter move I finally got his mind so confused he did not know what he was doing. While he was working himself to death I was using my brains. I was resting, now on one side, again on the other. Finally after two hours I arose, picked him up bodily despite his 230 exhausted pounds and threw him on his head. That took every bit of fight out of Hackenschmidt and he quit to save himself being thrown.

In a very few years the American athletes will be in a class all by themselves. Why? Because our colleges and schools are turning out that invincible combination, the physical and mental giant.

SIR NIGEL

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

The Frenchman, John de Helennes, a squire of Picardy, had waited with a burning heart, his soul sick at the flight of the division in which he had ridden. In the hope of doing some redeeming exploit, or of meeting his own death, he had loitered betwixt the armies, but no movement had come from the English lines. Now he had turned his horse's head to join the King's array, when the low drumming of hoofs sounded behind him, and he turned to find a horseman hard upon his heels. Each had drawn his sword, and the two armies paused to view the fight. In the first bout Sir Maurice Berkeley's lance was struck from his hand, and as he sprang down to recover it the Frenchman ran him through the thigh, dismounted from his horse, and received his surrender. As the unfortunate Englishman hobbled away at the side of his captor a roar of laughter burst from both armies at the spectacle.

"By my ten finger-bones!" cried Aylward, chuckling behind the remains of his bush, "he found more on his distaff that time than he knew how to spin. Who was the knight?"

"By his arms," said old Wat, "he should either be a Berkeley of the West or a Popham of Kent."

"I call to mind that I shot a match of six ends once with a Kentish woldsman—" began the fat Bowyer.

"Nay, nay, stint thy talk, Bartholomew!" cried old Wat. "Here is poor Ned with his head cloven, and it would be more fitting if you were saying aves for his soul, instead of all this bobance and boasting. Now, now, Tom of Beverley?"

"We have suffered sorely in this last bout, Wat. There are forty of our men upon their backs, and the Dean Foresters on the right are in worse case still."

"Talking will not mend it, Tom, and if all but one were on their backs he must still hold his ground."

Whilst the archers were chatting, the leaders of the army were in solemn conclave just behind them. Two divisions of the French had been repulsed, and yet there was many an anxious face as the older knights looked across the plain at the unbroken array of the French King moving slowly toward them. The line of the archers was much thinned and shredded. Many knights and squires had been disabled in the long and fierce combat at the hedge. Others, exhausted by want of food, had no strength left and were stretched panting upon the ground. Some were engaged in carrying the wounded to the rear and laying them under the shelter of the trees, whilst others were replacing their broken swords or lances from the weapons of the slain. The Captal de Buch, brave and experienced as he was, frowned darkly and whispered his misgivings to Chandos.

But the Prince's courage flamed the higher as the shadow fell, while his dark eyes gleamed with a soldier's pride as he glanced round him at his weary comrades, and then at the dense masses of the King's battle which now, with a hundred trumpets blaring and a thousand pennons waving, rolled slowly over the plain. "Come what may, John, this has been a most noble meeting," said he. "They will not be ashamed of us in England. Take heart, my friends, for if we conquer we shall carry the glory ever with us; but if we be slain then we die most worshipfully and in high honor, as we have ever prayed that we might die, and we leave behind us our brothers and kinsmen who will assuredly avenge us. It is but one more effort, and all will be well. Warwick, Oxford, Salisbury, Suffolk, every man to the front! My banner to the front also! Your horses, fair sirs! The archers are spent, and our own good lances must win the field this day. Advance, Walter, and may God and Saint George be with England!"

Sir Walter Woodland, riding a high black horse, took station by the Prince, with the royal banner resting in a socket by his saddle. From all sides the knights and squires crowded in upon it, until they formed a great squadron containing the survivors of the battalions of Warwick and Salisbury as well as those of the Prince. Four hundred men-at-arms who had been held in reserve were brought up and thickened the array, but even so Chandos' face was grave as he scanned it and then turned to his eyes upon the masses of the Frenchman."

"I like it not, fair sir. The weight is overgreat," he whispered to the Prince.

"How would you order it, John? Speak what is in your mind."

"We should attempt something upon their flank whilst we hold them in front. How say you, Jean?" He turned to the Captal de Buch, whose dark, resolute face reflected the same misgivings.

"Indeed, John, I think as you do," said he. "The French King is a very valiant man, and so are those who are about him, and I know not how we may drive them back unless we can do as you advise. If you will give me only a hundred men I will attempt it."

"Surely the task is mine, fair sir, since the thought has come from me," said Chandos.

"Nay, John, I would keep you at my side. But you speak well, Jean, and you shall do even as you have said. Go ask the Earl of Oxford for a hundred men-at-arms and as many hobblers, that you may ride round the mound yonder, and so fall upon them unseen. Let all that are left of the archers gather on each side, shoot away their arrows, and then fight as best they may. Wait till they are past yonder thorn-bush and then, Walter, bear my banner straight against that of the King of France. Fair sirs, may God and the thought of your ladies hold high your hearts!"

The French monarch, seeing that his footmen had made no impression upon the English, and also that the hedge had been well-nigh leveled to the ground in the course of the combat, so that it no longer presented an obstacle, had ordered his followers to remount their horses, and it was as a solid mass of cavalry that the chivalry of France advanced to their last supreme effort. The King was in the centre of the front line, Geoffrey de Chargny with the golden oriflamme upon his right, and Eustace de Ribeaumont with the royal lillies upon the left. At his elbow was the Duke of Athens, High Constable of France, and round him were the nobles of the court, fiery and furious, yelling their war-cries as they waved their weapons over their heads. Six thousand gallant men of the bravest race in Europe, men whose very names are like blasts of a battle-trumpet—Beaujeus and Chatillons, Tancarvilles and Ventadours—pressed hard behind the silver lilies.

Slowly they moved at first, walking their horses that they might be the fresher for the shock. Then they broke into a trot which was quickening into a gallop when the remains of the hedge in front of them was beaten in an instant to the ground and the broad line of the steel-clad chivalry of England swept grandly forth to the final shock. With loose rein and busy spur the two lines of horsemen galloped at the top of their speed straight and hard for each other. An instant later they met with a thunder-crash which was heard by the burghers on the wall of Poitiers, seven good miles away.

Under that frightful impact horses fell dead with broken necks, and many a rider, held in his saddle by the high pommel, fractured his thighs with the shock. Here and there a pair met breast to breast, the horses rearing straight upward and falling back upon their masters. But for the most part the line had opened in the gallop, and the cavaliers, flying through the gaps, buried themselves in the enemy's ranks. Then the flanks shredded out, and the thick press in the centre loosened until there was space to swing a sword and to guide a steed. For ten acres there was one wild tumultuous swirl of tossing heads, of gleaming weapons which rose and fell, of upthrown hands, of tossing plumes and of lifted shields, whilst the din of a thousand war-cries and the clash-clash of metal upon metal rose and swelled like the roar and beat of an ocean surge upon a rock-bound coast. Backward and forward swayed the mighty throng, now down the valley and now up, as each side in turn put forth its strength for a fresh rally. Looked in one long deadly grapple, great England and gallant France with iron hearts and souls of fire strove and strove for mastery.

Sir Walter Woodland, riding ahead upon his high black horse, had plunged into the swelter and headed for the blue and silver banner of King John. Close at his heels in a solid wedge rode the Prince, Chandos, Nigel, Lord Reginald Cobham, Audley with his four famous squires, and a score of the flower of the English and Gascon knighthood. Hoding together and bearing down opposition by a shower of blows and by the weight of their powerful horses, their progress was still very slow, for ever fresh waves of French cavaliers surged up against them and broke in front only to close in again upon their rear. Sometimes they were swept backward by the rush, sometimes they gained a few paces, sometimes they could but keep their foothold, and yet from minute to minute that blue and silver flag which waved above the press grew ever a little closer. A dozen furious hard-breathing French knights had broken into their ranks, and clutched at Sir Walter Woodland's banner, but Chandos and Nigel guarded it on one side. Audley with his squires on the other, so that no man laid his hand upon it and lived.

But now there was a distant crash and a roar of "Saint George for Guienne!" from behind. The Captal de Buch had charged home. "Saint George for England!" yelled the main attack, and ever the counter-cry came back to them from afar The ranks opened in front of them. The French were giving way. A small knight with golden scroll-work upon his armor threw himself upon the Prince and was struck dead by his mace. It was the Duke of Athens, Constable of France, but none had time to note it, and the fight rolled on over his body. Looser still were the French ranks. Many were turning their horses, for that ominous roar from the rear had shaken their resolution. The fifth English wedge poured onward, the Prince, Chandos, Audley and Nigel ever in the van.

A huge warrior in black, bearing a golden banner, appeared suddenly in a gap of the shredding ranks. He tossed his precious burden to a squire, who bore it away. Like a pack of hounds on the very haunch of a deer the English rushed yelling for the oriflamme. But the black warrior flung himself across their path. "Chargny! Chargny a la recousse!" he roared with a voice of thunder. Sir Reginald Cobham dropped before his battle-axe, so did the Gascon de Chisson. Nigel was beaten down on to the crupper of his horse by a sweeping blow; but at the same instant Chandos' quick blade passed through the Frenchman's camail and pierced his throat. So died Geoffrey de Chargny; but the oriflamme was saved.

Dazed with the shock, Nigel still kept his saddle, and Pommers, his yellow hide mottled with blood, bore him onward with the others. The French horsemen were now in full flight; but one stern group of knights stood firm, like a rock in a rushing torrent, beating off all, whether friend or foe, who tried to break their ranks. The oriflamme had gone, and so had the blue and silver banner, but here were desperate men ready to fight to the death. In their ranks honor was to be reaped. The Prince and his following hurled themselves upon them, while the rest of the English horsemen swept onward to secure the fugitives and to win their ransoms. But the nobler spirits—Audley, Chandos and the others—would have thought it shame to gain money whilst there was work to be done or honor to be won. Furious was the wild attack, desperate the prolonged defense. Men fell from their saddles for very exhaustion.

Nigel, still at his place near Chandos' elbow, was hotly attacked by a short broad-shouldered warrior upon a stout white cob, but Pommers reared with pawing fore feet and dashed the smaller horse to the ground. The falling rider clutched Nigel's arm and tore him from the saddle, so that the two rolled upon the grass under the stamping hoofs, the English squire on the top, and his shortened sword glimmered before the visor of the gasping, breathless Frenchman.

"Je me rends! je me rends!" he panted.

For a moment a vision of rich ransoms passed through Nigel's brain. That noble palfrey, that gold-flecked armor, meant fortune to the captor. Let others have it! There was work still to be done. How could he desert the Prince and his noble master for the sake of a private gain? Could he lead a prisoner to the rear when honor beckoned him to the van? He staggered to his feet, seized Pommers by the mane, and swung himself into the saddle.

An instant later he was by Chandos' side once more and they were bursting together through the last ranks of the gallant group who had fought so bravely to the end. Behind them was one long swath of the dead and wounded. In front the whole wide plain was covered with the flying French and their pursuers.

The Prince raised up his steed and opened his visor, whilst his followers crowded round him with waving weapons and frenzied shouts of victory. "What now, John!" cried the smiling Prince, wiping his streaming face with his ungauntleted hand. "How fares it then?"

"I am little hurt, fair lord, save for a crushed hand and a spear-prick in the shoulder But you, sir? I trust you have no scathe?"

"In truth, John, with you at one elbow and Lord Audley at the other, I know not how I could come to harm. But alas! I fear that Sir James is sorely stricken."

The gallant Lord Audley had dropped upon the ground and the blood oozed from every crevice of his battered armor. His four brave Squires—Dutton of Dutton, Delves of Doddington, Fowlhurst of Crewe and Hawkstone of Wainhill—wounded and weary themselves, but with no thought save for their master, unlaced his helmet and bathed his pallid blood-stained face.

He looked up at the Prince with burning eyes. "I thank you, sir, for deigning to consider so poor a knight as myself," said he in a feeble voice.

The Prince dismounted and bent over him. "I am bound to honor you very much, James," said he, "for by your valor this day you have won glory and renown above us all, and your prowess has proved you to be the bravest knight."

"My Lord," murmured the wounded man, "you have a right to say what you please; but I wish it were as you say."

"James," said the Prince, "from this time onward I make you a knight of my own household, and I settle upon you five hundred marks of yearly income from my own estates in England."

"Sir," the knight answered, "God make me worthy of the good fortune you bestow upon me. Your knight I will ever be, and the money I will divide with your leave amongst these four squires who have brought me whatever glory I have won this day." So saying his head fell back, and he lay white and silent upon the grass.

"Bring water!" said the Prince. "Let the royal leech see to him; for I had rather lose many men than the good Sir James. Ha, Chandos, what have we here?"

A knight lay across the path with his helmet beaten down upon his shoulders. On his surcoat and shield were the arms of a red griffin.

"It is Robert de Duras the spy," said Chandos.

"Well for him that he has met his end," said the angry Prince. 'Put him on his shield, Hubert, and let four archers bear him to the monastery. Lay him at the feet of the Cardinal and say that by this sign I greet him. Place my flag on yonder high bush, Walter, and let my tent be raised there, that my friends may know where to seek me."

The flight and pursuit had thundered far away, and the field was deserted save for the numerous groups of weary horsemen who were making their way back, driving their prisoners before them. The archers were scattered over the whole plain, rifling the saddle-bags and gathering the armor of those who had fallen, or searching for their own scattered arrows.

Suddenly, however, as the Prince was turning toward the bush which he had chosen for his headquarters their broke out from behind him a extraordinary uproar and a group knights and squires came pouring ward him, all arguing, swearing abusing each other in French a English at the tops of their voice In the midst of them limped a st little man in gold-spangled armo who appeared to be the object of t contention, for one would drag h one way and one another, as thou they would pull him limb from lim "Nay, fair sirs, gently, gently, I pr you!" he pleaded. "There is enou for all, and no need to treat me rudely." But ever the hubbub bro out again, and swords gleamed the angry disputants glared furious at each other. The Prince's eyes f upon the small prisoner, and he sta gered back with a gasp of astonis ment.

"King John!" he cried.

A shout of joy rose from the wa riors around him. "The King France! The King of France a pr oner!" they cried in an ecstasy.

"Nay, nay, fair sirs, let him n hear that we rejoice! Let no wo bring pain to his soul!" Runni forward the Prince clasped the Fren King by the two hands.

Stop Women And Consider

This Fact—that in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years.

The present Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, was for years under her direction, and has ever since her decease continued to advise women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty causes them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. Such questioning and examination is unnecessary. Without cost you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

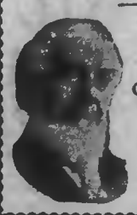
PEOPLE'S PULPIT



Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Value of Federation

Text: "Say ye not, a Federation, to all them to whom this people shall say A Federation; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid" (Isaiah viii. 12)—Church Militant Must Finally Yield—Nominal Christians.

Brooklyn, Feb. 6.—The fourth and final meeting for the consideration of doctrinal surrenders necessary to Church Federation was held to-day, Brooklyn's largest auditorium, the Academy of Music, being crowded. Pastor C. T. Russell, of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, delivered the address as follows:

Having viewed during the past three Sundays what the leading denominations would need to sacrifice to the interest of Federation, we come to-day to the final discussion of this series—The Church Militant and Triumphant and her interest in the Federation movement. Let us endeavor to take so broad a view of this subject that there will be no room for disagreement on the part of true Christians of any denomination.

Unnecessary as it may be to explain to this large and intelligent audience the significance of our topic, The Church Militant and the Church Triumphant, I must think beyond the thousands present of the millions who to-morrow will receive reports of this discourse from that great channel of the world's progress, the secular Press. Hence I explain that the term Church Militant signifies the Church in warfare, struggling with the powers of evil, while the Church Triumphant signifies the Church victorious, glorious, joined with her Lord, the Heavenly Bridegroom, as his Bride and Queen in the great Millennial Kingdom soon to bless and uplift the world of mankind. I should further add that while in this discussion we have considered the various denominations of Christendom and their creeds, we must to-day ignore all human systems and creeds. We must take the broad, general ground of the Scriptures and recognize only the Church.

Nor may we make the mistake of saying that the one Church is one Sect. No sect, no denomination, however great and influential and numerous and rich, either in sordid or historic wealth, can be conceded the right to appropriate the name which our Lord gave to all truly his disciples. Surely none of us is sectarian enough to dispute this premise. We must learn to recognize the Church of Christ from the same viewpoint as does the Head of the Church. We must learn the force of St. Peter's words to Cornelius, "Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons; but in every nation he that feareth him and worketh righteousness is accepted with him" (Acts x, 34, 35).

Taking, therefore, the Scriptural view of the Church, we recognize it as the "Body of Christ" of many members, over which he is the Head. It is composed of consecrated followers of Christ irrespective of all denominational lines—those who, turning from sin, accept Jesus as their Redeemer, through whom they have forgiveness of sins and reconciliation to the Father—those who have become disciples of Christ, taking up their cross to follow him and who have received the begetting of the holy Spirit. Who could dispute that these are the Church of Christ? Who shall say that they must belong to this Communion or that, or lose their relationship to the Head, Christ Jesus? The apostles never referred to Baptist Christians, Methodist Christians, Catholic Christians, Presbyterian Christians, etc., but merely to these whom we have described and whom they styled saints—"the Church of the living God, whose names are written in heaven" (Hebrews xii, 23; I. Timothy iii, 15). Let us keep strictly within the lines of God's Word and avoid the errors of the past. Let us to-day consider this Church as the Church Militant and prospectively the Church Triumphant.

If we all agree that we have before our minds the real Church, the Church of the New Testament, let us notice that there is a nominal Church also and that we are not competent to fully determine which are the real and which are the nominal Christians except by the test which our Lord has given—"by their fruits ye shall know them." While the real Church of fully consecrated believers, faithful to the Lord and his Word and the principles of righteousness, is represented by a very small number, there is a nominal Church related thereto as is a shell to the kernel of a nut. The nominal Church includes those whose manner or whose attendance on worship implies a relationship to Christ without having gone the length of a full faith-acceptance of him in sacrifice, perhaps without having fully turned from sin even in their hearts, and without having made a full consecration to serve the Lord. This nominal class may be subdivided into believers who are favorably disposed toward Christ and righteousness; others who regard the Church as merely a moral benefit or influence upon the world, by counteracting sinful influences; still others, bitter at heart, sinful and selfish, having no faith whatever in Jesus and no care, whatever for morality and using the name of Christ hypocritically, merely as a garment to deceive, that they may the better gain their ends. Thus we find the nominal Church to consist of:

(1) Hypocrites; (2) Moralists; (3) Indifferents; (4) Seekers after godliness; (5) The true Church, "the sanctified in Christ Jesus" (I. Corinthians, i, 2)—"members of the Body of Christ"—prospective members of the Church Triumphant.

Every member of "the Church of the first-born" was called "to suffer with Christ" that he may be also later glorified with him in the Millennial Kingdom. Only those who will stand the test of faithfulness under sufferings, trials, crosses, self-sacrifices, have the promise of sharing with Christ the glories of the Church Triumphant. "If we be dead with him, we shall also live with him; if we suffer with him, we shall also reign with him; if we deny him, he also will deny us" (II. Timothy ii, 11, 12).

But why should the Church fight? Is she not commended to live peaceably with all? Are not Christians exhorted to war not with carnal weapons and to be smitten on both cheeks, rather than to return evil for evil? Where, then, comes in the fight? Who are the foes? Surely none would assail a non-resistant!

We reply that the facts do not bear out that suggestion. Our Lord and his apostles were peaceable and non-resistant, obedient to king and laws, and yet they suffered violent deaths, as well as stripes and imprisonment. They had their names cast out as evil. And those who persecuted and maligned them verily thought that they did God's service. All who follow in the Lord's footsteps must expect similar treatment, because, as Jesus said, "The servant is not greater than his Lord." "Marvel not, if the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you. If ye were of the world, the world would love his own; but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you" (John xviii, 18,19). The Master said, "The darkness hateth the light," which explains why the chief religionists of his time, being of wrong condition of heart, instigated his crucifixion. They were of the darkness, living outwardly holy, while in heart they were far from consecrated to God. The very holding up of the torch of Truth was painful to them, reproved them and excited their animosity. Human nature is the same to-day. Notwithstanding the fact that heretic-roasting has become unpopular and intolerable to the world, there are methods of privately and symbolically roasting, slashing, wounding and killing practiced by those estranged from God, though sometimes highly esteemed of men and wearing vestments only slightly less glorious than those worn by Caiaphas and Pilate.

The Scriptures explain that there is a two-fold reason why Jesus and all of his followers are required to suffer for righteousness' sake.

(1) It is requisite to their own character-development that they should not only profess absolute loyalty to God and to Truth, but that this loyalty should be put to the test. Thus we read of our Lord that though "holy, harmless, undefiled," he was proved perfect in his loyalty by the things which he endured—by his obedience even unto death, even the ignominious death of the cross. The same principle, the Scriptures assure us, operates in connection with all whom God is now calling to be Emmanuel's associates in the Millennial Kingdom. They must suffer with him if they would reign with him. They must walk in his steps (Galatians v, 11; vi, 12; II. Thessalonians i, 5; II. Timothy i, 12; ii, 9, 12; iii, 12).

(2) These experiences are designed of God to qualify us to be judges of the world during the Millennial Age—that the Christ, Head and Body, may be merciful and faithful towards the people of earth. Likewise it is proper that the world should know that its judges have thus been tempted and tried, and are able to sympathize with them in their weaknesses and in their endeavors for righteousness—and more willing to help them up, up, up to human perfection than to consign them to the Second Death.

Although this conflict has lasted for more than eighteen centuries it has not been long for any single individual. With the Master himself the trial period was only three and a half years. On the whole, as compared with eternity, the entire Gospel Age of Sacrifice, as the Master said, is but "a little while." And as for the afflictions and testings themselves, St. Paul gives the proper thought, saying, that at most they are "light afflictions but for a moment and not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed in us," the overcomers (Romans viii, 18).

The Church in glory and in power will contain no hypocrites and no merely nominal Christians—only the true, the saintly, the "sanctified in Christ Jesus." Nevertheless it will be composed of two classes, as illustrated by the Priests and the Levites in the type. (1) Jesus glorified, the antitypical High Priest, and his faithful footstep followers, the antitypical under-priesthood—otherwise his "Bride." Priesthood or a Kingdom of Priests. St. Paul tells us that Melchizedek, who was a priest upon his throne, merely typified the Church Triumphant—Head and Body—The Christ, "A priest forever after the order of Melchizedek"—a priest upon his throne. During the Millennial Age that glorious Priest, Head and Members, will bless and uplift, rule and judge, the world of mankind, with a view to recovering as many as possible, as many as will obey him, from the ruin of sin and death. During the thousand years of the Melchizedek reign all the families of the earth will be blessed with opportunities of return to human perfection and to earthly Paradise. The willing and obedient will be destroyed in the Second Death. At the close of the Millennium, Christ's Mediatorial Kingdom will terminate.

As the Levites were much more numerous than their brethren, the priests, so there is another class in the Church corresponding—styled "a great company, whose number no man knoweth," in that they were not specially predestinated. These less earnest, less zealous than the faithful "little flock," will reach a plane of glory through tribulation also, but with less joy. These, we are told, will be with the Bride as her companions. As Levites they will serve God in his temple, but not be members of the temple class, the Priesthood. These will have palm branches and be before the Throne, while the Royal Priesthood will have crowns and be in the throne as members of the Body of Christ.

All the soldiers of the cross, experiencing fightings without and within against the powers of sin and darkness and their own weaknesses, surely long for the time of their "change" in the "First Resurrection." They long for the time when this mortal shall put on immortality; when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption; when we shall be like our Redeemer and see him as he is and share his glory. Gladly, therefore, do all of God's consecrated people wait for the blessed change promised at our Lord's Second Coming, when that which is sown in weakness shall be raised in power; when that which is sown in dishonor shall be raised a spiritual body (I. Corinthians xv, 42-44, 53, 54). Surely such, having prayed, "Thy Kingdom come; thy will be done on each as in heaven," are waiting for the King and God's time for establishing his Kingdom for the blessing of the world. No wonder the Apostle wrote of these, "Ourselves also, which have the first-fruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our Body"—the Body of Christ, the Church, through the power of the "First Resurrection" change. This will be our glad surrender to the Church Triumphant, when we shall hear the Master's voice saying, "Well done, good and faithful servants; enter ye into the joys of your Lord. You have been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things"—participants in the Millennial Kingdom glory and its dominion of earth for the uplifting of mankind (I. Corinthians vi, 2; Revelation ii, 26).

I ask you, my hearers, and indirectly I ask the millions of my large congregation whom I address weekly through the public prints,—What advantage will accrue to the Church Militant through the on-coming Federation? I reply that great advantage will come to the saintly few, not in the manner expected, but along the lines of the Divine promise that "All things shall work together for good to them that love God—to the called according to his purpose." The Church Federation, which the Scriptures distinctly show us will be effected, will include the various classes already indicated: (1) Hypocrites; (2) Moralists; (3) Followers afar off; (4) Saints.

But in the Federation the Moralists and Higher Critics will be dominant forces. The saintly will less than ever be in evidence and appreciated. The outward and apparent success of the Federation will seem wonderful for a moment, but the results will be disastrous.

The saintly few, guided by God's Word and holy Spirit, will awaken to the true situation and become separated from the nominal mass. Their misguided hopes as respects the bringing about of a spiritual Kingdom on earth will be thoroughly shattered, and, more than ever, they will look to the Lord as the source of help and wait for his Kingdom to come through the Redeemer's advent and the Resurrection "change."

In a word, God's saintly people need no outward Federation, even as they need no creedal fences. So far as these are concerned, the sooner all barriers between them are leaped and they come together as members of one body, joined to the one Heavenly Head and Lord, the better. Let Churchianity produce its Federation and see its folly and failure, as outlined in our text. But let the saints of God draw near to him and to each other in a spiritual Union and realize to the full the meaning of the Apostle's words, "One faith; one Lord; one baptism"—one "Church of the Living God whose names are written in heaven." This condition cannot be attained through outward bonds, but can be attained only through drinking into the one Spirit obtainable through the proper understanding of the Word of God.

Fooled Them.

Every instructor at Chautauqua is required to fill out a paper answering a number of necessary and unnecessary questions. One year there was a remarkably handsome male member of the faculty in whom all the girl students were much interested. "Is he married or unmarried?" became an all absorbing question. Finally some of them had the courage to approach the college secretary and ask if the files might be looked over. And there the handsome gentleman, anticipating perhaps some such investigation, had recorded his matrimonial circumstances as follows: "Married—unfortunately."

A MIRACLE IN MANITOBA

CAPTAIN BANISTER STRICKEN WHILE IN CAMP

HAD TO BE CARRIED TO TRAIN. HELPLESS IN BED FOR SIX WEEKS

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" COMPLETELY CURED HIM AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Captain Banister's letter reads like a page from the History of Miracles. It is one of the strongest endorsements ever given to any medicine in the world.

Captain Nelson Banister of Oak Lake is known from one end of Manitoba to the other—in fact, throughout Western Canada. Naturally, the letter of such a prominent citizen and officer is bound to carry convincing weight with all thinking people.

OAK LAKE, MAN., June 15th, 1909.

"Fully appreciating the great benefits that I have derived from using your wonderful remedy, I feel it is my duty to write you a little history of my case and ask you to publish it, for the good of some others that may be today suffering from the complaint that I am happy to say, "Fruit-a-tives" completely cured me of.

About two years ago, while in Camp at Brandon with "A" squadron, 12th, Manitoba Dragoons, I was stricken with Sciatica and Neuralgia of the muscles of the heart. I was so bad that I had to be carried to the train and sent home, and after being again carried from the train to my bed on arrival at Oak Lake, I was forced to stay there six weeks. Doctoring and nursing in time enabled me to get on my feet, but I could do no work, and was almost as helpless as when confined to bed. A sample of "Fruit-a-tives" came to our house about that time and I tried them. Believe me—that from the first dose I experienced great relief and continued taking them until I was as well and strong as ever. This satisfactory change and restoration to health, I attribute wholly to "Fruit-a-tives", and I never miss a chance to recommend them to my friends and neighbors.

Previous to taking "Fruit-a-tives", my heart was examined by doctors and found to be so weak that it was considered unsafe for me to take chloroform, or any anaesthetic, but since taking "Fruit-a-tives", the heart has become so strong that I was able to have a minor operation on one of my hands and took chloroform without any ill effects. Today the whole family uses "Fruit-a-tives", we purchase them from Mr. Graham, our local druggist, keep them in the house all the time, and just simply could not get along without them. They are the best medicine in the world."

NELSON BANISTER, (Capt. "A" Squadron, 12th Manitoba Dragoons.)

Truly, the days of the miracle have not passed away. When these small fruit tablets can do what physicians, with all their skill, cannot do, it does seem almost miraculous. Yet nothing is more logical and scientific than the medicinal action of "Fruit-a-tives".

Sciatica, Rheumatism and Neuralgia in any form are caused by poisoned blood.

It is the duty of the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin to rid the system of waste matter, or urea. If any of these organs are weak, the waste matter stays in the system and is converted into uric acid.

It is uric acid which poisons the blood and inflames the delicate nerves, membranes and muscles, causing what is known as Rheumatism, Sciatica or Neuralgia.

"Fruit-a-tives" promptly cures these troubles because "Fruit-a-tives" cures the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin. "Fruit-a-tives" makes these three great eliminating organs well and strong. And when the waste of the body is regularly disposed of, there can be no excess of uric acid.

"Fruit-a-tives", as Captain Banister says, "is the best medicine in the world." It is made of fruit juices and valuable nerve and heart tonics, and is pleasant to take.

(A True Story)

Squire Thurston Stepped Forward and Held Out His Hand to Squire Harrison.

(Copyright, 1910, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.)

The true and amusing story of a remarkable historical duel that ended in laughter instead of bloodshed, the first formal meeting that ever took place in the State of Kentucky, told in the series of the Day of the Duel by a student of the code.

"THAT'S what I'm saying, Squire. His ornery cattle come through the gap in the fence and ate half my best timothy, stacked in the white birch meadow. The pore things was starved, but that's no affair of mine. If he wants me to fatten them he's got to pay for the hay." And Josiah Martin glared belligerently at his brother.

Justice Thurston thrust out his lower lip in perplexity. "That's your complaint, is it? Now what do you want a warrant for?" he asked, turning to the other litigant.

"Why, for Dave Cram, what works for Josh, there," said Tom Martin, stoutly. "'Twas him broke down the fence." Josiah started an angry interruption, but the Justice silenced him peremptorily. "I see him tear it down." Tom went on, defiantly, "and as for the timothy, why I got the best clover in Jefferson county, and his scrabby cows did me twenty dollars' worth of damage before I druv them off."

"Dave was only taking down some of the rails to let Tom's cattle out of my meadow," cried Josiah, indignantly.

"Wasn't no such thing!" shouted Tom. "See here, you"——

"Hold your tongue," roared Thurston. "Keep your compliments until you leave my court." The two men obeyed and contented themselves with exchanging black looks while the Justice considered the question.

Squire Thurston felt rather sorry for himself. This was the first case that had come before him since he had derived his authority as Justice of the Peace from the new State of Kentucky. Before the division he had held his appointment from Governor Randolph of Virginia. Governor Shelby, recently elected to the Gubernatorial chair of Kentucky, had confirmed him, they regarded as their rights finger on hair trigger.

The Martins, wealthy and influential farmers, were neighbors of his, just outside of Louisville. They had lived in brotherly amity heretofore and the cause for falling out was trivial enough. For all that Thurston knew that he had in hand the material for a bitter quarrel, of the kind that might mean a deadly feud and scores of lives. He had seen fatal results proceed from slighter causes than this fraternal squabble, for the sons of pioneers were accustomed to guard what they regarded as their right finger on hair trigger.

It would be a sad affair, he thought, if he should excite the enmity of one, possibly two, prominent citizens of his community as the initial act of his renewed office, and sadder still if his decision should precipitate strife. Not only would such an outcome tend to bring the infant administration into disrepute but it would operate as an ill omen for his own further career. The whole matter was most unfortunate. But he saw a way out.

"Brothers Martin," said the Squire, testily, "you would do much better, as sensible men, to settle such a misunderstanding between yourselves." Both men shook their heads at the suggestion.

"Very well, if you are determined to go on with it," Thurston proceeded, "I tell you very frankly that I do not care to handle the case. I am friend and neighbor to you both, with even handed regard for your common worthiness and full recognition of your mutual stupidity and intolerance toward each other. Tom, I shall issue the warrant for Dave Cram. It will be returnable before Justice John Harrison. You both know him, but not so well that he will feel embarrassed as I do."

Of Fighting Stock.

Thurston congratulated himself upon this happy solution. Not that he had the least idea of shirking any portion of his duty. He was a son of the "fighting parson" of Virginia who had led his own company through the Revolution, and he had no strain of timidity in his makeup. But he sincerely believed that Harrison, besides relieving him of an unpleasant situation, was really in a position to deal out justice to the Martins with a clearer eye. For another thing, was he not putting business and fat fees from his own door to that of his confrères?

Justice Harrison, for his part, was quite willing to arbitrate the matter when the warrant was returned before him. As it chanced, this was also his first case under the new government. He listened to all the testimony with great care and patience and discovered, what Thurston had only suspected, that the difference between the brothers lay deeper than a matter of forage and broken fences. A snapping hot feud was on the fire and the Squire determined to remove it. He gave a great deal of time to smoothing the ruffled pride of both litigants and to going into many details that were strictly none of his affair. And gratifying result he saw the brothers shake hands before him, agreeing to set the timothy off against the clover and to repair the fence together.

"And now," said Justice Harrison, when this triumph of diplomacy had been achieved, "to cap the happy event I shall charge no fees. Tut-tut, never waste time thanking me. I get my reward in counting the waste of powder and shot and able citizens I have saved. Be off to the white birch meadow, both of you."

Justice Thurston was highly pleased when he learned the outcome of the proceeding, and he hastened to present his compliments to his learned associate. He was on a friendly, though slightly formal, footing with the other. He presented himself at Harrison's office a few days after the final settlement.

"My dear Harrison, sir," he began, in greeting, "allow me to present my congratulations upon the very satisfactory outcome of the Martin quarrel as directed by yourself. If all accounts are true it was masterly, sir, masterly." Squire Thurston was a stout, personable gentleman with a sanguine complexion and a good manner. The bow with which he accompanied these words verged on the impressive.

Squire Harrison, thin, dignified and important, returned the salute gallantly. He had risen from the rank of private to that of major in the Revolutionary army and was a member of the family which later gave a President to the United States. Somewhat older than Thurston, he was, perhaps, a thought soured by his failure to attain a higher function in the State and a trifle prone to make the best of the importance of the office he held.

"Mr. Thurston, sir, I am delighted to hear that you approve of my poor efforts," he said. "You will agree with me that it would have been quite deplorable if the Martins had taken such a petty disagreement as ground for serious dispute, though I believe the foolish fellows were entirely capable of so doing."

The Martin Case.

"Exactly!" cried Squire Thurston. "That was my own conclusion. I felt perfectly assured that you were the one to settle such a delicate case. Men like the Martins, somewhat primitive and undisciplined as they are, require special handling. Owing to their confounded pride and stubbornness they are ready to fly at each other's throats when once the thin edge of a difficulty is introduced between them. I knew you would understand."

"You honor me, sir," replied Harrison.

"So does every patriot, sir," said Thurston, loftily. "By the way, being here, I might arrange a small matter of business," he added, smiling and rubbing his hands.

"Certainly, Mr. Thurston, I am at your service."

"Oh, a mere detail, sir. I am, or I affect to be, extremely precise in everything pertaining to my office, as no doubt you are yourself. You know, a pin a day is a groat a year. There is an account of twelve and a half cents outstanding between us, if you will not think me too quick to remind you of it."

"Eh, sir? What's this?" asked Squire Harrison, opening his eyes. "Twelve and a half cents? For what?"

"Why, for this same Martin case, to be sure," said Squire Thurston. "I issued the original warrant, you will recall."

"I fail to see how that constitutes a claim on me," said Harrison.

"Surely, Mr. Harrison, you will not deny that the law allows me a fee of twelve and a half cents for the issuing of the warrant."

"But, my dear sir, have you not heard? I dispensed with all fees whatsoever in regard to the Martins. They paid me not a cent."

Squire Thurston shook his head. "I would gladly have paid a much larger sum on the nail as an inducement to the Martins to stop their bickering. But as a principle I cannot admit that your refusal of a fee deprives me of my right to mine."

"How can I pay over to you a portion of a sum which I never received?" demanded Squire Harrison, who was now standing very erect.

"Am I responsible for your refusals or your acceptances, sir?" inquired Squire Thurston, whose face was beginning to flood with color.

"But I have no fee myself, sir. Would you ask me to pay you out of my own pocket?"

"That is your affair, not mine, sir. In the meanwhile you owe me twelve and a half cents."

"I owe you nothing, sir, since I have taken nothing."

"I cannot recognize your right to deprive me of my just dues. I insist upon payment, sir."

"I will not pay."

"It is my right."

"Damn your rights, sir!" roared Harrison, now fully aroused. "How about my rights?"

"Sir, I permit no man to use such language to me," shouted Thurston, purple with wrath.

"Then get out of my office!"

"When I am ready, and when I have said what I think of you."

"You are not a gentleman."

"And you, sir, are a blackguard."

"And you a penny fibbing scoundrel."

"You shall hear from this sir!" gasped Thurston, as he seized his hat and cane and made for the door.

"If I do not you shall," retorted Harrison, following his visitor closely. On the threshold they exchanged haughty glances of defiance and Harrison slammed the door smartly upon the other's indignant back.

Robert Breckinridge.

Thurston rushed off post haste to his office, took a seat at his desk and dashed off a cartel at white heat. While he was engaged in this initial expression of his rage footsteps mounted the stairs leisurely and Robert Breckinridge, resplendent in spotless clothes and linen of the extreme fashion, sauntered through the doorway, debonair and smiling. Breckinridge had been a member of the Constitutional Convention and had sat as the first Speaker of the House of Representatives. He was Thurston's warm friend.

"Well, what's the matter?" he asked, as he caught sight of the Squire's wrathful face. "Another bad debt?" He found the most comfortable chair with unerring eye and dropped into it.

"Robert," cried Thurston, looking up from his work, "will you act for me? Will you be my second?"

Breckinridge stared at him. "Heavens, man, what with? Subpoenas at three feet?"

"This is no joking matter, Robert," said Thurston, folding his challenge. "Words have passed between Justice Harrison and myself that cannot be passed over. I ask you to deliver this message to him and to make such arrangements as shall seem fit with any gentleman he shall indicate."

"Why, where's the trouble?"

"He refused, sir, in most insulting terms, to pay me"——

"That's enough," said Breckinridge, resignedly. "Give me the challenge. If he owes you money and won't pay there's nothing more to be done." He slipped the paper into his pocket, but turned back. "On second thought," he added, "you might disclose the history of the affair."

Thurston described the quarrel with much vigor and emphasis. Breckinridge listened attentively, with a quiet smile of amusement playing about the corners of his mouth, but made no comment until the Squire had finished. Then he pulled a long face and cleared his throat.

"A serious affair, John," he said. "Harrison is the very devil of a shot. How do you find yourself?"

"Well enough," said the Squire, stoutly. "I'll meet him at any distance."

"I commend your spirit," said Breckinridge, "but I trust you will spend your time between target practice and ghostly preparation for the outcome, whatever it be. In the meanwhile I charge myself with the business." He bowed and withdrew, leaving Thurston somewhat sobered but not one whit less determined.

Breckinridge knew Harrison even better than he knew Thurston, but preserved the formality due to his mission when he presented himself at the office of the Justice. Harrison divined his purpose when he drew the cartel from his pocket.

"Mr. Breckinridge, sir, I am sorry to find you acting for my opponent," he said, with some agitation, as he read the lines of challenge.

"You need not, Squire Harrison," returned the envoy, "I should have accorded you the same service if your request had had precedence. As it is I shall be most happy to confer with Mr. Sullivan."

Harrison, who was paring the floor in wild excitement, suddenly heard the suggestion. "I find that I am entitled right to the [illegible]," he reported aloud. "I can neither admit the claim itself, nor Thurston's method of treating with me. My honor is too closely touched. I shall have to kill him, Mr. Breckinridge."

Rifles at Sixty Yards.

"Of course," said Breckinridge, amiably. "And will you notify Mr. Sullivan himself, or shall I seek him out?"

"With rifles," went on Harrison, continuing his sentry go and his meditation. "Yes, that will be best. And at sixty yards. I shall certainly kill him."

"Mr. Sullivan, as you say, would be the best second," interposed Breckinridge, softly.

"Sir, my blood boils when I think of his insolence and his violent language, in my office, too, and in spite of my utmost efforts to adjust the difficulty. Without a doubt I shall kill him." Harrison stamped back and forth, waving his arms, totally preoccupied with his grievance.

Breckinridge started for the door. "Then I will find Mr. Sullivan and ask him to see you immediately," he said.

"Here, wait a moment, Mr. Breckinridge, what did you say?" asked Harrison.

"I am going in search of Jacobus Sullivan, who will, as you say, undoubtedly act for you," said Breckinridge. The Squire looked puzzled.

"Did I mention Sullivan?" he asked.

"Certainly, and a very good choice it was."

"Let it go," said Harrison. "Tell him I will await him here." And Breckinridge departed, chuckling.

Sullivan was a typical Kentucky pioneer, fearless, straightforward and endowed with a native gift of keen, dry humor. Him Breckinridge sought without delay and the two seconds came to an easy understanding. That evening they met to draw up the articles of agreement for the duel. It was arranged that the meeting should take place the following afternoon in a clearing in the woods just back of the town.

Never was the solemn etiquette of the code duello more meticulously observed than during the preliminaries for deadly conflict between John Thurston and John Harrison on November 6, 1792. The principals arrived on the field, each followed by his second, wrapped in profound calm and gravity. They were most particular in saluting and as they walked apart both preserved a most admirable coolness and insouciance. Their extreme punctiliousness was imitated by their seconds, who referred courteously to one another at every step, with much doffing of hats and formal address.

The sixty yards having been marked off they began the loading of the rifles. Sullivan loaded one and handed it to Breckinridge for Thurston. Breckinridge loaded the other and handed it to Sullivan for Harrison. They bowed over the exchange. The positions of the duellists had been marked by pegs, and the two men now took their respective stands, weapons in hand. Neither showed the slightest nervousness, though Harrison was more than ordinarily pale, and Thurston, at the last moment, wrapped up some coins which he carried and put them carefully aside.

The seconds now came together to toss a dollar for the giving of the word. Breckinridge won. Instead of beginning the count he was seen to engage Sullivan in earnest conversation. Then Sullivan, saluting, walked up to his principal, requested his company, and all three approached Thurston, who watched their movements in great surprise.

When the group was joined Breckinridge stood forward, a gallant, commanding figure. "Mr. Thurston," he declaimed, solemnly, "after some little discussion with my distinguished friend, Mr. Sullivan [bows were here exchanged] we find that neither of us has been allowed a voice in this hurried affair consonant with his full dignity and honor. In other words, we have been hurried impetuously along without having either been asked for advice or offered an opportunity to give it.

"At this juncture, all concerned having conducted themselves in the most honorable and commendable manner [more bows], we feel at liberty to halt the proceeding until we can both speak a few words. W Mr. Sullivan's kind permission I shall begin.

"It is an unfortunate fact that the public is given to fine distinctions. For instance, the publ inquiring as to the cause of this present meeting, w find that it originated in a discussion over monet considerations. The intermediate steps will be l to view and the origin alone will be remember Now I ask you, gentlemen both, if either of you wa to go down to history as having been killed in a fig over twelve and a half cents?

"Pardon me. Another point suggests itself. Bo of you are officers of the State, high in the confide and esteem of the community. Society has a rig to expect that such men shall constitute not only precept but by example a perpetual bulwark to order and peace. Have you duly considered what terrific blow at the foundation of our virgin Comm wealth you are about to deal? This affair has flow in the fierce heat of passion, without the confluen of that cooling second thought that both of you a sworn to bring to the problems of the most obscu litigant. And then, again, what will your wives sa

"I trust, gentlemen, that the testimony of my di tinguished associate Mr. Sullivan [bows] and myse will be sufficient to establish that both of you ha acquitted yourselves with the utmost gallantry an courage. And I commend my remarks to your atte tion."

Breckinridge swept off his hat to both adversari but before either could make answer Sullivan he begun to speak.

"That's my sentiments right down to the ground said the hardy woodsman, stoutly. "This can't on. The Bargrass people, whar Squire Thurston live will swar he fit for twelve and a half cents. And t bad boys will holler 'Old Fightin' Ninepence' at Squi Harrison when he chases them out'n his wate million patch. Ain't nobody likes a fight better'n when thar's anything to fight about. But two frien hadn't oughter go boring holes through each other.

"Rifles was made by the Almighty for injuns a b'ars. If two white men fall out they can black ey or kick each other's shins. Scripter says, 'Thou sha not kill,' but it don't say 'Thou shalt not get the be of anybody the handiest way.' Now, Mr. Breckin ridge and me we think we're all too good friends settle this thing rough. I tharfore propose that w wind up this dool with a shootin' match for a gall of whiskey at the distance named."

Long before Jacobus had completed this remarkab oration the two adversaries, come together on suc serious business, were smiling in spite of themselve As he finished Squire Thurston stepped forward an held out his hand to Squire Harrison. That gentl man accepted it in the most kindly manner and the shook vigorously. Then everybody shook hands a around, from which cheerful occupation they were r called to the demands of the occasion by Sullivan.

"That thar beech tree is about the size of a man, he said., and began measuring off the sixty yard across the clearing. The four men then gathered a the mark, and there was some pleasant rivalry be tween Thurston and Harrison as to which shoul allow the other the first shot. Breckinridge watche this bypiny contentedly and exchanged sly winks wit Sullivan. Finally Thurston stood up, with the sam rifle that he had held with far different intent a mo ment before.

"Present!" called Breckinridge. "One, two, three fire, stop!"

Thurston fired while he was giving the word and all four ran like a pack of school boys to see the result. It was found that the bullet had torn a gas on the left side of the trunk.

"Ouch," said Harrison, with a grin. "You attende to a few ribs for me that time."

The Best Shot.

He went back to the mark with his own weapon and stood at attention. Breckinridge ran off the word for him and he snapped the rifle to his shoulder and fired. A shout went up from the others. The bullet had struck the tree exactly in the middle, about four fee from the ground.

"That ends it," groaned Thurston. "What an idio I was to chance it with a clever shot like you."

"Hi," shouted Sullivan, "what you talking about thar? You're dead."

The weapons were loaded again and Breckinridge had the next trial. He struck the tree midway be tween the other two marks. "And that's right, too when you think of it," commented Sullivan. "He's the mediator, ain't he? He come between you two young roosters."

"Now where do you come, Jacobus?" asked Harrison, as the woodsman took his stand. They knew that Sullivan could have beaten them blindfold if he cared to. He looked at the tree in perplexity.

"Don't just how seem to be room for me," he said. "See, now. You fellers think you was mighty smart to hit the tree. Let me tell you it's a different thing shooting at a man, and if that thar man is shooting back it's different again. I got a powerful imagination. I'm going to imagine I'm doollug. Count, Mr. Breckinridge."

So Breckinridge counted and the result was a wild miss, at which Jacobus seemed greatly downcast and the other three shouted with glee. "Like to know where you fellers would have shot to if you'd done same as me," he grumbled.

Since Harrison had made the best shot Thurston and Breckinridge were declared the losers, and the noisy four adjourned to Charley Nabb's store, where a gallon of fine old whiskey was poured into a stone jug. They retired with their prize to the rear of the store, and pledged each other with friendly speech and great good humor.

"Now, this," said Sullivan, sagely, "is the true meaning of a bout betwixt man and man. I might say I didn't like the color of Mr. Breckenridge's hair, or his fancy clothes. Men have fit for less, many's the time. But when I want to show him I'm the best one I'll prove it on this old stone jug."

"No you won't, Jacobus," said Breckinridge, hastily.

"I never bargained to have to meet you, too," said Squire Thurston, rising. "I think we'd better call Sullivan the winner right now before he proves it on all of us."

The proposal was received with applause and Jacobus was formally called upon to receive what remained in the jug as a token of general surrender.

"Squire," said Sullivan, ruefully, to Thurston, as he pulled some coins out of his pocket. "Squire, I'm sorry you done that, because it hurts my conscience, which was already aching like a boil. You gentlemen was going to fight about twelve and a half cents. I take it?"

Breckinridge tried to catch the eye of the daring woodsman to warn him off delicate ground. But Jacobus knew what he was about. The late adversaries nodded.

"Well," said Sullivan, "it's a queer thing, like a special dispensation of Providence. Just after you give up the notion of hurting each other into slaves I found some money right thar on the ground. It's just exactly twelve and a half cents, and thar ain't no question who it belongs to. Squire, here's your fee."

Insurance Companies Lose About $125,000.00 by the Wreck at Spanish River

Double Liability for About 25 Persons

A loss of somewhere in the neighborhood of $125,000 is what the Accident Insurance Companies estimate the wreck at Spanish River bridge means to them.

They figure that about 25 of those who met death carried Accident Insurance, and the average insurance, according to the tables, is $5,000. In case of death in a railway disaster there is a double liability, making the figure $8,000, or $5,000 to be more conservative.

Their loss may total more than that, for the commercial travellers, a number of whom were killed, usually carry very heavy insurance. In addition, some of the companies make the policies payable on the death of the wife while travelling, though the policy is taken out in the husband's name. In such cases they pay the husband the same amount as they would have paid the wife were the husband killed.

We issue the BEST Accident and Sickness policy offered to the public.

ONTARIO HAS MADE SPLENDID GAINS IN BUILDING OPERATIONS

Many Cities Have Surpassed by Wide Margins the Amount of Building Permits Issued in 1908---Toronto Leads the Entire Dominion---Some Interesting Figures.

The end of 1909 brought to a close Canada's biggest building year; the beginning of 1910 ushers in what promises to be a period of still greater activity and development. Nothing more fully reflects the marvellous growth of the country, nor foretells with a more assuring degree the wonful expansion which will take place in the next twelve months, than the remarkably sound manner in which the season closed. Operations in all sections were vigorously prosecuted up to the final day, and the existing force of activity carried into the new year with an increasing momentum, which leaves no doubt as to the prospects for 1910. The losses which occurred in December, with two exceptions, affected only such places as had experienced uninterrupted progress throughout the year, and came more as a relaxation following the heavy pressure of the preceding months, and a temporary let up preparatory to resuming operations with renewed energy, than as any unfavourable indication.

Official returns as submitted to Construction from thirty cities located in every province and section of the Dominion record a grand total for permits issued, amounting to $68,606,821 for the past twelve months, as against $42,577,439 for the entire year of 1908, thus registering an average gain for the year of approximately 60 per cent., or a proportionate increase in the volume of work undertaken nearly two-thirds again as great as that carried out in the preceding twelve months. This average can be accepted as being representative of the general strides made throughout the country, as many cities whose exact figures are still unknown and hence not tabulated prospered to an equal or greater degree in proportion to their population, than some of the places which are included in the list.

Halifax and Edmonton were the only two cities which failed to surpass their figures for the previous year, the loss in either place being 24 per cent. and 16 per cent. in order named. Aside from these places, the year was of complete ascendancy on every hand, and a triumphal march from coast to coast. The biggest increase noted is in the case of Saskatoon, which recorded an overwhelming gain of 767 per cent.: Fernie takes second honours with an advance of 449 per cent., and Lethbridge lands in the third position by overreaching the previous year's figures to the extent of 246 per cent. These figures serve as a reflex of the West as a whole, and while the proportionate increase in all cases is not so marked, the results in general are, to say the least, gratifying to the extreme.

In Manitoba, Winnipeg looms up with an increase of 67 per cent., Brandon a gain of 19 and Portage la Prairie with one of 62 per cent., while in Saskatchewan, Regina, and Moose Jaw's respective advances of 56 and 157 per cent., together with Saskatoon's figures previously mentioned, indicate that the onward movement was widespread throughout that province. Winnipeg's amount of $9,226,325, it might be mentioned, is the second largest total registered in the Dominion, and represents a jump of nearly four millions over her amount of the preceding year.

Equally as marked progress is also noted in Alberta, as besides Lethbridge's gain, previously referred to, Calgary annexed a gain of 189 per cent., and Medicine Hat advanced 62 per cent. Edmonton's loss cannot be regarded seriously, as her total of $2,128,166 shows that the city is, and will continue to be, for some time to come, an important factor in the building line.

As regards Ontario, this province presents a series of bewildering gains. Toronto's total of $18,200,000 shows the greatest volume of work undertaken in any city in the Dominion. It is a record of which Canada can be justly proud, as there is possibly no city of like size in the world that can boast of such pronounced growth. Ottawa also forged ahead in a most striking manner, her total for permits issued being $4,527,590, as against $1,794,075, a gain of 152 per cent. while other advances which give evidence to the gigantic strides which are being made are: Kingston, 165 per cent.; Berlin, 129; Fort William, 90; London, 83; Peterborough, 43; Windsor, 42; Niagara Falls, 33; and Hamilton, 18 per cent. Although Port Arthur failed to submit comparative figures, it is known that her total of $584,810 is also in excess of the amount registered in 1908.

In the East, Montreal recorded an increase of 53 per cent. and Sydney a gain of 139 per cent. The activity shown in these two places is more or less representative of the progress made in most of the Eastern towns and cities. Apart from Halifax, few, if any, places met with reversals. Three Rivers, as is generally known, spent hugs sums in the rebuilding of her burnt district, but in this and other instances, no record of operations have apparently been kept.

Regarding operations in December, Fort William's and Brantford's gains of 2921 per cent. and 1200 per cent. respectively are by far the outstanding feature. The other increases noted are, however, of a most substantial nature, and while smaller amounts are registered in some cases, as compared with the corresponding month in 1908, these represent, as stated above, the aftermath of a most gratifying harvest and the preparation of the "soil" for a more prolific crop.

All in all, 1910 promises much. Toronto predicts a total of $23,000,000; Winnipeg expects to build to the extent of $14,000,000; Montreal reports the outlook as "roseate"; and Vancouver says that she is just beginning to grow. This is only an idea of the optimism which pervades the entire country. Prospects for both large and small work were never better, and architects and builders can look forward to an extremely busy season. To sum up the situation in a word, 1909 has been a great year, but 1910 will, unless all signs fail, be a greater one in every respect.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

FREE TO YOU AND EVERY SISTER SUFFERING FROM WOMEN'S AILMENTS.

I am a woman.
I know woman's sufferings.
I have found the cure.
I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from women's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—yes, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourself at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I knew that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for Leucorrhœa or Whitish discharge, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors or Growths, also pains in the head, back and bowels, hearing-down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney and bladder troubles where caused by weakness peculiar to our sex. I want to send you a complete 10 days' treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week, or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer, if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER," with explanatory illustrations showing the way women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says "You must be operated on," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cannot fail, if you are square. To Mothers of Daughters: I will explain how home treatment, with occasionally a dose of Lemon Elixir, Green Mountain, and Pyramid or Stringless Blackberry Wine in Young Ladies, Plumpness and health always result from its use. I will explain how you, can restore to health of your own household, at home and will gladly do so. Don't suffer longer. Don't drug yourself with nauseous medicines. Don't expose yourself to the embarrassing questions and local treatment of some physicians. Write to-day, as you may not see this offer again. Address in confidence,

PSYCHOLOGY OF THE COURTSHIP

"We speak of man as the wooer," says a recent writer on women, "but falling in love is really mediated by the woman. By dress, behaviour, coquetry, modesty, reserve, and occasional boldness she gains the attention of man and infatuates him."

Consider the predicament of the girl busy at such entertaining sport, who finds herself suddenly becoming fat. She knows by instinct that she can not infatuate long if she be fat. An to exercise and diet instanter may save the day. They may—but there is an easier way.

One can take off up to a pound a day without causing wrinkles, stomach disturbances, or the least bother. This can be done in old cases of overfatness as well as recent ones. A fine figure can be saved or a trim one regained. Simply send seventy-five cents to the Marmola Co., 933 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., or, better still, tender the same to your druggist for a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets. This elegant preparation can go with you everywhere in your satchel. Take a tablet daily; off comes the fat, nice and uniformly, from the fattest parts first.

GET MARRIED AND LIVE MUCH LONGER

French Statistician Says Husbands Always Outlive Bachelors--Points Out Reasons to Bear Out Statements in Spite of Many Plaisanteries.

A PLEA FOR MATRIMONY

London, Feb. 10.—Dr. Jacques Bertillon, the French statistician believes that marriage and longevity go hand in hand.

He calls in the aid of statistics to prove his contention that a married man or woman has three times as much chance to attain a ripe old age as a bachelor or a spinster; and with regard to men he shows that the mortality among widowers is greater than among married men. Dr. Bertillon says that his father went thoroughly into the question and obtained statistics from other European countries, which completely support this opinion, while he himself has studied later figures in France. So his advice to young men runs:

"Marry, you will do well even from a selfish standpoint. But watch carefully over your wife's health, as even from this egotistical point of view her loss will be a terrible misfortune, for your life depends in a great measure on her own."

Addressing himself to young women he says:

"To you I give the counsel to marry in your most selfish interest, as married women have less mortality than spinsters of the same age at least after the age of 20; but the difference is less for women than for men. The mortality among spinsters is much greater than among married women, but it is not twice as great, as in the case of men."

Dr. Bertillon does not take a cheerful view of the lot of the widow. He says:

"The mortality among widows is distinctly much greater than among married women of the same age. The sweet state of widowhood, is, on the contrary, fatal to young widows. Their death rate from twenty to twenty-five years of age is twice that of married women at the corresponding age."

He gives his reason why matrimony conduces to longevity thus:

"Married people lead a more regular life. They are more surrounded and therefore more controlled, discreet though this control may be, and it must be discreet if it is to be useful. Their physical life, like their moral life, is healthier, quieter, more natural."

In the French statistics of one year which Dr. Bertillon has selected the deaths in a thousand men among bachelors between the ages of thirty-five and forty were nineteen, while those of married men were only eight. Between the age of forty-five and sixty the figures were forty-one for the former and twenty-three for the latter.

With women the mortality was 12 and 8 between thirty-five and forty, and 24 and 18 between fifty-five and sixty. The death rates among widows and divorcees were respectively twelve and twenty-one women a thousand.

$3.50 Recipe Cures Weak Kidneys, Free

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency.

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K 1810, Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. And you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

THE CARE OF TEETH

Costs the City of New York no Less Than $80,000 a Year.

New York, Feb. 11.—The report to the Board of Education by Supt. Maxwell of the physical condition of school children has stirred up experts on hygiene and yesterday Leonard Ayres, expert of the Sage Foundation showed that the condition of the teeth of the children alone costs the city about $800,000 annually.

He said yesterday that a child with seriously defective teeth requires half a year longer to get through the eight grades. Allowing $40 a year for the education of a child, the extra half year makes an added expenditure of $20. There are 70,000 children entering the schools each year and 40,000 of this number have defective teeth, it has been learned.

Supt. Maxwell in his report, sets forth that the medical inspection, through the Board of Health, is far from what it should be. He claims that this work will not be done well until the Board of Education employs a corps of physicians and a corps of nurses, clothed with authority not only to discover physical defects but and to compel negligent parents to put their children in proper physical condition.

Former Commissioner of Health Darlington takes exception to this. He says New York has the best system of medical inspection of any city in the world, but twice as many physicians and nurses are required to carry it on.

Mr. Ayres, who is regarded as an authority on these matters, yesterday made this comment:

"New York expended last year nearly $35,000,000 on its schools. If three-fourths of the children are suffering from physical defects, which cause them 9 per cent. slower progress than if the defects were removed, it means that the city has spent, in round numbers $2,400,000 a year in a useless attempt to impart knowledge to pupils physically incapacitated for receiving it."

WAS GIVEN TWO YEARS

Peterborough Boy Sentenced to Two Years in Central Prison for Shopbreaking at Midland —An Accomplice Got Eighteen Months.

WAS ARRESTED HERE

On a charge of shop breaking Harold Mills was sentenced to two years less one day in the Central Prison, and a young man by the name of Clark, who was implicated in the same robbery, got eighteen months. They appeared before a magistrate in Midland on Thursday last. Mills was arrested here last Saturday by P. C. Meagher. He was at his home when taken in custody at noon. He is a young man of about nineteen years and only recently left the Mimico Industrial School.

Chief Constable Rough, of Midland, came down and took Mills back there. On the return trip, Clarke got on the train and gave himself up to the officer, and the two appeared in court on Thursday.

TAX BOTH PARTIES

Suggested Solution of the Question of Providing for City's Poor.

The Committee of the Whole Council took up the question of a House of Refuge for the city, but as Rev. H. J. Keith had not been notified of the meeting, as agreed upon, practically nothing was done. Ald. Batten thought that the only way to solve the question was for the Protestant people of the city to erect a building similar to the House of Providence, and the city pay $1.50 a week for each inmate's maintenance. Ald. Buller said the idea that suggested itself to him was that special legislation be secured to tax the Catholic and Protestant people of the city for the number of their people that have to be provided for. That is, the former would have to estimate the amount of money required for the persons in the House of Providence, and the Catholic ratepayers be taxed for that amount. The Protestant ratepayers would, in a similar manner, pay for their poor. This proposal met the approval of the Aldermen who felt that it would work out most satisfactorily to all concerned. On motion of Ald. Buller and Metheral it was decided to take up the question at a later meeting and to notify Rev. H. J. Keith and Rev. Father McColl of the meeting, in order that they may be present.

ENTERTAINED THEIR FRIENDS

"E-a-Waw" Snowshoe Club Held Most Enjoyable "At Home."

The "E-a-Waw" Snowshoe Club entertained a number of their friends to an enjoyable "At Home" at the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe St., last evening. There were about thirty-five couples present and a most delightful time was held. The hall was very prettily decorated and conspicuous among the decorations were the coleurs of the club, yellow and pale blue. At eleven o'clock dainty refreshments were served, after which dancing was continued for an hour and a half. Excellent music was provided by the Misses Doris.

PSYCHOLOGY OF THE COURTSHIP

"We speak of man as the wooer," says a recent writer on women, "but falling in love is really mediated by the woman. By dress, behaviour, coquetry, modesty, reserve, and occasional boldness she gains the attention of man and infatuates him."

Consider the predicament of the girl busy at such entertaining sport, who finds herself suddenly becoming fat. She knows by instinct that she can not infatuate long if she be fat, so to exercise and diet instanter to save the day. They may—but there is an easier way.

One can take off up to a pound a day without causing wrinkles, stomach disturbances, or the least bother. This can be done in old cases of overfatness as well as recent ones. A fine figure can be saved or a trim one retained. Simply send seventy-five cents to the Marmola Co., 833 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., or, better still, tender the same to your druggist for a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets. This elegant preparation can go with you everywhere in your satchel. Take a tablet daily; off comes the fat, reduced uniformly, from the fattest parts first.

TAX RATE MAY BE 22 MILLS

According to one of the casual statements at the meeting of the Whole Council last night in committee the rate of taxation for the coming year will likely be 22 or 23 mills in all probability the former. Last year the rate was 19 1-2 mills, but 1910 will see the rate up to 22 mills at least. Ald. Bradburn stated that he had gone over the demands from the committees, the regular expenses, etc., and had pruned and skimped as much as possible and from the present outlook the rate will likely be 22 mills.

INITIATIVE BY BOARD OF TRADE FOR A COMMISSIONER

Appointment of an Industrial Commissioner Largely Dependent Upon the Enterprise, Aggressiveness and Generosity of Leading Citizens of Peterborough---Council in Committee Recommends Giving Half the Necessary Amount.

The appointment of an Industrial Commissioner for Peterborough now rests almost entirely upon the public spiritedness of manufacturers, merchants, professional and business men, and large property owners as the result of the meeting of the committee of the Whole Council last night, when a conference was held with representatives of the Board of Trade and it was decided that the Council would give $2000 towards the fund if the Board of Trade secured an additional $2,000.

Mayor Morrow presided, with the following aldermen present: Ald. Bradburn, Metheral, Buller, Phelan, Batten, Gillespie and Turner. The members of the Board of Trade were Messrs. D. O'Connell, J. H. Larmonth, W. H. Denham and D. Hughes Charles.

The question was well threshed out before a motion was made and the deputation of the Board of Trade reminded the committee of the memorable meeting in the Collegiate Institute a few months ago when a big body of representative citizens expressed their approval of the appointment of a commissioner of industries or a Publicity Commissioner whichever title fits the position. In beginning they asked the Council to provide in the estimates for the appointment of a Commissioner by increasing the tax rate by one half a mill. This would provide $4300 which was considered sufficient. The aldermen were not exactly pleased with the idea of increasing the taxes more than could possibly be helped. Mr. O'Connell then suggested that if the Council would guarantee half of the necessary amount the Board of Trade would undertake to provide an equal amount.

This proposition was of a more appealing tinge and Ald. Turner and Gillespie moved a motion that the Council guarantee $2,000 on condition that the Board of Trade obtain $2,000. Ald. Turner, Gillespie, Phelan, and Bradburn. Ald. Batten and Metheral opposed it, and Ald. Buller did not vote.

Introductory Discussion.

Mayor Morrow in introducing the question stated that the opinion had been expressed by some members of the Council that the city's finances scarcely warranted the expenditure necessary to provide for the proposed Commissioner. The estimates were now being prepared for the year and if any action were taken it was necessary to provide for the sum in the appropriations. The importance of the appointment was emphasized by the representative members of the Board of Trade. The arguments put forward have for the most part appeared in the Examiner already. Mr. Denham stated that he had recently received a letter from Port Arthur offering inducements to the Quaker Oats if they would remove to that town. Horse power was quoted at $25, which was later expected to be reduced to $20. From the bill head it was apparent that Port Arthur has an Industrial Commissioner and the news that the company was enlarging their buildings was doubtless the reason for extending the inducements.

Ald. Metheral said the working class was talkin gabout the tax rate and would object to a high rate. He was desirous of keeping it down rather than increasing it. The rate was high and so was the assessment.

Mr. O'Connell pointed out the effect that bonusing companies has had upon the city's taxes and particularly the labouring man. An energetic commissioner would endeavour to secure industries under ideal conditions. He would present the facilities the city afforded beside which a bonus would be insignificant. The advantages in regard to power, freight rates, railway communication, labour conditions, etc., if placed in their proper light before a company would appeal to them more strongly than a bonus. Mr. O'Connell illustrated his point by the work of Mr. Ryerson Ritchie in a number of cities in the United States. The success he had achieved was evidence of the work that can be accomplished by an Industrial Commissioner who has a thorough grasp of his duties.

In Ottawa the Council has offered $5,000 towards an Industrial Commissioner provided the Board of Trade secures another $5,000 and the plan has proved a success.

Doctor Returned Cement Sacks Before Murder Was Committed

Special to The Examiner.

Detroit, Mich., Feb 12.—After a trip to Grosse Isle yesterday afternoon to view the spot where a portion of the mutilated remains of Mabel Millman were found, the jury in the murder trial of Dr. Fritch, formerly of Drummond, Ont., returned to the city this evening and were ordered locked up by Judge Phelan until next Monday morning, when the proceedings will be resumed and a climax reached perhaps about the middle of the week. Marshal Perry was the first witness called at this morning's session, and he described in detail the finding and identification of the body.

The attempt of the prosecuting attorney to make capital out of the fact that the murderer had used ordinary cement bags in which to sink the victim's body, and that Dr. Fritch had a number of these bags in his premises, was not attended with much success. C. H. Little, a contractor, swore that these sacks were easily obtained by any one and that thousands of them were scattered all over the city. Furthermore, Mr. Little testified that Dr. Fritch had purchased one hundred bags of cement from his firm some time before the murder occurred, had returned the bags empty four days before the crime was committed, and had been paid by cheque for them.

Dr. Fritch listened with the closest attention to all the testimony and seemed to be completely at his ease. With him in court was his brother, and several lodge friends.

Hon. John Charlton, Well Known Statesman, Passes Away

Special to The Examiner.

Delhi, Ont., Feb. 12.—Hon. John Charlton died at his home in Lynedoch last night at 9.45. He was born at Garbuttaville, N.Y., Feb. 3rd, 1829, removing with his parents to Canada in 1849.

Mr. Charlton was of English parentage who in crossing the ocean settled in New York, where he was born. With his parents he came to Canada in 1849, settling near Ayr, Ont. He became prominent in the lumber business. He entered parliament in 1872 for North Norfolk and held the seat continually till his retirement. He was one of the founders of the Dominion Lord's Day Alliance and author of early legislation for the better observance of the Lord's Day. In 1886 he was chairman of the Ontario Royal Mining Commission. He was strongly in favour of reciprocity with the United States and was prominent as a lecturer on literary and historical subjects. He was appointed by the British Government, a member of the Joint High Commission, which met in Quebec in 1898 to arrange disputes between Canada and the United States and to remove obstacles to enlarge trade between the two countries. In religion he was a Presbyterian and was a delegate to the Pan-Presbyterian conference at Glasgow in 1896. He was a Liberal in politics, but in the House took an independent stand upon several questions, notably the Riel and Jesuit Estates questions.

SAW 3 YEARS OF SERVICE

Mr. Wm. Robertson Home on a Visit to His Father Here After an Absence of Several Years —Was in the War in the Philippines.

RETURNS TO MANILLA

To have seen three years of active service in the United States army in the war with the Philippines was the unique experience of Mr. Wm. Robertson, son of Mr. John Robertson, Bonaccord St. Mr. Robertson is at present visiting with his father here after an absence of several years. He left Peterborough fifteen years ago, going to the United States. At the time of the Philippine insurrection, he enlisted at Syracuse and his regiment saw three years of active service. Mr. Robertson has many an interesting experience to relate that were his during those three years. He was in the thickest of the fight and had several thrilling and narrow escapes.

The present season, Mr. Robertson states, is about the pleasantest in the Philippines. In about a month's time, the weather becomes warm, followed by the season. Manilla is quite a cosmopolitan city, its population being cosmopolitan, being made up of Europeans and Americans. Mr. Robertson cannot remember ever seeing a Canadian at Manilla. He left the Philippines in May for Watertown, N.Y., where he occupied the position of chief clerk at the Arsenal, there.

Mr. Robertson has just received an appointment from the United States government at Washington. He is to be chief clerk at the Arsenal at Manilla. It is an important position, and Mr. Robertson is to be congratulated on his appointment. He left last night for Belleville to visit his brother. He will go from there to San Francisco, from where the transport sails on the 19th for Manilla.

TOBOGGAN DASHES INTO PASSING TEAM

Harold Cameron of Perth Has Skull Fractured in the Mix Up.

Perth, February 12.—There was a big fete at the toboggan slides last night, including a torch light procession from the town hall, headed by a band, and the firemen, fireworks and racing.

While a team was crossing the iced track Harold Cameron, son of A. N. Cameron, and Miss Saunders, ran into it, knocking one of the horses down. Cameron was struck by a horse's shoe and his skull is factured, but his recovery is likely.

The lady's face was cut, but not seriously. Her home is in Carleton Place but she teaches school on the second line of Drummond township.

THIEVES SECURED HALF TON TOBACCO

Montcalm Storing Sheds are Robbed—Contents Came From Montreal.

Following the tracks of bold thieves detectives from the Provincial Detective Department have returned to Montreal, whence they started, richer in nothing but information.

Two weeks ago the drying sheds where Mr. Assire Legault, of Montcalm, stores his tobacco, was visited by the thieves and out of about 6,000 pounds of tobacco nearly half a ton was stolen. The thieves must have had their booty stored not far from the place, as no one saw them carting away the stuff, but the detectives soon found that the stolen tobacco had found its way to Montreal, where part was offered for sale.

PETERBORO'S CURLING VICTORS WERE ROYALLY WELCOMED

Met by Brother Curlers and 57th Band at the Station Last Night---Story of the Games Was Retold Around the Festive Board at the National Hotel.

Peterborough's victorious curlers, winners of the District Cup, were given a grand welcome home last night on their return from Toronto on the 7.51 C. P. R. train. When the news of their great victory in the finals over the Toronto Granites became known in the city in the afternoon their brothers of the stane and besom made preparations to receive them with honours that they deserved after such an exploit, which is second only to the winning of the Tankard, and which represents as much hard curling as does the capturing of that famous piece of silverware. It was a noteworthy feat on the part of the Peterborough curlers, and the members of the local club determined that it should not be allowed to pass unnoticed.

To the great surprise of the members of the winning rinks, therefore, when they climbed down from the train they found the platform of the station in the possession of an enthusiastic band of curlers, waving brooms while the 57th Band blazed out a triumphant march. Before the victors could realize that the "big noise" was in their honour they were hurried into the waiting carriages, and escorted in triumph up town. A procession, headed by the band, in two carriages, was formed. The victors followed in other vehicles, and behind them came members of the club in carriages and on foot, all equipped with brooms.

The winning curlers were taken to the National Hotel, where a dainty supper was awaiting them, and around the festive board the winners refought the battles that had given them possession of the much-prized trophy, Skips Foote and Fitzgerald and the members of the rinks were called upon to tell how it all happened, and the other members of the club told how glad they were that it had happened, and altogether there was a most enjoyable time.

The members of the rinks, Messrs. Fitzgerald and Foote, skips, W. H. Taylor, L. Hall, T. Brightman, W. M. Laing, R. Hicks, and W. Reid, nearly had their hands shaken off and were overwhelmed with congratulations.

They had a hard fight all through the competition, and the biggest struggle came in the semi-final round, when Orillia were up fourteen shots before Peterborough touched the chalk.

STORM IS TERRIFIC

Blizzard Sweeps the Whole Eastern Coast and Reports of Shipping Disasters are Coming in Frequently.

MANY VESSELS ARE LOST

Special to The Examiner.

New York, Feb. 12—A terrific gale is sweeping the whole eastern coast, and reports of shipping disasters are coming in frequently to-day. During the night snow fell heavily in this vicinity, but early in the morning this changed to rain, developing later into a miniature thunderstorm with heavy lightning at times. The heavy blizzard that obscured lights off the coast was responsible for most of the disasters at sea. The chief sufferers were small fishing vessels. The fishing schooners, the Franklin B. Nelson and the Libby, both of New York, were driven ashore off Sandy Hook early to-day. Their crews, seventeen men in all, were rescued by life savers with the breeches buoy after a heroic fight of several hours. The Nelson was declared a total loss, but there is hope of saving the Libby in the event of the winds falling.

Council Says Dan Spence Ambulance Must Not Be Used to Remove Persons From Trains to Local Hospitals.

The tenancy of the Dan Spence ambulance remains the same so far as the Committee of the Whole Council is concerned, but a recommendation was made to the Property Committee to revise the contract agreement in order that persons from outside towns coming to one of the local hospitals will have to pay for their removal from the trains. In the past the Dan Spence ambulance made the most of these trips and no charge was made the people removed. Mr. A. Comstock possesses an ambulance and it is cases of this nature that he has most opportunity to serve. The Mayor and aldermen considered that outsiders should not be carried free in the Dan Spence ambulance. That was for persons residing in the city. In Toronto and other cities a patient is carried in a private ambulance and must pay for it. On motion of Ald. Bradburn and Gillespie, the Property Committee was asked to revise the agreement in order to provide against carrying persons from trains in the Dan Spence Ambulance.

DOGS AS NUISANCES.

The dog, for his faithfulness and intelligence, is liked by everybody that loves children; but dogs, like children, to deserve the favour in which they are held, must be properly trained, must be kept in their place, and not be allowed to degenerate into nuisances or menaces to society. In the west of Ontario at present there is a mad dog scare, and the people, naturally alarmed, are demanding rigid restriction of canine liberty. A dog is no better than a man, with an occasional exception, and should have no more rights than a man. When a man becomes a nuisance to society, a nuisance to public saftey, we shut him up, and sometimes, if he goes too far, we hang him up. A dog of similar character and conduct should have the same treatment. If he is attacked with rabies and runs amuck, planting the seeds of hydrophobia broadcast, he must be shot at sight.

There are dogs that develop a mania for worrying sheep, and their ravages are one of the causes of the decay of the sheep-breeding industry.

Then there are dogs that are otherwise intolerable nuisances; there are dogs that, by their barking and howling, keep awake o'nights hard-working men and women, to whose dead-tired bodies sleep is a resurrection unto life. These dogs and their owners—though the latter may be only thoughtless—that commit and permit such barkings are practically midnight assassins; they murder sheep, tired nature's sweet restorer. Some dog owners thoughtfully shut up their dogs at nights, and thoughtlessly let them out at six in the morning. The released curs, rejoicing in their newfound liberty, celebrate the occasion by scurrying up and down streets, barking furiously enough to wake the dead; and they, too, murder sheep. Everybody is not awake at six o'clock or seven o'clock. Tired mothers, who have been kept awake most of the night by a fretful baby, sink into sleep at five or six o'clock from sheer exhaustion. The same happens to the victim of insomnia. An hour or two of unbroken sleep is all that fits them for the toil and duties of another day. But the howling morning curs break their sleep, which refuses to come again. Should such things be allowed?

Then there is the most exasperating form of dog nuisance, the yawping cur that rushes out from his home upon every passing vehicle and pursues it, howling as he goes for the length of a square. These dogs are a terror and annoyance to spirited horses and such horses, driven by ladies, are in danger of running away and killing somebody. One gentleman, who is particularly annoyed in this way, says that if certain dogs, he [illegible] such annoyance, he

THE WRONG WAY AND THE RIGHT WAY.

In no one thing of capital importance is there so much indifference—largely due to lack of knowledge, and, when a little knowledge exists, to lack of thought in application—as there is in the construction and care of highways, in both town and country. In the first place there is no idea of the immense economic value of good streets and good highways. Highways and streets are opened as indispensable media of communication and traffic, the indispensable conditions of commerce and of the exercise of the general functions of organized civilization. It naturally follows that commerce and social and business interchange are facilitated, cheapened, and made additionally profitable in proportion to the good and continuously good condition of highways and streets. A railway track is the analogue of the street and highway. In the construtcion of railways the highest engineering and mechanical skill is applied. Learning form the mistakes of the past, railway corporations have found out that cheap building is waste of money; since time is lost in covering mileage, rolling stock is racked and ruined, expensive maintenance operations are necessitated and an immense and continuous expense incurred that infinitely exceeds the apparent saving made by cheap construction. Our great railways have expended, since the original lines were built, in the easing of grades, improvement of roadbeds, and in other ways, nearly as much as the first cost. It is no surprise that in the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific it is thought proper to build well, to build right in the beginning. The cost, per mile, is greater, but once the road is built it is practically built forever. There will be no expensive removal of sharp curves, no reduction of stiff grades, no rebuilding of temporary, makeshift bridges and viaducts. The cost of maintenance will be reduced to a minimum; there will be less wear and tear of rolling stock, there will be fewer costly accidents, there will be better time made, and consequently greater and more profitable traffic results from the beginning.

In the matter of urban and rural highways, the proper way is the best way. The only road-building that is proper, that pays, is that with permanence as its first principle. We all know that in every town and township money has been wasted to the tune of thousands, and, taking the country over, of millions, in doing slop work. Not only has the money been wasted in dabbling with streets, but the public who supplied the money to be wasted, have been additionally taxed, in the form of discomfort and inconvenience in the use of streets, which, nine months of the year, are unfit for profitable use; and in the wear and tear of vehicles, the punishment of horse flesh and waste of time.

This would not be if the principle of the proper permanent building of streets was adopted with the added policy of keeping roadways continually in good repair, a small matter when proper construction is done in the beginning.

Peterborough has been an incorporated town for sixty years. In that time, it is safe to say, half a million dollars of the tax-payers' money has been spent on the streets, and it is also safe to say that not a mile of properly constructed street has been built—with proper foundation, proper drainage, and proper street metal.

This brings us to the point where an improvement can well begin in the treatment of our city streets. With absence of proper darinage and foundation, a good wearing surface is the more demanded. By a good wearing surface is meant the use of broken stone composed of granite or similar good-wearing material. The material we have used in the past—limestone, sandstone, and other cobble stones—under heavy traffic, speedily wears into dust, and, in wet weather, into mud. Holes speedily develop, and we have streets unfit for traffic. This form of street metal has been in use for years, except where gravel has been of recent years substituted for it. Gravel, as it has been applied to our streets, unscreened and mixed with soil, is the best material—for slop work street building. In proportion as we continue to use such material for our streets shall we continue to waste the money of the ratepayers, and continue to have bad streets, unfit for comfortable use.

The city fathers last year made a great mistake in refusing the offer of a citizen, who was willing to undertake a supply of Stony Lake granite, broken and delivered, at the same price the city is paying for the wretched soft stuff, composed largely of limestone. We shall never have good driving streets, that is continuously good and permanent, till we use the right kind of metal; and, so long as we neglect this we shall have waste of the taxpayers' money and bad streets.

The first step to be taken in dealing with our streets is to work a complete revolution in methods. We must adopt some system. As things go we are perpetually experimenting or doing things at random. For the past dozen years we have had a new head of the board of works every year. There has necessarily been no opportunity for any one chairman to learn from the mistakes of his predecessors, and devise a system. He had only had time to nicely turn around and see where he is at when out he went, to be succeeded by another who underwent a similar experience. How long would a big manufacturing establishment hang together if it changed its manager every year for another who would revolutionize the mode of work—new ways of doing everything? Yet that is practically what we are doing in the management of our streets from year to year, and one year after another.

We can never expect the best, or even passably good, results withcut we adopt some proper system, which will involve continuity of work to a definite end—till we substitute system for slop work and experimentation—till we apply the three cardinal principles of successful street and road building—proper drainage, proper foundation, and proper surface, and have these things done under proper supervision. The best system will turn out badly if the work is badly done. Proper inspection to insure the application and carrying out of proper plans is most important.

In a few days "Good Roads" Campbell, Mr. W. A. Campbell, C.E., will be lost to Ontario, when he assumes the duties of Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, at Ottawa. He has done much for the cause of good roads and what may be his closing words contain advice and warning which apply not only to the making of roads, but to every other department of civic administration.

In speaking at the dinner of the University of Toronto Engineering Alumni Association, he spoke of the importance of the inspector as the connecting link between the designing engineer and the contractor, in connection with municipal and other public works. He stated in substance:

Deplorable waste and extravagance is the result of municipalities engaging laymen, who are careless and pliable in the hands of a contractor. To the layman, the architect or engineer is apt to be a man of fanciful ideas, who can write long specifications and draw more or less intricate pictures. Towns and cities are frequent offenders in the matter of inspection, and the inferior results and failures in some municipal improvement works throughout the Province are due to the employment of untrained inspectors. The public is slow to grasp the value of expert services, and it is only through the blunders of unskilled men and costly experience that these matters will adjust themselves. As a public official, charged with the handling of public funds, I have reached those conclusions from years of experience, and deemed it but right that I should give the public the benefit of my experience, and warn them in the interest of good workmanship and economy.

To secure good, honest work is to put work in the hands of those who may not be tempted or compelled by the exigencies of municipal politics to have inferior inspectors forced upon them. An annually elected Board of Works is subjected to such influences. A body like a commission practically independent, is better situated to treat matters on their merits. There seems to be many things in favour of placing the management of our streets in charge of a commission. Our experience with the Water Works Commission is a splendid precedent. The Commission has closed the year with a clear profit of nearly $10,000. With an expenditure of about $120,000, there is no evidence that a single dollar has been spent improperly, or carelessly; no evidence that a single dollar has been spent without adequate value having been received; no evidence of any slop work being done, that will have to be done over next year, as has occurred every year, in connection with our streets, for the past half century.

There are several reasons for this satisfactory condition. Level-headed commissioners, equipped with the experience of eight or ten years have learned how. They were not fettered by considerations of, or the influences of, municipal politics. They were free and knew how to do their work on business principles. A workman did not get a job simply because he had a vote, but because he could earn an honest day's pay, by an honest day's work. Work efficiently planned, was done under conditions of supervision and inspection, which met the conditions laid down by Mr. Campbell. As an all-round result we had the best of results, money spent to good advantage to secure good permanent work, work that is worth all it cost?

Do we get that kind of work, do we get correspondingly good results from the expenditure of money upon the driving portion of our streets? No. Why That is a question that answers itself.

UNCLE WALT--THE POET PHILOSOPHER

The wind is cold and the sky is gray, and the world is bleak and sad, but the clouds so leaden will drift away, and the sun will shine, my lad! And the spring will come with its fragrant breeze, and its garden sass and its bumble bees, and the birds will sing in the dad-binged trees; life isn't so awful bad. The night is long and its breath is chill, and the stars no longer shine; as though in mourning, the world is still, the wind has a weary whine; but soon we'll welcome the joyous morn, with its good old sun and its breakfast horn; and the world will seem like a world just born—and tell me, won't that be fine? The road is long and your feet are tired, your robe with the dust is gray; and the hour of rest you have long desired, seems ever so far away; but the sun sinks low in the purple West, and the hour's at hand when you'll have your rest in the balmy groves of the Islands Blest, where the wings of angels play.

Suggestions To Want-Advertisers

USE your own name in "Want" Advertisements unless there is some particular reason why you wish it kept confidential.

Advertisements, the answers of which must be sent to an unknown party, are never as resultful as those where the advertiser is known. For instance: Workmen desiring to make a change, do not care to answer a "blind" advertisement, fearing that they may be writing to their own firm, and on the other hand, manufacturers or wholesale dealers can usually secure a better class of applications by publishing their own name.

This is a suggestion for the good of the users of The Examiner "Want" columns. If desired, however, advertisements may be addressed care of the Examiner Office, in which case they will be forwarded promptly to advertisers.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

Worldliness and Trust. Matt. 6: 19-34.

Golden Text—Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you. Matt. 6:33.

Verse 19—What would Jesus have every man to consider as his chief "treasure"? (See Matt. 6:33.)

What is the test as to what a man's "treasure" is, or that which he values most highly?

If Jesus here does not forbid a man to provide in the present, for the future temporal needs of himself and family, what is it he does forbid?

Verse 20.—What is implied in laying up treasure in heaven, and how is it done?

Verse 21.—How would you demonstrate that "where your treasure is, there will your heart be also?"

Verse 22, 23.—The "eye" is what the body sees with and distinguishes one thing from another, what is the faculty of the soul, which answers to the eye of the body?

If the judgment is biased and the conscience perverted, how would that effect the views which a man may have of moral and spiritual questions

Verse 24.—What does the word "mammon" stand for here?

Why is it impossible for a man to "serve" both God and "mammon"?

When a man's chief dependence is upon money, what God does he worship?

Verses 25-27.—Why is our temporal welfare assured if we depend wholly upon God?

What are the natural effects of anxious care upon a man's ability to make proper provisions for the future, and upon his present peace of mind?

What is the only effectual cure for the common malady of anxious care?

What are the chief evils of anxiety?

Why is dependence upon God impossible, while we are filled with anxious care about our temporal needs?

Verses 28-31.—In considering the lillies, their freedom from toil, their growth and their beauty, what lessons may we learn of personal and perfect trust in God for our raiment?

What is the tendency of perfect trust in God, upon our habits of self help and general industry?

If a person trusts wholly in God, as Jesus commanded and practised, why is he as sure to be as perfect in his sphere as a lily in its sphere.

Seeing that God is to all of us what the most loving father is to his children, what effect should that have upon our peace of mind concerning future temporal needs?

What is the root of all anxious care?

Verse 32.—What is the fundamental difference between a saint and a sinner?

Verses 33, 34.—What reason can you give for the accuracy of the statement of Jesus, that if we make the Kingdom of God and its righteousness our first care, that all our temporal wants will thereby be provided for? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

ITCHING ERUPTIONS QUICKLY COOLED

A case at Kingston shows vividly the danger of neglecting to apply Zam-Buk to a cut or a sore. Mrs. A. Harrison, living in Place d'Armes, while attending to her household duties, struck her ankle against a sharp projection on the furniture. She took no notice of the injury, deeming it trivial. In a day or two the ankle began to swell and cause excessive pain. A doctor, called in, found that dye from her stocking had entered the wound and set up blood poison Treatment with Zam-Buk followed but it was several days before the limb was out of danger. "Had it not been for the powerful antiseptic properties of Zam-Buk and its exceptional healing virtues, the wound might have had a very serious result," says Mrs. Harrison. "But I believe if I had applied Zam-Buk at the time of the injury, it would have prevented the blood-poisoning altogether."

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

Editor Post Card Column:

Sir,—I think you are mistaken in stating that the late disaster at Webbwood was the greatest that has occurred in Ontario. I find in "Cardinal Facts of Canadian History," the following: "1857, March 12th.—A passenger train went through a bridge over the Des Jardins Canals, near Hamilton; 60 people were killed."

GENERALLY SPEAKING

(By F. M. D.)

OILING THE STREETS.

A suggestion was made a short time ago at one of the council meetings in regard to oiling the streets. This system has been in vogue in some of the cities across the line, and people who have seen its effects tell us that there is nothing much in its use to commend it to popular approval. Its only merit, they say, consists in the fact that it lays the dust for a longer period than does water. Its demerits are many, chief among them being greater expense in operation, ruination to ladies' skirts, and incradicable dirt marks on rugs and carpets.

Decrease of Rural Population.

Mr. C. C. James, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, has been addressing the Ontario Association of Fairs and Exhibitions, and presenting figures regarding the city and rural population of Ontario. He says that there has been a decrease in the last ten years of 61,855 in rural Ontario. During the same period the increase in the cities has been 295,400. The reason for this decline has been laid by Mr. James and others to the influx of the agricultural community into the cities. When this matter is considered thoughtfully, however, it does not seem as if it was entirely correct. Hundreds of farmers' sons have undoubtedly drifted to the cities, but thousands have gone to the great territories in the West, where they are to be found to-day, engaged in their old occupation of agriculture. It is forgotten that Canada is still in the making, and so long as the lure of the West retains its power we may rest assured that Ontario and the older provinces will continue to feel the malign effects of her magic voice. This movement may be put down to higher education and the natural business instincts of our young men. Canadians are not apt to move before they are sure of their footing. Owing to this over-caution they have allowed Americans to exploit much of the wealth of their forests and mines. They permitted Manitoba and the Northwest, also, to be first explored and tested well by Englishmen, Irishmen, and Scotchmen, who were the first ranchers and farmers of any consequence in that country. Now that they have discovered what a wonderful future lies before it, they are not backward in their efforts to get there and get there quickly.

The Curfew.

A man would possibly be termed heretical if he were to question the truth of the tradition that William the Conqueror was the originator of the ordinance regarding the curfew bell. Nevertheless, with the risk of such an accusation staring us in the face, we are going to combat it and on the best of authority. As far back as in the days of King Alfred a "cover-fire bell" was rung in certain places in England. In the ancient ordinances of the city of London also, there are many stringent regulations regarding fire. These were rendered most necessary owing to the inflammable nature of the chimneyless wooden structures, which in those days sheltered our forefathers from storm and tempest. All that William the Conqueror did was to render obedience to the call of the curfew bell compulsory. It was not an act of tyranny by any means, but an act of wise legislation. At the present day in England, although the need of its continuance has long since passed out of sight, the curfew is tolled in hundreds of towns and villages; in some places all the year round, but usually from September to April. In some places people make use of it as a signal to close their shops. At Durham it is or was a signal to close the college gates.

The Pilgrims and the Puritans brought the custom over with them to New England. It will be remembered that Longfellow in his "Bells of Lynn,' 'appeals to the "curfew of the setting sun," as heard at Nahant. Traditions die hard, but the one sanctioned by so many authorities, "The singing of an evening bell originally a signal to the inhabitants to cover fires, extinguish lights and retire to rest, instituted by William the Conqueror," is one that may be referred to as not being an absolutely accurate statement of fact.

Mr. Moore's Photographs.

Mr. H. N. Moore is to be congratulated on the fine set of pictures that he has prepared for the Jamestown Camera Club Exhibition, after which they will be shown at the Montreal, Toronto and St. Johns, N.B., clubs, which places have formed a circuit for exhibition purposes. The pictures are all rural ones and, judged from an amateur's standpoint, seem to be well nigh perfect in every detail. They are entitled respectively, "The Stream"; "The Old Beech Tree"; "The Crane's Roost"; "On the Otonabee." Mr. Moore intends to have them on exhibition in a store centrally situated on George St., where it is certain that they will have many admirers.

A Balaclava Veteran.

Mr. J. W. Edwards of this city has shown us a very interesting account of the career of George Pierce, the last Canadian survivor of the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava. It is too lengthy to quote. Mr. Pierce who is 78 years old, was a great friend of Mr. Edwards' father, and is still living, hale and hearty, on Garden Avenue, Toronto.

LOCAL TREATMENT FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS

The health we enjoy depends very largely upon how the blood circulates in our bodies; in other words, if we have perfect circulation we will have perfect health.

There is a constant wearing out of the tissues in every part of the body. The blood flowing through the veins carries off this waste or dead matter, while the blood coming from the heart through the arteries brings the fresh new living tissue, the essence of the food we have digested, to replace what has been carried off. This constant wearing out and expelling of the dead matter and the replacing of it with new matter, atom by atom, goes on day and night, until in about 7 years a complete change has been effected. Thus every man and woman has an entirely different body in every particle of it from what he or she had 7 years before.

It sometimes happens, however, from a variety of causes, that the blood becomes congested in certain portions of the body. This means that the blood vessels in these parts become weakened, and the circulation in that section of the body becomes sluggish and stagnant. The consequence is that the dead matter in that part of the body is only partially carried away, and that but little of the new, vital matter is introduced there to build up and strengthen the tissues and nerves.

This condition invariably exists in all cases of female disorders. The dead matter retained in the circulation, which should have been expelled, causes irritation and inflammation of the delicate membrane, and oppresses the nerve centres. This condition is the cause of the grievous physical and mental suffering which accompanies female troubles.

To obtain relief it is evident that the first thing to be done is to get rid of the dead matter which is being held in the circulation. If this dead matter is allowed to remain there a species of blood poisoning will result and nature will endeavor to get rid of it by forming ulcers, tumors, etc.

The above explanation will also show why ORANGE LILY is so successful in curing this condition. It is a local treatment, and is applied direct to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissue, and from the very start the dead matter begins to be discharged. A feeling of immense relief, both mental and physical, accompanies it, and the improvement is constant and positive. This feature of the expelling of the dead matter is always present to a greater or less extent, and in some cases it is so marked as to be amazing. The case described in the following letter is not exceptional:

Dr. Cooney—I am thankful to Mrs. F. E. Currah, your Canadian representative, for my health restored by your wonderful remedy. I have suffered for 17 years, but not so bad until 3 years ago. Then I had a doctor, who told me I had a tumor, and could live no more than a year. If I went through an operation I would not live through it. A year later I sent for him again, and he gave me up to die. My husband then sent for another doctor, who performed an operation, and it did me much good. I doctored with him 3 or 4 months, but became so bad again that I thought I could live no longer, and I began to long to die. One day my husband came home and threw a slip of paper to me with Mrs. Currah's address and told me a lady had advised him to write to her for a treatment that would cure me. I said it was too late, that I would die anyway. I could not lift a teacup without hurting me. Then the first doctor told me I was worse than ever. However, my husband sent for ORANGE LILY, and the third treatment brought away one tumor. Others followed, until 7 tumors had been expelled, 3 large ones and 4 small ones. I know it had not been for ORANGE LILY I would have died, for I could not live much longer. I would have thought it cheap at one hundred dollars for a month's treatment, instead of one dollar. It is worth its weight in gold.—MRS. GEO. LEWIS, Huntsville, Ont.

The above letter is published with Mrs. Lewis' permission. All letters received are treated as being sacredly confidential, but occasionally some patient feels so grateful for being cured that she is willing to make the matter known for the benefit and encouragement of her suffering sisters.

ORANGE LILY is a positive, scientific remedy for all disorders of the female functions. As explained above these troubles are of local origin, and require local treatment. It is just as sensible to take medicine internally for female troubles as it would be to take medicine internally for a bruise, a boil or an ulcerated tooth. In all these cases some dead matter is being retained, and the cure is effected by employing local methods for expelling the dead matter. ORANGE LILY has antiseptic, soothing and healing properties, and also tones up and invigorates blood vessels and nerves. I am so anxious that every suffering woman may satisfy herself, without cost to her, that ORANGE LILY will cure her, that I hereby make the following

FREE TRIAL OFFER

I will send, without charge, to every reader of this notice who suffers in any way from any of the troubles peculiar to women, if she will send me her address, enough of the ORANGE LILY treatment to last her ten days. In many cases this trial treatment is all that is necessary to effect a complete cure, and in every instance it will give very noticeable relief. If you are a sufferer, you owe it to yourself, to your family and to your friends to take advantage of this offer and get cured in the privacy of your home, without doctors' bills or expense of any kind. Address MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

NEED NO LONGER FEAR THE KNIFE

Joseph Pelrine who Suffered the Tortures of this Terrible Complaint for Nine Months tell how the old reliable Kidney Remedy Cured Him.

Fort Felix East, Guysboro Co., N.S., Feb. 11.—(Special.)—That you need no longer fear the knife if troubled with gravel or other urinary troubles is the glad news that Joseph Pelrine, a well known young fisherman here is telling his friends.

"I suffered intense pain from gravel and other urinary troubles for nine months," Mr. Pelrine says. "But seven boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me completely. I heartily recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to anyone who is suffering from gravel or urinary troubles."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure gravel by curing the kidneys. The urinary organs are entirely dependent on the kidneys. If the kidneys are not in good working order they cannot filter out the uric acid and it combines with other products of the body and causes gravel. Healthy kidneys dissolve the stones and they pass off in the urine That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure gravel.

A NEW SONG

Written by Mr. D. D. Galletly Will be Sung by Him in St. Andrew's Church To-morrow Night.

Mr. D. D. Galletly, of the C. P. R. staff, Banff, who is visiting old friends in Peterborough, will sing in St Andrew's church to-morrow night. Besides singing the always acceptable solo "Come Unto Me," Mr. Galletly will sing a new song entitled "He's yer brither." The words and music are of Mr. Galletly's own composition and will be dedicated to the fraternal societies of Canada and arrangements will be made for its publication in Toronto.

The following are the words:

He's Your Brither.

When'er your neebour suffer sair, frae bod'ly pain or worldly care
O dinna pass him heedless by, for you can help him if you try,
Don't tak time tae stare an' swither
Help him freely, he's yer brither.

When trudging on life's weary road, we see some sink beneath their load,
There helpless in the dubs they lie, while priest and Levite pass them by Till some Samaritan or ither
Kindly lifts his weary brither.

Life's road is rough, its guid bits few, we a' need help tae wrestle thro',
An' should some helpless right doon fa', we should'na turn oor heads awa
An' let him perish a' th' gither,
Nature's law says, he's yer brither.

A kindly word to ane in grief, aft soothes the heart, an' brings relief,
The wee'st star seen in the nicht, is welcome for its humble licht
When man's love fails, we've still anither,
The Blessed Saviour, he's yer brither.

A loving glance tae ane astray, may help bring back tae narrow way;
A warm clasping o' the han' may aid tae mak" a brither stan'
Firm an' true, without a swither
Realizing Christ as brither.

—D. D. Galletly.

The subject of address by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter, will be: Morning, "Is man the indicator of the Divine life and power?" Evening—"Eye witnesses of His Majesty."

CANNOT CONTRACT LEPROSY IN AMERICA

Such is the Opinion of New York's Health Commissioner.

New York, Feb. 12.—"Leprosy cannot be contracted in this climate," declared Health Commissioner Lederie, of New York to-day when shown a despatch from Detroit saying that a young woman of that city contracted the disease from handling the hair imported from Europe.

"I do not believe the girl in Detroit contracted leprosy in that way," continued the Commissioner. "If she has the disease she was infected some other way and not in Detroit at all. The leprosy germ might be brought over in shipments of human hair from the Orient and elsewhere, but there is no chance of the germ surviving and taking effect in this climate. That was demonstrated years ago.

"After a series of experimeents here five lepers were discharged from the hospital without restrictions. I do not suppose the whereabouts of a single one of them is known at the present time. Do you suppose that these men would have been turned loose on the community if the health authorities had not been sure of the facts I state?"

FEARS CONFINEMENT IN A MUSIC BOX

Crazed Man at Buckingham Seeks Protection From Actress's Persecutions

Buckingham, Que., Feb. 11.—Due to a recent illness from which he had not sufficiently recovered, A. J. Dietz, of Brockville, in town seeking advertising matter for magazines that he is about to have published, went temporarily insane last night and was taken in charge by Mayor E. M. Lapierre, for safe keeping.

Mr. Dietz has been in town for a couple of days soliciting merchants to purchase space in a magazine containing a write-up of the different towns of the district.

With a strange tale of persecution at the hands of a Syracuse man and an actress, Mr. Dietz sought the protection of the Mayor. Dietz urged the Mayor to send to Ottawa for troops to prevent this actress-manager from confining him to a music box. He claimed, too, that they had threatened to kill him.

A Brockville despatch in this connection says: "Considerable sympathy is felt here for A. J. Dietz. His condition, however, is known not to be serious and he will be himself in a few days. Efforts are being made to bring him here."

A POPULAR LAMENT.

Where Would Society Be if One Was Judged for the Sins of Others?

"O; I tried one of those hair tonics some time ago and it never did me a bit of good."

That's what many people are saying to-day when they refuse Herpicide a trial.

It would be as sensible to say "I never travel on a railroad because I often see collisions mentioned in the papers."

Newbro's Herpicide is specially made to destroy the germ that is living on the roots of your hair.

That is why it is so exceedingly efficacious—it is there for the sole purpose of ridding the hair of this parasitic growth, after which the hair grows as nature intended.

WEDDING BELLS

FITZGERALD—McGARRITY.

Mr. James Fitzgerald, of Black Creek, Wis., and Miss Johannah McGarrity, of Peterborough, Canada, were married Jan. 31st at St. Mary's Catholic church, in Black Creek, Rev. Father Linder officiating. The happy couple left on the 7.40 train for an extended wedding trip to Antigo, Rinelander, Ashland and Duluth.

On their return they will be at home to their friends on their magnificent farm one and one-half miles west of the village of Black Creek.

Mr. Fitzgerald is a young man of sterling worth. Living in the vicinity of Black Creek for a number of years, he has a wide circle of acquaintances and numbers his friends by them.

In settling up his uncle's estate about a year ago his duties called him on a trip to Peterborough, where he met the lady of his choice, and she won his heart. Mr. Fitzgerald guarded his secret well and sprung a complete surprise on his friends by his marriage Jan. 31st.

Their many friends join in wishing them all the prosperity and blessings that life can bestow.

Kindergarten Piano Pupils Of Miss Foy Gave Splendid Recital

Much as was expected of them by their parents and friends the work of the pupils of Miss Estelle Foy in the kindergarden department of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music proved a revelation to the auditors and was most encouraging to their teacher and Mr. Gliddon. The exercises in connection with the kindergarten demonstration were held at the Conservatory Hall last night before an audience of five hundred and it was a thoroughly delighted and appreciative one. Thirty-five children took part in the programme and their work gave gratifying evidence of the effective method employed by the teacher and also of the intelligence of the pupils and of the interest they take in their work. One of the outstanding benefits of the method used—the Westman—is that the children acquire the first essential of playing, to keep time very accurately—as was very convincingly shown in the sextette arrangement of the Faust waltz, the different parts for the pupils being composed by Miss Foy.

A particularly entertaining number was the fifth one on the programme in which the clarionette and cornet were played by little performers whose technique and tone were excellent in spite of their tender years. The young musicians played with perfect ease and great precision.

The concerted theoretical work of the classes was done admirably.

During the intermission between the first and second parts Miss Pearl Foy sang very sweetly "Love's Old Sweet Song," and was presented with a beautiful bouquet. Miss Julia Choate also played a violin solo with fine expression, both soloists receiving encores.

The programme was:—

FEW DOSES PUT BAD KIDNEYS IN ORDER

Lame Back, Bladder Misery and All Other Kidney Disorders Vanish.

Usually sufferers from backache, bladder trouble or out-of-order kidneys feel relieved after several doses of Pape's Diuretic.

Misery in the back, sides, or loins, sick headache, inflamed or swollen eyelids, nervousness, rheumatism, and darting pains, heart palpitations, dizziness, sleeplessness, listless, worn-out feeling, and other symptoms of inactive, sluggish kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night) smarting, discoloured water and all Bladder misery ends.

Feeling miserable and worried is needless because this unusual preparation goes at once to the out-of-order Kidneys and Bladder, distributing its cleansing, healing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it. The moment you suspect any Kidney or Urinary derangement, or feel rheumatic pains, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic and a few days' treatment will make any one feel fine.

SALVIA contains Henna and Sage.

SALVIA is used by the elite of New York.

Dandruff can be cured in ten days. The hair is made soft and fluffy.

SALVIA will grow hair in abundance.

A non-sticky, daintily perfumed hair dressing.

A large bottle only costs 50c., and a money back proposition.

THE WEATHER.

Another decided change has occurred in the weather, but this is to be expected in this country, where climatic conditions are known to be erratic. The cold spell of yesterday morning was followed by the upward movement of the thermometer later in the day, and by evening it had reached 14 degrees above zero, or a range of temperature of 40 degrees in a few hours. Last night the lowest it reached was 8 degrees above. The upward rise in the temperature has been followed by a heavy fall of snow. Should the wind increase the conditions are favorable for badly drifted roads.

Six Days of Vigorous Underpricings on Short Lengths and Odd Lots in the Most Desirable Floor Coverings

— Beginning —

Monday, February 14th

We have been going through our stocks with searching eye, preparing for the coming Spring season. A brisk season's selling leaving in its wake a host of short lengths, and odd lots of Rugs, coupled with the arrival of the new Goods, has made a clean-up necessary.

In order to accomplish it quickly we have clipped the prices on all lengths up to 50 yards and on Patterns and Rugs we cannot duplicate, in most extraordinary fashion. In many cases the reductions amount to half.

These are all good patterns and colourings which simply give away to our desire for a clean stock with which to enter upon the new season.

If there is a housekeeper who has a room which needs recarpeting, here is an opportunity which she cannot afford to miss.

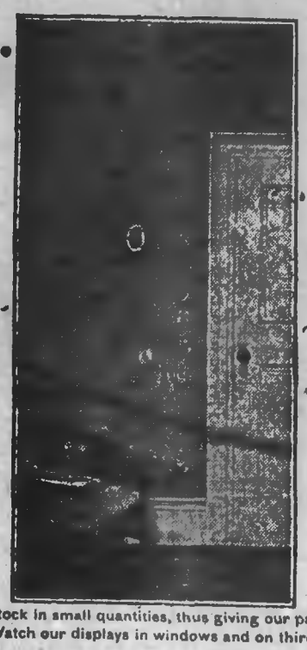
Spring 1910 Wall Decorations

Wall Decorating vs. Wall Papering



The day has long gone by when the mere covering of the walls and ceiling of a home was the main object in papering. In those days no care was taken in the selection of the paper, there was no thought of choosing it for the decorative value, the artistic merit; not at all. If the price suited them perhaps the pattern and colourings were thought of and perhaps not. To-day there is more value set on the proper carrying out of a colour or pattern scheme; yes, the paper makes the room and adds one hundred per cent to the beauty of any room. Even before the furniture come the wall treatments. To-day it's wall decorating and not wall papering. :: :: ::

The Spring 1910 wall decorations are in all probability the finest yet shown in the wall paper world. We are showing an immense variety of papers and other wall coverings that can be used in hundreds of different styles giving effects you never dreamed of — giving tones that have been foreign to you and to us, some altogether new to the papering trade this spring. If you are interested in the enhancing of your home at a surprisingly low cost you are the one we wish to see. Come soon as we only stock in small quantities, thus giving our patrons some things altogether different to anyone else. Watch our displays in windows and on third floor. :: :: :: :: :: :: ::

Choose your Hangings, Carpets, Rugs, Papers and Shades all in the same floor, thus avoiding unnecessary trouble.

How Other Civic Bodies Are Handling Current Questions

A petition is now being circulated among East London manufacturers and businessmen generally asking the city council to procure a new fire engine for use in No. 2 station.

The residents of that section claim that the pressure is altogether too low for a business community, and that in the casket workes blaze last winter, a great deal of money could be saved.—London Advertiser.

Kingston is to have three fewer tavern licenses, and the proprietors of laundries will have to pay only $25 a year for their license instead of $50.—Kingston Standard.

At the meeting of the board of education the clause of the rules of order compelling every child to be vaccinated before entering the schools of the city was abolished.—London Advertiser.

There will be no home work for kiddies attending the public schools under the fifth grade.

"It has been understod that there was to be no home work under the fifth grade," said Inspector Edwards. "In order to make that impressive, I issued a circular this year, advising the teachers not to give any work at home for children under the fifth grade, and to grade the work after that, so that in no case was more than an hour and a half's work given to any pupil."—London Advertiser.

Guelph's Commissioner.

The Railways and Manufacturers Committee is to meet this afternoon to consider the applications received for the office of Publicity Commissioner in the city. It is stated that there are about a dozen applications in.

The committee has only about five hundred dollars to spend on the department so that unless assistance is received from the Guelph Junction Road for a freight "booster," it is likely that the work will be placed with some one having the opportunity to devote a portion of his time to it.—Guelph Mercury.

Brantford's Council.

The city council at the last regular meeting took unanimous action on the liquor license issue, passing a by-law naming the number of hotel or tavern licenses for the ensuing year at nine and the number of shop licenses at three. The effect of this will be that on May 1st next seven hotel licenses and one shop license in the city will be revoked. The task of making the allotment, issuing licenses to some local holders and refusing others, will rest with the board of license commissioners.

Street Watering.

Ald. Montgomery again had his street watering by-law before the council, providing for a change of system from assessment to frontage, taxing three cents per foot frontage for twice a day service in residential parts and nine cents per foot for business sections, watered six times a day.

A Public Need.

Ald. Miller called attention to the need of public lavatories in this city. Some hotels might now be going out of business, and as the city was growing the need became very evident.

The aldermen agreed and promised consideration later.—Brantford Expositor.

Galt Doings.

The most important business of the evening was the report of the Fire and Light committee, containing an offer from the Galt Gas Light Co. to sell to the town the entire plant, equipment, water power, and land for the sum of $85,000. The committee reported that in their opinion this amount was altogether too large. They had been unable to secure more favourable terms from the company and recommended that an offer of $12,000 be made for the company's poles and wires. The report was discussed at some length and finally adopted, the aldermen being of the opinion that the committee had looked into the matter very carefully and were in a position to know whereof they were speaking. Incidentally during the discussion it was shown that the majority of the aldermen were in favour of having Niagara power in Galt without delay.

Fire Chief Keyes, Assistant Chief Despond, Driver Henderson and all the firemen applied for an increase in salary; and all gave strong reasons why their request should be acceded to. The communications were referred to the Fire and Light committee, and in all probability definite action will be taken.

Looking For a Site.

A Toronto gentleman wrote, stating that he was about to establish an industry employing from 500 to 1,000 hands, and asking what the Town of Galt would do in the way of concessions. The communication was referred to the Industrial committee and the matter will be taken up at once.—Galt Reporter.

THE MOTOR LEAGUE

First Meeting of the Newly Elected Board of Directors Held Wednesday.

The first meeting of the newly-elected Board of Directors of the Ontario Motor league was held yesterday (Wednesday). Mr. Paul J. Myler, of Hamilton, First Vice-President, presided, in the absence of Mr. Wm. Stone, President, who is at present in Europe.

It was decided to hold the annual banquet on the evening of March 2, at the King Edward Hotel. This will be at the time of the automobile show, at which many of the members outside of Toronto will be present.

Mr. E. M. Wilcox, Secretary, and manager of the show, reported that arrangements for the show were being completed. Everything pointed to the show being the greatest success of the kind ever held in Canada. The entire spaces of the St. Lawrence Arena, where the show will be held, have been allotted to automobile exhibitors, together with a considerable part of the space along the walls. About forty different makes of automobiles will be exhibited. Several of them will be seen for the first time in Canada.

The plan for decorating the show provides for covering the entire building with decorative material, the colour scheme will be red and white, with a liberal use of flags and emblems of Ontario Motor League. The lighting effect will be brilliant. It was decided to hold a formal opening on Thursday evening, Feb. 24th, at 8 o'clock.

The directors appitnoed committees for the ensuing year, as follows:

Membership—F. E. Mutton, chairman; Wm. Dobie, vice-chairman; Fred Powell, Morse Fellers, H. W. Beatty, R. B. Hamilton, G. M. McGregor, T. A. Russell, O. Hezzlewood, and Geo. H. Goderham.

Good Roads — Oliver Hezzlewood, Chairman; W. G. Trethewey, vice-chairman; L. B. Howland, W. J. Douglas, Paul J. Myler, James Moodie, F. F. Miller, George S. Matthews.

Legislation.—T. A. Russell, chairman; George H. Gooderham, vice-chairman; J. Curry, W. T Marlatt, Dr. Forbes Godfrey, M.P.P., W. L. Doran.

Entertainment — Noel Marshall, chairman; A. E. Chatterson, vice-chairman; W. C. Bailey, E. Roden, J. C. Eaton, H. B. Willis.

Sign Committee — H. B. Wills, chairman; Morse Fellers, vice chairman; Charles Robson, M. J. Overell.

Good Roads Convention Committee —Mr. T. A. Russell, chairman; H. B. Wills, vice-chairman; Wm. Dobie, W. G. Trethewey, O. Hezzlewood, Geo. S. Matthews.

Mr. E. M. Wilcox was re-appointed secretary-treasurer.

AFTER POOL ROOMS

Social and Moral Reform Association Asks for Legislation.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—The poolrooms operating in the rural districts of Ontario are under the guns of the Canadian Social and Moral Reform Association. They are in for strenuous times if the Provincial Government adopts the suggestion submitted yesterday by Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, Secretary of the Social and Moral Reform Committee of the Methodist church, and a member of the General Executive. In an interview with Sir James Whitney he urged that the municipal act be amended to permit municipalities to refuse to grant pool rooms permission to operate.

Dr. Chown laid before the Premier the fact that the association had been deluged with letters from various parts of Ontario, complaining that, while townships had power to regulate these resorts, they had no power to prohibit them. They had attempted to shut them out by raising the fee to hundreds of dollars, but when appeals were taken to the courts the Judges had held that a "prohibitive" fee was against the law, and the poolrooms were flourishing unchecked.

"If we secure this amendment," declared Dr. Chown, "there will hardly be a poolroom left in the rural districts of the Province.

The Premier gave assurance that he would look into the whole matter.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

"The kindly-earnest, brave, far-seeing man,
Sagacious, patient, dreading, praise, not blame,
New birth of our new soil, the first American!"
—Lowell.

Does that suggest to you whose birthday it is to-day?

It is unlikely that the United States will ever celebrate Abraham Lincoln's birthday as a national holiday. But that does not mean that the twelfth of February need go entirely unobserved. Even if we do not close our shops and schools we can do our martyred president honour in some less formal way. And as I have been reading the records of his life it has seemed to me that we could do it in no better way than by making the twelfth of February a sort of Mother day.

It does not seem to me that I ever read the biography of a man who cared so much about mothers.

Almost all great men have acknowledged their debt to their mothers, but few so beautifully as Lincoln in that famous sentence—

"All that I am or hope to be I owe to my angel mother."

And it does not seem to me that any other man I have ever read about had such a deep interest in other people's mothers as Lincoln had.

When he went to William Scott, the "sleeping sentinel," and talked to him about his fault and pardoned him he did not forget to ask about his mother.

"Then he asked me about mother and how she looked," says Scott, in telling about the interview. And I was glad I could take her photograph from my bosom and show it to him. He said how thankful I ought to be that my mother still lived, and how, if he was in my place, he would try to make her a proud mother, and never cause her a sorrow or a tear."

A mother's plea to her son was almost always irresistible to him. Again and again he granted the older women who came to plead for their sons favours he did not give to the younger and more attractive women.

Quite often, because of his cares of state, Abraham Lincoln did not have time for dinner or supper, but when his attention was called to the fact that one mother had lost five sons in the war he had time to write the following letter which, well known as it is, I am going to quote bodily because I love it so.

"Dear Madam:—I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the adjutant-general that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.

"Yours sincerely and respectfully,
"Abraham Lincoln."

If those who love Abraham Lincoln and grieve that his birthday is not a national holiday would make the twelfth of February a day on which they did special honour to their mothers, in which they sought out somebody's mother whose hearth for some reason was empty, and tried to brighten her life a bit, I think that Abraham Lincoln would be more content with such an observance of his birthday than any more formal honour he could receive.

Another Modern Miracle
Paralysis Permanently Cured

The Sufferer Paralysed From Waist to Feet---Encased in Plaster of Paris for Nine Months---Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cure After Four Doctors Had Failed---The Cure Vouched for by a Well Known Clergyman.

Paralysis, no matter how slight, is a terrible affliction, but to be paralyzed from waist to the feet, to be a helpless cripple, totally dependent upon what others do for you, is a condition as wretched as man could possibly bear. Such was the state of Mr. Allan J. McDonald, of Rice Point, P.E.I. For over a year he was a helpless invalid. He was paralyzed from his waist to his feet and for nine months lay in bed encased in a plaster of paris cast. Four of the best doctors in Prince Edward Island were unable to help him and he seemed doomed for a life of misery and despair. But hope came to him when he read of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for other sufferers from paralysis. He procured a supply of the Pills and began taking them. Gradually they broke the chains of disease that bound him, and filled his whole body with new blood, life and vigour. Mr. McDonald says: "I am a farmer and in consequence have a great deal of hard work to do. One day while about my work I injured my back, but at the time I paid little attention to the injury and continued my work. As time went on, though, the pain became more severe and I soon found myself unable to lift anything no matter how light. It was not long before I had to stop work altogether and consult a doctor. He treated me but his treatment did not help me and I rapidly grew worse. I had to take to my bed, and in the hope that my spine might receive strength I was encased in a plaster of paris cast. This did not help me and I could feel the paralysis slowly creeping over me till I was totally paralyzed from my waist to my feet. I lost control over my bowels and bladder and my legs had no more feeling than if they were made of wood. Three other doctors strived to cure me, but their treatment was also a failure, and for eleven months I lay in bed unable to move. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were then advised and I was shown testimonials of others who had been cured of paralysis through them. I bought a supply and in less than three months they made a remarkable change in me. I was able to get out of bed and crawl along the floor on my hands and knees. Gradually my limbs became stronger. Soon I could walk with the aid of a cane and inside of nine months after I had begun the use of the Pills I was totally cured, and once more able to do light work. Now I am as strong as ever I was and can do my work about the farm without the least trouble. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are without an equal, for Besides my own case, I know of two other cases of paralysis cured by them. Two young girls who had been cripples and whom I advised to try the Pills.'

In corroboration of what Mr. McDonald says, the Rev. D. Maclean of Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes: "I visited Mr. McDonald many times during his illnes He was attended by three or more doctors and put in plaster of paris, and everything imaginable which might be of benefit was done for him without success. He had lost all power of his body from his waist down and I think he was nearly a year under treatment before he began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was with him the first day he moved his big toe and from that time on he gradually improved and for the last few years he has been perfectly well. I can vouch for the cure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills effected in his case."

If you are sick and the treatment you are now taking does not help you, give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. They have cured thousands after doctors and other medical treatment had hopelessly failed. These Pills actually make new, rich, red blood, feed the starved nerves and bring health and strength to every part of the body. This is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure such apparently hopeless cases as Mr. McDonald's, and it is why they have cured thousands and thousands of sick, discouraged people in every part of the world. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Special Committee To Deal With C. P. R. New Line Proposed

A special committee, composed of Mayor Morrow, Ald. Phelan and Ald. Bradburn was appointed by the Council last night to consider the proposition of the C. P. R. Co. in regard to the entrance of the Seaboard Railway into the city. Since the question was first broached some months ago, when several officials of the company explained the plans and proposals from their standpoint, nothing has been done by the city and it has been felt that the first step should come from this source. The feeling is general that Peterborough should not let this opportunity slip by, but there is a strong objection to their coming in through the west end of the city. This is not the only point there is some hesitation about. The Company asked the city to give them the water front along the spur line to the Quaker Oats Co., but the Council do not like this prospect. If Peterborough were made a terminal point the city should make extensive concessions, and it was precisely to consider what might be done that the special committee was appointed.

THE HEART A GREAT WORKER

What a wonder is the heart! Day and night it works away pumping tons of blood through the body and never tires or wears out so long as it is supplied with rich, red blood, such as is formed by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. While sending supplies of nutrition to other parts of the body the heart renews and rebuilds its own wasted cells and so retains health and strength.

The President, Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., in moving the adoption of the Report said:—

It gives me great pleasure to be able to present to the Thirteenth Annual Meeting of the shareholders of the Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, a statement which, showing decided advance in every department of the Company's interests, must be a source of gratification not only to the management, but to the shareholders, and to all who are concerned either directly or indirectly, in its prosperity and standing.

The gross earnings and net profits of the Company have been very gratifying. The Company has evidently shared in the general prosperity and derived the advantage of the more buoyant and hopeful spirit which such a condition has created during the past year.

The net profits on the operations of the past twelve months show a material advance over the figures of 1908. They amounted to $97,590.55, which was distributed as follows:—

The sum of $72,312.23 was devoted to the payment of two semi-annual dividends, at the rate of six per cent. per annum. There remained $25,278.32 to be placed at the credit of Profit and Loss Account. This brought the total of this credit to the sum of $207,150.02, in comparison with $181,871.70 at the credit of Profit and Loss at the end of 1908.

Further emphasis of the satisfactory nature of the Company's operations for the year under consideration may be given in pointing out that the permanent deposits, or those with a determinate date, show an important increase in amount over the figures of 1908, a circumstance giving evidence of an increasing confidence on the part of the public in the good management and sound condition of the Company.

This confidence is further shown by the fact that the increase in the amount of trust funds confided to the custody of the Company amounted to $925,817.52.

The assets of the Company also show an encouraging growth, another 25 per cent., increase over the total of the previous year having been recorded, the sum of $7,431,639.29 being the total, as against the total of last year of $5,883,677.58, an increase of $1,547,961.71, the best showing in this regard yet achieved.

The greatly increased volume of appointments recorded during the past year is to be regarded as another evidence of the growing confidence of the public in the Company.

The Estates Department, whose concern is with the administration of estates under will or trusts appointment, has been favored with a remarkable growth in two respects—numerically, and in the increase of important character and amount. This indicates what is important to a fiduciary institution, a growing development of public satisfaction, and consequent confidence in the administration provided in a company, combining the important elements of permanency and financial strength.

Similar appreciation and to a much more marked degree, is developed by the prompt and accurate manner in which the corporate share transfer business of the Company is conducted—to the satisfaction of its growing clientele and the profit of the Company.

Still another feature of the Company's business that is conducted to the satisfaction of its clients is the discharge of its functions as assignee and liquidator. The substitution of a permanent corporate element for the individual and mutable is appreciated in connection with the satisfactory service given in the liquidation of company affairs, as well as in liquidation involving administrative functions.

The large increase of about half a million in the investments of the Company in the Canadian West, made under the direction of a competent local advisory Board, is to be regarded with favor; the rate of interest realised yields a good profit, with prompt payments. The great care exercised in placing investments provides excellent security; and gives the Company a standing in a country whose wonderful actual growth and still more wonderful possibilities of expansion and development, forecast a future with whose realisation the business interests of the Company can very profitably be identified.

A strong feature of the position of the Company is the general increase in the volume, extent and character of its business, which is, in the broadcast sense, legitimate, as contrasted with a speculative character. No underwriting is done, and the Company's business enjoys a healthy growth, by virtue of doing the business it is organised to do.

While the general volume of business has shown no phenomenal increase, the growth is steady and conservative in character. The profits may not be as large as might be possible under more varied conditions of operations but the business done is safe, the profits assured, and the fundamental element of success in operations of a fiduciary character—confidence— is created.

It is, therefore, not as remarkable as it is gratifying to be able to state that during recent years there has been a substantial growth of a paid-up capital of the Company. The shareholders have voluntarily made payments upon the shares subscribed, to the amount of about a quarter of a million dollars. This indicates a flattering confidence in the safety of the business methods of the Company and in its soundness and stability.

Altogether, the report covers the operations of one of the most, if not the most, prosperous years in the life of the Company, and there is every indication that present favorable conditions will continue. The growth of Canada, marked at it has been for the past few years, seems to be only beginning; development and expansion constitute the key-note of the future. We have immense national enterprises, giving employment to immense capital and stimulating activity in every avenue of industrial, commercial and private enterprise. With the growth of public education in relation to financial undertakings and institutions, resulting in a knowledge of the economy and strict business methods that prevail in the administration of estate and other trusts by a corporation like the Trusts and Guarantee Company, and with a continuation of the safe and effective management that has marked the past and will characterise the future the Company can confidently look forward to a continuously prosperous future.

I have great pleasure in moving the adoption of the Report.

Mr. D. W. Karn, the Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the Report, and congratulated the shareholders on the splendid showing made by the Company during the past year.

The Report was unanimously adopted.

The following Directors were elected for the year 1910:—

Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., Toronto; D. W. Karn, Woodstock; C. Kloepfer, Guelph; Hon. Senator McMillan, Alexandria; A. F. MacLaren, Stratford; W. J. Sheppard, Waubaushene; W. McLaren, J. W. Connor, A. F. MacLaren, W. R. Mills, W. Thoburn, M.P.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board, Hon. J. R. Stratton was re-elected President, and Messrs. D. W. Karn and C. Kloepfer, Vice-Presidents.

LINER IS WRECKED

Marcel Rodel, an Algerian Customs Officer, Is Sole Survivor of Sinking of the Steamer "General Chanzy," Which Founders on Reefs Near Minorca—Noted French Singer Among the Victims.

Palma, Island of Majorca, Feb. 12.—Swept helplessly from her course in one of the wildest storms that has swept the Mediterranean Sea in 40 years, the French Trans-Atlantic Steamship Co.'s steamer "General Chanzy," crashed at full speed, in the dead of night, on the treacherous reefs near the Island of Minorca, and all but one of the 157 souls on board perished.

The sole survivor is an Algerian customs officer, Marcel Rodel, who was rescued by a fisherman, and who lies in the hospital at Ciudadela, raving as a result of the tortures through which he passed, and unable to give an account of the disaster.

Of the ship's company there were 87 passengers, of whom 30 were in the first cabin. The crew numbered 70.

The ship was in command of Captain Cayol, one of the most careful officers of the line. He never before had met with an accident. He soon was to have retired from the service.

The passengers of the Chanzy were mostly French officials and officials returning to their posts in Algeria, accompanied by their wives and children; a few soldiers, some Italians and Turks, and one priest.

The only Anglo-Saxon names on the passenger list were Green and Stakely. They were members of an opera troupe of eleven, which had been engaged to sing at the Casino in Algiers.

The "Chanzy" sailed from Marseilles Wednesday at noon, and was due to arrive at Algiers Thursday afternoon.

The steamer was of 2,257 gross tonnage, and her engines had a horsepower of 478.

The Chanzy is a total wreck. Steamers have been despatched from Spain and from points in the Balearic Islands to the scene of the catastrophe.

Among the victims was the celebrated Parisian music hall singer, Francis Dufor, as well as other prominent music hall favorites.

The General Chanzy struck at 9 o'clock Thursday night. Other ships in the neighborhood had safely outridden the storm, but the Chanzy was lifted off her course through the Balearic Archipelago and brought up on the coast of Minorca, in the vicinity of Ciudadela.

Mediterranean Is Swept by Storm.

Algiers, Feb. 12.—Ships arriving here yesterday report that a wild tempest is raging in the Mediterranean.

The steamer Charles Roux, which came into port yesterday, was forced temporarily to take refuge in the harbor of Barcelona. Her captain declared that the storm was the severest that he had seen in the Mediterranean in many years. The gale suddenly swept from the northeast to the northwest, and his steamer was nearly engulfed.

VETO WILL BE LIMITED

Cabinet Council Has Arrived at a Unanimous Decision to Go Ahead With the Wing Clipping Process According to Authorized Statement—Redmond Congratulated —What Newspapers Say.

London, Feb. 12.—(Associated Press.)—According to an authorized statement given out last night, the Cabinet Council arrived at an absolutely unanimous decision of the course of procedure early in the week.

It is confirmed that after the passage of the budget, a bill limiting the veto of the Lords will be announced as the chief legislative work of the year.

Mr. Redmond has received a joint telegram signed by three radical journals, The Nation, The Daily News and The Morning Leader. The message says:

"Congratulations to you on your magnificent stand. The whole fighting force of Liberalism is behind you."

Some of the Unionist newspapers see the possibility of a bargain with the Government to get rid of obnoxious parts of the budget.

Situation Tangled.

London, Feb. 12.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The political situation is much complicated by Redmond's speech in Dublin.

The Mail declares the King's Government must be carried on and presumes that Balfour would not refuse assistance to Premier Asquith against the Nationalists.

"Lloyd-George's budget is a bad one, but it is already," says The Mail, and so the Unionists might assist its passage, possibly with modifications, to avert financial breakdown.

The Chronicle says that if Redmond thinks he can advance the interests of Ireland better by turning the Government out, either on a point of procedure or the budget, then it is his duty to do so, and the sooner he does it the better; but it declares that he is laboring under a misapprehension when imagining that the Government is wishful to postpone the veto question to some more convenient future time.

The speech is attributed by Liberals and Conservatives to the activities of William O'Brien, leader of the Independent Nationalists, who declared the other day that assistance in passing the budget would be the blackest of treason to Ireland.

Reports of Cabinet dissension are emphatically denied.

The Nation says no understanding exists between the King and the Ministers, and warns the latter that if the active veto policy is dropped and a policy of a reformed second Chamber substituted, a debacle will be inevitable, immediate and overwhelming.

The Times says the Unionists would stultify themselves if they neglected to vote against the budget at the first opportunity. It would be the height of folly not to throw it out if they could.

French Canal to Mediterranean.

Paris, Feb. 12.—In connection with the discussion in the Chamber of Deputies on the re-organization of the navy, M. Senac, deputy from Tarn and Garonne, introduced amendments to the finance bill, with the object of reviving the deep waterway canal project to connect the Atlantic with the Mediterranean. The plan calls for the construction of a canal 160 feet wide by 35 feet deep, capable of accommodating the largest merchant steamers and battleships.

Deputy Senac declared that such a canal would be worth a squadron of battleships to France, and in addition, would be very profitable commercially. He estimated that it would cost $150,000,000.

Will Oppose Sewage Bill.

Kingston, Feb. 12.—The corporation will ask Hon. W. Harty to oppose the bill of Senator Belcourt to prohibit sewage being emptied into navigable streams. Were it to pass Kingston would be up against a tough proposition, and so would other towns and cities bordering on navigable waters. The original object of Senator Belcourt was to protect Ottawa and Hull.

Was Weak and Nervous.

Heart Would Stop Beating.

Mr. Paul Poull, Cascapedia, Que., writes:—"About five years ago I gave up all hope of getting better of heart trouble. I would nearly choke, and then my heart would stop beating. I could not lie on my left side, and became so nervous and weak I could not work. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before the first box was taken I was almost well, and the second box completed the cure. I have advised many others to try them, and they have all been cured of the same trouble. I have offered to pay for a box for anybody they do not cure."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all diseases or disorders arising from the heart or nerve system. They make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerves firm by imparting a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ and tissue of the body and curing palpitation of the heart, dizziness, sleeplessness, anæmia, twitching of the muscles, sensation of "pins and needles," general debility, lack of vitality, etc.

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CLASSES ENTERTAINED

Members of the Adult Bible Classes Spend Pleasant Evening at the Manse.

The Adult Bible classes of St. Andrew's church were entertained by Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Potter at the Manse last evening, when a very enjoyable evening was spent. The members of the men's class taught by Mr. G. A. Cornish and the Ladies' Class, led by Mrs. Kerr, were well represented and the evening was pleasantly spent in games and other pastimes. Refreshments were served at the close and the whole was a great success, the hospitality of Rev. and Mrs. Potter being much appreciated by the members of the classes.

SPORTING NEWS

LINDSAY OUT OF RUNNING WERE BEATEN BY TRENTON

Trenton, Feb. 11.—Over one thousand people saw Lindsay and Trenton battle an O.H.A. intermediate game here to-night for district honours. It was the best game of the season. Both teams put up a fine game, and the penalties were very few. Lindsay came here with a lead of two goals, but Trenton soon overcame it and won by 6 to 2. This gives Trenton the round by 2 goals. The score at half time was two to one in favour of Trenton. Referee Whitehead, of Toronto, is the best referee seen here. The line-up:

THE OTTAWA RENFREW GAME

Complete Returns Will Be Given at Snelgrove's Cigar Store (Mac's Old Stand.)

Snelgrove's cigar store, (Mac's old stand), has arranged for a complete bulletin service of to-night's big National League hockey game, between Ottawa and Renfrew, over which so much interest is being taken in Peterborough. Every goal will be announced as scored, and the fans will be able to follow the progress of the struggle from start to finish. Those interested are cordially invited to make use of the opportunity of hearing the returns at Snelgrove's to-night.

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing rats, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-looked-for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA, and is being sold with a guarantee to cure Dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant hair dressing. McDermid & Jury, your druggists, are the first to import this preparation into Peterborough, and a large generous bottle can be purchased for 50c.

SPORTING NOTES

Trenton beat Lindsay last night by 6 goals to 2, putting the Midgets out of the running. The Stoddardites just outlasted their old rivals, the Peterboroughs, one week, and the fans who saw the last game here between the two teams, think that it should have been Peterborough for the clash against Trenton, for the district honours.

The Strathconas will practice on Monday night of next week instead of Tuesday night as usual, having secured the rink for that night between 7 and 8 o'clock. Every member of the team is expected to be out as this will be the last practice before the final game with the West Ends on Wednesday.

BRONCHITIS, SORE THROAT, HOARSENESS, CROUP, ASTHMA, PAIN or TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST and all BRONCHIAL or LUNG TROUBLES there is nothing to equal

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It coöntains all the virtues of the world famous Norway pine tree, combined with Wild Cherry Bark and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Nasty Hacking Cough Cured.

Mrs. John Pelch, Windsor, Ont. writes: "I was troubled with a nasty hacking cough for the past six months and used a lot of different remedies but they did me no good. At last I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and with the first few doses I found great relief and to-day my hacking cough has entirely disappeared and I am never without Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup in the house."

The price of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 25 cents per bottle. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, so be sure and accept none of the many substitutes of the original "Norway Pine Syrup."

LENTEN SERVICES

Special Services Have Been Arranged at St. Lukes.

During the Sundays in Lent the Rector of St. Luke's church will preach two series of sermons. The subject at the morning services will deal with Lenten duties and privileges, and at the evening services the sermons will be of an evangelistic and revival character, dealing with practical Christianity.

To-morrow morning the sermon will be on "The leading of the Holy Spirit," and at the evening service "Follow Me."

The sermons at the Wednesday services will be preached by visiting clergy: Feb. 16, Rev. Wm. Burns; Feb. 23, Rev. Canon Greene, L.Th.; March 2, Rev. J. H. Teney, L.Th.; March 9, Rev. F. J. Sawers, M.A.; March 16, Rev. C. W. Holdsworth, M.A.; March 23, Rev. Canon Allen, M. A.

The Friday evenings will be spent in literary pursuits and lectures will be given by the following gentlemen: Reverends J. R. McLean, M.A.; R. H. Trumpour, M.A., B.D.; C. H. Coon, B.A.; E. A. Pearson, B.A.; J. H. Keith, M.A., B.D., and Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.A.

The lecture next week will be on Thursday, instead of on Friday. Rev. J. R. McLean will speak on Scotland, its history, ways, and customs.

INTHON BIBLE CLASS

In to-day's issue of the Buffalo Courier there is on the Canadian page a group picture of the Inthon Bible Class of the George St. Methodist church, accompanying an article referring to the progress this class has made. There is also a statement in regard to the manner in which Peterborough lost this district to Lindsay.

SILENCE URGED CHILDREN DULL

"Don't say 'don't' to your children, except when it is absolutely necessary. Let them do what they like, say what they like, and talk as much as they like—in reason," says a London dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean.

That is the gist of a letter written to a newspaper protesting against the "boys and girls should be seen and not heard" theory.

"To go on the principle of suppressing a child every time it opens its mouth, or to stop it doing some harmless thing simply for the sake of stopping it, or for the greater comfort of its elders, is the surest way of crushing every spark of originality," continues the writer.

"Here's the explanation of the crowd of mediocrities in business. Every employer of labour knows that there are plenty of men who can carry out ideas when the ideas have been given to them. But to find the men who can produce the ideas—the men with originality—that is the trouble.

"Why cannot English men and women talk brightly and lightly, and express themselves vivaciously? Because whenever as children they have opened their mouths they have been suppressed.

"French children are different."

"Although French girls are kept strictly when they get older they are allowed to talk as much as they like. So are Irish children, afterward, perhaps, the most original and sparkling talkers and doers in the world."

"Boys do not need to be continually told, 'don't do this,' and 'don't do that,'" James Bewsher, M.A., the headmaster of Colet Court, the well-konwn preparatory school for St. Paul's, said:

"Discipline is easier and less arbitrary than it used to be, and the appeal to a boy's common sense and good feeling is seldom in vain. When a manly British schoolboy is told he must do a certain thing he naturally loks for a reason.

"If then reason appeals to his sense of logic he will do what he is asked cheerfully. But if he thinks that 'don't' is merely the pettifogging intrusion of a 'superior' person, he is more inclined to rebellion than before.

"In schools where boys come from well-conducted homes the number of 'don'ts' is happily few. Those that do exist are merely framed for the boy's safety, and they see the necessity for them as much as the masters.

"It is far easier to appeal to their common sense than the ukase of a superior being, and its success is shown by the fact that far less corporal punishment is necessary nowadays than formerly.

SCANDAL HUNTING

St. Lawrence Company Seeks Incorporation—Says It Is Separate Concern From Long Sault Company—Mr. Crocket Tries Fall With Hon. Mr. Pugsley and Comes Off Second Best.

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Supply was held up for several hours in the House of Commons yesterday while Mr. Crocket, the member for York, N.B., vainly endeavored to weave out of whole cloth a wharf scandal in his native province. Having failed to prove his charges in connection with the sawdust wharf at Richibucto, Mr. Crocket thought he would have another try, and yesterday he applied the colored glass to a wharf extension at Pink Rock, in Shepody Bay, in the hope of detecting a flaw in the administration of the Public Works Department. As on every former occasion that he has tried a fall with Hon. Mr. Pugsley, he came a bad cropper. By reading extracts from some documents, and carefully refraining from reading others, he sought to convey the impression that money was being taken from the public treasury and spent upon a wharf at Pine Rock owned by a company managed by a political friend of the Minister of Public Works.

O. S. Crocket (York, N.B.), brought out from an official return that C. J. Osman of the Albert Manufacturing Co., had built an addition to the Pink Rock Wharf in Westmoreland County, but had handed the accounts over to the Public Works Department, which paid them. The foreman of the work was appointed by Osman.

The accounts were not even certified by the Government's resident engineer. He did not see them. Yet the cost to the Government was from $20,000 to $25,000. Over $2,000 worth of goods had been supplied by Osman himself, entered in the Auditor-General's reports as an expenditure made under the direction of the Department.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley, replying to Mr. Crocket's charge, said the wharf had been transferred to the crown with the exception of one right, that of the Albert Manufacturing Co. to tie its boats to the wharf.

Mr. Crocket declared the wharf was not the property of the crown, but of the Albert Company.

Commenting upon the use of public money for private enterprise, he said this kind of thing was going on all over this country. For instance, the improvement of the wharf of the Dalhousie Lumber Co., of which Mr. Pugsley was a stockholder, had been made with the use of a Government dredge.

The Sawdust wharf at Richibucto caused a lively passage between the Minister and Mr. Crocket. This is the case which has occupied the attention of the public accounts committee. Murray, manager of the Kent Northern Railway, purchased this wharf for $700, and turned it over to the Public Works Department for $5,000. Murray was appointed foreman of the wharf, but Mr. Pugsley stated that he was not now in the employ of the Government.

Mr. Crocket suggested that criminal proceedings ought to be taken against Murray. If employes of the Government were to be allowed to commit criminal offences with impunity, the Minister would have to take the responsibility.

The House rose at midnight after passing $1,810,000 for public works in New Brunswick and Ontario.

Despite the expressed fear of Dr. Schäffuer and others that they were creating a combine to boost the price of flour, the private bills committee passed a bill giving the Dominion Millers' Association power to do a general milling and grain buying business with a capital limited to $250,000. Secretary Watts of Toronto told the committee that the claim of the association was to protect the small millers against the big milling companies.

The banking and commerce committee passed a bill to incorporate the pension fund of the Merchants' Bank of Canada, after Dr. Sproule had demanded that the Bank Act be altered so as to compel the banks to make annual returns; and also a bill to incorporate the Independent Order of Rechabites, with head office at Bedford Park, Ont.

Mr. Monk's bill respecting co-operative societies was before the banking and commerce committee of the Commons, and it was evident that the sentiment was favorable. It must, however, be redrafted.

The bill to incorporate the St. Lawrence Power Transmission Co., which the promoter said was independent from the Long Sault scheme, but "would procure power from that source if it were developed," cannot fight in the private bills committee yesterday.

The company proposes to build a line from Cornwall east to Montreal and west to Brockville. Authority is sought to acquire and develop powers, enter upon private property between Brockville and Montreal and in the City of Montreal, export power to the United States, construct transmission lines, issue securities.

Mr. Broder of Dundas objected to the bill as over-riding private and municipal rights.

R. A. Pringle, K.C., argued that only a transmission line was proposed. It had nothing to do with the Long Sault scheme.

"But are not all the incorporators the same?" asked Mr. Broder.

"Some of them are," admitted Mr. Pringle. The company had developed some power, and there were others along the line which could not be utilized save by a transmission line. He added that the Hydro-Electric Commission had declined to build lines in the district because of expense.

Leighton McCarthy, K.C., expressed willingness to accept an amendment making municipal consent necessary to enter a municipality, and Government assent to power export. He objected to the conservation commission being consulted on a matter of transmission lines, but an amendment to refer the bill to the conservation commission was declared carried after Messrs. Sharpe, Middleboro, Boyce, Reid and Magrath had voiced opposition to the company's proposals.

The Senate Banking Committee yesterday morning heard R. C. Smith, K.C., of Montreal, on behalf of the manufacturers of Montreal. He claimed that insurance was not a commodity, but a contract of indemnity, and that the question of protecting home industry was not involved in the question. The amendment of the fire underwriters for the regulation of unlicensed companies, would result in the complete prohibition of reciprocal mutuals, a most desirable form of insurance. He contended there was an undoubted combination among the insurance companies in Canada, and that it exercised arbitrary power.

Senator Cox said that while favoring cheap insurance, and in favor of mutuals and reciprocals, he did not see why they should not be subject to the jurisdiction of the Canadian Insurance Department.

Wm. Laidlaw, for the insurance associations, said they were considering the amendment and that they were willing to let the sound companies come in if the wildcats could be kept out. He insisted that the cancellation of insurance in Montreal had been due to bad conditions there, the reservoir being empty and the pressure inadequate.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The latest statement is that the Allans of Montreal intend to build two 20-knot steamers.

Rats gnawed through a lead water pipe in the Newcombe Rand Co., London, and caused a bad flood.

Municipal elections at Elk Lake yesterday resulted as follows: Reeve, Dr. Harcourt; councillors, Collorette, High, Jodouin and Sterling.

Judge Madden of Napanee has finally decided that local option in Ernestown Township has been sustained by a majority of 18 instead of 29.

Chicago is threatened with a milk famine unless the big companies meet the demand of the Producers' Association for an increase in the price.

Mrs. Margaret Neville, held on a charge of aggravated assault until after the inquest into the death of her husband, was acquitted at Hamilton.

A report that Phillipe H. Roy, former president of the Banque St. Jean, is dying in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, is denied by the prison officials.

The French Antarctic expedition steamer Pouquoi Pas, with Dr. J. M. Charcot on board, has arrived at Punto Arenas, Chile. The Frenchman did not reach the South Pole.

The C.P.R. gave out their plans for western extensions yesterday, which comprise 174 miles up the Columbia and Kootenay extension, from Elcho on the Crow's Nest line to Fort Steele, and then branches to the extent of 250 miles will be built in Saskatchewan, and about one hundred in Alberta.

Murdered Six; Pays Penalty.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 12.—Howard Little, who murdered Mrs. Betsey Justis, her son-in-law, George Meadows, and his wife and three children, was executed yesterday.

Little bore an excellent reputation and some friends still believe in his innocence. He is described as one of the handsomest men in the state; over six feet in height and weighing 236 pounds. Except for his association with women, he carried himself generally without reproach.

While holding the position of U. S. marshal in Kentucky, he shot and killed a man and was sentenced to a life term in penitentiary. He was pardoned after a short period, and moved back to Virginia, where he lived with the family of George Meadows. Mrs. Little and her children lived in the same house. Robbery was established as the direct motive for the cowardly homicide.

Co-operation In Search For Pole.

London, Feb. 12.—Co-operation in certain directions between the American and British Antarctic expeditions was suggested in correspondence between Commander Peary and Captain Robert F. Scott, which was given here yesterday.

With reference to the American expedition, Captain Scott said: "I think it would be advisable that there should be co-operation between the expeditions in the matter of meterology and magnetism. A program might be drawn up to provide for simultaneous observations."

Lieut. Shackleton, the South Pole explorer, will sail for the United States on March 19, and give a lecture tour, and afterwards will make an extensive hunting trip in northern Alaska.

Consul Assassinated.

Algiers, Feb. 12.—L. Dachot, the Bolivian consul here, was shot and killed yesterday by an unidentified man as he was entering his automobile.

M. Dachot was on his way to make enquiries concerning the wrecked steamer General Chanzy, on which he had two friends.

What Does It Mean?

CANADIAN LABORATORY

The Dr. Miles Medical Company Has Opened Headquarters in Toronto.

The Dr. Miles Medical Co., of Elkhart, Indiana, has established a Canadian Laboratory at Toronto. This firm, whose advertising will appear regularly in our columns, has been in business in the States for 30 years, and their line is known wherever there is a drug store.

For the convenience of their many patrons in Canada, and to satisfy the rapidly growing demand for their goods (though never before advertised in the Dominion) the Canadian Laboratory has been established.

While in no manner responsible for specific statement appearing in our advertising columns, we believe that Dr. Miles Medical Co., of Toronto, is entitled to that large share of our confidence of the trade and public, which they enjoy in the States.

1909 IMMIGRATION DOUBLE THAT OF 1908

United States Invaded by a Horde of Immigrants. Italy Had 222,000 of Total 957,000.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 12.—Immigration into the United States during 1909 was twice as great as during the previous year. In all 957,105 immigrants entered the United States last year, against 410,319 in 1908. Arrivals of non-immigrants numbered 188,610.

From Europe over 85 per cent, of the immigration came, Italy leading with 221,964 or 23 per cent., Russia next with 161,142, or 16 per cent., and Austria and Hungary with 117,667 and 115,267 respectively, or about 12 per cent. each.

The emigration from Italy to this country last year was four times that of the year before. The only decrease in arrivals was from Roumania, which contributed a couple hundred less immigrants.

Lt.-Col. Southall Will Pay a Visit To The City

Lieut. Colonel Southall, who is visiting Peterborough on Saturday and Sunday is the Territorial Young People's and Candidate's Secretary. He is widely known throughout the Dominion, and in his present capacity is responsible for the Young People's Sunday School operations of the Army. In addition to this he is responsible for the securing of young men and women for the service as Officers. The Local Corps will extend a hearty reception to the Colonel, and it is anticipated that this visit will result in much benefit to the work here.

Interesting services will be held on Sunday. In the afternoon Mrs. Southall will give a special address to young people and parents. At night the Colonel's subject will be "Guaranteed Safety."

R. C. Braund's Business Will Suffer By Closing Of Park Street

If the new line of the C.P.R. passes through Peterborough as now proposed and with the closing of the streets denoted in the plans it will mean a serious loss to Mr. R. C. Braund who owns a large general merchandise store at the corner of Park and Albert streets. His property fronts the railway on the south and the store is not more than 100 feet from the railway crossing on Park street. The plan calls for the closing of this crossing and the building of a subway on Stewart street from the Colonial Weaving Company factory to the Shovel works building. This will divert business from its present channel down Park street a block to the east in order to get back on to Park street south of the tracks. At present Park street is the principal thoroughfare west of Aylmer street. All the persons residing south of the C.P.R. tracks and west of Park street pass Mr. Braund's store and as he stated the closing of Park street at the crossing could not but have a very serious effect on Mr. Braund's business. If a subway were provided at Park street he would be looking down at the people as they went by and in either case he would suffer largely from the necessary changes. Mr. Braund was in favour of the railway coming through Peterborough but he asked the Council to remember him when any agreements are made with the C.P.R. It was stated that the Company had probably planned the subway on Stewart street in order to avoid paying damages to Mr. Braund. The latter has built up an extensive business and has spent a large amount of money in his store and buildings. The C.G.E. employees living in the district south of the track will also be affected by the closing of the street as they will have to make the detour through the Stewart street subway.

It Registered 35 Below At Young's Point Yesterday

Young's Point, Feb. 12.—On Friday evening, Feb. 4th, Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks entertained a large number of their friends, at a progressive Euchre party at the residence of Mr. P. A. Kearney. Fourteen tables were occupied and play was continued till about 12 p.m., when a few hours dancing was added to the enjoyment of a very delightful evening. Mrs. P. P. Young won a first prize and the booby prize went to Mr. Frank J. Young. Mr. Brooks had charge of the festivities and succeeded in giving the guests a splendidly good time.

Refreshments and dancing completed the programme of a very pleasant and successful evening.

Mr. Geo. Ayotte who has been seriously ill for the past few months is as his many friends will be glad to hear recovering very satisfactorily.

A number of men under the foremanship of Mr. George Hickey are at work on the Majestic, converting her into a new steamer.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Giroux and Miss Giroux were visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Kearney.

The sleighing in this section has been uniformly good.

The bottom threatened to drop out of the thermometer here yesterday morning when a limit of 35 degrees below zero was reached.

The Board Of Trade Members Are Confident Of Success

Confident in the success of their attempt to secure $2000 during the next week or ten days and the same confidence in the success of the appointment of an Industrial Commissioner, providing the right man is procured, is the predominating feeling among the members of the Board of Trade. To an Examiner reporter this morning a prominent member stated that the Board was well satisfied with the arrangements made with the council. That mode of dealing with the question is in my opinion eminently most satisfactory. The committee has taken up the question of raising funds to-day and I feel confident that the entire sum of $2,000 will be raised within a week." Liberal subscriptions have already been promised and the general business interests in the city are expected to assist. It is the intention of the Board of Trade to obtain the best possible man for the position and the fitness of the man irrespective of his place of residence will only be considered.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane Pays An Official Visit

Last night Mr. Geo. Cochrane paid his first official visit to one of the moving picture theatres. Mr. Cochrane was this week appointed inspector or censor of these local places of amusement. In the selection of Mr. Cochrane for this position, a wise choice was made. A marked percentage of the patrons of the moving picture theatres consist of young children. Owing to his many years spent as agent for the Children's Aid Society, Mr. Cochrane is well qualified to judge what is proper or otherwise in the picture subjects to show to the younger generation.

There has been some talk throughout the city about improper pictures and suggestive jokes by the vaudeville artists in the local picture houses. Mr. Cochrane last night visited the Princess and sat throughout a complete show. As the inspector left he was asked, "Well, Mr. Cochrane, what do you think of the show? Did you see anything improper or suggestive in either the pictures or vaudeville?" Mr. Cochrane emphatically replied "No, sir, the show here is amusing, clean and decent." During his visit the inspector looked carefully over the fire escape exits. He was particularly pleased with the way the exit doors at the Princess are arranged to prevent any possible danger, should a fire or other cause create a panic.

FAILED TO REACH THE SOUTH POLE

French Expedition Now in Chilian Port —Back Sooner Than Expected.

Punta Arenas, Chile, Feb. 12.—The M. Charcot Antarctic expedition, on board the Pourquoi Pas, arriver here yesterday and it is expected that the vessel will remain here for some time. Dr. Charcot, it is reported, says the expedition did not reach the South Pole. All the members of the expedition are well. There were several cases of scurvy among the crew during the time the vessel was in Antarctic waters, but they all recovered.

The expedition, under Dr. Charcot, was fitted out in France in the Summer of 1908, an dsailed from Punta Arenas, Dec. 17 of the same year. Its purpose was to make scientific observations in the South Polar regions, particularly in the almost unknown Alexandra Land and secure specimens of rare fossils. The South Pole was not the objective of the explorers. Dr. Charcot frequently had said that this task should be reserved to the Englishmen, Scott and Shackleton.

It had not been expected that the expedition would return to civilization until next month.

BANKER ROY SAID TO BE DYING IN THE "PEN"

Montreal, Feb. 12.—A rumour about the city this morning was to the effect that P. H. Roy, late president of the Bank of St. Jean, who is now serving a five-year term in St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, for issuing false statements of the bank to the Government, was critically ill, and on the verge of death at the latter penal institution. At the penitentiary it was stated that the ex-Speaker of the Legislature, while very ill at the penitentiary's hospital, is not in danger.
